PROXY STATEMENT AND PROSPECTUS (SUBJECT TO CHANGE) DATED SEPTEMBER 23, 2002

[Logo of Chicago Board of Trade]

BOARD OF TRADE OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO, INC.
141 WEST JACKSON BOULEVARD
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60604

Dear Voting Member:

It is my privilege to present to you this proxy statement and prospectus in connection with a historic membership vote on a proposed restructuring of the Chicago Board of Trade, which is intended to enhance its competitiveness within the futures industry. You are being asked to vote on three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions described in this document. The restructuring transactions are designed to:

- demutualize our organization by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, Inc.; distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock subsidiary of CBOT Holdings; and

- modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure.

As a result of the restructuring transactions, you will receive a combination of interests consisting of shares of common stock and memberships and your existing limited partnership interests, as applicable. Pursuant to these transactions, we will create a new stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and reorganize the CBOT, which is currently a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation, into a for-profit, nonstock corporation that will be a subsidiary of the holding company. CBOT members will receive an aggregate of 39,802,650 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, which will be distributed in accordance with an allocation methodology described in this document, and a membership in one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in respect of each membership held by such member. Each series of Class B memberships will, subject to satisfaction of applicable membership and eligibility requirements, entitle the holder of a membership in such series to trading rights and privileges that correspond to the trading rights and privileges currently associated with that holder's class of membership in the CBOT. In addition, each Full Member will receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the Class C membership will represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange "exercise right" currently held by each Full Member. After the restructuring transactions, you will continue to hold your existing limited partnership interest in the Ceres limited partnership, as applicable, for a period of time, as described in this document. In connection with the restructuring transactions, we will also modernize our corporate governance structure by making certain changes designed to improve our corporate decision-making process.

Our Full Members and Associate Members will be entitled to vote on the restructuring transactions. Full Members will be entitled to one vote for each Full Membership owned and Associate Members will be entitled to one-sixth of one vote for each Associate Membership owned. No other class of membership will be entitled to vote on the restructuring transactions.

Please review carefully the attached document, which provides important information regarding the restructuring transactions. In particular, you should carefully consider the matters discussed under "Risk Factors" beginning on page 20.

Our board of directors has approved the restructuring transactions and recommends that you vote "FOR" each of the three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions being submitted for your approval. We believe that the restructuring transactions will better position us to compete in the rapidly changing and consolidating futures industry and will give our organization greater structural flexibility and easier access to equity capital, if needed, to grow and continue to offer quality products and services.

Sincerely,

/s/ Nickolas J. Neubauer

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING

To Our Voting Members:

The board of directors of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. has called a special meeting of the membership, to be held at 2:30 p.m., central time, on , 2002 in the Visitor Center Theater, Fifth Floor, at our offices at 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604. The purpose of the meeting is to vote on three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions described in this document: (1) the approval and adoption of the agreement and plan of merger relating to the merger of the CBOT with a newly formed, nonstock, for-profit corporation, which will facilitate the demutualization of the CBOT; (2) ratification of the agreements relating to the exercise right entered into by us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange; and (3) the approval and adoption or ratification, as applicable, of all other matters relating to the restructuring transactions, including a new certificate of incorporation and bylaws for the holding company and the CBOT subsidiary, a technical amendment to the CBOT's bylaws and certain changes to the rules and regulations, which, collectively, will facilitate the demutualization and the modernization of certain aspects of our corporate governance structure. UNLESS ALL THREE OF THESE PROPOSITIONS ARE APPROVED, THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS WILL NOT HAVE BEEN APPROVED BY THE MEMBERS AND, ACCORDINGLY, WILL NOT BE COMPLETED.

Holders of Full Memberships and Associate Memberships will be entitled to vote on these matters at the special meeting of the membership. Full Members will be entitled to one vote for each Full Membership owned and Associate Members will be entitled to one-sixth of one vote for each Associate Membership owned. No other class of membership will be entitled to vote on the restructuring transactions.

We have enclosed a proxy ballot for your use in voting on the propositions described above and in this document. The special meeting of the membership and related proxy ballot solicitation will be conducted in accordance with our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations and applicable law. In particular, the propositions described in this document are being submitted to a vote of the membership pursuant to Sections 5 and 7 of Exhibit A to our certificate of incorporation.

In connection with the proxy ballot solicitation, please note the following instructions:

- Please mark the enclosed proxy ballot with respect to each proposition and provide your signature, printed name and date where indicated, and enclose and seal the completed proxy ballot in the yellow envelope addressed to the Secretary of the CBOT. Each proxy ballot must be signed in order to be effective.

- Print your name in the upper left-hand corner of the gold envelope and deliver or mail it to the Secretary's Office. Alternatively, you may submit your completed proxy ballot to the Secretary's Office by depositing the proxy ballot in the ballot box located in the fourth floor lobby of our offices between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 2:15 p.m., central time, on , 2002.

Proxy ballots that are duly executed and submitted with no voting direction as to a given proposition will be counted for purposes of constituting a quorum but will not be treated as votes cast with respect to such proposition. Proxies that are marked both "FOR" and "AGAINST" a given proposition will not count and will not be treated as votes cast with respect to such proposition. Proxy ballots must be received at the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., Office of the Secretary, 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604 prior to 2:15 p.m., central time, on , 2002 in order to be counted.

Returning your completed proxy ballot will not prevent you from voting in person at the special meeting of the membership if you are present and wish to vote. Please note, however, that if you vote by proxy ballot you will not need to attend the special meeting of the membership, or take any further action in connection with the special meeting, because you already will have directed the proxy how you wish to vote with respect to the propositions. You may revoke your proxy ballot any time before the special meeting of the membership by providing written notice to the Secretary or by submission of a later-dated proxy ballot.

YOUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS HAS CAREFULLY CONSIDERED AND APPROVED THESE MATTERS AND RECOMMENDS THAT YOU VOTE "FOR" APPROVAL OF EACH OF THE THREE PROPOSITIONS RELATING TO THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS BEING SUBMITTED FOR YOUR APPROVAL.

By Order of the Board of Directors,

/s/ Paul J. Draths

On January 26, 2001, the CBOT initially filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a Registration Statement on Form S-4 (Registration No. 353-54370), including a combined proxy statement and prospectus, relating to its proposed restructuring, which was subsequently amended on March 6, 2001, March 26, 2001, April 6, 2001 and May 2, 2001. In addition, the CBOT and its predecessor have filed various communications relating to its proposed restructuring with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As a result of certain refinements to its proposed restructuring that result in CBOT Holdings being the issuer of securities in the restructuring, the CBOT has withdrawn its Registration Statement on Form S-4 as of October 24, 2001 and caused CBOT Holdings to file a Registration Statement on Form S-4 (Registration No. 333-72184), of which this document forms a part, relating to the restructuring transactions, as described in this document. All communications relating to the restructuring transactions described in this document and previously filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission by the CBOT and its predecessor pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, shall be deemed to refer to the restructuring transactions described in this document.

SUMMARY

This summary highlights information contained elsewhere in this document. It does not contain all of the information which you should consider before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions and may not contain all of the information that is important to your individual situation. Consequently, you should read this entire document very carefully before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Overview of the Restructuring Transactions

As a result of evolving changes in the futures industry, principally the increasing importance of electronic trading, we have determined that it is necessary to restructure our organization in order to enhance its competitiveness. Over the last several years, with the assistance of various outside advisors, we have conducted an ongoing and extensive evaluation process with respect to our need to restructure. As a result of this process, we have developed, and are proposing for your approval, a series of transactions designed to restructure the CBOT.

These transactions, which we sometimes refer to in this document as the "restructuring transactions," are designed to:

- demutualize our organization by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, which we sometimes refer to in this document as "CBOT Holdings," and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings, which we sometimes refer to in this document as the "CBOT subsidiary;" and

- modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure by adopting a more modern mechanism for initiating and voting on stockholder proposals and making other changes to improve our corporate decision-making process.

We believe that the completion of the restructuring transactions will enable us to enhance our competitiveness within the futures industry, including our competitiveness within both the open outcry and electronic trading markets.

We currently anticipate that we will complete the restructuring transactions as soon as reasonably practicable following membership approval, subject to receiving a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service and/or an opinion of counsel, and any required regulatory approvals from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. However, our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions is subject to satisfaction of a number of conditions, including, among other things, a condition that our board of directors shall not have determined that the restructuring transactions are no longer in the best interests of the CBOT and its members or that the restructuring transactions are not fair to each class of CBOT membership. For more information about the IRS ruling and opinion of counsel, CFTC approvals and other conditions to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Regulatory Matters" and "--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions."

Our Business

Founded in 1848, we are one of the world's leading exchanges for the trading of futures and options on futures contracts. From our origins in the nineteenth century as a market for trading grains, we have evolved into a major financial center in the twenty-first century, offering a diverse range of futures and options on futures products based on interest rates, debt instruments, agricultural commodities, equity indices and other underlying instruments.

We operate markets for the trading of commodity and financial futures contracts, as well as options on futures contracts. Our products trade both on traditional open outcry auction markets on our trading floors in Chicago where members trade among themselves for their own accounts and for the accounts of their customers and electronically. Through Ceres Trading Limited Partnership, which we sometimes refer to in this document as "Ceres," we currently offer electronic trading on the a/c/e system, which is based on a modified form of the technology used at Eurex, the largest derivatives exchange in the world.

We also engage in market surveillance and financial supervision activities designed to ensure market integrity and provide financial safeguards for users of our markets. Further, we market and distribute real-time and historical market data generated from trading activity in our markets to users of our products and related cash and derivative markets.

The principal executive offices of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT are located at 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604, and our telephone number is (312) 435-3500. For more information about our business, see "Our Business."

Interests to be Received in the Restructuring Transactions

As a result of transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings, the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, and transfer restrictions currently applicable to existing limited partnership interests in the Ceres Trading Limited Partnership, all of these interests will be "stapled" together after the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thus, as a result of the restructuring transactions, you will receive a combination of interests consisting of common stock of CBOT Holdings, a membership of the appropriate series in the CBOT subsidiary and your existing limited partnership interest in Ceres, as applicable. For more information regarding these transfer restrictions, see "--Transfer Restrictions," below.

Common Stock

In connection with the restructuring transactions, each member of the CBOT, including each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, as well as each holder of a one-half Associate Membership, will receive shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings. The number of shares of common stock to be received will be based upon the allocation methodology developed and recommended by our board's Independent Allocation Committee and approved by our board of directors. For purposes of the restructuring transactions, including the allocation of common stock of CBOT Holdings, each holder of a one-half Associate Membership will be treated as a GIM.

The common stock of CBOT Holdings will generally have traditional features of common stock, including, among other things, dividend, voting and liquidation rights. In particular, the common stock of CBOT Holdings will provide the holder with the right to receive dividends as determined by the board of directors and the right to share in the proceeds of liquidation, in each case ratably on the basis of the number of shares held and subject to the rights of any preferred stock that could be issued in the future. In addition, holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

For more information about the common stock of CBOT Holdings, see "Description of Capital Stock."

Memberships

In connection with the restructuring transactions, each CBOT member will also receive a membership in one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in respect of each membership currently held by such member. Each series of Class B membership will, subject to satisfaction of applicable membership and eligibility requirements, entitle the holder to trading rights and privileges that correspond to the trading rights and privileges currently associated with that holder's class of membership in the CBOT. In addition, each Full Member will receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. We sometimes refer to this right in this document as the "exercise right" of Full Members with respect to the Chicago Board Options Exchange. The exercise right is set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the Chicago Board Options Exchange and is currently held by each Full Member of the CBOT. The Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will not be entitled to receive any distributions, dividends or proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary.

For more information about the Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, see "Comparison of the Rights of Members of the CBOT Prior to and After Completion of the Restructuring Transactions."

The Restructuring Transactions

The restructuring transactions consist of a series of transactions designed to demutualize our organization by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings, the CBOT subsidiary, and to modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure.

Let us tell you more about the restructuring transactions:

Demutualization

We will demutualize by establishing a stock, for-profit holding company parent to the CBOT. This will be accomplished, in part, by merging a newly formed nonstock, for-profit subsidiary with and into the CBOT, which will result in the CBOT being the surviving entity. We sometimes refer to this merger in this document as the "reorganization merger." Upon completion of the reorganization merger, the CBOT will become a nonstock, for-profit corporation and a subsidiary of CBOT Holdings. For more information on the reorganization merger, including a chart depicting the organizational structure of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the reorganization merger, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Description of the Restructuring Transactions."

In connection with the completion of the reorganization merger, members will receive a dividend of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings that will be payable to each CBOT member immediately upon the effectiveness of the reorganization merger in accordance with an allocation methodology described in this document, as set forth in the table below.

Shares of Common Stock of CBOT Holdings
to Be Received Per CBOT Membership

Class of CBOT Membership	Shares of Common Stock
Full	25,000
Associate	5,000
GIM	2,500
IDEM	300
COM	350

Immediately after the completion of the restructuring transactions, our members will be the only common stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

In addition, upon completion of the reorganization merger, the CBOT subsidiary will have three new classes of membership: Class A memberships, Class B memberships and Class C memberships. CBOT Holdings will hold the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will entitle CBOT Holdings to the exclusive right to receive all distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary. The Class B memberships will consist of five separate series: Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, with each series having associated with it trading rights and privileges that correspond to one of the current classes of CBOT membership. As set forth in the table below, members of the CBOT will receive a membership in one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in respect of each membership held by such member and, in addition, each Full Member will also receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will represent the exercise right.

Memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary
to be Received Per CBOT Membership

Class of CBOT Membership	Number and Series of CBOT Subsidiary Class B Memberships	Number of CBOT Subsidiary Class C Memberships
Full	1 Series B-1	1 Class C
Associate	1 Series B-2	--
GIM	1 Series B-3	--
IDEM	1 Series B-4	--
COM	1 Series B-5	--

Following completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary would continue to conduct their electronic trading business indirectly through Ceres until such time as the CBOT's current arrangements with the Eurex Group are terminated, which we currently expect to occur in December 2003. We currently anticipate that, at such time, Ceres will be liquidated and its assets distributed to its partners in accordance with the terms of the Ceres limited partnership agreement, and CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary will conduct their electronic trading business through eCBOT.

You are being asked to, among other things, adopt and approve the agreement and plan of merger pursuant to which the reorganization merger will occur. We have included as Appendix C to this document the form of the agreement and plan of merger relating to the reorganization merger. We urge you to review carefully the agreement and plan of merger before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

For more information about our demutualization, including the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among members, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Description of the Restructuring Transactions--Demutualization," "--Independent Allocation Committee" and "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee."

Modernization of Certain Aspects of Our Corporate Governance Structure

In connection with the restructuring transactions, we will modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure. These changes will occur as a result of the creation of a holding company structure and certain changes to be made to the certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the reorganization merger.

Because CBOT members will receive interests in both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary as a result of the completion of the restructuring transactions, it is important for you to understand the scope and nature of your rights and obligations in these two organizations. Upon the completion of the restructuring transactions, you will be a stockholder of CBOT Holdings and a member of the CBOT subsidiary. Your rights as a stockholder of CBOT Holdings will generally resemble those of a stockholder of a public company and your rights as a member of the CBOT subsidiary will more closely resemble your current trading rights and privileges as CBOT members. However, as explained below, there will be important changes to your rights and obligations as a result of the modernization of certain aspects of our corporate governance structure.

Voting Rights. As compared to our current corporate governance structure, CBOT Holdings will have a corporate governance structure more customary for a for-profit, stock corporation. The holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt and recommend for stockholder approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of a majority of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings. In addition, the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of CBOT Holdings without the approval of stockholders. However, subject to limitations under applicable law, the stockholders will also have the right to initiate proposals, including proposals to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. The stockholders of CBOT Holdings will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, or as described below, proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary. Stockholder proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of stockholders of CBOT Holdings after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such annual or special meeting.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the stockholders upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will provide that one-third of the total voting power of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in an election of directors must be present in person or by proxy to constitute a quorum.

The CBOT subsidiary will have a corporate governance structure that is designed generally to vest control of matters related to corporate governance with CBOT Holdings and matters related to trading rights and privileges with the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt and recommend for membership approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, except as provided below, CBOT Holdings, the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, which will include the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, without approval from the membership. However, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have the exclusive right to vote on any proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect the following core rights:

- the allocation of products that a holder of a specific series of Class B membership is permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the CBOT subsidiary, e.g., the elimination of any product from a holder's trading rights and privileges;

- the requirement that, subject to certain limited exceptions agreed to by the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will be charged transaction fees for trades of the CBOT subsidiary's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a Class B member for the same products;

- the authorized number of any class or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;

- the membership and eligibility requirements to become a Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary or to exercise the associated trading rights or privileges; and

- the commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, subject to applicable law, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary may initiate other proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Members will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Member proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of votes cast at such annual or special meeting.

Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one vote per membership and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one-sixth of one vote per membership in any vote with respect to a proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect any of the above-described core rights and on any proposal initiated by Series B-1 and/or Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B members and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposal.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that one-third of the voting power of the Class B memberships entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum.

See "The Restructuring Transactions--Description of the Restructuring Transactions--Modernization of our Corporate Governance Structure" and "Comparison of the Rights of Members of the CBOT Prior to and After Completion of the Restructuring Transactions."

Boards of Directors. The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as members of the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders following completion of the restructuring transactions. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will then consist of the chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, a vice-chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, eight directors who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, two directors who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, three directors who will be "independent" within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings who will be appointed by the board of directors as a non-voting director. Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of such corporation following their election and will not be subject to term limits.

The elected directors of CBOT Holdings will be classified into two classes of directors consisting of eight directors and seven directors, respectively. The first class of directors will consist of the chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and two independent directors. The second class of directors will consist of the vice-chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, which is the sole membership entitled to vote in the election of directors, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

Nomination Procedures for Directors. It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will designate a nominating committee to recommend to the board of directors nominations of persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings. In addition to nominations made by the nominating committee, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will also be entitled to nominate persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings if the nominee is qualified and the stockholder satisfies certain advance notice requirements. If the stockholder satisfies each of these conditions and delivers a petition executed by at least 40 Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, CBOT Holdings will, to the extent it prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy, at its own expense, include the name of such nominee and all other information related to such nominee that is provided with respect to the board of directors' nominees in such proxy statement and form of proxy.

Fairness Opinion

Since no mechanism currently exists in our certificate of incorporation, bylaws or rules and regulations for allocating ownership in our organization among the members in connection with a restructuring such as the restructuring transactions, our board of directors appointed an independent allocation committee, which we sometimes refer to as the "Independent Allocation Committee," composed solely of public or independent directors of the board, to determine and recommend to the full board an appropriate and fair allocation of equity among the CBOT members of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

William Blair & Company, L.L.C. was retained by the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors to deliver a written opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair's fairness opinion dated, September 17, 2002, states that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.5 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, is fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. The full text of the William Blair fairness opinion, dated September 17, 2002, is attached as Appendix D to this document.

This fairness opinion does not address the value of the CBOT or the memberships before or after completion of the restructuring transactions, or the fairness of the consideration to be received by CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. See "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--We Have Not Determined or Received Any Opinion Regarding the Value of the CBOT Before or After the Restructuring Transactions or the Value of the Securities and/or Memberships You Will Receive in the Restructuring Transactions Compared to the Value of the Memberships You Currently Own."

Agreements Relating to the Exercise Right

Since 1973, when we created the Chicago Board Options Exchange, our Full Members have had a legal right to become members of that exchange without having to purchase a membership on that exchange. Over the last year or more, since we first announced our desire to pursue a strategic restructuring of the CBOT into a stock, for-profit company, the Chicago Board Options Exchange has stated publicly its view that, if consummated, the restructuring transactions would extinguish the exercise right under certain circumstances. In particular, the Chicago Board Options Exchange stated in a proposed interpretation and change to its rules relating to the exercise right that the exercise right would be terminated:

- for any Full Member, if that Full Member sells or otherwise transfers any of the stock and other interests received as a result of completing the restructuring transactions in respect of his or her Full Membership;
- for all Full Members, if the CBOT by expanding electronic trading on the a/c/e system or otherwise, allows non-members to trade directly on the CBOT on the same basis as members; or
- for all Full Members, if CBOT members who exercise their right to become members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange are able to trade at member rates all of the CBOT's products and the Chicago Board Options Exchange's products simultaneously.

In connection with the proposed change to the rules of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, the Chicago Board Options Exchange also took the position that:

- the a/c/e system gives our members who exercise the right to become Chicago Board Options Exchange members the ability to trade on the Chicago Board Options Exchange trading floor and through the CBOT at the same time, an activity that the Chicago Board Options Exchange claimed was incompatible with the exercise right; and

- the exercise right may be terminated after completion of the restructuring transactions because certain non-trading rights, including voting rights, of the current Full Members of the CBOT would change in connection with the completion of the restructuring transactions.

Because we believed that the Chicago Board Options Exchange's position violated a 1992 agreement between us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange, which addresses the exercise right, and because the exercise right is valuable to our Full Members, we at that time initiated litigation in the Illinois Circuit Court against the Chicago Board Options Exchange intended to protect the exercise right.

On August 7, 2001, the CBOT entered into an agreement with the Chicago Board Options Exchange for the stated purpose of resolving the dispute between the parties regarding the exercise right within the context of the restructuring transactions and electronic trading generally at the CBOT. Subject to satisfaction of certain conditions, including, among other things, approval of the August 7, 2001 agreement by the membership of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, approval of the agreement by the SEC as an interpretation of the certificate of incorporation of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, and the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this document is part, the parties agreed, among other things, to clarify the nature and scope of the exercise right in the context of the CBOT's proposed strategic restructuring and the expanded operation of the CBOT's electronic trading system. In addition, the CBOT agreed to dismiss pending litigation and the CBOE agreed to withdraw its proposed interpretation and rule change that had been filed with the SEC and to take no further action to amend, modify, or otherwise limit, or terminate or cause to expire, the exercise right as a result of the completion of the restructuring transactions except as contemplated in the agreement.

On October 24, 2001, the CBOT, CBOT Holdings and the Chicago Board Options Exchange entered into a letter agreement that, among other things, specified the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 agreement will apply upon completion of the restructuring transactions as revised to provide for the holding company structure.

On September 13, 2002, the CBOT, CBOT Holdings and the Chicago Board Options Exchange entered into a letter agreement that, among other things, specified the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 agreement and the October 24, 2001 letter agreement will apply upon completion of the restructuring transactions as refined subsequent to the October 24, 2001 letter agreement. For more information on the conditions and other terms of the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements, see "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Chicago Board Options Exchange Dispute." For more information on the risks associated with the exercise right, see "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--The "Exercise Right' Could be Subject to Further Challenge by the Chicago Board Options Exchange."

You are being asked to vote to ratify the agreements recently entered into by us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange. We have included as Appendices E-1, E-2 and E-3 to this document a copy of the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements, respectively. We urge you to review carefully all three agreements before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Differences in Rights

Following the completion of the restructuring transactions, you will become stockholders in a Delaware stock, for-profit holding company and members of a Delaware nonstock, for-profit corporation that will be a subsidiary of the holding company, and you will no longer be members of a Delaware nonstock, not-for-profit corporation. You should consider carefully the differences in your rights and obligations that will result from this change in structure before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Some of these differences arise from differences between the corporate law applicable to the different types of organizations. Other differences arise from choices that we have made in designing the certificates of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary. We briefly summarize below some of the important differences in your rights and obligations that will result from completion of the restructuring transactions:

. Voting. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt and recommend for stockholder approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of a majority of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings. In addition, the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of CBOT Holdings without the approval of stockholders. However, subject to limitations under applicable law, the stockholders will also have the right to initiate proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. The stockholders of CBOT Holdings will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, or as described below, proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation bylaws and rules and regulation of the CBOT subsidiary. Stockholder proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of stockholders of CBOT Holdings after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such special or annual meeting.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the stockholders upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will provide that one-third of the total voting power of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in an election of directors must be present in person or by proxy to constitute a quorum.

The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt and recommend for membership approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, except as provided below, CBOT Holdings, the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, which will include the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, without approval from the membership. However, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have the exclusive right to vote on any proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect the following core rights:

. the allocation of products that a holder of a specific series of Class B membership is permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the CBOT subsidiary, e.g., the elimination of any product from a holder's trading rights and privileges;

- the requirement that, subject to certain limited exceptions agreed to by the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will be charged transaction fees for trades of the CBOT subsidiary's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a Class B member for the same products;

- the authorized number of any class or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;

- the membership and eligibility requirements to become a Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary or to exercise the associated trading rights or privileges; and

- the commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, subject to applicable law, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary may initiate other proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Members will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Member proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of votes cast at such special or annual meeting.

Series B-1, Class B memberships of the CBOT subsidiary will have one vote per membership and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one-sixth of one vote per membership in any vote with respect to a proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect any of the above-described core rights and on any other proposal initiated by Series B-1 and/or Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B members and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposals.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that one-third of the voting power of the Class B memberships entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum.

. Boards of Directors. The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as members of the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders to be held following completion of the restructuring transactions. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will consist of the chairman of the board who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, a vice-chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, eight directors who will be

Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, two directors who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, three directors who are independent within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings who will be appointed by the board of directors as a non-voting director. Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of such corporation following their due election and will not be subject to term limits.

The elected directors will be classified into two classes, consisting of eight and seven directors, respectively. The first class of directors will consist of the chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and two independent directors. The second class of directors will consist of the vice-chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, which is the sole membership entitled to vote in the election of directors, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

. Nomination Procedures for Directors. It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will designate a nominating committee to recommend to the board of directors nominations of persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings. In addition to nominations made by the nominating committee, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will also be entitled to nominate persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings if the nominee is qualified and the stockholder satisfies certain advance notice requirements. If the stockholder satisfies each of these conditions and delivers a petition executed by at least 40 Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, CBOT Holdings will, to the extent it prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy to its stockholders or members, at its own expense, include the name of such nominee and all other information related to such nominee that is provided with respect to the board of directors' nominees in such proxy statement and form of proxy.

- Dividends. Although nonstock, not-for-profit corporations are permitted to declare and pay dividends under Delaware law, dividends are a more typical feature of stock, for-profit corporations. CBOT Holdings will generally have the ability to declare and pay dividends to its common stockholders out of its "surplus" as defined under Delaware law. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be able to determine, in its sole and absolute discretion, the time of declarations and payments, and the amounts, if any, of dividends on the common stock. It is not currently anticipated that CBOT Holdings will pay cash dividends on its common stock in the near future. However, CBOT Holdings may later determine to pay cash dividends out of its available surplus. As a Delaware corporation, the CBOT subsidiary will also have the ability to declare and pay dividends as described above. However, the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that such dividends may only be declared and paid to CBOT Holdings, the holder of the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary. Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will not be entitled to receive any distributions, dividends or proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary.

