CME Group collaborates with TickSmith to provide customer-friendly access to historical data

TickVault streamlines distribution of 450 Terabytes of historical data from CME DataMine

CHICAGO and MONTREAL, Oct. 19, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- CME Group, the world's leading and most diverse derivatives marketplace, and TickSmith, a leader in Big Data applications for Capital Markets, today announced an initiative to improve access to CME Group's historical data by implementing TickVault to power CME DataMine.

With more than 450 Terabytes of historical market data, some of it going back to the 1970s, CME DataMine is the official source of the most comprehensive price information available for CME Group markets. It provides a broad array of data types including Market Depth, End-of-Day and Block Trades among others, which can help customers discover insights to capture market opportunity.

"CME Group has always offered customers a robust set of historical data, and working with TickSmith allows us to deliver it efficiently and cost-effectively," said Craig Mohan, CME Group Managing Director of Market Technology and Data Services. "Our clients now have a simple way to access the data they need."

"To be usable, data has to be instantly accessible regardless of how much data is involved," said Marc-Andre Hetu, TickSmith CTO. "With TickVault, data users can browse a data catalog, subscribe to the content and access it via web interfaces and APIs instantaneously."
