Dear CBOT Members:

On February 8, 2007, we wrote to advise you of the publication by the Securities & Exchange Commission ("SEC") of a Proposed Rule Change filing by the CBOE which seeks to extinguish the Exercise Right purportedly because of the CME/CBOT merger. As we informed you, the public and interested parties are entitled to submit comments to the SEC regarding the Proposed Rule Change. Those members wishing to express their comments must submit them to the SEC so they are received by February 27, 2007. A copy of our earlier letter was sent to you this morning. It contains the SEC mailing information and File No. reference for your convenience.

We encourage all interested members to participate in this process. You should also know that CBOT will be submitting a comprehensive comment letter to the SEC opposing the Proposed Rule Change. We will share that letter with you when it is filed.

Thank you for your participation.

Very truly yours,

Charles P. Carey
Chairman of the Board

Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements in this document and its attachments may contain forward-looking information regarding CBOT, CME and the combined company after the completion of the transactions that are intended to be covered by the safe harbor for "forward-looking statements" provided by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements include, but are not limited to, the benefits of the business combination transaction involving CBOT and CME including future financial and operating results, the combined company's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts. Such statements are based upon the current beliefs and expectations of the management of CBOT and CME and are subject to significant risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements: the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the transaction on the proposed terms and schedule; the failure of CBOT shareholders or CME shareholders to approve the transaction; the risk that the businesses will not be integrated successfully; the risk that the cost savings and any other synergies from the transaction may not be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; disruption from the transaction making it more difficult to maintain relationships with customers, employees or suppliers; competition and its effect on pricing, spending, third-party relationships and revenues; social and political conditions such as war, political unrest or terrorism; general economic conditions and normal business uncertainty. Additional risks and factors are identified in CBOT's filings with the SEC, including its Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2005 which is available on CBOT's website at <http://www.cbot.com>.