- Capital Stock. Under the terms of its certificate of incorporation, immediately upon completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings will be authorized to issue 39,802,650 shares of common stock, all of which will be issued in the restructuring transactions.

- Assessments and Dues. The board of directors of the CBOT currently possesses the authority to levy assessments upon the CBOT membership as it may deem necessary or advisable to meet certain anticipated operating deficits. The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will continue to possess the authority to levy assessments upon the CBOT subsidiary membership on substantially the same terms as the board of directors of the CBOT. The common stock of CBOT Holdings will be issued as fully paid and non-assessable. As such, CBOT Holdings will have no authority to assess its stockholders.

- Change of Control Provisions. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation and bylaws will contain a number of provisions that may have the effect of encouraging persons considering unsolicited tender offers or other unilateral takeover proposals to negotiate with the board of directors rather than pursue non-negotiated takeover attempts. The provisions will include, among other things:

  - a classified board of directors with staggered terms of office;

  - advance notice requirements for stockholder proposals;

  - application of the Delaware anti-takeover statute; and

  - a prohibition on the ability of stockholders to take action by written consent.

In addition, we currently anticipate that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings would be asked to consider, and may adopt, a stockholder rights plan or "poison pill" in connection with any future underwritten public offering of its common stock. We have no current plan or intention to conduct any such offering.

For more information about the differences in the rights and obligations of CBOT members, CBOT Holdings stockholders and the CBOT subsidiary members, see "Comparison of the Rights of Members of the CBOT Prior to and After Completion of the Restructuring Transactions."

Transfer Restrictions

The shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will generally be subject to a complete restriction on transfer as described in greater detail elsewhere in this document. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, stockholders may transfer all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock associated with a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary if all such shares of common stock are transferred together with the associated Class B membership. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer of the common stock. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

The Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will be subject to a complete restriction on transfer as described in greater detail elsewhere in this document. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, the holders of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary may transfer a Class B membership if such Class B membership is transferred together with the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings associated with such Class B membership. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer on the Class B memberships. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and the approval of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the exercise of the trading rights and privileges associated with the Class B memberships will be subject to substantially the same restrictions that currently apply, including, in the case of Series B-3, Class B memberships, that such memberships may not be sold or transferred without eliminating the associated trading rights and privileges. Holders of Class B memberships will also be subject to the application and approval process applicable to CBOT membership candidates. Under that process, any adult, other than an employee of the CBOT subsidiary, of good character, reputation, financial responsibility and credit will be eligible to become a Class B member of, and exercise trading rights and privileges at, the CBOT subsidiary. Candidates will be reviewed to determine whether they meet applicable requirements in accordance with the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary.

The Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will not be subject to any transfer restrictions. However, a holder of a Class C membership seeking to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange must hold 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and one Series B-1, Class B membership, along with such Class C membership, in each case subject to certain adjustments, in order to be eligible to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership in such exchange. Accordingly, if you are a Full Member of the CBOT, you should give careful consideration to this requirement before either transferring some or all of your common stock of CBOT Holdings without all of your other shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and your Series B-1, Class B membership and Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary or transferring your Series B-1, Class B membership or Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary without all of your shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

The existing limited partnership interests in Ceres are currently subject to certain transfer restrictions which result in the Ceres limited partnership interests being "stapled" to the CBOT memberships. As a result of the above-described transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, and substantially similar transfer restrictions that will be applicable to the existing limited partnership interests in Ceres, all of these interests will be "stapled" together after the completion of the restructuring transactions. This means that, unless and until these transfer restrictions are eliminated or modified, these interests can only be transferred together.

In addition to the restrictions discussed above, shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings received in connection with the restructuring transactions by "affiliates" may be resold only pursuant to further registration under the Securities Act or in transactions that are exempt from registration under the Securities Act.

For more information, see "Shares Eligible for Future Sale."

U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences

We are seeking a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service to the effect that, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, you will not recognize any gain or loss strictly as a result of receiving shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary or as a result of CBOT Holdings receiving a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the restructuring transactions. Assuming this non-recognition treatment, the tax basis in your membership will carry over to your common stock of CBOT Holdings and memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. Receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS with respect to the receipt by members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS or an opinion of counsel with respect to the receipt by CBOT Holdings of a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in each case, in form and substance satisfactory to our board, are conditions to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions.

We have received an opinion of Kirkland & Ellis, tax counsel to the CBOT and CBOT Holdings, to the effect that the discussions set forth under "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Restructuring Transactions" expresses its opinion as to the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Restructuring Transactions, subject to the qualifications set forth therein, and are based on reasonable interpretation of existing law.

For more information, see "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Restructuring Transactions."

Accounting Matters

The accounting treatment of certain aspects of the restructuring transactions will be treated similar to a reorganization of entities under common control. Under this method of accounting, no gain or loss will be recognized, and the assets and liabilities of the CBOT will appear on the books of CBOT Holdings at their same recorded amounts. For more information, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Accounting Matters."

Regulatory Matters

The completion of the restructuring transactions is subject to our receipt of any approvals required by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission in connection with the proposed changes to our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations that will be made in connection with the restructuring transactions and confirmation by the CFTC that implementation of the restructuring transactions will not have a material adverse effect on our current contract market designation.

In addition, the restructuring transactions may be subject to certain regulatory requirements of other state, federal and foreign governmental agencies and authorities. We are currently working to evaluate and comply, as applicable, in all material respects with these requirements and do not currently anticipate that they will delay completion of the restructuring transactions.

For more information, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Regulatory Matters."

Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions

We will not be obligated to complete the restructuring transactions unless and until each of the following conditions has been satisfied:

- the members of the CBOT have approved each of the three propositions being submitted for their approval in connection with the restructuring transactions;

- we have received (1) a favorable ruling from the IRS to the effect that receipt by members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and (2) a favorable ruling from the IRS or an opinion of counsel to the effect that receipt by CBOT Holdings of a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in each case, in form and substance satisfactory to our board of directors, will not result in the recognition of gain or loss to our members under U.S. federal tax law;

- we have received any approvals required by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission in connection with changes to our corporate governance structure and we have confirmed with the CFTC that implementation of the restructuring transactions will not have a material adverse effect on our current contract market designation, and we have received any other governmental or regulatory approvals and authorizations determined by us to be necessary;

- we have received each required material third party consent;

- there is no court order or other regulation prohibiting or restricting the restructuring transactions;

- our board of directors has not determined that there is a material risk of an adverse outcome in the Associate Members and membership interest holders litigation; and

- our board of directors has not determined that the restructuring transactions are no longer in the best interests of the CBOT and its members or that the restructuring transactions are not fair to each class of CBOT membership.

For more information, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions."

Stock Exchange Listing; Market for Shares and Memberships

No market presently exists for the common stock of CBOT Holdings. We have no current plans to list the common stock of CBOT Holdings on any stock exchange.

Although we cannot provide any assurances in this regard, we currently believe that a market for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will develop that is similar to the current markets for CBOT memberships. The current markets for memberships in the CBOT should facilitate the development of new markets for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. As the rights and privileges associated with the Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary are not currently transferable separate and apart from a Full Membership in the CBOT, we are uncertain as to what, if any, market will develop for Class C memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary and what effect the transferability of the Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will have on the market for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

Risk Factors

There are significant risks associated with the restructuring transactions that you should consider very carefully. These risks include, among other things, our ability to implement in a timely and successful manner changes to our organizational and corporate governance structure that are required in order to operate more efficiently. Although we have a long history of operating as a successful member-owned institution, significant changes will be required in the manner in which we evaluate and undertake activities. For more information about these and other risks, see "Risk Factors" beginning on page 20 below.

Matters To Be Approved; Vote Required

Full Members and Associate Members are being asked to approve the restructuring transactions described in this document, including the following three propositions:

- the approval and adoption of the agreement and plan of merger relating to the merger of the CBOT with a newly formed nonstock, for-profit corporation, which will facilitate the demutualization of the CBOT;

- ratification of the agreements relating to the exercise right entered into by us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange; and

- the approval and adoption or ratification, as applicable, of all other matters relating to the restructuring transactions, including a new certificate of incorporation and bylaws for each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, a technical amendment to the CBOT's bylaws and certain changes to the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, which, collectively, will facilitate the demutualization and the modernization of certain aspects of our corporate governance structure.

Ratification is an expression of approval by members of one or more matters for which their approval is not required as a matter of law. In general, ratification by members is effective to approve actions taken by a corporation and its board of directors, even if the actions are challenged by some of the members, provided that such actions are not against public policy such as actions involving fraud or similar egregious misconduct. The CBOT believes, therefore, that approval and ratification of these propositions relating to the restructuring transactions should bar any claim other than for fraud or similar egregious misconduct against the CBOT and its directors based on the restructuring transactions.

Unless all three of these propositions are approved, the restructuring transactions will not have been approved by the members and, accordingly, will not be completed.

The restructuring transactions will be approved if Full Members and Associate Members, voting together as a single class based upon their respective voting rights, cast at least 300 votes at the special meeting, in person or by proxy ballot, and at least a majority of the votes cast are in favor of each of the three propositions being submitted for their approval in connection with the restructuring transactions. Full Members will be entitled to one vote for each Full Membership owned and Associate Members will be entitled to one-sixth of one vote for each Associate Membership owned. No other class of CBOT membership will be entitled to vote on the restructuring transactions.

For more information, see "Special Meeting and Proxy Information--Available Votes; Required Vote."

Absence of Appraisal Rights

Members who object to the restructuring transactions will have no appraisal rights under Delaware law. If the restructuring transactions are completed and regardless of whether you voted for or against the restructuring transactions, your membership in the CBOT will be eliminated and you will receive shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, in each case, as described in this document.

For more information, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Absence of Appraisal Rights."

Board Recommendation

Our board of directors has determined that the restructuring transactions are in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and that the restructuring transactions are fair to each class of CBOT membership. Our board of directors has approved the restructuring transactions and recommends that you vote "FOR" approval of each of the three propositions being submitted for your approval in connection with the restructuring transactions.

SUMMARY CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL DATA

The following table sets forth a summary of consolidated financial and other information for the CBOT. The balance sheet data as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 and operating data for the years ended December 31, 2001, 2000 and 1999 have been derived from the audited consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this document. The balance sheet data as of December 31, 1999, 1998 and 1997 and operating data for the years ended December 31, 1998 and 1997 have been derived from audited financial statements and related notes not included in this document. The balance sheet and operating data as of, and for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and 2001 are unaudited but include, in the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation of such data. The results of operations for the six months ended June 30, 2002 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the entire year. The information set forth below should be read in conjunction with "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," the consolidated financial statements and the related notes, the unaudited pro forma condensed consolidated financial statements and other financial information included elsewhere in this document.

(1) In 2001, the CBOT adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities," as amended and interpreted, requiring recognition of all derivative instruments in the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition as either assets or liabilities and the measurement of those instruments at fair value. SFAS No. 133 also requires changes in the fair value of derivative instruments to be recorded each period in current earnings or other comprehensive income depending on the intended use of the derivatives.

(2) In 1999, the CBOT adopted Statement of Position ("SOP") 98-5, "Reporting on the Costs of Start-Up Activities." SOP 98-5 requires that start-up activities be expensed as incurred. Previously, start-up activities were capitalized and amortized.

(3) Reflects the conversion of members' equity to common stock of CBOT Holdings.

(4) Based on 39,802,650 shares issued and outstanding immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions.

(5) Equals current assets divided by current liabilities.

(6) Equals the sum of income from operations plus interest expense, divided by interest expense.

If the restructuring transactions are completed, you will receive shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and a membership or memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. Therefore, you should carefully consider each of the following risks and uncertainties, and all other information set forth in this document, before deciding whether to vote for or against the three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. The following risks relate principally to:

- the restructuring transactions, particularly the demutualization;
- our business in general and the industry in which we operate;
- regulations applicable to our business and litigation in which we are, or may be, involved; and
- changes in our corporate governance structure that will be implemented as part of the restructuring transactions.

You should be aware that the risks and uncertainties described below are not the only risks and uncertainties we are facing or will face in the future. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also adversely affect our business.

This document contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. The results of CBOT Holdings could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including the risks and uncertainties faced by CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary described below and elsewhere in this document.

Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions

We are subject to the following risks in connection with the restructuring transactions, particularly our demutualization. Certain other risks relating to changes in our governing documents in connection with the restructuring transactions are described below under "--Risks Relating to Changes in Our Corporate Governance Structure."

We Have No Internal Experience and Little Representative External Experience Upon Which to Rely in Operating as a For-Profit Futures Exchange

We have been operating as a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation for the benefit of our members. As such, we have been a mutual organization focused on delivering member benefits and enhancing member opportunity at reasonable cost. After the restructuring transactions are completed, CBOT Holdings will be operated for the long-term benefit of its stockholders rather than for the purpose of delivering member benefits and enhancing member opportunity. In addition, after the restructuring transactions are completed, the CBOT subsidiary will itself become a for-profit corporation. Although our management has experience operating a for-profit corporation, they have no experience, and there is relatively little history of or experience by other U.S. futures exchanges, operating a for-profit futures exchange. Consequently, our transition to for-profit operations will be subject to risks, expenses and difficulties that we cannot predict and may not be capable of handling in an efficient manner.

Our Holding Company Structure May Not Achieve its Intended Benefits

We believe that the proposed holding company structure contemplated by the restructuring transactions will provide us increased flexibility to operate in a manner that will allow us to pursue our strategic goals while preserving certain desirable attributes of nonstock membership corporations. The expected benefits of the holding company structure may not be realized if market conditions, the regulatory environment or other circumstances limit us from pursuing our strategic goals. As a result, we could incur the costs of maintaining a holding company structure without realizing all of its intended benefits.

As a Holding Company, CBOT Holdings Will be Totally Dependent on Distributions and Dividends from its Operating Subsidiaries to Pay Dividends and Other Obligations

Immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings will have no business operations of its own. The only significant asset of CBOT Holdings will initially consist of the Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary. As a result, CBOT Holdings will rely upon distributions from the CBOT subsidiary to meet its obligations. We currently expect that most of the earnings and cash flow of the CBOT subsidiary will initially be retained and used by it in its operations, including for purposes of servicing debt obligations it may have now or incur in the future.

The "Exercise Right" Could be Subject to Further Challenge by the Chicago Board Options Exchange

Notwithstanding our execution of the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements with the Chicago Board Options Exchange, we cannot assure you that the Chicago Board Options Exchange will not take other actions in the future to challenge or interfere with the exercise right in reliance upon its interpretation of these agreements, the 1992 agreement or article fifth (b) of the Chicago Board Options Exchange's certificate of incorporation, which created the exercise right in 1973. We also cannot assure you that the Chicago Board Options Exchange will not otherwise be successful in terminating the exercise right or preventing Full Members from exercising such right in the future in response to future innovations by CBOT Holdings or the CBOT subsidiary in implementing their business strategies, especially in the area of electronic trading.

For more information on the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right and the Chicago Board Options Exchange's recent attempts to restrict the scope of the exercise right, see "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Chicago Board Options Exchange Dispute."

Certain Members Have Filed a Complaint in Illinois State Court Challenging the Proposed Allocation of Equity in the CBOT

Certain Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs have instituted litigation in Cook County Circuit Court against certain individual Full Members and a class of all Full Members alleging that the proposed allocation of equity in the CBOT as part of the restructuring transactions unfairly favors Full Members to the detriment of Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs. The plaintiffs have requested, among other things, that the court enjoin Full Members from voting in favor of the allocation contemplated by the restructuring transactions and that the court declare that the proposed allocation is unfair. The Court certified a plaintiff class consisting of all persons or entities who own an Associate Membership or any other membership interest (excluding the 1,402 individuals who hold Full Memberships and any entity which owns a Full Membership in addition to owning an Associate Membership or other membership interest). Subsequently, defendants filed a motion for summary judgment, arguing among other things that Full Members of the CBOT do not owe fiduciary duties to Associate Members and membership interest holders under Delaware law, and therefore plaintiffs' complaint should be dismissed. On August 8, 2002, the Court granted defendants' motion for summary judgment. On September 6, 2002, the plaintiffs filed a motion asking the court to reconsider its decision to dismiss the case and terminate this litigation. The court has not yet ruled on plaintiffs' motion. We believe that the Court's decision is correct and that plaintiffs' position is without merit. Nevertheless, we cannot provide any assurances that the plaintiffs will not appeal nor can we provide any assurances that the plaintiffs will not succeed in preventing or delaying the vote which is the subject of this proxy solicitation or in altering the proposed allocation of equity in the restructuring transactions. Additionally, we cannot assure you that the plaintiffs will not attempt to pursue other remedies, such as damages, in the event that the restructuring transactions are completed on the terms proposed in this document. For more information, see "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Lawsuit Brought By Certain Associate Members and Membership Interest Holders."

We Have Not Determined or Received Any Opinion Regarding the Value of the CBOT Before or After the Restructuring Transactions or the Value of the Securities and/or Memberships You Will Receive in the Restructuring Transactions Compared to the Value of the Memberships You Currently Own

We have not determined the value of the CBOT in its current form as a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation or its value as a stock, for-profit holding company after the restructuring transactions, nor have we determined the value of the securities and/or memberships that will be issued in respect of the existing CBOT memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. The fairness opinion that we have received from William Blair is limited in scope and does not address either of the foregoing valuation matters. Accordingly, we can give you no assurance that the value of CBOT Holdings will be at least equal to the value of the CBOT or that the value of the securities of CBOT Holdings and/or memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be at least equal to the value of the corresponding memberships in the CBOT that you currently own.

The Allocation of the Equity in CBOT Holdings Depends on Several Relative Factors

The Independent Allocation Committee and our board of directors considered a number of factors in determining the allocation of equity in CBOT Holdings among the existing CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions. The Independent Allocation Committee based its recommendation on a combination of factors including, among other things, relative voting rights, relative liquidation rights, the allocation of partnership interests in connection with the formation of Ceres, membership or seat prices and contract volumes. There are other equity allocation methods that could be applied and, if applied, might produce different results. However, the Independent Allocation Committee and our board of directors have determined that the proposed allocation will accomplish a fair allocation of the common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships. See "The Restructuring Transactions--Independent Allocation Committee of the Board" for more information regarding the Independent Allocation Committee and the allocation methodology.

Certain members of the CBOT initiated litigation against certain Full Members in the Cook County Circuit Court challenging our allocation determination. For more information regarding this litigation, see "--Certain Members Have Filed a Complaint in Illinois State Court Challenging the Proposed Allocation of Equity in the CBOT" above and "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Lawsuit Brought By Certain Associate Members and Membership Interest Holders."

Full Members Will Experience Dilution in Their Relative Voting Powers

As a result of the allocation of common stock of CBOT Holdings among our members and the limitation on the voting rights of Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary resulting from completion of the restructuring transactions, Full Members will experience dilution of their voting power on general matters relative to the voting power of Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs on such matters. Our current certificate of incorporation and bylaws provide that the Full Members are entitled to one vote per membership and Associate Members are entitled to one-sixth of one vote per membership on all matters subject to a membership vote, while GIMs, IDEMs and COMs do not have the right to vote on any matters. Upon completion of the restructuring transactions, the holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. To the extent that they remain holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs who do not currently have voting rights in the CBOT will be entitled as common stockholders to vote on all matters submitted to the stockholders of CBOT Holdings for a vote. See "The Restructuring Transactions--Independent Allocation Committee of the Board" and "Description of Capital Stock."

Your Relative Liquidation Rights Will Change as a Result of the Restructuring Transactions and Full Members and GIMs Will Experience Dilution in Their Relative Liquidation Rights

As a result of the allocation of common stock of CBOT Holdings among members and the exclusive right of CBOT Holdings as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary to share in the proceeds of liquidation of the CBOT subsidiary resulting from completion of the restructuring transactions, Full Members and GIMs will experience dilution of their liquidation rights in CBOT Holdings relative to the liquidation rights of Associate Members, IDEMs and COMs. Our current certificate of incorporation and bylaws provide that the members would share in the proceeds upon liquidation in a ratio of 1.000 : 0.167 : 0.111 : 0.005 : 0.005 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively. This represents an implied allocation among Full Members, Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs as follows: 6.00 : 1.00 : 0.67 : 0.03 : 0.03. Upon completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings common stockholders will have the right to share in the proceeds of liquidation of CBOT Holdings pro rata on the basis of the number of shares of common stock owned and CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, will have the exclusive right to share in the proceeds of liquidation of the CBOT subsidiary.

Accordingly, upon completion of the restructuring transactions, the proceeds upon liquidation would be shared among CBOT Holdings common stockholders in accordance with the ratio used to allocate equity in CBOT Holdings pursuant to the restructuring transactions, which is 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.5 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively. This will increase somewhat the liquidation rights of stockholders who are now Associate Members, IDEMs and COMs and will reduce in a corresponding manner the relative liquidation rights of stockholders who are now Full Members and GIMs. See "The Restructuring Transactions--Independent Allocation Committee of the Board" and "Description of Capital Stock."

OUR BUSINESS MAY BE MATERIALLY ADVERSELY AFFECTED IF WE DO NOT TIMELY COMPLETE THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

If we fail to complete the restructuring transactions substantially in a timely fashion, our business may be materially adversely affected. Specifically, we believe that we would likely be significantly less capable of making decisions on important issues in an expeditious manner, responding rapidly to the technological innovations currently shaping the derivatives markets, maximizing the value of our organization or achieving the other benefits we expect to achieve in connection with the restructuring transactions, all of which are important to our business strategy. Although we currently plan to complete the restructuring transactions as promptly as reasonably practicable following satisfaction of all conditions, we cannot assure you as to whether or when implementation of the restructuring transactions will occur. For more information about the restructuring transactions and the benefits we expect to achieve in connection with the restructuring transactions, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Background of the Restructuring Transactions--Reasons for the Restructuring Strategy."

WE MAY INCUR MATERIAL, UNANTICIPATED COSTS IN CONNECTION WITH THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

We have already incurred substantial expenses in connection with the restructuring transactions and have planned for additional expenditures necessary for completion of the transactions. We may, however, incur additional significant costs and expenses greater than those we have planned for in connection with the restructuring transactions. We cannot assure you that these additional costs will not be material to our business.

WE WILL BE UNABLE TO COMPLETE THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS UNLESS WE CAN OBTAIN A FAVORABLE RULING FROM THE IRS AND/OR AN OPINION OF COUNSEL

We have designed and structured the restructuring transactions with the intention that neither the CBOT nor its members will recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes in connection with the demutualization. On October 30, 2001, we filed a request for a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service to the effect that you will not recognize gain or loss strictly as a result of the receipt of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary or as a result of the receipt by CBOT Holdings of the Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the restructuring transactions. Because there is limited authority for the tax treatment of the demutualization aspect of our restructuring transactions, we cannot be sure that the IRS will issue the requested ruling or, if issued, that we will receive the requested ruling in the near future. Generally speaking, if the IRS issues a ruling, it is not received by the requesting company until at least four months after the initial filing of the ruling request. Moreover, this process can, under certain circumstances, take significantly longer. Receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS with respect to receipt by the members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS or an opinion of counsel with respect to the receipt by CBOT Holdings of the Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in each case, in form and substance satisfactory to our board, are conditions to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions, and we will not complete the restructuring transactions unless and until we receive the ruling and/or opinion, as applicable. Even if we do receive the requested ruling from the IRS, any significant delay in the implementation of the restructuring transactions caused by the IRS could jeopardize our ability to achieve the expected benefits of the restructuring transactions.

We Will Be Unable to Complete the Restructuring Transactions Unless We Can Obtain Necessary Regulatory Approvals, Including from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission

In order to complete the restructuring transactions, we currently anticipate that the Commodity Futures Trading Commission will be asked to approve changes to our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations, and that the CFTC will be asked to confirm that implementation of the restructuring transactions will not have a material adverse effect on our current contract market designation. If these CFTC approvals and any other necessary regulatory approvals and authorizations cannot be obtained, we may not be able to complete the restructuring transactions and any delay in the implementation of the restructuring transactions caused by the CFTC or other regulators may jeopardize the expected benefits of the restructuring transactions. Generally speaking, we currently expect that it could take several months to receive the necessary approvals from the CFTC. We cannot assure you that the CFTC and other regulatory approvals will be obtained in connection with the restructuring transactions or, if obtained, that the approvals will be timely received.

Common Stockholders of CBOT Holdings May Support Decisions That Are Contrary to the Interests of Members of the CBOT Subsidiary

As described in greater detail elsewhere in this document, the transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will cause such common stock and memberships to be linked together for an indefinite period of time. However, the transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships of the CBOT subsidiary may be removed or otherwise amended by the board of directors, and the stockholders or members, as applicable. This means that, at some point in the future, these transfer restrictions could be reduced in part or eliminated altogether. As a result, persons who are not members of the CBOT subsidiary could acquire shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings issued to our members in the restructuring transactions. To the extent that persons who are not members of the CBOT subsidiary acquire common stock of CBOT Holdings, CBOT Holdings would no longer be controlled solely by our members. Under these circumstances, because holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings may have solely an economic interest in the CBOT subsidiary and no interest in the trading opportunities made available by the CBOT subsidiary, they may be more likely to advocate that CBOT Holdings use its control over the CBOT subsidiary to maximize the long-term enterprise value of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary rather than to enhance or protect the trading opportunities available to the Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary or the exercise right associated with the Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. This could lead to decisions or outcomes that are contrary to the interests of Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary.

The Absence of a Prior Public Market Limits Our Ability to Predict Whether and to What Extent a Public Market Will Develop in Our Shares

There is currently no public market for the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings as such common stock will be newly issued securities and subject to significant transfer restrictions. The transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings will cause such common stock to be linked together with the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary for an indefinite period of time. Although we currently expect that our board will consider seeking the removal and/or reduction of these transfer restrictions from time to time in the future, we cannot assure you that the common stock will become freely tradable or to what extent a market will develop for such common stock. Moreover, even if the common stock were to become freely tradable, we do not know whether third parties would find the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to be an attractive investment, or whether firms would be interested in making a market in shares of the CBOT Holdings common stock. Consequently, we cannot assure you that any trading market for any shares of our capital stock will develop or, if one or more develops, how strong it may be.

There is Uncertainty as to the Effect the Restructuring Transactions Will Have on the Application of Our Rule Concerning Claims Against the Proceeds of a Transfer of a Membership After the Restructuring Transactions

Under our current rules and regulations, proceeds from the transfer of a membership are subject to certain prior claims of other members against the seller of that membership. As a result of the restructuring transactions, our members will receive a combination of interests consisting of both common stock of CBOT Holdings and memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. As described in greater detail elsewhere in this document, the CBOT Holdings common stock and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be linked together for an indefinite period of time. Due to this linkage, we believe that there is significant uncertainty concerning the application of this rule after the completion of the restructuring transactions. Absent special circumstances, proceeds from the transfer of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will not be subject to the prior claims of the holders of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary unless and to the extent that such holders have otherwise perfected a security interest in the transferred shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, such as receiving a pledge of such shares. The rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that the proceeds of any transfer of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be subject to the priority of payments provision that is currently applicable to the transfer of CBOT memberships. However, we are not aware of any court that has considered the applicability of such a provision in the context of linked common stock and memberships. Accordingly, while we currently intend to retain this provision in the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, there is uncertainty as to whether, how and to what extent the priority of payments provision would be enforced in accordance with its terms. As a result, we cannot provide you any assurances as to the continued enforceability of this priority of payments provisions after the completion of the restructuring transactions and you may wish to consider the implementation of special procedures to protect your interests in this regard.

Risks Relating to Our Business

Our business, and the value of the stock to be issued by CBOT Holdings and the memberships to be issued by the CBOT subsidiary, are subject to the following risks, which include risks relating to the industry in which we operate.

As a Result of Reduction in Our Workforce, We May Lack Sufficient Personnel to Run CBOT Holdings and the CBOT Subsidiary

We have experienced a significant reduction in staffing over the last two years. From January 31, 2000 through June 30, 2002, the number of our employees decreased by 202, which represented approximately a 24% reduction in our total workforce. We cannot assure you that we will be able to continue to successfully run our business with this reduced number of employees. We may desire or need to recruit additional employees. However, we cannot assure you that we can successfully recruit these persons.

We Depend on our Executive Officers and Other Key Personnel

Our future success depends, in significant part, upon the continued service of our executive officers, as well as various key management, technical and trading operations personnel. The loss of these key people could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results. We cannot assure you that any of our other key personnel will not voluntarily terminate his or her employment with us.

Our future success also will depend in significant part on our ability to recruit and retain highly skilled and often specialized individuals as employees, particularly in light of the rapid pace of technological advances. The level of competition in our industry for people with these skills is intense, and from time to time we have experienced losses of key employees. Significant losses of key personnel, particularly to other employers with which we compete, could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

WE MAY NOT EFFECTIVELY MANAGE OUR GROWTH

We intend to develop and expand our business, including both our open outcry and electronic trading systems. This growth may place a significant strain on our management, personnel, systems and resources. We must continue to improve our operational and financial systems and managerial controls and procedures, and we will need to continue to expand, train and manage our technology workforce. We must also maintain close coordination among our technology, compliance, accounting, finance, marketing and sales organizations. We cannot assure you that we will manage our growth effectively, and failure to do so could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

OUR DECISION TO OPERATE BOTH PIT-BASED, OPEN OUTCRY TRADING AND ELECTRONIC TRADING, INCLUDING OUR COMMITMENT TO MAINTAIN OPEN OUTCRY MARKETS, MAY MATERIALLY ADVERSELY AFFECT OUR OPERATING COSTS, MARKETS AND PROFITABILITY

It is expensive in terms of costs and management and other resources to continue operating two trading systems for the same products. Our current business strategy involves the operation of both pit-based, open outcry trading and electronic trading systems for our products. In addition, the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will contain a provision generally requiring the CBOT subsidiary to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid under the terms of the certificate of incorporation unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. As a result, the CBOT subsidiary will be obligated under the terms of its certificate of incorporation to provide financial and other support to these markets. We may not have sufficient resources to adequately fund or manage both trading systems. This may result in resource allocation decisions that adversely impact one or both systems. Also, if we continue to operate both trading systems, liquidity on each may be less than the liquidity on a competitive unified trading system, making our trading systems less attractive and less competitive. As a result, our total revenues may be lower than if we operated only open outcry trading or only electronic trading. Moreover, to the extent that we continue to operate two trading systems, our board and management may make decisions which are designed to enhance the continued viability of two separate trading systems. These decisions may have a negative impact on the overall competitiveness of each trading system.

WE ARE SUBJECT TO CERTAIN RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE GLOBALIZATION OF OUR BUSINESS

We expect that the expansion of our electronic markets will increase the portion of our business that is generated from outside the United States. The globalization of our business presents a number of inherent risks, including, among other things, the following:

- potential difficulty of enforcing agreements and collecting receivables through certain foreign legal systems;
- the evolving global tax treatment of electronic commerce, and the possibility that foreign governments could adopt onerous or inconsistent tax policies with respect to taxation of products traded on our markets or of the services that we provide;
- tax rates in certain foreign countries may exceed those of the United States and foreign earnings may be subject to withholding requirements or the imposition of tariffs, exchange controls or other restrictions;
- listed derivatives markets are regulated in most developed nations, and it may be impractical for us to secure or maintain the regulatory approvals necessary for our markets to be accessible from one or more nations;

- certain of our expenses are denominated in foreign currencies, including expenses relating to the a/c/e system denominated in euros, which exposes us to the risk of fluctuating exchange rates and we may not fully eliminate this risk through our hedging activity;

- general economic and political conditions in the countries from which our markets are accessed may have an adverse effect on our trading from those countries; and

- it may be difficult to enforce our intellectual property rights in certain foreign countries.

As we expand our business globally, our success will be dependent, in part, on our ability to anticipate and manage these and other risks effectively. We cannot assure you that these and other factors will not have a material adverse effect on our business as a whole.

Our Market Data Fees May be Reduced or Eliminated by the Growth of Electronic Trading and Electronic Order Entry Systems

Electronic trading systems do not usually impose separate charges for supplying market data to trading terminals. If we follow that business strategy and trading terminals with access to our markets become widely available, we can expect to lose quote fee revenue from those who have access to trading terminals. We may experience a reduction in our revenues if we are unable to recover that lost revenue through terminal usage fees or transaction fees.

We May Not Be Successful in Executing our Electronic Trading Strategy

We have committed substantial resources to develop our electronic trading capabilities. We began to offer our products electronically over the a/c/e system in August 2000. In implementing this system, we balanced the desire to maximize system functionality against the associated costs, in both capital expenditure and time to market. While we believe these decisions will benefit our electronic trading capabilities, we cannot assure you these initiatives will be successful. For instance:

- contract volume may be lower than the break-even volume on which we budgeted costs for the a/c/e system, either because overall volume is lower than our projections, because the portion of volume traded electronically is lower than we projected or because our market share is lower than we projected;

- competitors that offer systems capable of 24-hour trading may gain a competitive advantage over the a/c/e system, which is not yet capable of operating 24 hours a day; and

- users may prefer the features and technology of other systems or products of other exchanges over ours.

We Are Subject to Certain Risks Relating to the Operation of an Electronic Trading Market

The a/c/e system, which we rely upon for our electronic trading system, is the product of an alliance between the CBOT and certain affiliates and Deutsche Borse AG, the Swiss Stock Exchange and certain of their affiliates, including Deutsche Borse Systems AG, Eurex Zurich AG and Eurex Frankfurt AG, which we collectively refer to as the Eurex Group. Under the recently revised terms of our agreements with the Eurex Group, we have a non-exclusive license to use the a/c/e system software and certain modifications until December 31, 2003. We have also entered into related arrangements to obtain system operation and software maintenance services from the Eurex Group until December 31, 2003. If our relationship with the Eurex Group is terminated, our agreements provide for the provision of certain limited transition services while we find another technology platform and/or provider. However, we cannot assure you that we would be able to replace this technology in a timely or cost-effective manner. In addition, we cannot assure you that the Eurex Group would provide such transition services if the alliance is terminated as a result of a party's breach of such agreements.

In addition, we are subject to risks relating generally to the provision of electronic transaction services which include our failure or inability to:

- acquire, develop or implement new, enhanced or updated versions of electronic trading software;
- attract independent software vendors to write front-end software that effectively accesses our electronic trading system;
- increase the number of devices, e.g., trading and order routing terminals, capable of sending orders to our floor and to our electronic trading system; and
- respond effectively to technological developments or service offerings by competitors.

If our electronic trading operations are not successful, our business or future financial condition or operating results could be materially adversely affected.

INTENSE COMPETITION COULD MATERIALLY ADVERSELY AFFECT OUR MARKET SHARE AND FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

The futures industry is highly competitive. Many of our competitors and potential competitors are more established or have greater financial resources than we do. We expect that competition will intensify in the future as a result of continuing consolidation in the futures exchange industry and the increasing automation of risk management services. Many of our competitors also have greater marketing capabilities and financial, technological and personnel resources.

Competitive pressures may cause us to re-evaluate our current business model and strategy. For example, in an industry where substantially all derivatives are traded electronically, the concept of an open outcry exchange, including the services we provide and our sources of revenue, may change swiftly and substantially. Increased development of the electronic trading markets could increase substantially competition for some or all of the products and services we currently provide.

In addition, our competitors may:

- respond more quickly to competitive pressures due to their corporate governance structures, which may be more flexible and efficient than our corporate-governance structure;
- develop similar products that are preferred by our customers;
- develop non-traditional alternative risk transfer products that compete with our products;
- price their products and services more competitively;
- develop and expand their network infrastructures and service offerings more efficiently;
- adapt more swiftly to new or emerging technologies and changes in client requirements;
- utilize better, more user-friendly and more reliable technology;
- take greater advantage of acquisitions, alliances and other opportunities;
- more effectively market, promote and sell their products and services;
- better leverage existing relationships with clients and strategic partners or exploit better recognized brand names to market, distribute and sell their services; and
- exploit regulatory disparities between traditional, regulated exchanges and alternative markets that benefit from a reduced regulatory burden and a lower-cost business model.

Our current and prospective competitors are numerous and include securities exchanges, futures and options exchanges, market data and information vendors, electronic communications networks, crossing systems and similar entities, consortia of large customers and some of our clearing member firms and interdealer brokerage firms. We may also face competition from computer software companies and media and technology companies. The number of businesses providing Internet-related financial services, which are sometimes referred to as "e-commerce" businesses, has grown rapidly, and other companies have entered into, or are forming, joint ventures or consortia to provide services similar to those provided by us. Further, many of our competitors are already for-profit companies with more modern corporate governance structures that enable them to make decisions more quickly and efficiently and enhance their overall competitiveness. For more information concerning the competitive nature of our industry and the challenges we face, see "Our Business--Competition."

As a result of this intense competition, we cannot assure you that we will be able to retain our current customers or attract new customers to our markets, products and services. In addition, we cannot assure you that we will not lose customers because of more economical alternatives offered from competitors with comparable or possibly superior products, services or trade execution services. Our business could be adversely affected if we fail to attract new customers or lose a substantial number of our current customers to competitors.

WE ARE DEPENDENT UPON THE CLEARING SERVICES OF THE BOARD OF TRADE CLEARING CORPORATION

Currently, all of the contracts traded on the CBOT and on our wholly owned subsidiary, the MidAmerica Commodity Exchange, are cleared through the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation. The Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has agreements with our clearing members to provide clearing services and data processing with respect to transactions on the CBOT and the MidAmerica Exchange. Although the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has agreed to provide its services to our clearing members, you should be aware that the loss of any of its services with respect to transactions on the CBOT may have a material adverse effect on our operations. In addition, the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has entered into arrangements to provide clearing services to parties unaffiliated and, in certain instances, in direct competition, with the CBOT. As a result, the CBOT may experience some loss of service as a result of the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation's reallocation of resources, which could also have a material adverse effect on our operations. We cannot assure you that we will be able to obtain alternative clearing and data processing arrangements in a timely or cost-effective manner.

WE HAVE NO WRITTEN CONTRACT FOR CLEARING SERVICES WITH OUR CLEARING ORGANIZATION

We believe that the services of the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation to our clearing members provide us with a competitive advantage. However, we currently do not have a written contract with the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation that would obligate it to continue to provide its clearing services to our clearing members. Although we may consider negotiating such a written contract with the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, we cannot assure you that we will determine to do so or, if we so determine, that we will be successful in entering into such a written contract.

COMPUTER AND COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS FAILURES AND CAPACITY CONSTRAINTS COULD HARM OUR REPUTATION AND OUR BUSINESS

Our failure to operate, monitor or maintain our computer systems and network services or, if necessary, to find a replacement for our technology in a timely and cost-effective manner could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business, financial condition and operating results. We rely and expect to continue to rely on third parties for various computer and communications systems, such as telephone companies, on-line service providers, data processors, clearance organizations and software and hardware vendors. Our systems or those of our third party providers may fail, causing one or more of the following effects:

- unanticipated disruptions in service to customers;
- slower response times;
- delays in trade execution;
- decreased customer satisfaction;
- incomplete or inaccurate accounting, recording or processing of trades;

. financial losses;

. security breaches;

. litigation or other customer claims; and

. regulatory sanctions.

Our status as a Commodity Futures Trading Commission registrant requires that our trade execution and communications systems be able to handle anticipated present and future peak trading volume. Heavy use of our computer systems during peak trading times or at times of unusual market volatility could cause our systems to operate slowly or even to fail for periods of time. We constantly monitor system loads and performance and regularly implement system upgrades to handle estimated increases in trading volume. However, we cannot assure you that our estimates of future trading volume will be accurate or that our systems will always be able to accommodate actual trading volume without failure or degradation of performance. System failure or degradation could lead our customers to file formal complaints with industry regulatory organizations, file lawsuits against us or cease doing business with us or could lead the CFTC or other regulators to initiate inquiries or proceedings for failure to comply with applicable laws and regulations.

In addition, we cannot assure you that we will not experience system failures, outages or interruptions that will materially adversely affect our business. Any failures that cause an interruption in service or decrease our responsiveness, including failures caused by customer error or misuse of our systems, could impair our reputation, damage our brand name and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

WE DEPEND ON THIRD PARTY SUPPLIERS FOR A NUMBER OF SERVICES THAT ARE IMPORTANT TO OUR BUSINESS

We depend on a number of suppliers, such as banking, clearing and settlement organizations, telephone companies, online service providers, data processors, and software and hardware vendors for elements of our trading, clearing and other systems, as well as communications and networking equipment, computer hardware and software and related support and maintenance. We cannot assure you that any of these providers will be able to continue to provide these services in an efficient, cost-effective manner or that they will be able to adequately expand their services to meet our needs. An interruption in or the cessation of service by any service provider and our inability to make alternative arrangements in a timely manner, or at all, could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

OUR NETWORKS AND THOSE OF OUR THIRD PARTY SERVICE PROVIDERS MAY BE VULNERABLE TO SECURITY RISKS

We expect the secure transmission of confidential information over public networks to continue to be a critical element of our operations. Our networks and those of our third party service providers, our member firms and our customers may be vulnerable to unauthorized access, computer viruses and other security problems. Persons who circumvent security measures could wrongfully use our information or cause interruptions or malfunctions in our operations, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results. We may be required to expend significant resources to protect against the threat of security breaches or to alleviate problems, including reputational harm and litigation, caused by any breaches. Although we intend to continue to implement industry-standard security measures, these measures may prove to be inadequate and result in system failures and delays that could lower trading volume and have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

WE MAY NOT BE ABLE TO KEEP UP WITH RAPID TECHNOLOGICAL CHANGES

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the responsiveness, functionality, accessibility and features of our proprietary software, network distribution systems and other technologies. The financial services and e-commerce industries are characterized by rapid technological change, changes in use and customer requirements and preferences, frequent product and service introductions embodying new technologies and the emergence of new industry standards and practices that could render obsolete our existing proprietary technology and systems. Our success will depend, in part, on our ability to:

- develop or license leading technologies useful in our business;
- enhance our existing services;
- develop new services and technology that address the increasingly sophisticated and varied needs of our existing and prospective clients; and
- respond to technological advances and emerging industry standards and practices on a cost- effective and timely basis.

We cannot assure you that we will be able to successfully implement new technologies or adapt our proprietary technology and transaction-processing systems to customer requirements or emerging industry standards. We cannot assure you that we will be able to respond in a timely manner to changing market conditions or customer requirements, and a failure to so respond could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results.

Declines in the Global Financial Markets May Materially Adversely Affect Our Business

Adverse economic and political conditions may cause declines in global financial markets and may affect our operating results. The global financial services business is, by its nature, risky and volatile and is directly affected by many national and international factors that are beyond our control. Any one of these factors may cause a substantial decline in the global financial services markets, resulting in reduced trading volume. These events could materially adversely affect our business. These factors include:

- economic and political conditions in the United States and elsewhere in the world;
- wavering institutional/consumer confidence levels;
- the availability of cash for investment by mutual funds and other wholesale and retail investors; and
- legislative and regulatory changes.

In particular, U.S. Treasury bond futures and options contracts comprised about 28% of our financial product volume and about 22% of our total transaction volume for the six-month period ended June 30, 2002. On October 31, 2001, the U.S. Treasury announced its decision to halt the issuance of 30-year bonds. Further reductions in the amount of U.S. Treasury bonds outstanding or adverse changes in investors' preferences for futures contracts on fixed income obligations issued or backed by the U.S. Government, including increased demand by investors in fixed income obligations with shorter-term maturities, may adversely effect our business, financial condition and operating results.

Strategic Alliances May Not Generate Increased Trading in Our Marketplaces

We currently believe that strategic alliances could play an important role in our long-term success. However, we cannot assure you that any strategic alliance that we may enter into will be successful or otherwise contribute to the growth of our business. In the future, we may seek to enter into alliances or other arrangements with other parties. However, we cannot provide you any assurances as to our success in this regard. We cannot assure you that we will be successful in either developing, or fulfilling the objectives of, any such alliance. Our participation in these alliances may strain our resources and may limit our ability to pursue other strategic and business initiatives.

Our Operating Results Are Subject to Fluctuations as a Result of Seasonality

Certain factors beyond our control, including the seasonality of the futures industry, may contribute to fluctuations in our operating results, including our quarterly results. In particular, we have experienced relatively higher volume during certain quarters and lower trading volume during other quarters. As a result of this seasonality, our operating results for any particular period may not be indicative of our future performance.

OUR BUSINESS IS SUBJECT TO RISKS RELATED TO OUR REAL ESTATE HOLDINGS

Revenue from our building services operations represented about 9% of our operating revenue for the six-month period ended June 30, 2002. Lower occupancy rates, market rental rates and non-renewal of leases by tenants could have a material adverse effect on our future business services revenue, overall financial condition and operating results. Any decrease in leased space could also affect future building service revenue if there is no corresponding demand for the vacated office space. Furthermore, most of our tenants are engaged in businesses that are directly or indirectly related to the brokerage/trading industry or related areas of financial services and adverse business conditions affecting those businesses could have a material adverse effect on our occupancy rates and building services revenues.

RISKS RELATING TO REGULATION AND LITIGATION

We are subject to the following risks in connection with the regulation of, and litigation relating to, our business.

WE MAY NOT BE ABLE TO MAINTAIN OUR SELF-REGULATORY RESPONSIBILITIES

Some financial services regulators have publicly stated their concerns about the ability of a financial exchange, organized as a for-profit corporation, to adequately discharge its self-regulatory responsibilities. Our regulatory programs and capabilities contribute significantly to our brand name and reputation. Although we believe that we will be permitted to maintain these responsibilities, we cannot assure you that we will not be required to modify or restructure our regulatory functions in order to address these or other concerns. Any such modifications or restructuring of our regulatory functions could entail material costs, which we have not currently planned for.

WE ARE SUBJECT TO SIGNIFICANT RISKS OF LITIGATION

Many aspects of our business involve substantial risks of liability. Dissatisfied customers frequently make claims regarding quality of trade execution, improperly settled trades, mismanagement or even fraud against their service providers. We may become subject to these claims as the result of failures or malfunctions of systems and services provided by us. We could incur significant legal expenses defending claims, even those without merit. Although the Commodity Exchange Act and our Commodity Futures Trading Commission-approved disclaimer and limitation of liability rules offer us some protections, an adverse resolution of any lawsuits or claims against us could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business, financial condition and operating results.

We are subject to litigation in which the plaintiffs are seeking significant monetary recovery from the CBOT. See "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Soybean Antitrust Litigation." We cannot assure you that we will be successful in defending these matters and any resulting judgment could have a material adverse impact on our financial condition. In addition, we have been subject to legal proceedings and claims as a result of the restructuring transactions. See "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Lawsuit Brought By Certain Associate Members and Membership Interest Holders" and "--Chicago Board Options Exchange Dispute."

ANY INFRINGEMENT BY US ON PATENT RIGHTS OF OTHERS COULD RESULT IN LITIGATION AND COULD MATERIALLY ADVERSELY AFFECT OUR OPERATIONS

Our competitors as well as other companies and individuals may obtain, and may be expected to obtain in the future, patents that concern products or services related to the types of products and services we offer or plan to offer. We cannot assure you that we are or will be aware of all patents containing claims that may pose a risk of infringement by our products, services or technologies. In general, if one or more of our products, services or technologies were to infringe patents held by others, we may be required to stop developing or marketing the products, services or technologies, to obtain licenses to develop and market the services from the holders of the patents or to redesign the products, services or technologies in such a way as to avoid infringing on the patent claims. If we were unable to obtain these licenses, we may not be able to redesign our products, services or technologies to avoid infringement, which could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and operating results.

WE MAY NOT BE ABLE TO PROTECT OUR INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

We rely primarily on trade secret, copyright, service mark, trademark law and contractual protections to protect our proprietary technology and other proprietary rights. Notwithstanding the precautions we take to protect our intellectual property rights, it is possible that third parties may copy or otherwise obtain and use our proprietary technology without authorization or otherwise infringe on our rights. We also seek to protect our software and databases as trade secrets and under copyright law. We have copyright registrations for certain of our software, user manuals and databases. The copyright protection accorded to databases, however, is fairly limited. While the arrangement and selection of data generally are protectable, the actual data are not, and others may be free to create databases that would perform the same function. In some cases, including a number of our most important products, there may be no effective legal recourse against duplication by competitors. In addition, in the future, we may have to rely on litigation to enforce our intellectual property rights, protect our trade secrets, determine the validity and scope of the proprietary rights of others or defend against claims of infringement or invalidity. Any such litigation, whether successful or unsuccessful, could result in substantial costs to us and diversions of our resources, either of which could adversely affect our business.

MISCONDUCT COULD HARM US AND IS DIFFICULT TO DETECT

Although we perform significant self-regulatory functions, there have been a number of highly publicized cases involving fraud or other misconduct in the futures industry in recent years. We run the risk that the Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, other persons who use our markets or our employees will engage in fraud or other misconduct, which could result in regulatory sanctions and serious reputational harm. It is not always possible to deter misconduct, and the precautions we take to prevent and detect this activity may not be effective in all cases.

THE EXISTING LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR OUR INDUSTRY HAS BEEN MODIFIED TO LOWER BARRIERS TO ENTRY AND DECREASE CONTINUING REGULATORY COSTS FOR COMPETITORS

Our industry has been subject to several fundamental regulatory changes, including changes in the statute under which we have operated since 1974. The Commodity Exchange Act generally required all futures contracts to be executed on an exchange that has been approved by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. The exchange trading requirement was modified by CFTC regulations to permit privately negotiated swap contracts to be transacted in the over-the-counter market. The CFTC exemption under which the over-the-counter derivative market operated precluded the over-the-counter market from avoiding CFTC regulation for exchange-like electronic transaction systems and clearing. These regulatory restrictions on the over-the-counter market were repealed by the Commodity Futures Modernization Act of 2000. It is possible that the chief beneficiaries of the Commodity Futures Modernization Act will be over-the-counter dealers and competitors that operate or intend to open electronic trading facilities or to conduct their futures business directly among themselves on a bilateral basis. The customers who may access such electronic exchanges or engage in such bilateral private transactions are the same customers who conduct the vast majority of their financial business on regulated exchanges. The Commodity Futures Modernization Act also permits banks, broker-dealers and some of their affiliates to engage in foreign exchange futures transactions for or with retail customers without being subjected to regulation under the Commodity Exchange Act.

In the future, our industry may become subject to new regulations or changes in the interpretation or enforcement of existing regulations. We cannot predict the extent to which any future regulatory changes may adversely affect our business. For more information about potential changes in our regulatory environment, see "Our Business--Regulation--Changes in Existing Laws and Rules."

Risks Relating to Changes in Our Corporate Governance Structure

The following risks relate to the significant changes to our corporate governance structure that will occur as part of the restructuring transactions.

Changes to Certain Aspects at Our Corporate Governance Structure May Reduce the Influence of the Members in the Management of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT Subsidiary

As a result of completion of the restructuring transactions, our members will have somewhat less authority to control the day-to-day management and operations of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary. Following completion of the restructuring transactions, the holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings are entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. In addition, the holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to initiate proposals to amend the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and non-binding recommendations that the board consider proposals, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. Any proposal by stockholders of CBOT Holdings may be brought to a vote at a special meeting or at an annual meeting in accordance with the bylaws of CBOT Holdings, which will generally require advance notice of any proposal not less than 20, nor more than 60, days in advance of such special meeting or the first anniversary of the mailing of proxy materials for the preceding year's annual meeting. Any stockholder proposal will require the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such annual or special meeting. Stockholders will not have authority to take action by written consent of stockholders.

CBOT Holdings, as the holder of the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, will have the right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT subsidiary, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, subject to the rights of holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships with respect to the core rights and transfer restrictions described elsewhere in this document, amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. The holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships will have exclusive voting rights to approve changes that would adversely affect certain core rights relating to the trading rights and privileges of Class B memberships. The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, holders of Series B-1 and B-2, Class B memberships will have the right to initiate and vote on proposals at an annual or special meeting of the CBOT subsidiary, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Collectively, these changes may reduce the influence of our members and may lead to decisions and outcomes that differ from those made under our current certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations. This reduction in the ability of our members to participate in the day-to-day management and operations of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary may make our organization somewhat less attractive to our current members. As a result, they may seek to conduct their business at, or obtain membership in, one or more other exchanges. A loss or material diminution of member trading activity could negatively impact liquidity and trading volumes in our products. A material reduction in the aggregate capital provided by our clearing members to guarantee trades by them and their customers could lead to a reduction in trading activity on our exchange, and make it more difficult for us to generate revenue or to sustain growth.

DELAWARE LAW MAY PROTECT DECISIONS OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS THAT HAVE DIFFERENT EFFECTS ON THE HOLDERS OF CLASS A, CLASS B AND CLASS C MEMBERSHIPS IN THE CBOT SUBSIDIARY

In the context of stock corporations, Delaware law generally provides that a board of directors owes an equal duty to all stockholders, regardless of class or series, and does not provide separate or additional duties to any particular group of stockholders. As a nonstock corporation with multiple classes of memberships, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary may have similar obligations to the holders of each class of membership. Moreover, the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will include unique provisions that are intended to protect certain core rights associated with the trading rights and privileges of Class B members, including, among other things, a commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid under the terms of the certificate of incorporation unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. Such provisions may have the effect of requiring the board of directors to make certain decisions that would benefit one or more series of Class B members but not the Class A member or Class C members, or which would affect the Class C members, the Class A member and one or more series of Class B members differently.

More generally, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary may make decisions that may have the effect of benefitting one class of membership over the other, or which affect the holders of each class or series of membership differently. Delaware law will generally protect these decisions so long as the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary acts in a disinterested, informed manner with respect to these decisions, in good faith and in the belief that it is acting in the best interests of the corporation and its members generally.

EFFECTS OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS COULD ENABLE THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF CBOT HOLDINGS TO PREVENT OR DELAY A CHANGE OF CONTROL

Some of the provisions of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings, could, together or separately:

- discourage potential acquisition proposals;
- delay or prevent a change in control; or
- limit the price that investors might be willing to pay in the future for shares of the common stock of CBOT Holdings.

CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation and bylaws will provide, among other things, that the common stock of CBOT Holdings will be subject to significant transfer restrictions and that stockholders may not take action by written consent. These provisions could prevent or delay a change of control or could limit the price some investors might be willing to pay in the future for shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

Following the completion of the restructuring transactions, a change of control of the CBOT subsidiary could not occur without the consent of CBOT Holdings as the holder of the sole Class A membership.

THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

OVERVIEW

As a result of rapidly evolving changes in the futures industry, principally the increasing importance of electronic trading, we have determined that it is necessary to restructure our organization in order to enhance its competitiveness. Over the last several years, with the assistance of various outside advisors, we have conducted an ongoing and extensive evaluation process with respect to our need to restructure. As a result of this process, we have developed, and are proposing for your approval, a series of transactions designed to restructure the CBOT.

The restructuring transactions are designed to demutualize our organization by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings in which the CBOT members will hold memberships entitling them to certain trading rights and privileges on the exchange operated by such subsidiary and modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure in order to improve its corporate decision-making process, as described in greater detail elsewhere in this document. We believe that the completion of the restructuring transactions will enable us to enhance our competitiveness within the futures industry, including both the open outcry and electronic trading markets.

We currently anticipate that we will complete the restructuring transactions as soon as reasonably practicable following membership approval of the restructuring transactions, subject to receiving a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service and/or an opinion of counsel, and any required regulatory approvals from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. However, our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions is subject to satisfaction of a number of conditions, including, among other things, a condition that our board of directors shall not have determined that the restructuring transactions are no longer in the best interests of the CBOT and its members or are not fair to each class of CBOT membership. For more information about the IRS ruling and opinion of counsel, CFTC approvals and other conditions to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions, see "--Regulatory Matters," and "--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions."

BACKGROUND OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

Development of the Restructuring Strategy

We were organized in 1848 as a voluntary, unincorporated association to serve as an open outcry marketplace for the growing agricultural market in Chicago. In 1859, the Illinois General Assembly, by legislative act, granted us a special charter that incorporated our organization. In August 2000, we reincorporated in Delaware, and we currently exist as a Delaware nonstock, not-for-profit corporation.

Now in our 154th year of operation, we have become a leader in the domestic listed derivatives market. According to industry data provided by the Futures Industry Association, in the period from January 1, 2002 through May 31, 2002, we had about an 8.2% share of the global listed futures, options on futures and equity index market. According to industry data provided by the Futures Industry Association, we ranked fifth worldwide among futures exchanges in volume of contracts traded in the first six months of 2002, transacting about 42% of the global listed agricultural futures and options contracts, e.g., wheat, corn, soybeans, and about 17% of the global listed financial futures and options contracts, e.g., U.S. Treasury bonds and notes. In addition, as the "Chicago Board of Trade," we believe that we have one of the strongest brand names in the futures industry.

Competitive conditions in the futures industry have changed significantly in the last decade or more due to innovations in the computer and communications industries. As a result, maintaining our competitive position has become increasingly challenging. To meet the challenges and opportunities associated with the increasing importance of electronic trading, in 1992 we began to make our products available for electronic trading, initially, on the Globex system, and, beginning in 1994, on the Project A electronic trading system, which was operated by the electronic trading division of Ceres until August 25, 2000. On August 27, 2000, Ceres, through its participation in an alliance with the Eurex Group, began to operate the a/c/e electronic trading system, which allows CBOT and Eurex members to access their respective markets from a common front end. As of June 30, 2002, total volume traded on the a/c/e/ system surpassed an aggregate of about 111.8 million contracts traded since it became operational.

Notwithstanding the success of the Globex system, Project A and other electronic trading initiatives, the Strategy Committee of our board of directors concluded in early 1999 that changes to our organizational structure were desirable in order to respond to the increasingly competitive challenges presented by electronic trading as well as other exchanges. This conclusion was adopted in a strategic plan approved by our board of directors in August 1999.

In addition, in July 1999, our board of directors established a Restructuring Task Force, composed of directors and non-director members of the CBOT. The Restructuring Task Force was charged with developing a restructuring strategy designed to modernize our organizational structure and a corporate governance mechanism designed to position us to compete more effectively in the evolving marketplace.

Over the following six months, the Restructuring Task Force conducted an extensive strategic analysis, assisted by the management of the CBOT, A.T. Kearney, Inc., a management consulting firm, Merrill Lynch & Co., an investment banking firm, Kirkland & Ellis, as legal counsel to the CBOT and the board of directors, and Piper Marbury Rudnick & Wolfe, as special legal counsel to the Restructuring Task Force.

As part of this strategic analysis, the Restructuring Task Force, together with its advisors, reviewed our business, including our organizational and corporate governance structures, and current industry trends and practices. The findings of the Restructuring Task Force formed the basis for a recommendation to our board of directors, which included objectives for a restructuring strategy and a detailed business outline, including alternative organizational structures.

January 2000 Board Meeting. In January 2000, our board of directors approved a general restructuring strategy recommended by the Restructuring Task Force, subject to the board of directors' further review, consideration and approval of the definitive terms and structure of the transactions designed to implement the strategy, which had not yet been formulated. The restructuring strategy generally contemplated the restructuring of the CBOT into two separate stock, for-profit companies, one conducting the CBOT's open outcry business and the other conducting the CBOT's electronic trading business, and the distribution of shares of stock in both companies to the current CBOT members. The strategy also contemplated the possibility that the then proposed electronic trading company might conduct an offering of shares of its stock to the public at or around the time of its separation from the open outcry company.

In addition, our board of directors at such time appointed two special committees of the board. One, the Implementation Committee, initially consisted of nine members of the board of directors and was chaired by the then current chairman of our board, David P. Brennan. The other members of the Implementation Committee were Charles P. Carey, Andrew J. Filipowski, Harold W. Lavender, Peter C. Lee, Veda Kaufman Levin, James P. McMillin, Joseph Niciforo and Michael P. Ryan. The Implementation Committee was directed to develop and recommend for the board's further review, consideration and approval the definitive terms and structure of the transactions designed to implement the restructuring strategy.

The other special committee, the Independent Allocation Committee, was composed solely of outside or non-member directors of the board and was chaired by former Illinois Governor James R. Thompson, the Chairman of the law firm, Winston & Strawn. The other members of the Independent Allocation Committee were Dr. Robert S. Hamada, the Dean and Edward Eagle Branch Distinguished Service Professor of Finance at the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business, Robert H. Michel, a former Republican leader of the U.S. House of Representatives and Senior Advisor at the law firm of Hogan & Hartson, and Ralph H. Weems, an independent farmer and former president of the American Soybean Association. Since no mechanism currently exists in our certificate of incorporation, bylaws or rules and regulations for allocating ownership in our organization among members in connection with a restructuring such as the one contemplated by the board, the Independent Allocation Committee was directed to develop and recommend for the board's further review, consideration and approval an appropriate and fair allocation of value among the members of the CBOT in connection with the transactions to implement the restructuring strategy, including the allocation to CBOT members of shares of stock of the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies.

The Implementation Committee continued the work of the Restructuring Task Force with assistance from the management of the CBOT and its outside advisors, including A.T. Kearney, Merrill Lynch, Kirkland & Ellis and Piper Marbury Rudnick & Wolfe. In particular, the Implementation Committee worked to develop the definitive terms and structure of transactions designed to effectuate the restructuring strategy, including a preliminary step necessary in order to proceed with the implementation of the restructuring strategy. This step involved the reincorporation of the CBOT in Delaware as a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation and was designed to cause the CBOT to be governed under a more modern and well developed legal framework so that the CBOT could more effectively accomplish its purposes. Among other things, unlike the law of Illinois then applicable to the CBOT, Delaware law provided the CBOT a more direct procedure pursuant to which it could change its status from that of a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation to that of a stock, for-profit corporation.

In addition to developing the terms of the transactions required to implement the reincorporation of the CBOT in Delaware, the Implementation Committee further refined and developed the original restructuring strategy. Concurrently, the Independent Allocation Committee, together with its advisors, which included the law firm of Winston & Strawn, as its special counsel, and the investment banking firm of William Blair & Company, L.L.C., as its financial advisor, worked to develop a recommended methodology for an appropriate and fair allocation of equity among the CBOT members in connection with implementation of the original restructuring strategy. For more information about the work of the Independent Allocation Committee, see "-- Independent Allocation Committee." In addition, Arthur Andersen LLP was retained by us to prepare a valuation analysis of Ceres and the limited partnership interests.

In early May 2000, the Independent Allocation Committee submitted to our board of directors its initial report, which recommended as fair an allocation of equity among the members in connection with the implementation of the original restructuring strategy. Also in May 2000, our board of directors received a report prepared by the Implementation Committee, which provided additional information regarding, and refined certain aspects of, the original restructuring strategy. This report also contained a detailed description of the transactions required in order to implement the Delaware reincorporation and recommended that the Delaware reincorporation be approved and submitted to the CBOT membership for its approval.

May 2000 Board Meeting. At its May 16, 2000 meeting, our board of directors approved the transactions necessary to effect the Delaware reincorporation and directed that such transactions be submitted to the CBOT membership for a ballot vote. Following member approval, the reincorporation of the CBOT in Delaware as a nonstock, not-for-profit corporation was completed in August 2000. Shortly thereafter, we formed eCBOT as a wholly owned subsidiary of the CBOT for the purpose of later reorganizing our electronic trading business. The CBOT assigned its general and limited partnership interests in Ceres to eCBOT in September 2000.

At the same May 2000 meeting, our board of directors also approved and adopted the report of the Independent Allocation Committee, including its recommendation regarding the methodology to be used with respect to the allocation of shares of stock of the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies among the holders of Full, Associate, GIM, IDEM and COM Memberships in the CBOT, subject to any changes in the factors underlying the assumptions that were used or reviewed in the preparation of the Independent Allocation Committee report and taking into account any adjustments to such allocation resulting from the terms of the reorganization of our electronic trading business, and further subject to the board's further review, consideration and approval of transactions necessary to implement the restructuring strategy. At this time, William Blair, as financial advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee, delivered its opinion to the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation of shares of common stock in the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.5 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member and Associate Member, and each holder of a GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. For more information about the allocation recommendation, see "--Independent Allocation Committee" and "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee." At this time, Arthur Andersen provided a report to the board regarding its preliminary valuation analysis of Ceres as of May 16, 2000.

The board of directors also approved at this meeting the report of the Implementation Committee as a description of the restructuring strategy as it was then envisioned by the board of directors, subject to any changes in the factors underlying the assumptions that were used or reviewed in the preparation of the report, and subject to the board's further review, consideration and approval of the transactions necessary to implement the restructuring strategy.

Following the May board meeting, the management of the CBOT, with the assistance of its outside advisors, primarily consisting of Merrill Lynch, Kirkland & Ellis and Cap Gemini Ernst & Young, a management consulting firm, conducted an evaluation process with respect to the implementation of the original restructuring strategy and worked to develop detailed business plans for the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies envisioned by the original restructuring strategy.

Based upon this evaluation process and further analysis, management of the CBOT and the Executive Committee of our board of directors concluded that the original restructuring strategy should be substantially revised in light of a number of factors, including, among other things, increasing competitive pressures in the industry, the adverse changes in the capital markets, further review and analysis regarding the implementation and execution of the separate business plans of the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies, the overall financial status of the CBOT and the need for the CBOT to demutualize as quickly as possible so that it could enhance its competitive posture and improve its decision-making capability.

August 2000 Board Meeting. On August 31, 2000, management of the CBOT and the Executive Committee recommended to the board of directors that the original restructuring strategy be abandoned in favor of a substantially revised restructuring strategy. After careful consideration of the matters discussed and presented, the board of directors approved a revised restructuring strategy, which involved demutualizing the CBOT but not restructuring the CBOT into two separate, competing companies. Specifically, the revised strategy contemplated the following:

- converting the CBOT into a single Delaware stock, for-profit corporation, which would be focused on updated open outcry trading with enhanced technology, and distributing shares of common stock in such stock, for-profit company, representing both trading rights and privileges and equity ownership, to the current members;
- adopting a revised corporate governance structure, which would include substantially eliminating the membership petition process, streamlining the board of directors and making certain other changes to implement a more efficient decision-making process for the company; and
- reorganizing and consolidating the CBOT's electronic trading business, part of which is currently operated by Ceres, into eCBOT, which would be operated as a wholly owned subsidiary of the for-profit company.

At this time, the board of directors determined that the original two-company strategy should be abandoned and that a simple demutualization plan involving the conversion of the CBOT into a single stock, for-profit company should be pursued instead. The board concluded that the revised strategy would enable each of the two businesses to be operated independently and in a more competitive manner but under a common ownership structure that would allow substantial sharing of resources and infrastructure.

The board's approval of the revised strategy was subject to its further review, consideration and approval of the definitive terms and structure of transactions designed to implement the revised restructuring strategy, including an appropriate and fair allocation of value in the then proposed stock, for-profit company among the CBOT members. On August 31, 2000, our board directed the Executive Committee and the management of the CBOT to develop and recommend for its further review and consideration the definitive terms and structure of transactions designed to implement this revised restructuring strategy.

Following the August board meeting, management and the Executive Committee, with the assistance of the CBOT's advisors, primarily consisting of Merrill Lynch and Kirkland & Ellis, worked to develop the terms and structure of transactions designed to implement the revised restructuring strategy. In addition, Arthur Andersen LLP was retained by us and our eCBOT subsidiary to prepare a valuation analysis of Ceres and its limited partnership interests in connection with the reorganization and consolidation of our electronic trading business, part of which is currently operated by Ceres, into eCBOT. Shortly thereafter, Arthur Andersen was also engaged to evaluate the fairness, from a financial point of view, to Ceres and each class of its limited partners of the consideration to be received by each limited partner in exchange for their respective limited partnership interests pursuant to the Ceres merger as described further below.

Concurrently, the Independent Allocation Committee undertook to update its recommendation regarding an appropriate and fair allocation of value among CBOT members in the context of the transactions to implement the revised restructuring strategy. For more information about the allocation recommendation and the additional work of the Independent Allocation Committee, see "--Independent Allocation Committee."

November 2000 Board Meeting. On November 21, 2000, the Independent Allocation Committee reported on and provided to our board of directors its updated recommendation regarding the allocation among the CBOT members of equity in the then proposed stock, for-profit company in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. The Independent Allocation Committee recommended, in the context of the restructuring transactions, that an allocation of value in the proposed stock, for-profit company among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring in the ratio of 5.00 : 1.00 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair. The Independent Allocation Committee indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered an updated opinion of William Blair that the proposed allocation was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members.

At the same meeting, Arthur Andersen reported to our board regarding its valuation of Ceres and its limited partnership interests as of October 31, 2000. Arthur Andersen also reported that, subject to a review of the final terms of the restructuring transactions, it was prepared to deliver its opinion that the consideration to be received by each limited partner of Ceres in exchange for their respective limited partnership interests pursuant to the Ceres merger is fair, from a financial point of view, to Ceres and to each class of the Ceres limited partners.

December 2000 Board Meeting. At the December 12, 2000 meeting of the board of directors, the then current status of the restructuring transactions was reviewed and discussed. At this meeting, management and the Executive Committee presented to the board of directors a detailed update regarding the restructuring transactions. At this meeting, the board received a report from management regarding the restructuring transactions and the CBOT's business strategy. The board also received a report from Kirkland & Ellis concerning certain legal matters relating to the restructuring transactions.

In early January 2001, the Executive Committee met to consider certain refinements to the restructuring transactions proposed by the new chairman of the board of directors, who had been elected in December 2000 and assumed office in January 2001. These refinements primarily related to the composition of the board of directors of the then proposed stock, for-profit company, the provisions to be included in the certificate of incorporation concerning certain core rights associated with the trading rights and privileges of certain common stockholders and clarifications regarding the importance of considering the expected effects, if any, of the restructuring transactions on the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right in making any determination that the restructuring transactions remain in the best interests of the CBOT and its members.

At its briefing meeting on January 9, 2001, the board of directors received a further update concerning the status of the restructuring transactions, including the refinements recommended by the Executive Committee and management. These matters were reviewed and discussed. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions.

On January 16, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee, which, following the expiration of the terms of Dr. Hamada and Mr. Michel as directors as of January 1, 2001, was comprised of Governor Thompson and Mr. Weems, held a meeting for the purpose of considering the refinements to the restructuring transactions recommended by the Executive Committee and management. William Blair and Winston & Strawn, as advisors to the Independent Allocation Committee, participated in this meeting.

January 2001 Board Meeting. On January 16, 2001, immediately following the meeting of the Independent Allocation Committee, a meeting of the board of directors was held for the purpose of considering the restructuring transactions. At this meeting, management and the Executive Committee presented to the board of directors for its review and consideration the proposed restructuring transactions. The board also received a report from the Executive Committee and management regarding the restructuring transactions and the CBOT's business strategy, including, among other things, the business purposes of the restructuring transactions. The Independent Allocation Committee reported to the board of directors that it had reviewed the refinements to the restructuring transactions recommended by the Executive Committee and management and confirmed its updated recommendation regarding the allocation among the CBOT members of equity in the then proposed stock, for-profit company in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions, as provided to the board at the November 21, 2000 meeting. The Independent Allocation Committee indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered an updated opinion of William Blair that the proposed allocation was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members.

The board also received a report from Kirkland & Ellis concerning certain legal matters relating to the restructuring transactions as well as an overview of the terms and structure of the restructuring transactions. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions and provided an update regarding the then current status of various litigation and other matters relating to the restructuring transactions.

In addition, the board received an update from Arthur Andersen regarding its valuation of Ceres and the limited partnership interests as of November 30, 2000. Merrill Lynch, financial advisor to the CBOT in connection with the restructuring transactions, answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions, the capital markets generally, industry trends and the competitive challenges currently facing the CBOT.

At this time, our board of directors approved and adopted the recommendation of the Independent Allocation Committee regarding the allocation of equity in the then proposed stock, for-profit company among the holders of Full, Associate, GIM, IDEM and COM Memberships in the CBOT in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions, subject to any changes in the factors underlying the assumptions that were used or reviewed in the preparation of the Independent Allocation Committee updated report. In connection therewith, William Blair, as financial advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee, delivered its opinion to the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation of equity in the then proposed stock, for-profit company among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.00 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member,

GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. For more information regarding this opinion, see "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee."

Also at this time, Arthur Andersen delivered its opinion to the board of directors that, based on and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the consideration to be received by each limited partner in exchange for their respective limited partnership interests pursuant to the Ceres merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to Ceres and each class of its limited partners.

After careful consideration of the matters discussed and presented at this meeting, our board of directors determined that the restructuring transactions, taken as a whole, including the allocation methodology to be utilized in the demutualization for the allocation of shares in the then proposed stock, for-profit company among Full Members, Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs in respect of their memberships and the terms of the Ceres merger, were in the best interests of CBOT and its members and fair to all classes of CBOT members. Accordingly, our board approved and authorized the restructuring transactions and determined to recommend to the membership of the CBOT that they vote to approve the restructuring transactions. In connection with such approval, two directors who were Associate Members voted in favor of the restructuring transactions, but indicated orally at the board meeting their intention to deliver to the Secretary of the CBOT written statements with respect to certain reservations regarding the proposed allocation of value in the then proposed stock, for-profit company. To date, the secretary of the CBOT has not received any such written statements.

The board's approval of the restructuring transactions was subject to its determination, at the time of the mailing of the proxy statement and prospectus relating to the restructuring transactions, that the restructuring transactions remain in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and remain fair to all classes of CBOT members. For more information, see "--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions."

Following the January 2001 board meeting, management and the Executive Committee, with the assistance of Kirkland & Ellis, worked to refine the terms and structure of the transactions designed to implement the revised restructuring strategy. Throughout this process, management and the Executive Committee continued to review the restructuring transactions to determine whether such transactions continued to best achieve the organization's objectives with respect to the revised restructuring strategy, and whether the restructuring transactions offered the optimal organizational structure in light of further changes in competitive pressures in the industry, the continued adverse condition of the capital markets and the refinement of the CBOT's long-term strategic objectives. During the summer of 2001, the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange met to discuss matters pertaining to the impact of the proposed restructuring on the exercise right.

As a result of this review, management of the CBOT and the Executive Committee of our board of directors determined that the board of directors should adopt certain refinements to the restructuring transactions, designed, in part, to provide the CBOT additional structural flexibility while retaining certain benefits associated with nonstock membership corporations in a manner that is consistent with the objectives of the revised restructuring strategy, including, among other things, refinements designed to demutualize the CBOT by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to the current CBOT members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings in which the CBOT members would hold memberships entitling them to certain trading rights and privileges on the exchange operated by such subsidiary.

On September 13, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee held a meeting at which the members of the committee received an update from each of William Blair, Winston & Strawn and Kirkland & Ellis relating to the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions. On September 24, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee held another meeting for the purpose of considering the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions recommended by management and the Executive Committee. William Blair and Winston & Strawn, as advisors to the Independent Allocation Committee, participated in the meeting.

September 2001 Board Meeting. On September 24, 2001, at a special meeting of the board of directors, management of the CBOT and the Executive Committee recommended that the board of directors adopt and approve the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions, which are designed, in part, to implement a holding company structure. Specifically as modified by the proposed refinements, the restructuring transactions contemplate the following:

- demutualizing the CBOT by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings;

- adopting a revised corporate governance structure, which would include substantially eliminating the membership petition process, adopting a more modern mechanism for initiating and voting on stockholder proposals and making certain other changes designed to improve the CBOT's corporate decision-making process; and

- reorganizing and consolidating the CBOT's electronic trading business, part of which is currently operated by Ceres, into eCBOT, which would be operated as a wholly owned subsidiary of the CBOT subsidiary.

In connection with this recommendation, the board of directors received a report from Kirkland & Ellis concerning certain legal matters relating to the refinements to the restructuring transactions as well as an overview of the terms and structure of the restructuring transactions, as modified by the refinements recommended by management and the Executive Committee and a preliminary draft of an amendment to the registration statement marked to show changes necessary to implement such refinements.

In addition, Kirkland and Ellis made a presentation to the board of directors regarding certain legal issues relating to the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions. These matters were reviewed and discussed. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions.

After careful consideration of the matters discussed and presented at this meeting, our board of directors determined that it was appropriate to defer further consideration of the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions in order to provide the directors with additional time to more carefully review and evaluate the proposed refinements. Accordingly, a special meeting of the board was scheduled for October 2, 2001.

October 2001 Board Meeting. On October 2, 2001, at the special meeting of the board, the Independent Allocation Committee of the board reported on its resolution confirming as fair the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions as modified by the proposed refinements after receiving and considering an updated opinion of its financial advisor, William Blair, that the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions as modified by the proposed refinements was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. In connection with the Independent Allocation Committee's recommendation, William Blair delivered its opinion, dated as of September 24, 2001, to the effect that the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions as modified by the proposed refinements was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members.

At the same meeting of the board of directors, Arthur Andersen reported regarding, and delivered to the board of directors of the CBOT a valuation of Ceres and the limited partnership interests of Ceres as of June 30, 2001, and its opinion, dated as of October 2, 2001, to the effect that the distributions of cash payments to each of the limited partners of Ceres in exchange for their respective limited partnership interest as merger consideration pursuant to the Ceres merger, as proposed in connection with the restructuring transactions, as modified by the proposed refinements, was fair, from a financial point of view, to Ceres and each class of the limited partners of Ceres.

In addition, the board of directors reviewed and discussed the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions as set forth in a then current draft registration statement and in a report prepared by Kirkland & Ellis, which had previously been distributed to the board in connection with the special meeting of the board of directors on September 24, 2001, concerning certain legal matters relating to the restructuring transactions as well as an overview of the terms and structure of the restructuring transactions as modified by the proposed refinements. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the proposed refinements and with respect to the restructuring transactions generally.

After careful consideration of the matters discussed and presented, the board of directors determined that the refinements to the restructuring transactions, taken as a whole, were advisable, desirable and in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and fair to all classes of CBOT members, and approved and authorized the refinements to the restructuring transactions, including, among other things, refinements designed to demutualize the CBOT by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to the current CBOT members, while maintaining the CBOT subsidiary as a for-profit, nonstock subsidiary of CBOT Holdings.

The board's approval of the refinements to the restructuring transactions was subject to its determination, at the time of the mailing of the proxy statement and prospectus relating to the restructuring transactions, that the refinements to the restructuring transactions remain in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and remain fair to all classes of CBOT members. For more information, see "--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions."

On December 18, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee met for the purpose of considering the restructuring transactions as then proposed and its recommendation of a fair allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair and Winston & Strawn, as advisors to the Independent Allocation Committee, participated in this meeting.

December 2001 Board Meeting. On December 18, 2001, at a regular meeting of the board of directors, the board of directors of the CBOT reviewed and considered the restructuring transactions to be proposed to the CBOT membership and considered whether to approve the mailing of a proxy statement and prospectus relating to the restructuring transactions to the CBOT membership in connection with their consideration of the restructuring transactions. At this meeting, management and the Executive Committee addressed the board of directors concerning the proposed restructuring transactions. The Independent Allocation Committee reported to the board of directors that it had held a meeting immediately prior to this board meeting to consider the restructuring transactions, including its earlier recommendation regarding the allocation among the members of common stock of CBOT Holdings in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions as presented to the board at the October 2, 2001 meeting. The Independent Allocation Committee confirmed its prior recommendation at this time and indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered William Blair's letter, dated December 18, 2001, updating its opinion, dated September 24, 2001, that the proposed allocation is fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of members.

The board also received a report from Kirkland & Ellis concerning the proposed restructuring transactions, including certain legal matters relating to the restructuring transactions. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions and provided a report regarding the then current status of various litigation and other matters relating to the restructuring transactions.

At this time, William Blair, as financial advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee, delivered its letter, dated December 18, 2001, updating its opinion, dated September 24, 2001, to the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.00 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members.

In addition, the board received a report from Arthur Andersen regarding its valuation of Ceres and the limited partnership interests as of November 30, 2001 and its opinion, dated as of October 2, 2001, to the effect that the distributions of cash payments to each of the limited partners of Ceres in exchange for their respective limited partnership interest as merger consideration pursuant to the Ceres merger, as proposed in connection with the restructuring transactions was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the classes of Ceres partnership interests.

After careful consideration of the matters discussed and presented at this and previous meetings, the CBOT board of directors determined that the restructuring transactions, taken as a whole, including the allocation methodology to be utilized in the demutualization for the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the Full Members, Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs in respect of their memberships and the terms of the Ceres merger, were in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and were fair to all classes of CBOT members and approved the mailing of the proxy statement and prospectus relating to the restructuring transactions.

Following the December 2001 board meeting, Management and the Executive Committee considered an additional refinement to the restructuring transactions that would help ensure that in the immediate future only CBOT members would be holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings. After careful consideration of this matter, Management and the Executive Committee determined that the board of directors should adopt transfer restrictions that are designed to link CBOT Holdings with the CBOT subsidiary until such time as the board of directors determines.

January 2002 Board Meeting. On January 17, 2002, at a special meeting of the board of directors of the CBOT, the CBOT board considered and, subject to confirmation by the Independent Allocation Committee of its recommendation regarding the proposed allocation of CBOT Holdings common stock among the CBOT members, approved certain modifications to the transfer restrictions that would be applicable to the CBOT Holdings common stock and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. For more information regarding these restrictions, see "Description of Capital Stock--Transfer Restrictions."

Following the January 2002 board meeting, management and the Executive Committee continued to review the restructuring transactions to determine whether the transactions continued to best achieve the organization's objectives with respect to the restructuring strategy. In connection with this review, management and the Executive Committee determined that the objectives of the organization would be best achieved by proposing further refinements to the corporate governance structure that are generally designed to provide members of the CBOT subsidiary and stockholders of CBOT Holdings more rights than was previously contemplated as part of the restructuring transactions. In addition, as a result of recent revisions to the CBOT's relationship with the Eurex Group and certain tax and other financial considerations, management and the Executive Committee determined that a reorganization of the electronic trading business at the time the restructuring transactions are completed would no longer best serve to achieve the organization's objectives. Accordingly, Management and the Executive Committee determined that the board of directors should approve refinements to the proposed restructuring transactions to delay the reorganization of the electronic trading business until the termination of the CBOT's arrangements with the Eurex Group, which is currently expected to occur in December 2003.

In the spring of 2002, management learned that certain data relating to historical contract volume attributable to each membership class, which was previously provided by the CBOT to the Independent Allocation committee and its financial advisor, was inaccurate. In particular, the inaccurate data overstated the amount of historical contract volume attributable to Full Members and IDEM's of the CBOT. As a result of this discovery, management conducted a thorough review of the process previously utilized to generate such data, corrected this process and delivered revised data to the Independent Allocation Committee and its financial advisor.

During the summer of 2002, management and the Executive Committee, with the assistance of the CBOT's advisors, continued to work to develop and refine the terms and structure of the restructuring transactions.

On September 13, 2002, the Independent Allocation Committee held a meeting at which the committee received an update from each of William Blair and Winston & Strawn on the refinements to the restructuring transactions proposed to or adopted by the board of directors subsequent to the committee's meeting in March 2002 and the circumstances related to the CBOT's discovery of inaccuracies in the historical contract volume data provided to the committee. In addition, the Independent Allocation Committee also received an update from Kirkland & Ellis on the lawsuit brought by certain Associate Members and membership interest holders of the CBOT described elsewhere in this document. On September 17, 2002, the Independent Allocation Committee held another meeting for the purpose of considering the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions and its recommendation of a fair allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair and Winston & Strawn, as advisors to the Independent Allocation Committee, participated in this meeting.

On September 17, 2002, at a regular meeting of the board of directors, the Executive Committee recommended that the board of directors adopt the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions, including refinements to the proposed corporate goverance structure that are generally designed to provide members of the CBOT subsidiary and stockholders of CBOT Holdings greater rights than previously contemplated as part of the restructuring transactions and the delay in the reorganization of the electronic trading business until the termination of the CBOT's arrangements with the Eurex Group, which is currently expected to occur in December 2003.

The Independent Allocation Committee reported to the board of directors that it had held a meeting immediately prior to this board meeting to consider, among other things, the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions. The Independent Allocation Committee confirmed its prior recommendation at this time and indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered William Blair's opinion, dated September 17, 2002, that the proposed allocation is fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of members.

The board also received a report from Kirkland & Ellis concerning the proposed restructuring transactions, including certain legal matters relating to the restructuring transactions. Kirkland & Ellis answered questions with respect to certain aspects of the restructuring transactions and provided a report regarding matters relating to the restructuring transactions. The board also received William Blair's opinion, dated September 17, 2002, to the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors, that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.00 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. For more information regarding this opinion, see "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board."

After careful discussion of the matters discussed and presented at this and previous meetings, the CBOT board of directors determined that the restructuring transactions, taken as a whole, including the allocation methodology to be utilized in the demutualization for the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the Full Members, Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs, and COMs in respect of their memberships are in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and are fair to all classes of CBOT members.

Reasons for the Restructuring Strategy

Our restructuring strategy is designed to respond to significant competitive challenges currently faced by the CBOT and to enhance the long-term value of CBOT for its members. Current industry trends, including increased electronic trading of derivative securities, may threaten the long-term viability of traditional open outcry exchanges, including the CBOT. In fact, as reported by Futures Industry Magazine, in 1999, Eurex, an electronic derivatives exchange, overtook the CBOT to become the world's largest derivatives exchange based on contract volume. We believe that these industry trends are related, in large part, to shifting priorities of investors and members of exchanges, rapid advances in technology and electronic trading and the realignment of key industry participants.

Shifting Priorities of Investors and Members. We believe that institutional investors are demanding greater liquidity, lower cost and more efficient trade execution, enhanced access and a sophisticated supporting infrastructure. In addition, traditional open outcry exchanges are competing with new electronic markets, which are generally lower cost, more accessible, very focused, faster in trade execution and, increasingly, more liquid. These pressures are forcing traditional open outcry exchanges, such as the CBOT, to modernize in order to remain competitive.

Additional pressure is placed on the industry by the over-the-counter derivatives market, which is estimated by the Bank for International Settlements to have grown to over $111 trillion in notional amount outstanding as of December 31, 2001. Further, according to the Bank for International Settlements, transaction volume through 2001 in over-the-counter derivatives is growing slower than transaction volume in exchange-listed derivatives (11% to 21%).

Members of exchanges are also under increasing pressure from clients and new entrants in the marketplace. As a result, we believe that members of exchanges are generally concerned about the long-term value of their memberships.

Advances in Technology and Electronic Trading. Technological innovations are creating new competitors and encouraging the development of electronic trading systems that are challenging traditional open outcry exchanges. According to industry data assembled by the CBOT, from 1995 through June 30, 2002, contract volume traded on open outcry derivatives exchanges has declined by over 35%, and electronic trading has grown by more than 95%. Based on industry trends outside the United States, we expect that electronic trading will account for virtually all overseas trading in the near future.

Some leading exchanges are already fully electronic and other leading exchanges are aggressively pursuing an electronic trading model. We believe that major securities exchanges and quotation systems, such as the New York Stock Exchange and the Nasdaq Stock Market are under pressure from electronic communications networks. About one dozen electronic communications networks have been established in the United States, many during the last four years, by leading investment banks, broker-dealers and market markers, which are aligning themselves with multiple alternative systems. For example, according to Internet Trading Magazine, Goldman Sachs has made investments in four electronic communications networks. In addition, according to a special study prepared by the SEC's Division of Market Regulation, electronic communications networks have already captured about one-third of Nasdaq's trading volume.

The CBOT is facing increasing competition from electronic competitors. For example, Cantor/eSpeed has introduced an electronic trading system for cash bonds, futures on Treasury bonds and block over-the-counter derivatives trades for large derivatives dealers. In addition, BrokerTec, which is owned by several of the largest United States and European investment banks, currently provides electronic, inter-dealer brokerage for Treasury bonds and euro-denominated sovereign debt, and introduced an electronic trading system for futures and other derivatives during the fourth quarter of 2001.

Industry Realignment. Some exchanges that have restructured in response to industry pressures have demutualized and have become for-profit entities. Through demutualization, exchanges are streamlining their corporate governance structure, quickening their organizational decision-making, improving their access to capital and technology, and enhancing their ability to quickly enter into strategic alliances. The Chicago Mercantile Exchange, the New York Mercantile Exchange and the Hong Kong Futures Exchange, among others, have demutualized. Some exchanges have announced that they are planning initial public offerings to raise capital necessary for strategic endeavors. Deutsche Borse, Euronext, the Australian Stock Exchange, OM

Gruppen AB and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange are already publicly-held corporations. The New York Stock Exchange and Nasdaq have also each indicated at various times in the past that they have considered initial public offerings.

In addition to demutualization, we believe that the futures industry will consolidate pursuant to mergers and alliances of exchanges in order to achieve the economies of scale and expanded geographic reach necessary to remain competitive in a rapidly changing marketplace.

Objectives of the Restructuring Strategy

We have determined that it is desirable for the CBOT to restructure in response to the changing marketplace in order to meet two principal objectives. First, the current corporate governance structure of the CBOT, which is slow to respond and primarily oriented towards delivering member benefits and supporting member opportunity rather than enterprise profitability, must be changed to adopt a more streamlined decision-making process, more focused on maximizing value to the enterprise. Second, the CBOT should respond to the technological innovations that are currently shaping the futures industry.

With these objectives in mind, we evaluated a number of restructuring alternatives as described below under "--Strategic Alternatives Considered." We determined that any new structure should incorporate both an updated open outcry exchange, in response to member demand, and an electronic marketplace, in response to competitive pressures.

Strategic Alternatives Considered

We initially considered four principal restructuring strategies, taking into account the relevant associated business, legal, tax and regulatory issues. Each alternative strategy incorporated a variation of the corporate structure and equity ownership of the entities. The principal restructuring strategies we considered included the following:

- maintaining the CBOT in its current form as a parent company and creating a separate electronic trading company as a subsidiary;
- restructuring the CBOT into two separate and independent for-profit, stock companies, one to conduct the open outcry trading business and the other to conduct the electronic trading business;
- organizing a single demutualized holding company with an open outcry subsidiary and an electronic trading company subsidiary; and
- operating the electronic trading business through the parent company and creating a subsidiary to operate our open outcry markets.

For some time, we considered pursuing a strategy of restructuring the CBOT into two separate for-profit, stock companies. As autonomous entities, each with a separate business focus, we initially believed that each of the companies would be well positioned to make independent strategic business decisions and pursue appropriate business opportunities. We believed that, as for-profit, stock companies, each would have the financial and decision-making flexibility to pursue alliances and joint ventures, as well as the resources to make necessary technology investments.

In late August 2000, we concluded that such a strategy was no longer appropriate in light of a number of factors, including, among other things, increasing competitive pressures in the industry, adverse changes in the capital markets, further review and analysis regarding the implementation and execution of separate business plans for the two independent companies, the overall financial status of the CBOT and the need for the CBOT to demutualize as quickly as possible so that it could enhance its competitive posture and improve its decision-making capability. Accordingly, we ultimately rejected the two-company strategy and determined to adopt a strategy of demutualizing the CBOT and operating the electronic trading company as a wholly owned subsidiary.

Following further evaluation and analysis, we concluded that, under then-existing conditions, the revised restructuring strategy would achieve benefits similar to those associated with the creation of two separate companies, while preserving our flexibility to consider pursuing one or more value-enhancing transactions in the future, as described above under "--Overview." Among other things, the revised strategy was designed to encourage independent operation of the electronic trading business in a competitive manner, but under a common ownership structure that will allow substantial sharing of resources and infrastructure. We believe that the restructuring transactions, as most recently refinanced, will enable us to successfully implement this strategy.

More recently, we reconsidered the holding company structure as a strategic alternative as a result of further changes in competitive pressures in the industry, the continued adverse condition of the capital markets and the refinement of our long-term strategic objectives. We believe the holding company structure represents a refinement of the previously approved restructuring transactions that is consistent with the revised restructuring strategy adopted in August 2000 in that it encourages independent operation of the electronic trading business under a common ownership structure while providing us additional structural flexibility to organize our business in a manner that will allow us to achieve our long-term strategic objectives. In addition, we believe that the holding company structure will allow us to maintain the CBOT as a nonstock membership corporation, which will provide us with certain benefits associated with such form of organization.

Most recently, as a result of recent revisions to our arrangements with the Eurex Group and certain tax and other financial considerations, we reconsidered certain aspects of the proposed reorganization of our electronic trading business. In particular we believe that delaying the reorganization of our electronic trading business until the termination of our arrangements with the Eurex Group, which is currently expected to occur in December 2003, provides the CBOT and its members certain additional business, tax and other financial benefits.

Description of the Restructuring Transactions

The restructuring transactions are designed to:

- demutualize our organization by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings in which the CBOT members will hold memberships entitling them to certain trading rights and privileges on the exchange operated by such subsidiary; and

- modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure by adopting a more modern mechanism for initiating and voting on stockholder proposals and making certain other changes designed to improve our corporate decision-making process.

We will demutualize by establishing a stock for-profit holding company parent to the CBOT. The demutualization of the CBOT will be accomplished, in part, by merging a newly formed nonstock, for-profit subsidiary with and into the CBOT, which will result in the CBOT being the surviving entity pursuant to the terms of an agreement and plan of merger. Upon completion of the reorganization merger, the CBOT will become a nonstock, for-profit corporation and a subsidiary of CBOT Holdings. For more information on the reorganization merger, including a chart depicting the organizational structure of CBOT Holdings following completion of the reorganization merger, see "--Reorganization Merger." As a result of the restructuring transactions, CBOT members will receive a combination of interests consisting of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

In connection with the completion of the reorganization merger, members will receive a dividend of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, which will generally have traditional features of common stock, including, among other things, dividend, voting and liquidation rights, in accordance with an allocation methodology described elsewhere in this document and set forth in the table below.

Associate	5,000
GIM	2,500
IDEM	300

Immediately after completion of the restructuring transactions, our members will be the only common stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

In addition, upon completion of the reorganization merger, the CBOT subsidiary will have three new classes of membership: Class A memberships, Class B memberships and Class C memberships. CBOT Holdings will hold the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will entitle CBOT Holdings to the right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT subsidiary, as well as the exclusive right to receive all distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary. The Class B memberships will consist of five separate series: Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, with each series having associated with it trading rights and privileges that correspond to one of the current classes of CBOT membership.

As set forth in the table below, members of the CBOT will receive one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in respect of each membership held by such member. In addition, each Full Member will also receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. The Class C memberships will not have associated with them any trading rights or privileges at the CBOT subsidiary. Following completion of the restructuring transactions, the Class C membership of the CBOT subsidiary will represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right currently held by each Full Member of the CBOT.

In connection with the restructuring transactions, we will also modernize certain aspects of our corporate governance structure in a manner designed to improve our decision-making processes, which we believe will enable us to compete more effectively in the future. Specifically, our new corporate governance structure will:

- reduce the ability of members to participate in our day-to-day management and operations;

- adopt a somewhat more modern mechanism for initiating and voting on stockholder proposals; and

- provide for certain change of control provisions, such as, among other things, a classified board of directors with staggered terms, advance notice requirements and a prohibition on stockholder action by written consent.

Specifically, the restructuring transactions include the following:

Demutualization

We will demutualize by establishing a stock for-profit holding company parent to the CBOT. As described in greater detail below, the demutualization generally involves merging a newly created nonstock, for-profit corporation, which will be a subsidiary of a newly created stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, with and into the CBOT, with the CBOT as the surviving entity of the merger, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members.

Formation of CBOT Holdings and CBOT Merger Sub

We have recently formed two subsidiaries, CBOT Holdings, Inc. and CBOT Merger Sub, Inc., for the purpose of effecting the demutualization. CBOT Holdings, a Delaware stock, for-profit corporation, is currently a direct and wholly owned subsidiary of the CBOT. CBOT Merger Sub, a Delaware nonstock, for-profit membership corporation, is currently a direct and wholly owned subsidiary of CBOT Holdings. The following chart generally depicts the structure of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the reorganization merger:

[Ceres Trading Limited Partnership] [CBOT Merger Sub, Inc.]

Distribution of Common Stock of CBOT Holdings

The reorganization of the CBOT and the implementation of the proposed holding company structure will be accomplished by the reorganization merger, which, as described below under "--Reorganization Merger," will result in the CBOT becoming a subsidiary of CBOT Holdings. The reorganization merger will not, however, result in the distribution of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to the CBOT members. Consequently, a separate mechanism will be utilized to effect the distribution of common stock of CBOT Holdings to the CBOT members.

Prior to completing the reorganization merger, our board of directors will declare a dividend of shares of the common stock of CBOT Holdings that will be payable to each CBOT member immediately upon the effectiveness of the reorganization merger. The number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to be distributed to each CBOT member as a result of this dividend will be as follows:

to Be Received Per CBOT Membership

Class of CBOT Membership	Shares of Common Stock
Full	25,000
Associate	5,000
GIM	2,500

This allocation is based on the allocation methodology developed and recommended by the Independent Allocation Committee and adopted by our board of directors.

For more information regarding the common stock of CBOT Holdings, and the respective rights and privileges of such stock, see "Description of Capital Stock--Common Stock." For more information regarding the determination of the methodology for allocating shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members, see "--Independent Allocation Committee" and "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee." The allocation methodology utilized in the restructuring transactions is currently the subject of a lawsuit brought against an alleged class of Full Members of the CBOT on behalf of the "minority" members of the CBOT, consisting of the Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs. For more information regarding this litigation, see "Our Business--Legal Proceedings--Lawsuit Brought By Certain Associate Members and Membership Interest Holders."

Reorganization Merger

Pursuant to an agreement and plan of merger, CBOT Merger Sub will merge with and into the CBOT, which will result in the CBOT being the surviving entity. Upon completion of the reorganization merger, the CBOT will become a nonstock, for-profit corporation and a subsidiary of CBOT Holdings. As a result of completing the reorganization merger, the CBOT subsidiary will have three new classes of membership: Class A memberships, Class B memberships and Class C memberships.

Class A Membership. CBOT Holdings will hold the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will entitle CBOT Holdings to the right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT subsidiary, as well as the exclusive right to receive all distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary.

Class B Memberships. The Class B memberships will consist of five separate series: Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5. Subject to certain restrictions that currently apply, including, in the case of Series B-3, Class B memberships, that such memberships may not be sold or otherwise transferred without eliminating the associated trading rights and privileges, and satisfaction of the application and approval process applicable to CBOT membership candidates, each such series will have associated with it trading rights and privileges that correspond to one of the current classes of membership of the CBOT, as described below:

- Series B-1 Members. The holder of a Series B-1, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary will generally be entitled to execute trades in all futures and options contracts listed on the exchange operated by the CBOT subsidiary.

- Series B-2 Members. The holder of a Series B-2, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary will generally be entitled to execute trades in all futures and options contracts listed in the CBOT subsidiary's Government Instruments Market, Index, Debt and Energy Market and Commodity Options Market.

- Series B-3 Members. With certain exceptions described in greater detail elsewhere herein, the holder of a Series B-3, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary will generally be entitled to execute trades in all futures contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Government Instrument Market," which includes contracts in certain U.S. government and agency securities, certain foreign government securities and certain domestic certificates of deposit. Following completion of the restructuring transactions, two Series B-3, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be convertible into one Series B-2, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which may result in fewer members having the trading rights and privileges of GIMs and more members having the trading rights and privileges of Associate Members.

- Series B-4 Members. The holder of a Series B-4, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary will generally be entitled to execute trades in all futures contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Index, Debt and Energy Market," which includes contracts in certain stock and bond indices, certain money market instruments and certain energy, i.e., crude oil, gasoline and heating oil, products.

- Series B-5 Members. The holder of a Series B-5, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary will generally be entitled to execute trades in all options contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Commodity Options Market," which includes contracts in U.S. Treasury bond futures options and all other options contacts listed for trading by the CBOT.

The specific trading rights and privileges associated with each series of Class B membership will generally be governed by the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary. These rules and regulations will constitute a part of the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary.

As set forth in the table below, members will receive one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in respect of each membership held by such member.

Class C Memberships. Each Full Member will also receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which will, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, entitle the holder to exercise a right to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Following completion of the restructuring transactions, the Class C membership of the CBOT subsidiary will represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right held by each Full Member of the CBOT. The exercise right will be the only right associated with the Class C membership.

Ceres Trading Limited Partnership

Following completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary would continue to conduct their electronic trading business indirectly through Ceres until such time as the CBOT's current arrangements with the Eurex Group are terminated, which we currently expect to occur in December 2003. We currently anticipate that, at such time, Ceres will be liquidated and its assets distributed to its partners in accordance with the terms of the Ceres limited partnership agreement, and CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary will conduct their electronic trading business through eCBOT. We currently do not expect that Ceres will make any distributions to its limited partners until such time as it is liquidated.

Members of the CBOT currently hold the limited partnerships in Ceres. The CBOT's eCBOT subsidiary acts as general partner of Ceres. Currently, Ceres' limited partnership agreement requires that the holders of its Class A limited partnership interests hold corresponding memberships in the CBOT. In addition, the limited partnership agreement generally requires the transfer of limited partnership interests in Ceres held by members upon the transfer of their corresponding memberships.

In order to ensure that members who are limited partners in Ceres will retain the rights and obligations that they currently possess following completion of the restructuring transactions, eCBOT, as general partner of Ceres, will amend the limited partnership agreement of Ceres. In particular, among other things, certain definitions in the limited partnership agreement corresponding to Full, Associate, IDEM and COM memberships in the CBOT will be revised to correspond to Class B, Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3 and Series B-4 memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, respectively. In addition, the limited partnership agreement will be amended to provide that Ceres will be dissolved upon the termination of the CBOT's current arrangements with the Eurex Group, which we expect will occur on December 31, 2003. Because these amendments to the limited partnership agreement will not amend sections with respect to which limited partners of Ceres have voting rights, a vote of the limited partners of Ceres will not be required in order to amend the limited partnership agreement.

Following completion of the reorganization merger, our organizational structure will be as set forth in the following chart:

We have included as Appendix C to this document the form of agreement and plan of merger relating to the reorganization merger, which you are being asked to approve and adopt in connection with the restructuring transactions. We urge you to review carefully the agreement and plan of merger before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Modernization of Our Corporate Governance Structure

An objective of the restructuring transactions is the modernization of certain aspects of our corporate governance structure of the CBOT. Accordingly, the restructuring transactions will involve significant changes, which will largely occur as a result of the creation of a holding company structure and certain changes to the certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the reorganization merger.

Because CBOT members will receive interests in both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary as a result of the completion of the restructuring transactions, it is important for you to understand the scope and nature of your rights and obligations in these two organizations. Upon the completion of the restructuring transactions, you will be a stockholder of CBOT Holdings and a member of the CBOT subsidiary. Your rights as a stockholder of CBOT Holdings will resemble those of a stockholder of a public company and your rights as a member of the CBOT subsidiary will more closely resemble your current trading rights and privileges as CBOT members. However, as explained below, there will be important changes to your rights and obligations as a result of the modernization of our corporate governance structure.

Voting Rights

We describe below the voting rights of stockholders of CBOT Holdings and members of the CBOT subsidiary:

CBOT Holdings. As compared to our current corporate governance structure, CBOT Holdings will have a corporate governance structure more customary for a for-profit, stock corporation. The holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt and recommend for stockholder approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of a majority of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings. In addition, the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of CBOT Holdings without the approval of stockholders. However, subject to limitations under applicable law, the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will also have the right to initiate proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. You should understand, however, that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will consider such non-binding recommendations in accordance with its fiduciary duties under applicable law and, accordingly, there can be no assurance that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will approve any such proposed amendment. The stockholders of CBOT Holdings will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, or as described below, proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary. Stockholders' proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of stockholders of CBOT Holdings after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such annual or special meeting. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will provide that one-third of the total voting power of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in an election of directors must be present in person or by proxy to constitute a quorum.

The bylaws of CBOT Holdings will contain provisions requiring that advance notice be delivered to CBOT Holdings of any business to be brought by a stockholder before an annual or special meeting of stockholders and providing for certain procedures to be followed by stockholders in nominating persons for election to CBOT Holdings' board of directors. Generally, in connection with annual meetings, such advance notice provisions will require that, with the exception of the nomination procedures for elective office for an annual meeting a stockholder must give written notice to the secretary of CBOT Holdings not less than 30, nor more than 60, days prior to the first anniversary of the date on which CBOT Holdings first mailed its proxy materials for the preceding year's annual meeting of stockholders. In connection with special meetings, following receipt of a written request from at least 10% of the voting power of CBOT Holdings, the chairman of the board or the board of directors will call and provide written notice of, a special meeting not less than 20 nor more than 60 days before the date of such meeting. In each case, the notice or request by stockholders must set forth specific information regarding such stockholder and each director nominee or other business proposed by such stockholder, as applicable, as provided in CBOT Holdings' bylaws.

CBOT Subsidiary. The CBOT subsidiary will have a unique corporate governance structure, which is designed generally to vest certain corporate governance decisions with CBOT Holdings, but provide the holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships with voting rights with respect to certain Class B member proposals, including amendments to the bylaws, rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, as well as on core rights relating to the trading rights and privileges associated with Class B memberships. In particular, CBOT Holdings, as the holder of the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, will have the right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT subsidiary including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, subject to the rights of holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships with respect to the core rights and transfer restrictions described below, amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

The holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will have the exclusive right to vote on any proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws, which include the rules and regulations, of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect the following core rights:

- the allocation of products that a holder of a specific series of Class B membership is permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the CBOT subsidiary, e.g., the elimination of any product from a holder's trading rights and privileges;
- the requirement that, subject to certain limited exceptions agreed to by the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange, Class B members will be charged transaction fees for trades of the CBOT subsidiary's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a Class B member for the same products;
- the authorized number of any class or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;
- the membership and eligibility requirements to become a Class B member or to exercise the associated trading rights or privileges; and
- the commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid under the terms of the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships. This commitment to maintain current open outcry markets is described further below under "--Commitment to Maintain Open Outcry Markets."

The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, subject to applicable law, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary may initiate other proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. You should understand, however, that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will consider such non-binding recommendations in accordance with its fiduciary duties under applicable law and, accordingly, there can be no assurance that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will approve any such proposed amendment. Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Member proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of votes cast at such special or annual meeting.

Holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships will be the only members of the CBOT subsidiary entitled to vote with respect to a proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect any of the above-described core rights and any proposal initiated by Series B-1 and/or Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, with holders of Series B-1, Class B memberships entitled to one vote per membership and holders of Series B-2, Class B memberships entitled to one-sixth of one vote per membership. Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B members and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposals.

The affirmative vote of a majority of the voting power of the then outstanding Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, voting together as a single class based on their respective voting power, will be required in order to approve amendments, but approval of a majority of the votes cast at such annual or special meeting shall be sufficient to constitute approval of any proposal, provided that quorum requirements have been met. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that one-third of the voting power of the Class B memberships entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum. Based on the respective voting power of these two series of Class B memberships, any such amendment or proposal could be approved by the holders of Series B-1, Class B memberships even though the holders of Series B-2, Class B memberships voted against the amendment. This result is consistent with the result that would be obtained under the CBOT's existing certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations with respect to matters voted on by Full Members and Associate Members as a single class.

The bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary will contain provisions requiring that advance notice be delivered to the CBOT subsidiary of any business to be brought by a Series B-1 or Series B-2, Class B member before an annual or special meeting of the members. Generally, in connection with annual meetings, such advance notice provisions will require that a Series B-1 or Series B-2 member must give written notice to the secretary of the CBOT subsidiary not less than 10, nor more than 60, days prior to the first anniversary of the date of the last annual meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary in connection with special meetings, following receipt of a written request from at least 10% of the voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, the chairman of the board or the board of directors will call and provide written notice of, a special meeting not less than 10 nor more than 60 days before the date of such meeting. In each case, such notice or request by members must set forth specific information regarding such member and the business proposed by such member, as provided in the CBOT subsidiary's bylaws.

Commitment to Maintain Open Outcry Markets. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that, subject to the following terms and conditions, the CBOT subsidiary will be obligated to maintain current open outcry markets and provide financial support to each such market for technology, marketing and research, which the board of directors determines, in its sole and absolute discretion, is reasonably necessary to maintain each such open outcry market.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary may discontinue any open outcry market at such time and in such manner as it may determine if the board of directors determines, in its sole and absolute discretion, that a market is no longer "liquid" in accordance with the criteria described below or the holders of a majority of the voting power of the then outstanding Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships, voting together as a single class based on their respective voting power, approve the discontinuance of such open outcry market.

- if a comparable exchange-traded product exists, the open outcry market has maintained at least 30 percent of the average daily volume of such comparable product, including for calculation purposes, volume from exchange-for-physicals transactions in such open outcry market; or

- if no comparable exchange-traded product exists, the open outcry market has maintained at least 40 percent of the average quarterly volume in that market as maintained by the CBOT in 2000, including, for calculation purposes, volume from exchange-for-physicals transactions in such open outcry market.

Board of Directors. The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as the boards of directors of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will thereafter be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders to be held following completion of the restructuring transactions.

The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will consist of:

- the chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary;
- a vice-chairman, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary;
- eight directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary;
- two directors, who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary;
- three directors, who will be "independent" within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings; and
- the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings, who will be appointed by the board of directors as a non-voting director.

Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of each such corporation following his other due election and will not be subject to term limits. For information regarding the executive officers of CBOT Holdings, see "Management and Executive Compensation--Directors and Executive Officers."

The elected directors of CBOT Holdings will be classified into two classes of directors consisting of eight directors and seven directors, respectively.

The first class of directors will consist of:

- the chairman of the board;
- four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary;
- one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary; and
- two independent directors.

The second class of directors will consist of

- the vice-chairman of the board;
- four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary;
- one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary; and
- one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

The following chart describes the directors and the terms that such directors are expected to be elected to at each of the first, second, third and fourth annual elections following completion of the restructuring transactions:

First Annual Meeting Two Year Terms	Second Annual Meeting Two Year Terms	Third Annual Meeting Two Year Terms	Fourth Annual Meeting Two Year Terms
1 Chairman	1 Vice Chairman	1 Chairman	1 Vice Chairman
2 Independent Directors	1 Series B-1 Director	4 Series B-1 Directors	4 Series B-1 Directors
4 Series B-1 Directors	1 Independent Director	1 Series B-2 Director	1 Series B-2 Director
1 Series B-2 Director		2 Independent Directors	1 Independent Director
One Year Terms		One Year Terms
1 Independent Director		3 Series B-1 Directors 1 Series B-2 Director

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, which is the sole membership entitled to vote in the election of director, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

Nomination Procedures for Directors. It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will designate a nominating committee to recommend to the board of directors nominations of persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings. In addition to nominations made by the nominating committee, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will also be entitled to nominate persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings if the nominee is qualified and the stockholder satisfies certain advance notice requirements. If the stockholder satisfies each of these conditions and delivers a petition executed by at least 40 Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, the CBOT Holdings and/or CBOT subsidiary will, to the extent either prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy, at its own expense, include the name of such nominee and all other information related to such nominee, that is provided with respect to the board of directors' nominees in such proxy statement and form of proxy.

Change of Control Provisions. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation and bylaws will contain a number of provisions that may have the effect of encouraging persons considering unsolicited tender offers or other unilateral takeover proposals to negotiate with the board of directors rather than pursue non-negotiated takeover attempts. The provisions will include, among other things:

. a classified board of directors with staggered terms of office;

. advance notice requirements for stockholder proposals;

. application of the Delaware anti-takeover statute; and

. a prohibition on the ability of stockholders to take action by written consent.

In addition, we currently anticipate that CBOT Holdings would be asked to consider, and may adopt, a stockholder rights plan or poison pill in connection with any future underwritten public offering of its common stock. We have no current plan or intention to conduct any such offering.

You are being asked to approve and adopt the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary as part of the restructuring transactions. We have included the form of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings as Appendices F and G, respectively, to this document. In addition, we have included the form of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary as Appendices H and I, respectively, to this document. The certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings will become effective prior to the time the reorganization merger becomes effective and the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary will become effective at the time the reorganization merger becomes effective, with the exception of a provision in the CBOT bylaws that is designed to confirm that GIMs as well as holders of one-half Associate Memberships, IDEMs and COMs are members for purposes of Delaware law, which will become effective immediately following membership approval of the restructuring transactions. By voting in favor of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions, you will be voting to approve and adopt this amendment to the CBOT bylaws in advance of the completion of the restructuring transactions. We urge you to review carefully all of the terms and conditions of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

In addition, you are being asked to approve and adopt certain changes to the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary as part of the restructuring transactions. Among other things, the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary will establish the specific trading rights and privileges associated with each series of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. We currently expect that these changes to our rules and regulations will take effect at the time that the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary becomes effective. The form of the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, which, subject to other changes to the rules and regulations occurring after the date of this document, we currently expect to be the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary immediately after the restructuring transactions, as well as the current rules and regulations of the CBOT, have been filed as exhibits to the registration statement of which this document is a part. We have included as Appendix J to this document a summary entitled "Status of Certain Current CBOT Rules and Regulations as a Result of the Restructuring Transactions," which summarizes the changes to current rules and regulations that will occur as a result of the restructuring transactions. We urge you to review carefully the summary of the changes to the rules and regulations as well as the above-referenced exhibits before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

For more information about these changes to our corporate governance structure, and how such changes will affect your rights and obligations, see "Comparison of the Rights of Members of the CBOT Prior to and After Completion of the Restructuring Transactions."

Independent Allocation Committee

In January 2000, in connection with its approval of the original restructuring strategy, our board of directors established an Independent Allocation Committee of the board, composed solely of public or independent directors of the board, to determine and recommend to the full board an appropriate and fair allocation among the CBOT members of shares in the two companies contemplated by the original restructuring strategy: the company conducting the updated open outcry trading business and the company conducting the electronic trading business.

To assure the independence of the process, each member of the Independent Allocation Committee confirmed that there were no conflicts of interest presented by his service on the Independent Allocation Committee and that neither any member nor any person in a member's family held a financial interest in a CBOT member. The Independent Allocation Committee engaged an independent financial advisor, William Blair, and special counsel, Winston & Strawn, to assist in developing its recommendation. Again, each of these advisors confirmed that their service to the Independent Allocation Committee did not present a conflict of interest. Governor Thompson, the Chairman of the Independent Allocation Committee, is the Chairman of Winston & Strawn, special counsel to the Independent Allocation Committee. Members of the Independent Allocation Committee each initially received a fee of $20,000 for service on the committee. In connection with their continued service on the Independent Allocation Committee, in November 2001, Governor Thompson and Mr. Weems each received an additional fee of $20,000 for service on the Committee. In addition, the CBOT agreed to indemnify each member against liabilities arising from such service. Also, the CBOT agreed to compensate each member of the Independent Allocation Committee for time spent in connection with any litigation proceeding relating to the matters considered by the Independent Allocation Committee at an hourly rate, not to exceed $500, equal to the rate at which such member is compensated by third parties for legal or consulting services or, if no such rate is applicable to a member, such rate as is mutually agreed to by the CBOT and the member.

During the course of its initial deliberations, which took place from January to May 2000, the Independent Allocation Committee and its advisors reviewed CBOT member correspondence regarding their views on allocation; met with various membership committees and groups as well as CBOT management and staff; reviewed various CBOT organizational documents, documents relating to the creation of memberships and certain trading and financial statistics relating to the CBOT, including historical prices for memberships; reviewed various other materials prepared for the CBOT or the board of directors by outside consultants, financial, legal and other advisors; participated in various meetings with such advisors; and researched other relevant data, including the allocation methodologies used by other exchanges in connection with demutualization transactions.

After considering various methodologies for allocation, the Independent Allocation Committee concluded that it would be appropriate to adopt an allocation methodology that takes into account a combination of factors rather than a single factor and includes the following:

- relative liquidation rights;
- relative voting rights;
- the allocation made in connection with the formation of Ceres;
- the market values of CBOT memberships; and
- the contract volumes for which each class of CBOT membership has been responsible on a historical basis.

Although the Independent Allocation Committee did not believe that it was appropriate to assign specific weight to any particular factor, the Independent Allocation Committee concluded that, in establishing an allocation, relatively greater importance should be given to liquidation rights, voting rights and the allocation made to CBOT members in connection with the formation of Ceres. Based on its deliberations, on May 5, 2000, the Independent Allocation Committee unanimously recommended to the full board that an allocation of shares of common stock in each of the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 was fair. In reaching this conclusion, the Independent Allocation Committee received and considered an opinion dated May 5, 2000 from William Blair that the allocation recommended by the Independent Allocation Committee in connection with the restructuring was fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of each class of CBOT membership. For more information on this opinion, see "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board."

The recommendation of the Independent Allocation Committee on May 5, 2000, as well as the opinion of William Blair as of such date, were based on a number of assumptions, including that:

- the restructuring would not take the form of a liquidation;
- the trading rights and privileges of each CBOT membership class, including the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right of Full Members, would continue;

- each CBOT member would receive in addition to their trading rights the appropriate number of shares in both the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies per the allocation;

- each company's shares would be issued with equal per share voting and liquidation rights;

- such shares would be in addition to any shares or other consideration received in connection with the reorganization of Ceres, which transaction was outside the purview of the Committee.

The allocation did not take into consideration any transaction with the Chicago Board Options Exchange, and the allocation of assets and liabilities between the then proposed open outcry trading and electronic trading companies was beyond the purview of the Independent Allocation Committee.

On May 16, 2000, the board of directors of CBOT approved and adopted the recommendation made by the Independent Allocation Committee on May 5, 2000, subject to any changes in the underlying assumptions, and subject to the board's further approval of the definitive terms and structure of transactions designed to implement the restructuring.

Following the adoption by the board of directors of the revised restructuring strategy in August 2000, the Independent Allocation Committee undertook to consider the revised restructuring strategy and update its recommendation regarding an appropriate and fair allocation of value among CBOT members in the context of the revised restructuring strategy.

In the course of updating its initial recommendation regarding the allocation of equity among members of CBOT, the Independent Allocation Committee reviewed various aspects of the revised restructuring strategy that were developed subsequent to May 5, 2000, including:

- the change in the form of the restructuring transactions to provide for the distribution and allocation solely of shares of the then proposed stock, for-profit company and the formation of eCBOT as a wholly owned subsidiary of CBOT;

- the board of directors' decision to reorganize and consolidate the electronic trading business into eCBOT through a series of transactions involving Ceres, including a merger transaction in which limited partnership interests in Ceres would be exchanged for shares of convertible preferred stock of the stock, for-profit company; and

- the proposal to issue shares of common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit company in two classes: Class A common stock with traditional voting, liquidation and dividend rights that would represent substantially all of the equity value and voting power initially evidenced by the common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit company; and Class B common stock that would be issued in five series, two of which would have special voting rights with respect to certain trading rights and privileges of Class B common stockholders, each of which series would entitle an eligible holder to trading rights and privileges that would correspond to, and would be substantially similar to, the trading rights and privileges of one of the five member classes of CBOT.

The Independent Allocation Committee also considered such other factors as it deemed relevant, including the trading volume activity by various membership classes and the trading prices for various memberships. Based on these deliberations and its conclusion that the factors which supported its initial recommendation remained an appropriate basis for determining an allocation methodology in the context of the restructuring transactions and that such factors had not changed in any material respect since May 5, 2000, on November 21, 2000 the Independent Allocation Committee unanimously recommended to the board of directors that an allocation of shares of Class A common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit company among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, was fair. In reaching this conclusion, the Independent Allocation Committee received and considered an updated oral opinion on November 20, 2000, which was confirmed in writing on November 21, 2000, from William Blair that such allocation was fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of each class of CBOT membership. For more information on this updated opinion, see "-- Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board."

The updated recommendation of the Independent Allocation Committee on November 21, 2000, as well as the opinion of William Blair as of such date, were based on a number of assumptions, including that:

- the restructuring will not take the form of a liquidation;
- the trading rights and privileges of each CBOT membership class, including the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right of Full Members, would continue;
- each CBOT member would receive, in addition to a share of the appropriate series of Class B common stock and associated trading rights and privileges, the number of shares of Class A common stock to which such member would be entitled in the then proposed stock, for-profit company per the allocation ratio in respect of his or her membership;
- such shares would be in addition to the shares of convertible preferred stock or other consideration received in connection with the Ceres merger, the fairness of which transaction was beyond the purview the Independent Allocation Committee and the opinion of William Blair; and
- the allocation did not take into consideration any possible transaction or business combination with any other party.

On January 16, 2001, immediately prior to the meeting of the board of directors to consider the restructuring transactions, the Independent Allocation Committee met to review and consider certain refinements to the restructuring transactions recommended by the Executive Committee and management. At the meeting of the board of directors, the Independent Allocation Committee reported to the board of directors that it had reviewed such refinements to the restructuring transactions recommended by the Executive Committee and management and confirmed its updated recommendation regarding the allocation among the CBOT members of Class A common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit company in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions, as currently proposed, as provided to the board at the November 21, 2000 meeting. The Independent Allocation Committee indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered an updated opinion of William Blair, dated January 16, 2001, that the proposed allocation was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members.

In September 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee undertook to consider further refinements to the restructuring transactions and update its recommendation regarding an appropriate and fair allocation of value among CBOT members in the context of the revised restructuring strategy. In the course of updating its recommendation regarding the allocation of equity among members of the CBOT, the Independent Allocation Committee reviewed various aspects of the restructuring transactions that were developed subsequent to January 16, 2001, including the refinements to the restructuring transactions to provide for the creation of a holding company structure, the distribution of shares of common stock of the holding company to the members of the CBOT and the creation of a separate class of membership in the CBOT subsidiary to represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right. The Independent Allocation Committee also considered such other factors as it deemed relevant, including the trading volume activity by various CBOT membership classes and the trading prices for various CBOT memberships. On September 13, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee met with representatives of William Blair, Winston & Strawn and Kirkland & Ellis to consider these refinements and their impact, if any, on their previous recommendations.

Based on these deliberations and its conclusion that the factors which supported its earlier recommendation remained an appropriate basis for determining an allocation methodology in the context of the restructuring transactions and that such factors had not changed in any material respect since January 16, 2001, the Independent Allocation Committee met again on September 24, 2001, and unanimously adopted a recommendation, which was delivered to the board of directors on October 2, 2001 that an allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, is fair. In reaching this conclusion, the Independent Allocation Committee received and considered an updated opinion on September 24, 2001 from William Blair that such allocation is fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of each class of CBOT membership.

On December 18, 2001, immediately prior to the meeting of the CBOT board of directors, the Independent Allocation Committee met to review and consider the proposed restructuring transactions. At the meeting of the CBOT board of directors, the Independent Allocation Committee reported to the CBOT board of directors that it had reviewed the restructuring transactions and confirmed its updated recommendation regarding the allocation among CBOT members of common stock of CBOT Holdings as provided to the board of directors at the October 2, 2001 meeting. The Independent Allocation Committee indicated that, in reaching this recommendation, it received and considered William Blair's letter, dated December 18, 2001, updating its opinion, dated September 24, 2001, that the proposed allocation was fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. For more information on this updated opinion, see "--Opinion of the Financial Advisor of the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board."

In the spring of 2002, management learned that certain data relating to historical contract volume attributable to each membership class, which was previously provided by the CBOT to the Independent Allocation committee and its financial advisor, was inaccurate. In particular, the inaccurate data overstated the amount of historical contract volume attributable to Full Members and IDEM's of the CBOT. As a result of this discovery, management conducted a thorough review of the process previously utilized to generate such data, corrected this process and delivered revised data to the Independent Allocation Committee and its financial advisor.

On September 13, 2002, the Independent Allocation Committee held a meeting at which the committee received an update from each of William Blair and Winston & Strawn on the refinements to the restructuring transactions proposed to be adopted by the board of directors subsequent to the committee's last meeting in December 2001 and the circumstances related to the CBOT's discovery of inaccuracies in the historical contract volume data provided to the committee, including actions undertaken by the CBOT to collect the data and the process utilized to generate such data. In addition, the Independent Allocation Committee also received an update from Kirkland & Ellis on the lawsuit brought by certain Associate Members and membership interest holders of the CBOT described elsewhere in this document. For more information on this lawsuit, see "--Risk Factors: Certain members have filed a complaint in Illinois State Court Challenging the Proposed Allocation of Equity in the CBOT."

On September 17, 2002, the Independent Allocation Committee held another meeting for the purpose of considering the proposed refinements to the restructuring transactions and its recommendation of a fair allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair and Winston & Strawn, as advisors to the Independent Allocation Committee, participated in this meeting. Based on these deliberations and its conclusion that the factors which supported its earlier recommendation remained an appropriate basis for determining an allocation methodology in the context of the restructuring transactions, the Independent Allocation Committee unanimously adopted a recommendation, which was delivered to the board of directors on September 17, 2002 that an allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.50 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, is fair. In reaching this conclusion, the Independent Allocation Committee received and considered an opinion of September 17, 2002 from William Blair that such allocation is fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of each class of CBOT membership.

The updated recommendations of the Independent Allocation Committee on December 18, 2001 and September 17, 2002, as well as William Blair's letter as of December 18, 2001 and its opinions, dated September 24, 2001, and September 17, 2002 were based on a number of assumptions, including that:

- the restructuring would not take the form of a liquidation;

- the trading rights and privileges of each CBOT membership class, including the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right of Full Members, would remain intact;

- each CBOT member would receive, in addition to an appropriate series of Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary and associated trading rights and privileges, the number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to which such member would be entitled per the allocation ratio in respect of his or her membership;

- each Full Member would receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which would represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right; and

- the allocation did not take into consideration any possible transaction or business combination with any other party.

Opinion of the Financial Advisor to the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board

Since no mechanism currently exists in our certificate of incorporation or bylaws for allocating ownership in our organization among the CBOT members, the CBOT established the Independent Allocation Committee as described above under "--Independent Allocation Committee of the Board" and William Blair was retained by the Independent Allocation Committee to render a written opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the allocation of equity in CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships. William Blair was hired based on its qualifications and expertise in providing financial advice to companies and its reputation as a nationally recognized investment banking firm. William Blair was paid total fees of $750,000 for the issuance of its written opinion to the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors and each update through the January 16, 2001 update. On September 7, 2001, the CBOT and William Blair agreed to extend William Blair's engagement for nine months for a fee of $200,000. On September 3, 2002, the CBOT and William Blair agreed again to extend William Blair's engagement for twelve months for a fee of $200,000. Payment of the fees was not conditioned on the conclusion reached by William Blair in its opinion. We also agreed to indemnify William Blair against potential liabilities arising out of both its initial and its extended engagement. We note that, in the opinion of the SEC, indemnification against liabilities under the U.S. federal securities laws is against the public policy expressed in the Securities Act and is, therefore, unenforceable.

At the request of the Independent Allocation Committee, William Blair originally delivered to the committee its oral fairness opinion on May 5, 2000, which was also confirmed in writing as of such date and also addressed to our board of directors. In light of the August 31, 2000 abandonment of the original restructuring strategy, which had contemplated two separate for-profit companies, in favor of the revised restructuring strategy, which contemplated a single demutualized company operating the electronic trading company as a wholly owned subsidiary, William Blair reissued its opinion on November 20, 2000, which it confirmed in writing on November 21, 2000 and updated on January 16, 2001. The November 21, 2000 and January 16, 2001 opinions were also addressed to our board of directors.

In light of the further refinements to the revised restructuring strategy recommended by the Executive Committee and management in September 2001, and at the request of the Independent Allocation Committee, William Blair reviewed and considered the refinements to the restructuring transactions, including the creation of a holding company and the distribution of common stock of the holding company to the members of the CBOT, and reissued its opinion by letter dated September 24, 2001 and reissued its opinion on September 17, 2002. On September 17, 2002, the Independent Allocation Committee confirmed its updated recommendation concerning the allocation and the board of directors met to consider, and voted to approve, the restructuring transactions, including the recommended allocation of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships.

In the spring of 2002, management learned that certain data relating to historical contract volume attributable to each membership class, which was previously provided by the CBOT to the Independent

Allocation committee and its financial advisor, was inaccurate. In particular, the inaccurate data overstated the amount of historical contract volume attributable to Full Members of the CBOT. As a result of this discovery, management conducted a thorough review of the process previously utilized to generate such data, corrected this process and delivered revised data to the Independent Allocation Committee and its financial advisor.

In August 2002, at the request of the Independent Allocation Committee, William Blair reviewed and considered the revised data and reissued its opinion by letter dated September 17, 2002. The September 17, 2002 opinion was also addressed to our board of directors.

The September 24, 2001 and September 17, 2002 opinions and December 18, 2001 update were also addressed to our board of directors. For more information, see "--Background of the Restructuring Transactions--Development of the Restructuring Strategy."

The opinion, dated September 17, 2002 was substantially similar to William Blair's January 16, 2001 and November 21, 2000 opinions and stated that, based upon and subject to the matters set forth in the opinion, the allocation to the CBOT members of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.5 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full Member and Associate Member, and each holder of a GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively, is fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. William Blair's November 21, 2000 and January 16, 2001 opinions had stated, with similar qualifications, that an allocation in the same ratio of common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit corporation would be fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. William Blair's May 5, 2000 opinion had stated, also with similar qualifications, that an allocation in the same ratio of common stock of the then proposed stock, for-profit corporation and the electronic trading company would be fair, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members. The full text of the William Blair fairness opinion, dated September 17, 2002, is attached as Appendix D to this document and describes the assumptions made, matters considered and limits on the scope of the review undertaken, by William Blair. We urge you to read the opinion carefully in its entirety before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

William Blair's opinions address only the fairness, from a financial point of view, to each class of the CBOT members of the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair's opinions do not address the merits of our underlying decision to engage in the restructuring transactions or the fairness of the consideration to be received by the CBOT members in respect of memberships in the restructuring transactions, and do not constitute a recommendation to any CBOT member as to how you should vote with respect to the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. See "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--We Have Not Determined or Received Any Opinion Regarding the Value of the CBOT Before or After the Restructuring Transactions or the Value of the Securities and/or Memberships You Will Receive in the Restructuring Transactions Compared to the Value of the Memberships You Currently Own."

In rendering each of its opinions, William Blair assumed and relied, without independent verification, upon the accuracy and completeness of all the information examined by or otherwise reviewed or discussed with it for purposes of the opinion. William Blair did not make or obtain an independent valuation or appraisal of our assets, liabilities or solvency. Each opinion is based upon economic, market, financial and other conditions existing on, and other information disclosed to William Blair, as of the date of the opinion. Although subsequent developments may affect an opinion, William Blair does not have any obligation to update, revise, reaffirm or reissue such opinion except when requested as provided in the letter agreement between William Blair and the CBOT, dated September 3, 2002.

In connection with its review of the restructuring transactions and the preparation of the opinions, William Blair examined, among other things:

. certain descriptive information regarding the restructuring transactions;

- various organizational documents of the CBOT and Ceres, including the CBOT's certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations and the Ceres limited partnership agreement;

- various trading and financial statistics for the CBOT;

- certain publicly available information regarding terms of certain transactions involving restructurings of exchanges comparable to the CBOT and the allocation of value;

- presentations provided to us by our consultants and financial and legal advisors;

- letters to the CBOT from various CBOT members regarding the restructuring transactions; and

- information regarding the historical trading prices of memberships.

In connection with its opinions, William Blair also examined drafts of the registration statement on Form S-4 of the CBOT relating to the restructuring transactions and the certificates of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary.

William Blair also held discussions with current and former members of our senior management and of the various classes of members of CBOT regarding the foregoing, considered other matters which it deemed relevant to its inquiry and has taken into account such accepted financial and investment banking procedures and considerations as it deemed relevant.

William Blair was also advised by the Independent Allocation Committee that, for purposes of rendering its opinions, it could assume that the restructuring transactions will not be effected by means of a liquidation. William Blair made this assumption without independent legal analysis.

Furthermore, in connection with its review of the restructuring transactions and the preparation of its opinions, William Blair assumed that:

- the restructuring would not take the form of a liquidation;

- the trading rights and privileges of each CBOT membership class, including the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right of Full Members, would remain intact;

- each CBOT member would receive, in addition to an appropriate series of Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary and associated trading rights and privileges, the number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to which such member would be entitled per the allocation ratio in respect of his or her membership;

- each Full Member would receive a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which would represent the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right; and

- the allocation did not take into consideration any possible transaction or business combination with any other party.

William Blair's earlier opinions also made certain additional assumptions.

The following summarizes the principal financial analyses performed by William Blair to arrive at the conclusions set forth in its opinion, dated September 17, 2002. William Blair performed similar financial analyses in arriving at its conclusions in its May 5, 2000, November 21, 2000, January 16, 2001 andSeptember 24, 2001 opinions. William Blair performed certain procedures, including each of the financial analyses described below, and reviewed with the Independent Allocation Committee the assumptions upon which such analyses were based, and other factors. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process. The summary set forth below does not purport to be a complete description of the analyses performed or factors considered by William Blair in this regard.

In arriving at its conclusion, William Blair considered various methodologies for allocating the shares of common stock in CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. William Blair concluded, in its professional judgment, that an allocation methodology that takes into account a combination of factors rather than a single factor was appropriate, and that such combination of factors should include, with respect to each of the five classes of CBOT members:

- relative liquidation rights;
- relative voting rights;
- the allocation made in respect of each CBOT membership in connection with the formation of Ceres;
- the market values of CBOT memberships; and
- the contract volumes for which each class of CBOT membership has been responsible on a historical basis.

In arriving at its conclusion, William Blair attached greater importance to liquidation rights, voting rights and the allocation made in respect of each membership in connection with the formation of Ceres.

Relative Liquidation Rights

William Blair reviewed the liquidation rights as defined in the CBOT bylaws, including the rules, which provide for the sharing of proceeds from dissolution allocated to each member in the event of liquidation. In addition, William Blair reviewed the implied per share allocation ratios, as set forth below:

Member Class	Liquidation Share Per Member	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio*
Full	1.000	6.00
Associate	0.167	1.00
GIM	0.111	0.67
IDEM	0.005	0.03

- --------
*Stated as a multiple of Liquidation Share Per Member for the Associate Member class.

Relative Voting Rights

William Blair reviewed voting rights per CBOT member as set forth in the CBOT certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations. In addition, William Blair reviewed the implied per share allocation ratios, as set forth below:

Member Class	Relative Voting Rights Per Member	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio*
Full	1.000	6.00
Associate	0.167	1.00
GIM	0.000	0.00
IDEM	0.000	0.00

- --------
*Stated as a multiple of Relative Voting Rights Per Member for the Associate Member class.

Allocation Made in Respect of Each Membership in Connection with the Formation of Ceres

William Blair reviewed the allocation of profits as defined in the Ceres limited partnership agreement for the 70% of Ceres owned by the Ceres limited partners who are CBOT members other than the clearing members. In addition, William Blair reviewed the implied per share allocation ratios, as set forth below:

Member Class	Allocation of Profits by Member Class (1)	Per Member Allocation of Profits (2)	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio (3)
Full	90.28%	0.06439%	6.00
Associate	8.49%	0.01073%	1.00
GIM	0.82%	0.00537%	0.50
IDEM	0.21%	0.00032%	0.03

- --------

(1) As defined in the Ceres limited partnership agreement. Based on member seat count, as stated in Amendment No. 2 to the Registration Statement on Form S-4 of CBOT Holdings (Registration No. 333-72184), as follows: Full (1,402), Associate (791), GIM/one-half Associate Members (152), IDEM (642) and COM (643).

(2) Defined as Allocation of Profits by Member Class divided by the respective member seat count.

(3) Stated as a multiple of Per Member Allocation of Profits for the Associate Member class.

Market Values of Memberships

William Blair reviewed the median historical trading prices of CBOT memberships for the one-year period ending July 21, 1999, the day before the announcement of the formation of the Restructuring Task Force and the restructuring initiative. In addition, William Blair reviewed the implied per share allocation ratios, as set forth below:

Member Class	Median Membership Price (For the One Year Period Ending July 21, 1999)	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio*
Associate	$197,000	1.00
GIM	$ 89,000	0.45
IDEM	$ 27,000	0.14
COM	$ 55,000	0.28

- --------

*Stated as a multiple of Median Membership Price for the Associate Member class.

William Blair also considered median historical trading prices for the five-year period ending July 21, 1999, as well as spot market prices as of September 11, 2002 for each CBOT membership class.

Contract Volumes

William Blair reviewed the contract volume traded by each CBOT membership class as a percentage of the total contract volume traded by all CBOT membership classes. The analysis was based on contract trading volume data for the period beginning September 1, 1998 and ending July 31, 2002, the latest such period for which contract trading volume data by CBOT membership class was readily available. In addition, William Blair reviewed the implied per share allocation ratios, as set forth below:

Member Class	Percent of Total Contract Volume by Member Class*	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio
Full	34.90%	0.72
Associate	48.59%	1.00
GIM	6.46%	0.13
IDEM	3.12%	0.06

- --------

*Approximately ten percent of the total contract volume over such period was not allocated to any membership category, and most of such unallocated volume consisted of "non-local" electronic volume entered through member firms that, with three exceptions related to Eurex, are required to have at least one Full Membership in addition to the junior memberships such firms may have.

Stated as a multiple of Percent of Total Contract Volume by Member Class for the Associate Member class.

The following table sets forth the inaccurate contract volume data for the period beginning September 1, 1998 and ending December 12, 2001, previously supplied to the Independent Allocation Committee and William Blair:

Member Class	Percent of Total Contract Volume by Member Class	Implied Per Share Allocation Ratio
Full	47.68%	1.16
Associate	41.28%	1.00
GIM	0.56%	0.01
IDEM	5.35%	0.13
COM	5.13%	0.12

The foregoing description is only a summary of the material aspects of the financial analyses used by William Blair in connection with rendering the opinions. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process and is not necessarily susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. It involves various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances. Selecting portions of the analyses or of the summary set forth above, without considering the analyses as a whole, could create an incomplete view of the processes underlying William Blair's opinions. In arriving at the opinions, William Blair considered the results of all these analyses. The analyses were prepared solely for the purposes of William Blair providing its opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to each of the five classes of CBOT members, of the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among the CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions.

Any analysis of the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the CBOT members, involves complex considerations and judgments. The fairness opinions, including updates thereto, and the related presentations to the Independent Allocation Committee on May 5, 2000, November 20, 2000, January 16, 2001, September 24, 2001 and September 17, 2002 were among many factors taken into consideration by the Independent Allocation Committee in recommending the allocation. William Blair's opinions are for the use and benefit of the Independent Allocation Committee and the board of directors in their consideration of the allocation in the context of the restructuring transactions.

William Blair was not requested to, and did not, participate in the structuring of the restructuring transactions nor was it asked to consider, and its opinions do not address, the relative merits of the restructuring transactions as compared to any alternative business strategies that might exist for us or the effect of any other transaction in which we might engage, the value of the CBOT before or after completion of the restructuring transactions, or the fairness of the consideration to be received by CBOT members in respect of their memberships in connection with the restructuring transactions. See "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--We Have Not Determined or Received Any Opinion Regarding the Value of the CBOT Before or After the Restructuring Transactions or the Value of the Securities and/or Memberships You Will Receive in the Restructuring Transactions Compared to the Value of the Memberships You Currently Own."

Stock Exchange Listing; Market for Shares and Memberships

We currently have no plans to list the common stock of CBOT Holdings on any stock exchange. We may, in the future, apply to list the common stock of CBOT Holdings on a stock exchange. However, we cannot provide any assurances in this regard.

We currently believe that a market for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will develop that is similar to the current markets for CBOT memberships. However, we cannot provide any assurances in this regard. The current markets for memberships in the CBOT should facilitate the development of new markets for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. As the rights and privileges associated with the Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary are not currently transferable separate and apart from a Full Membership in the CBOT, we are uncertain as to what, if any, market will develop for Class C memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary and what effect the transferability of the Class C Memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will have on the market for the common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B Memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences

We are seeking a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service to the effect that, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, you will not recognize any gain or loss strictly as a result of receiving shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class A, Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary or as a result of CBOT Holdings receiving a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the restructuring transactions. On October 30, 2001, we filed a request for such a ruling from the IRS. Receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS with respect to the receipt by members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt of a favorable ruling from the IRS or an opinion of counsel with respect to the receipt by CBOT Holdings of a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in each case in form and substance satisfactory to our board, are conditions to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions.

Based upon our understanding of the position of the IRS with respect to other exchanges involved in the process of demutualization and the opinion of our counsel as described elsewhere in this document:

- you will not recognize gain or loss as a result of your receipt of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary or as a result of the receipt by CBOT Holdings of the Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary;

- assuming this non-recognition treatment, the aggregate basis in your current membership will carry over to your common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;

- the holding period of the common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary received by you will include the period for which you held your current membership, provided that you held your membership as a capital asset or property as described in Code Section 1231 on the date of the distribution of the common stock of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary; and

- we will not recognize any gain or loss upon our demutualization.

For more information, including the opinion of our counsel on these matters, see "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Restructuring Transactions."

Absence of Appraisal Rights

Members who object to the restructuring transactions will have no statutory appraisal or dissenters rights under applicable law. Appraisal or dissenters rights, if available, would have enabled members to demand payment of the fair value of their memberships in cash rather than accept the consideration to be received as a result of the restructuring transactions. Under Delaware law, these rights generally apply to transactions involving mergers or consolidations of stock corporations but not similar transactions involving only nonstock corporations. The demutualization will be accomplished by a merger of two nonstock corporations and the distribution of a dividend of common stock of an existing stock corporation. Accordingly, if the restructuring transactions are completed, notwithstanding the fact that you may vote against the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions, you will become entitled to shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary and, to the extent you are a Full Member, a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary, as described in this document.

Accounting Matters

The accounting treatment of certain aspects of the restructuring transactions will be treated similar to a reorganization of entities under common control. Under this method of accounting, no gain or loss will be recognized, and the assets and liabilities of the CBOT will appear on the books of CBOT Holdings at their same recorded amounts.

Regulatory Matters

In addition to those conditions described below in "--Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions," our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions is subject to:

- receipt of any approvals required by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission in connection with the proposed changes to our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations that will be made in connection with the restructuring transactions; and

- receipt of confirmation by the CFTC that implementation of the restructuring transactions will not have a material adverse effect on our contract market designation.

These approvals from the CFTC will be sought as soon as reasonably practicable following membership approval of the restructuring transactions at the special meeting of members. Although we currently expect to receive these approvals from the CFTC, we can provide no assurance as to when or whether we will receive such approvals.

Also, the restructuring transactions may be subject to certain regulatory requirements of other state, federal and foreign governmental agencies and authorities, including those relating to the regulation of securities. We are currently working to evaluate and comply, as applicable, in all material respects with these requirements and do not anticipate that they will hinder, delay or restrict completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with our compliance with these regulatory requirements, we have engaged ABN AMRO Financial Services, Inc. to serve as a registered broker-dealer or dealer, as applicable, in certain jurisdictions to assist us with certain aspects of the membership vote relating to, and other matters regarding, the restructuring transactions. We agreed to pay ABN AMRO Financial Services $50,000 plus reasonable expenses for their services and to indemnify them against potential liabilities arising out of its engagement. We note that, in the opinion of the SEC, indemnification against liabilities under the U.S. federal securities laws is against public policy expressed in the Securities Act and, therefore, this indemnification may be deemed unenforceable. We may adopt other special procedures in connection with these compliance efforts.

No filings under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended, are required in connection with the restructuring transactions generally. However, if any CBOT member acquires enough securities in connection with the restructuring transactions to exceed any threshold stated in the regulations under this act, and if an exemption under those regulations does not apply, such member and the CBOT and CBOT Holdings, as applicable, could be required to make filings under this act, and the waiting period under the act would have to expire or be terminated before any issuance of shares to such member could be effected. A filing requirement could delay the distribution of shares to such member for several months or more.

Conditions to Completing the Restructuring Transactions

We will not be obligated to complete the restructuring transactions unless and until each of the following conditions has been satisfied:

- the members of the CBOT shall have approved each of the three propositions being submitted for their approval in connection with the restructuring transactions in accordance with our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations and applicable law;

- we shall have received a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service to the effect that the receipt by members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and a favorable ruling from the IRS or an opinion of counsel to the effect that receipt by CBOT Holdings of a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in each case, in form satisfactory to our board of directors, will not result in the recognition of gain to our members under U.S. federal tax law;

- we shall have received any approvals required by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission in connection with the changes to our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations that will be made in connection with the restructuring transactions and we shall have received confirmation from the CFTC that implementation of the restructuring transactions will not have a material adverse effect on the CBOT's contract market designation, and we shall have received any other governmental or regulatory approvals and authorizations determined by us to be necessary or appropriate;

- we shall have received each required material third party consent, which the failure to obtain would, in the sole and absolute determination of the board of directors, have a material adverse effect on CBOT Holdings or the CBOT subsidiary;

- there shall be no court order or administrative or other regulation or similar decree prohibiting or restricting the completion of the restructuring transactions;

- our board of directors has not determined that there is a material risk of an adverse outcome in the Associate Members and membership interest holders litigation; and

- our board of directors shall not have determined that the restructuring transactions are no longer in the best interests of the CBOT and its members or that the restructuring transactions are not fair to each class of CBOT membership.

In making this determination, our board of directors will give due consideration to all relevant facts and circumstances, including, among other things, any update, confirmation or reaffirmation of the fairness opinion received by the board in connection with the restructuring transactions, the then current status of any litigation relating to the restructuring transactions, if any, and the expected effects, if any, of the restructuring transactions on the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right.

We currently expect to complete the restructuring transactions as soon as reasonably practicable following the satisfaction of these conditions.

Board Recommendation

Our board of directors has determined that the restructuring transactions are in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and that the restructuring transactions are fair to each class of CBOT membership. The board of directors has approved the restructuring transactions and recommends that members vote "FOR" approval of the restructuring transactions.

In particular, our board recommends that you vote "FOR" approval of each of the three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions being submitted for your approval. Unless all three of these propositions are approved, the restructuring transactions will not have been approved by the members and, accordingly, will not be completed.

CAPITALIZATION

We set forth below the historical capitalization of the CBOT and a pro forma capitalization of CBOT Holdings giving effect to the restructuring transactions. This information should be read in conjunction with "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," the historical consolidated financial statements of the CBOT included in this document as Appendix A and the unaudited pro forma condensed consolidated financial statements of CBOT Holdings included in this document as Appendix B.

(1) Beginning in 2000, the CBOT repriced the distribution of quotation data. At the same time, the CBOT introduced a rebate to member firms for quotations. This rebate is offset against quotation revenue.

(2) Building revenue consists of rental payments from tenants for leased space in buildings owned by the CBOT.

(3) Services revenue consists of those charges for telecommunications, member services-related fees, workstation fees, exchange floor services and other services.

(4) Other revenues consist of members' dues, interest income, fines and other miscellaneous items. Members' dues consist of dues on both CBOT and MidAmerica Commodity Exchange memberships. Dues on CBOT memberships were waived from 1989 through May 2000, and again beginning January 2002.

(5) Programs include costs primarily related to marketing and communication programs.

(6) In 2001, the CBOT adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities," as amended and interpreted, requiring recognition of all derivative instruments in the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition as either assets or liabilities and the measurement of those instruments at fair value. SFAS No. 133 also requires changes in the fair value of derivative instruments to be recorded each period in current earnings or other comprehensive income depending on the intended use of the derivatives.

(7) In 1999, the CBOT adopted Statement of Position ("SOP") 98-5, "Reporting on the Costs of Start-Up Activities." SOP 98-5 requires that start-up activities be expensed as incurred. Previously, start-up activities were capitalized and amortized.

(8) Reflects the conversion of members' equity to common stock of CBOT Holdings.

(9) Based on 39,802,650 shares issued and outstanding immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions.

(10) Equals current assets divided by current liabilities.

(11) Equals the sum of income from operations plus interest expense divided by interest expense.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION

AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

This document contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including the risks and uncertainties faced by us as described below and elsewhere in this document, including under "Risk Factors" above.

Overview

Our primary business is the operation of markets for the trading of listed financial and commodity futures contracts and options on futures contracts. In addition to our traditional open outcry auction markets, we offer electronic trading through the a/c/e system, which is based on a modified form of technology used at Eurex, the largest derivatives exchange in the world. We derive revenue from exchange fees relating to the trading in our markets, which accounted for 63% of our total revenues in the first half of 2002. In order to increase our volume and resulting revenues, we seek to develop and promote contracts designed to satisfy the trading, hedging and risk-management needs of our market participants.

Because our trading fees are assessed on a per-transaction basis, our trading revenues are directly correlated to the volume of contracts traded on our markets. Many factors may affect our trading volume, including fluctuations in interest rate volatility, growth in equity trading, the general domestic business cycle, changes in weather and farming conditions and changes in the debt management policy of the United States government.

In addition to trading fees, we also derive revenue from the sale of our market data. Because we are the primary market for our products, our price information has value as a key indicator of the overall financial and agricultural markets. To some extent, revenues from the sales of our market data are also dependent upon volume, as well as our ability to remain a primary market and to respond to innovations in technology that may affect the availability and price of market data. These revenues may also be subject to legislative and regulatory changes. Sales of market data accounted for 20% of our total revenues through June 30, 2002.

The expenses relating to our trading operations are primarily fixed in nature, meaning that the overall expense structure is generally independent of trading volume. Salaries and benefits represent our largest expense category and are mostly dependent upon our staffing requirements and the overall employment market. Other operating expenses have increased in recent years primarily due to expenses associated with upgrades to our computer systems, enhancements to our trading systems and development of the restructuring transactions.

We rent commercial space in the buildings that we own. Through June 30, 2002, revenues from our real estate operations represented 9% of our total revenues. These revenues are generally affected by market rental rates, lease renewals and business conditions in the financial services industry in which most of our tenants operate. Building expenses are dependent on variable utility costs, cleaning expenses, real estate taxes and other general operating costs.

The board of directors of the CBOT currently possesses the authority to levy assessments on its membership. The memberships existing after completion of the restructuring transactions will be subject to assessment on substantially the same terms.

Results of Operations

Six months ended June 30, 2002 compared to six months ended June 30, 2001

Net Income. Net income for the six months ended June 30, 2002 was $21.3 million, a 224% increase compared to $6.6 million for the comparable period of 2001. Earnings from operations increased 212%, or $24.6 million, to $36.2 million in the first half of 2002. This increase resulted from additional revenues of $27.8 million offset to a degree by increased operating expenses of $3.2 million.

Revenues. Consolidated operating revenues for the six months ended June 30, 2002 were $147.9 million, an increase of 23%, from $120.2 million in the corresponding period of 2001.

Exchange fee revenues are the core of the CBOT's business. Exchange fee revenue is primarily driven by three factors: trading volume, pricing (trading rates charged to the various market participants) and the transaction mix between market participants who are charged various rates. In the fourth quarter of 2001, a comprehensive study was conducted by the CBOT addressing the rates charged for various trading activities. Based on the results of this study, the CBOT has revised the fee structure throughout the current year. Whereas pricing is established by the CBOT, volume and transaction mix are primarily influenced by factors outside the CBOT's control. A sampling of these external factors include: price volatility in the underlying commodities, interest rate or inflation volatility, changes in the U.S. Government monetary policy, weather conditions in relation to agricultural commodities, and national and international economic and political conditions.

Trading volume during the first half of 2002 was 153.1 million contracts, a 21% increase from 126.7 million contracts in 2001. Open outcry trading volume for the current period was down 2% at 102.5 million contracts compared to 105.1 million contracts in the prior year. Trading volume for screen based trading however, increased 134% to 50.6 million contracts in 2002 versus 21.6 million contracts in 2001. Screen based trading occurs through the a/c/e system. Since the launch of the a/c/e system, the percentage of screen based trading to total trading volume has progressively increased from approximately 12% at the inception of the a/c/e system, to an average of 20% in the year 2001 and an average of 33% in the first half of 2002.

Due to the increased trading volume and revised fee structure described above, as well as the increased proportion of screen based trading which has higher fees, revenues from exchange fees increased 48%, or $30.4 million, from $63.3 million in 2001 to $93.7 million in 2002.

Open outcry fees were $48.4 million for the six months ended June 30, 2002, a 5% increase compared to $46.3 million in the prior year period. Changes to trading rates implemented in the current year resulted in the increased open outcry fees even though volume in open outcry trading decreased in the current period, as mentioned above. Fees charged to members were $3.5 million higher, while fees charged to others were relatively unchanged compared to the prior year period. Volume discounts offered to all trading groups reduced open outcry fees by $1.0 million.

Screen trading fees were $45.3 million in the current period, 167% higher than $17.0 million recorded in same period of the prior year. The increased screen based volume described above, as well as the increased trading rates implemented in the current year, accounted for the higher screen trading fees. The increased screen fee revenue accounted for 93% of the total increase in exchange fee revenue. Fees charged to members for screen trading increased $15.1 million in the current period, while fees charged to all other trading groups were $15.5 million higher than the prior year. Volume discounts offered in the new trading rate structure lowered screen trading fees by $2.3 million.

In April 2002, the board of directors implemented waivers and fee reductions to several categories of fees charged by the CBOT. Exchange fee waivers are expected to offer a reduction of approximately $3 million over the remainder of the year to various customers.

Market data revenues were $29.8 million in 2002, a 7% decrease from $32.1 million in 2001. The main driver of market data revenues, quote fees, decreased by $4.1 million, or 12%, in the current period due to a reduction in the number of terminal subscriptions in 2002 versus 2001. This was offset to a degree by a $1.8 million reduction in rebates to member firms for terminal subscriptions.

Building revenues from leased office space were $13.7 million for the six months ended June 30, 2002, $1.1 million higher than the $12.6 million for the same period of 2001. The increase primarily relates to an early termination penalty charged to one tenant. This tenant's lease expires in June of 2003, however the tenant has indicated that it intends to vacate as of the end of 2002. If the space occupied by the tenant cannot be relet at similar lease rates or in a timely manner, building revenues could be significantly affected.

Services revenues increased in 2002 to $9.1 million from $6.4 million a year earlier, primarily the result of new fees charged to all traders for services provided by the CBOT. One such fee, the floor efficiency fee, which was charged in the first half of 2002, has been waived for the remainder of the year. The waiver of floor efficiency fees for the second half of the year is expected to reduce revenues by approximately $2.5 million.

Membership dues have not been assessed in the current year. Member dues recorded in the first half of 2001 totaled $4.6 million.

Expenses. Operating expenses totaled $111.7 million for the six months ended June 30, 2002, compared to $108.6 million for the same period of 2001, a 3% increase. Operating expenses as a percent of total revenues decreased from 90% in the first half of 2001, to 76% in the current period, thereby raising the operating margin to 24% from 10% in the comparable periods.

At the end of 2001, the CBOT decided to pursue licensing the a/c/e system, as opposed to making capital investments to upgrade future versions. Accordingly, an impairment adjustment was recorded to revalue the a/c/e system to its net realizable value of $12.5 million, which was to be completely amortized through June 2002, at which time a licensing agreement was projected to be in place. The new licensing arrangement actually became effective in April of this year. Accordingly, the March 31, 2002 book value of $6.2 million for the a/c/e system was expensed as a loss on long-lived assets.

Salaries and benefits were $29.3 million during the first six months of 2002, a slight decrease from $29.8 million for the same period of 2001. Notable variances from the prior period included increased health insurance costs of $0.3 million, offset by decreased pension costs of $0.3 million.

During the first half of 2001, employee termination expenses of $2.0 million were recorded related to ongoing staff reductions at the CBOT. Similar termination expenses in 2002 were $0.3 million.

General and administrative expenses decreased 36% to $5.1 million in the six months ended June 30, 2002, down from $8.0 million in the same 2001 period. The first half of 2001 included a bad debt charge of $1.5 million related to one market data customer. No such charge was made during 2002. Also, losses related to fixed asset retirements of $1.3 million were recorded in the prior year.

Depreciation and amortization charges decreased slightly from $22.0 million to $21.7 million, in the first half of 2001 and 2002, respectively. The first quarter of 2002 included $6.2 million of accelerated depreciation related to the impairment adjustment made to the a/c/e system at the end of 2001. The adjustment revalued the a/c/e system to its net realizable value of $12.5 million, which was to be completely amortized through June 2002. As discussed above, the remaining book value at March 31, 2002 was expensed as a loss on long-lived assets.

Information technology services were $18.9 million in the first half of 2002, a $1.8 million, or 9%, decrease from $20.7 million in 2001. The decrease primarily related to a $2.5 million reduction in data processing costs. This was partially offset by a $0.7 million increase in the operating expenses of the a/c/e system.

Contracted license fees were $3.7 million in the six months ended June 30, 2002. No such charges were incurred in 2001. As discussed above, the license fees relate to the new licensing arrangement for the a/c/e system that became effective in April of this year.

Professional service expenses increased 10%, or $1.0 million, to $11.0 million in the current period. Consultant expenses were $3.1 million higher in 2002. This increase was offset to a degree by lower legal expenses in the amount of $1.3 million. Professional services also included amounts related to the current demutualization plan of $1.2 million and $1.0 million in the six months ended June 30, 2002 and 2001, respectively.

Building operating costs increased slightly in the first half of 2002 to $12.1 million, from $11.7 million in 2001, due to fluctuations in supplies, maintenance and security expenses. Interest expense decreased 21%, or $0.7 million, due to reductions in outstanding debt. Finally, program costs decreased from $0.9 million to $0.7 million.

Net Income--During 2001, the CBOT incurred certain non-recurring charges for employee termination benefits of $9.9 million ($5.8 million after tax). In addition, as discussed in Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements, the CBOT recorded a loss on asset impairment of $15.2 million ($9.0 million after tax). During 2000, the CBOT incurred certain non-recurring charges for severance of $8.3 million ($4.9 million after tax). Income before these charges was $19.2 million in 2001 compared to a loss of $5.2 million in 2000, an increase of $24.4 million.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 2001 was $4.4 million compared to a net loss of $10.1 million for the comparable period of 2000.

Revenues. Consolidated operating revenues for the year ended December 31, 2001 were $243.9 million, an increase of 14%, from $214.2 million in the corresponding period of 2000.

Total trading volume in 2001 was 260.3 million contracts, an 11% increase from 233.5 million contracts in 2000. Open outcry trading volume for the year ended December 31, 2001 was down 5% at 207.8 million contracts compared to 218.0 million contracts in the prior year. Trading volume for screen based trading, however, increased to 52.6 million contracts in 2001 versus 15.5 million contracts in 2000. Screen based trading occurred on the Project A platform until August 27, 2000, when it was replaced by the a/c/e system. Since the launch of the a/c/e system, the percentage of screen based trading to total trading volume has progressively increased from approximately 12% at the inception of the a/c/e system to an average of 20% in 2001. The averages for the first, second, third and fourth quarters of 2001 were 15%, 19%, 22% and 24%, respectively.

Open outcry fees were $88.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2001, compared to $83.8 million in the prior year period. The largest component of open outcry fees, non-member fees, decreased from $65.2 million in 2000 to $58.2 million in 2001, a decline of $7.0 million, or 11%. Approximately $5.7 million of this decrease related to an increase in net rebates requested from clearing firms for trades erroneously reported to the CBOT as non-member trades and adjusted during 2001.

The increased screen based volume described above, which was offset to a degree by lower rates charged for screen trading versus the prior year, resulted in more than doubled exchange fees of $40.9 million, up from $18.2 million in 2000. This increase accounted for 84% of the total increase in exchange fee revenue. Non-member fees, which are the largest component of screen based fees, increased $10.7 million in 2001 to $19.8 million. This increase more than offset the decrease experienced in non-member open outcry fees.

Market data revenues were $66.5 million in 2001, an increase of 9% from $61.1 million in 2000. The main driver of market data revenues, quote fees, actually decreased by $2.1 million in 2001. The net increase resulted primarily from a $7.3 million reduction in rebates to member firms for terminal subscriptions.

Building revenues from leased office space were $24.8 million for the year ended December 31, 2001, slightly more than the $24.5 million for the same period of 2000. Leased space remained relatively unchanged from 2000 to 2001. In 2001, one tenant accounted for approximately 20% of building revenues. This tenant's lease expires in June of 2003; however, the tenant has indicated that they intend to vacate as of the end of 2002.

Service revenues decreased in 2001 to $12.6 million from $17.8 million a year earlier, primarily the result of the absence in the current year of $3.7 million of revenue from equipment rent and communication line charges related to the former electronic platform, Project A. Service revenues consist primarily of telecommunication charges, badge fees, booth space rentals and membership application and registration fees.

Membership dues of $9.0 million were recognized in 2001, compared to $5.5 million in 2000. Beginning in June of 2000, the charging of dues to all CBOT members was reinstated. The year-over-year increase was a result of a full year of dues in 2001 versus seven months of dues in 2000.

Expenses--Operating expenses totaled $235.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2001, compared to $222.3 million for the same period of 2000, an increase of 6%. Operating expenses before the employee termination benefits and asset impairment charge discussed above decreased $3.7 million, or 2%.

Salaries and benefits, which account for one quarter of operating expenses, were $58.5 million in 2001, a 4% increase from $56.4 million for the same period of 2000. The increase primarily resulted from increased employee incentive expenses of $2.8 million offset to a degree by $1.4 million decreased salaries and benefits costs related to reduced employee staffing levels from 2000 levels.

In the year 2000, employee termination expenses of $8.3 million were recorded and related primarily to the contract settlement with the former CEO of the CBOT. Termination expenses in 2001 were $9.9 million and resulted from ongoing staff reductions at the CBOT. Included in this amount were $1.8 million of severance and contract settlement expenses with two former executive officers, as well as expenses related to the elimination of 82 additional staff positions via layoffs in September 2001 and an early retirement package offered to select employees at the end of 2001, which aggregated $2.3 million and $5.8 million, respectively.

General and administrative expenses decreased to $12.8 million for the year ended December 31, 2001, a $2.7 million, or 17%, decrease from the $15.6 million recorded in the prior year period. The decrease was primarily the result of reduced fixed asset retirement expenses of $2.6 million.

Depreciation and amortization charges increased 9%, from $40.0 million to $43.5 million, for the year ended December 31, 2001. The increase primarily related to additional depreciation for computer equipment, as well as software for the a/c/e system, that was capitalized in 2000 and 2001. Depreciation and amortization, which are non-cash items, represented approximately 18% of total expenses in 2001.

Information technology services in 2001 were $40.9 million, $4.2 million, or 11%, higher than those recorded in the previous year. Operating expenses of the a/c/e system, the largest component of information technology services, increased $3.6 million in 2001, to $23.5 million. The a/c/e system was implemented in the second half of 2000, therefore 2001 was the first year with a full twelve months of operating costs, which lead to the higher costs in 2001. Data processing costs, which comprise the remaining balance of information technology services, were $17.4 million in 2001 versus $16.9 million in 2000.

Professional services expenses were $23.0 million, a decrease of 29%, or $9.5 million, from $32.5 million in the year earlier period. This decrease was largely the result of lower expenses for corporate restructuring, consultants and leased programmers in the amounts of $5.3 million, $4.8 million and $0.7 million, respectively. These reductions were offset somewhat by an increase in legal expenses of $2.8 million, as the CBOT is seeking to resolve various pending lawsuits. Professional services included amounts related to the current demutualization plan of $4.6 million and $9.9 million in the year ended December 31, 2001 and 2000, respectively.

Building operating costs increased slightly to $23.0 million from $22.6 million in 2000, due to fluctuations in supplies, maintenance and security expenses. Finally, program costs decreased from $3.5 million to $1.8 million, as a result of the continuing change in the focus of the marketing efforts of the CBOT.

The provision for income taxes was $3.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2001, compared to $2.0 million in the year earlier period. The effective tax rate for the current year was 47%. This rate is higher than the corporate federal and state combined rate of 41% due to certain non-deductible expenses, primarily related to the costs associated with the corporate restructuring process.

Net Loss. For the year ended December 31, 2000, the CBOT had a net loss of $10.1 million compared to a net loss of $10.4 million in the prior year. Loss from operations improved to $8.2 million in 2000 from $10.4 million in 1999 due primarily to higher revenues. The loss for 2000 is primarily the result of contract settlement expenses related to the termination of the employment agreement with the former president and chief executive officer of approximately $8.3 million and bad debt expense of $2.1 million related to an account receivable from one market data customer.

Revenues. In 2000, our consolidated operating revenues increased 5% to $214.2 million compared to $203.9 million in 1999.

Revenues from exchange fees slightly decreased to $102.0 million compared to $102.5 million in 1999. Exchange fees are derived from two sources: open outcry trading and screen based trading. The amount of exchange fees from open outcry trading was $83.8 million in 2000, compared to $83.9 million in 1999. The largest component of open outcry fees, non-member fees, decreased from $68.5 million in 1999 to $65.2 million in 2000, a decline of 5%. The decrease in non-member fees was partially offset by an increase in the fee rate charged to members and delegates beginning in September 2000. The amount of exchange fees from screen based trading was $18.2 million in 2000 compared to $18.6 million in 1999. Total trading volume declined to 233.5 million contracts in 2000 from 254.6 million contracts in 1999. Trading volume for screen based trading was 15.5 million contracts in 2000 and 11.2 million contracts in 1999.

The decreased revenue from exchange fees was offset by increased market data revenues. In 2000, the CBOT recognized $61.1 million in revenue from the sale of market data compared to $54.0 million in 1999, representing an increase of 13%. This increase was due primarily to an increase in the price charged for certain market data.

Building revenues from leased office space increased to $24.5 million in 2000, an 8% increase from 1999, primarily due to a rental rate increase in this same period. The amount of lease space remained relatively steady from 1999 to 2000.

Service revenues decreased 12% from $20.3 million in 1999 to $17.8 million in 2000. Service revenues consist of telephone charges, badge fees, booth space and member services related fees. The decrease was primarily attributable to decreased revenues from fees charged to access the trading floor communication system and the elimination of Project A terminal leasing and communication charges in September 2000.

Membership dues were $5.5 million in 2000 compared to $0.4 million in 1999. The increase was a result of the reinstatement of dues charged to all CBOT members in June 2000.

Expenses. Operating expenses were relatively unchanged at $222.3 million in 2000, compared to $221.3 million in 1999.

Salaries and benefits decreased 12% to $56.4 million from $64.1 million in 1999. The decrease was due to reduced staffing levels relative to 1999. Salary expense decreased $2.7 million from $47.7 million in 1999 to $45.0 million in 2000. In addition, incentive compensation for employees decreased $3.1 million from $4.2 million in 1999 to $1.1 million in 2000. Furthermore, pension and savings plan expense decreased $1.9 million from $4.4 million in 1999 to $2.5 million in 2000.

Information technology services were $36.7 million in 2000, $20.1 million higher than the prior year. The increase primarily related to $19.8 million of operating expenses related to the a/c/e system that was implemented in 2000. No such expenditures were incurred in 1999.

Professional service expenses were $32.5 million in 2000, unchanged from 1999. Professional services include the cost of restructuring, which was approximately $9.9 million in 2000 compared to $1.7 million in 1999. Included in 1999 were costs of approximately $8.0 million associated with making our computer systems year 2000 compliant.

Building operating expenses decreased 3% from $23.2 million in 1999 to $22.6 million in 2000. Program costs decreased 51% from $7.3 million in 1999 to $3.5 million in 2000. These costs decreased primarily as a result of the change in the marketing efforts of the CBOT.

While the CBOT recognized a loss before income taxes, a provision for income taxes was recorded due to the non-deductibility of certain restructuring costs.

Financial Position

At June 30, 2002, total assets were $350.4 million, a decrease of $8.7 million from December 31, 2001. Accounts receivable were $8.5 million higher than at year end, primarily the result of increased exchange fee revenues. Property and equipment, net of accumulated depreciation, was $242.0 million at June 30, 2002, a decrease of $20.0 million from December 31, 2001. The change in net property and equipment during the current period was primarily a function of recorded depreciation of $26.5 million and capital spending of $6.5 million.

Total liabilities at June 30, 2002 decreased 19%, or $30.9 million, to $132.1 million, from $163.0 million at year end 2001. Financing activities included payments of $10.7 million on private placement senior notes, $8.0 million on retirement of an asset secured note and $4.3 million for final payment to Deutsche Borse AG related to the a/c/e system. Total debt was reduced to $53.6 million from $76.7 million at year end 2001.

At December 31, 2001, total assets were $359.1 million, a decrease of $14.8 million from $373.8 million at December 31, 2000. Current assets increased $28.5 million from $54.0 million at the end of 2000 to $82.5 million at December 31, 2001, primarily due to an increase in unrestricted cash of $27.3 million. Property and equipment, net of accumulated depreciation, was $262.0 million at December 31, 2001, a decrease of $41.8 million from $303.8 million at December 31, 2000. The change in net property and equipment during 2001 was primarily a function of the $15.2 million asset impairment write-down, as well as capital spending of $16.4 million, recorded depreciation of $41.0 million and $2.0 million of disposals of obsolete computer hardware. The most significant portion of the $16.4 million of capital spending consisted primarily of $8.7 million of software for the a/c/e system. Other assets were $1.4 million lower at $14.6 million, primarily the result of $2.5 million of amortization.

Total liabilities at December 31, 2001 decreased $19.5 million to $163.0 million, from $182.5 million at the end of 2000. Financing activities included proceeds of $10.0 million from the issuance of a note payable secured by certain CBOT assets. Other changes in debt were comprised of payments of $10.7 million on private placement senior notes, $7.3 million to retire a revolving credit facility, $4.2 million net paydown on a note payable to Deutsche Borse AG related to the a/c/e system and $2.0 million payments on the asset secured note. Thus, total long-term debt, including the current portion, was reduced to $76.7 million at December 31, 2001.

Current liabilities were 3% lower at $74.2 million versus $76.5 million at year-end 2000. The change was the result of several factors. Current portion of long-term debt decreased by $8.7 million at December 31, 2001. This decrease, however, was offset by increases to certain accruals. Rebate requests on exchange fees from non-member traders resulted in a $4.4 million increase to the exchange fee refund reserve. Also, employee termination expenses recorded due to restructuring efforts led to a $3.5 million increase to severance reserves.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

At June 30, 2002, cash and cash equivalents were $58.3 million, compared to $53.2 million at December 31, 2001. The increase consisted primarily of net cash generated from operating activities of $35.6 million less cash used for repayment of debt and capital expenditures of $23.0 million and $6.5 million, respectively. Current assets exceeded current liabilities by $26.9 million at June 30, 2002, up from $8.3 million at the end of 2001. CBOT management believes that current cash balances and future funds generated through operations will be sufficient to meet cash requirements currently and in the foreseeable future.

At December 31, 2001, cash and cash equivalents were $53.2 million, compared to $28.2 million at December 31, 2000, an increase of $25.0 million. This increase consisted primarily of net cash generated from operating activities of $55.2 million less cash used for capital expenditures of $16.4 million and net repayment of debt of $14.3 million.

Current assets exceeded current liabilities by $8.3 million at December 31, 2001, a significant improvement from the $22.5 million of net current liabilities at year-end 2000. Several factors led to the improved cash flow such as the reinstatement of annual member dues. Also, capital expenditures were reduced as capital spending decreased $22.1 million from 2000. Finally, increased net earnings led to increased cash flows from operating activities, which significantly improved liquidity.

Market Risk

The CBOT provides the market for trading futures and options on futures. However, it does not trade futures and options on futures for its own account. The CBOT invests available cash in highly liquid, short-term investment grade paper. The CBOT does not believe there is significant risk associated with these short-term investments.

Foreign Currency Risk

The CBOT historically has transacted minimal business in foreign currencies. The a/c/e system licensing agreement with the Eurex Group, however, has necessitated the entry by the CBOT into additional foreign currency transactions, specifically in euros.

On September 27, 2000, the CBOT entered into foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge its risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain commitments to Eurex and related entities, denominated in euros. The notional amount of these contracts totaled approximately $29.0 million with exchange rates ranging from .89429 to .91100 and maturities at various dates through 2002 which correspond to the terms of the commitments. In December 2000, the CBOT decided not to pursue certain software commitments for enhancements. The CBOT then entered into approximately $9.8 million of foreign exchange forward contracts offsetting certain of the contracts entered into in September 2000. Gains and losses on certain of the original forward contracts, which are hedging ongoing commitments, are deferred, and totaled a gain of approximately $462,000 at December 31, 2000. A net gain of approximately $819,000 at December 31, 2000 on all other forward contracts was recognized in earnings and included in other revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Income.

At June 30, 2002, the CBOT had foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge its risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain liabilities and commitments in euros with Eurex and related entities.

Foreign exchange forward contracts designated as cash-flow type hedges of liabilities or firm commitments had notional amounts approximating $16.2 million (18.0 million euros) at June 30, 2002. A gain before income taxes of approximately $1.0 million was recognized on these contracts and recorded as accrued liabilities and other comprehensive income for these derivatives at June 30, 2002. This amount is expected to be reclassified into earnings as the commitments are recorded, which is expected to occur by March 31, 2003.

Adoption of Accounting Pronouncements

On January 1, 2001, the CBOT adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities," as amended and interpreted. SFAS No. 133 requires recognition of all derivative instruments in the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition as either assets or liabilities and the measurement of those instruments at fair value. SFAS No. 133 also requires changes in the fair value of the derivative instruments to be recorded each period in current earnings or other comprehensive income depending on the hedge designation and whether the hedge is highly effective. If the derivative is designated as a fair-value hedge, the changes in the fair value of the derivative and the hedged item are recognized in earnings. If the derivative is designated in a cash-flow hedge, changes in the fair value of the derivative are recorded in other comprehensive income and are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Income when the hedged item affects earnings. SFAS No. 133 defines new requirements for designation and documentation of hedging relationships as well as ongoing effectiveness assessments in order to use hedge accounting. For a derivative that does not qualify, or is not designated, as a hedge, changes in fair value are recognized in earnings.

On January 1, 2001, the CBOT recorded in the Consolidated Statements of Income an $87,000 pretax loss ($51,000 loss, after tax) as the cumulative effect of the change in the foregoing accounting principle. The loss related to derivatives that were either not designated as hedges or derivatives that had been used as fair-value type hedges prior to adoption of SFAS No. 133. In addition, the CBOT recorded a $462,000 pretax gain in other comprehensive income, reflecting the cumulative effect of the foregoing change in accounting principle, relating to derivatives that had been used as cash-flow type hedges prior to adoption of SFAS No. 133.

The CBOT formally measures effectiveness of its hedging relationships both at the hedge inception and on an ongoing basis in accordance with its risk management policy. The CBOT will discontinue hedge accounting prospectively if it is determined that the derivative is no longer effective in offsetting changes in the fair value or cash flows of a hedged item; when the derivative expires or terminates; when the derivative is de-designated as a hedge instrument, because it is probable that the forecasted transaction will not occur; or management determines that designation of the derivative as a hedge instrument is no longer appropriate.

In June 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued SFAS No. 141, "Business Combinations," which established accounting and reporting standards for business combinations on or after July 1, 2001. All combinations in the scope of this statement are to be accounted for using the purchase method. The adoption of SFAS No. 141 did not have an impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets," which established accounting and reporting standards for acquired goodwill and other intangible assets. SFAS No. 142, which is effective January 1, 2002 for the CBOT, addresses how intangible assets that are acquired individually or with a group of other assets (but not those acquired in a business combination) should be accounted for in financial statements upon their acquisition. SFAS No. 142 also addresses how goodwill and other intangible assets should be accounted for after they have been initially recognized in the financial statements. The adoption of SFAS No. 142 did not have a significant impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

In June 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 143, "Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations," which addresses the financial accounting and reporting for obligations associated with the retirement of long-lived assets that result from the acquisition, construction, development and (or) the normal operation of a long-lived asset. This statement amends SFAS No. 19, "Financial Accounting and Reporting by Oil and Gas Companies." For the CBOT, this statement is effective January 1, 2003 and, when adopted is not expected to have a material impact on the financial position or results of operations.

In August 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets," which addresses the financial accounting and reporting for the impairment of disposal of long-lived assets. This statement supercedes SFAS No. 121, "Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets and for Long-Lived Assets to Be Disposed Of," and the accounting and reporting provisions of APB No. 30, "Reporting the Results of Operations--Reporting the Effects of Disposal of a Segment of a Business, and Extraordinary, Unusual and Infrequently Occurring Events and Transactions," for disposal of a segment of a business. For the CBOT, this statement is effective January 1, 2002 and, when adopted, is not expected to have a material impact on the financial position or results of operations.

In April 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 145, "Rescission of FASB Statements No. 4, 44, and 64, Amendment of FASB Statement No. 13, and Technical Corrections," which rescinds SFAS No. 4, "Reporting Gains and Losses from Extinguishment of Debt," and an amendment of that Statement, SFAS No. 64, "Extinguishments of Debt Made to Satisfy Sinking-Fund Requirements." This Statement also amends SFAS No. 13, "Accounting for Leases," to eliminate an inconsistency between the required accounting for sale-leaseback transactions and the required accounting for certain lease modifications that have economic effects that are similar to sale-leaseback transactions. SFAS No. 145 is effective January 1, 2002 for the CBOT. The adoption of SFAS No. 145 is not expected to have a significant impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

In June 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 146, "Accounting for Costs Associated With Exit or Disposal Activities," which addresses financial accounting and reporting for costs associated with exit or disposal activities. SFAS No. 146, which is effective January 1, 2003 for the CBOT, nullifies Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) Issue No. 94-3, "Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring)." The adoption of SFAS No. 146 is not expected to have a significant impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

In each of the four quarters of 2000, the CBOT's non-recurring charges consisted of employment termination costs related to the ongoing staff reductions at the CBOT.

Overview

Now in our 154th year of operation, we have become a leader in the domestic listed derivatives market. According to industry data provided by the Futures Industry Association, through May 31, 2002, we had about an 8.2% share of the global listed futures, options on futures and equity index market. According to industry data provided by the Futures Industry Association, we ranked fifth worldwide among futures exchanges in volume of contracts traded for the first six months of 2002, transacting about 42% of the global listed agricultural futures and options contracts, e.g., wheat, corn, soybeans, and about 17% of the global listed financial futures and options contracts, e.g., U.S. Treasury bonds and notes. From our origins in the nineteenth century as a market for trading cash grain, we have evolved into a major financial center in the twenty-first century, offering a diverse range of contracts based on interest rates, agricultural commodities, equity indices and other underlying instruments and risk-based activities.

We operate markets for the trading of commodity and financial futures contracts, as well as options on futures contracts. These contracts have been developed through our extensive research and development efforts and through relationships with market participants and other financial institutions. We operate traditional open outcry auction markets where our members trade in a centralized location with other members. Members may be individual traders, who risk their personal capital and provide significant liquidity to our markets, or floor brokers who are executing transactions on behalf of customers or member firm proprietary accounts. We also make our products available for trading on an electronic trading system operated pursuant to our relationship with the Eurex Group, which includes the operators of the world's largest derivatives exchange.

Our electronic trading business is primarily conducted through Ceres, of which eCBOT is the general partner and the CBOT members are limited partners. The a/c/e system, which we rely upon for our electronic trading system, is the product of an alliance between the CBOT and certain affiliates and Deutsche Borse AG, the Swiss Stock Exchange and certain of their affiliates, including Deutsche Borse Systems AG, Eurex Zurich AG and Eurex Frankfurt AG. Under the recently revised terms of our agreements with the Eurex Group, we have a non-exclusive license to use the a/c/e system software and certain modifications until December 31, 2003. We have also entered into related arrangements to obtain system operation and software maintenance services from the Eurex Group until December 31, 2003. We currently expect to liquidate Ceres upon the expiration of the arrangements between the CBOT and the Eurex Group and thereafter conduct our electronic trading business through the CBOT subsidiary, eCBOT, or another affiliate.

We also engage in extensive regulatory compliance activities, including market surveillance and financial supervision activities, designed to ensure market integrity and provide financial safeguards for users of our markets. Our traditional open outcry and electronic trade execution services provide market participants the ability to determine current market prices, known as "price discovery," and trade matching services that offer market participants price transparency, anonymity and immediacy. Further, we market and distribute valuable real-time and historical market data generated from trading activity in our markets to users of our products and related cash and derivative markets and financial information providers.

Our market participants include many of the world's largest banks, investment firms and agricultural corporations. These participants use our products for hedging, risk management, asset allocation and speculation. Other market users include financial institutions, such as public and private pension funds, mutual funds, hedge funds and other managed funds, insurance companies, corporations, commercial banks, professional independent traders and retail customers. Our users can be broadly categorized as hedgers or speculators, depending on whether they transfer risk or accept risk. Hedgers are market participants who seek to transfer price risk in an underlying commodity, e.g., soybeans, or financial instrument, e.g., U.S. Treasury bonds. Speculators, on the other hand, accept price risk and attempt to make profits through buying and selling futures contracts by anticipating price changes and generally have no interest in making or taking delivery of the underlying commodity or instrument.

Presently, derivatives markets are experiencing significant and rapid changes due to relaxation of regulatory barriers and advances in technology. Foreign exchanges and exchange-like enterprises operated by or for banks and broker-dealers have gained increased access to U.S. markets as a result of regulatory changes. The ability of computer and telecommunications systems today to efficiently and economically bring buyers and sellers together presents new challenges to centralized open outcry auction markets, including our open outcry markets. These changes are lowering barriers to entry and creating a lower-cost business model, forcing traditional open outcry exchanges to streamline their operations and reduce costs. We believe that large market users and the threat of competition have forced exchanges to seek more efficient trading, processing and clearing facilities. We have responded to these challenges by implementing innovative technology, including the a/c/e system, to preserve and enhance our current business and to streamline our trade execution and processing, which has resulted in substantial automation. We have also sought to refine our existing products, develop innovative new products to satisfy customers' demands and continue to enhance the ability of our independent traders to provide liquidity in our markets.

In order to continue to enhance our ability to compete in this dynamic marketplace, our business strategy includes demutualizing the CBOT by creating a stock, for-profit holding company pursuant to the restructuring transactions described in this document. We intend to seek to improve our corporate governance structure by, among other things, focusing the role of the board on traditional oversight activities reducing significantly the number and responsibility of existing committees and enhancing and expanding the responsibility and authority of our management. The restructuring transactions will also significantly reduce members' rights with respect to participation in the day-to-day management and operation of our business, including through the substantial elimination of the membership petition process. For example, following the restructuring transactions, stockholders of CBOT Holdings and Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to call special meetings of stockholders or special meetings of members to vote on proposals, and stockholders of CBOT Holdings will not be able to take stockholder action by written consent instead of a meeting. Stockholders of CBOT Holdings may request a vote on a proposal to amend our bylaws at our annual meetings, but only if the request complies with certain advance notice requirements under our bylaws and the regulations regarding proxy solicitation under the federal securities laws, as applicable. We believe that the restructuring transactions will enable us to strengthen and expand our core business.

PRODUCTS

We believe that the range and diversity of the products that may be traded on our exchange facilities contribute significantly to our success. These products include futures contracts and options on futures contracts based upon interest rates, debt instruments, agricultural commodities, stock indices and other underlying instruments. We have a business development division to support market participants and foster the trading and development of current and future products. Our business development and staff meet regularly with market users, members and clearing members to determine whether our current products, facilities and services meet the participants' needs and whether modifications or enhancements are necessary. Our business development staff also develop new product ideas in consultation with market users and other financial institutions.

The following chart depicts the distribution of trading volumes across our three major product sectors for the six month period ending June 30, 2002:

- .agricultural and other non-financial/commodities products; and
- .stock index products.

Interest Rate Products

Seventy-eight percent of all of the contracts traded at the CBOT during the first half of 2002 were either financial futures or options on financial futures contracts. Our interest rate product line includes our U.S. Treasury ten-year note futures and options contract, which is currently our largest single product based on trading volume, comprising about 46% of our financial product volume in the first six months of 2002. Our other interest rate products include U.S. Treasury bond futures and options, five-year and two-year U.S. Treasury note futures and options, federal agency futures and options, "Fed funds" futures, interest rate swap futures, mortgage futures and options as well as municipal bond index futures and options.

Trading volumes in our interest rate products have fluctuated over the last decade. We believe that these fluctuations primarily reflect changes in Federal Reserve monetary policies and changing levels of interest rate volatility during these periods, rather than successful competition from other exchanges or increased use of alternative products or markets by market participants. The overall volume of our interest rate products through June 30, 2002 was up 26% compared to the same period of 2001.

We believe that hedgers and speculators have increasingly turned to our ten-year and five-year U.S. Treasury notes in order to manage interest rate risks. The increase in volumes for ten-year and five-year notes has helped to offset the decrease in volume for the 30-year bonds. Volume in our interest rate products continues to constitute a significant part of our business. The following chart indicates the annual trading volume of interest rate futures and options on the CBOT from 1990 through June 30, 2002.

Market participants take advantage of the flexibility and liquidity of the interest rate products we list. Our market users generally include banks, broker/dealers and other financial institutions, all of whom must cope with interest rate risk that arises naturally from their core business activities, e.g., lending, borrowing, underwriting fixed-income securities, or from their dealing in interest rate swaps, structured derivative products and other over-the-counter products. A significant number of our clearing member firms are affiliates of major domestic and international banks who utilize our interest rate markets for their proprietary trading activities. Asset managers also use our interest rate products to lengthen or shorten the effective duration of their portfolios. We believe that our contracts are especially useful for this purpose where physical restructuring of a portfolio is difficult or where futures transaction costs are less than cash market transaction costs.

Agricultural and Non-Financial/Commodities Products

Agricultural products are the core product area from which we started. We have maintained a strong franchise in our agricultural products, including contracts based on soybeans, soybean oil and meal, corn, wheat, oats, rough rice and other agricultural commodities. Our market users include agricultural producers, grain elevators, food processors and retail customers. Other non-financial/commodities products we offer include silver and gold futures, silver options and insurance options. Together, our agricultural and other non-financial and commodities products represented about 20% of all contracts traded at the CBOT through June 30, 2002. Our trading volumes in these products from 1990 through June 30, 2002 are illustrated in the following chart. We believe that continuing consolidation and restructuring in the agricultural sector and the reduction or elimination of government subsidies could provide growth in our agricultural markets as large producers and processors are more likely to adopt formal hedging and risk management programs.

Stock Index Products

Futures and options on futures contracts on stock indices are intended to allow traders and investors the opportunity to invest in the entire market, in selected portions of the market or in the relative performances of the various market sectors relative to one another and relative to the entire market. Market users of these products include public and private pension funds, investment companies, mutual funds, insurance companies and other financial services companies that benchmark their investment performance to different segments of the equity markets. We currently offer futures and options on futures contracts on the Dow Jones Industrial Averagesm.

In June 1997, we entered into an agreement with Dow Jones & Company, Inc. to license certain index and trademark rights, including, among other things, the Dow Jones Industrial Average, the Dow Jones Transportation Average, the Dow Jones Utilities Average and the Dow Jones Global Indexes. The license is a non-transferable and exclusive worldwide license to use these indices as the basis for standardized exchange-traded futures contracts and options on futures contracts. The agreement, which will expire in accordance with its terms on December 31, 2007, requires the CBOT to pay Dow Jones initial license fees, which were paid in 1997, and annual royalties based upon trading volumes with a minimum annual royalty requirement of $2.0 million. We paid annual royalties of $2.0 million in each of 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

As depicted in the following chart, our equity index product trading volumes have generally increased since the introduction of the Dow Jones indices in late 1997, from about 0.9 million contracts in 1997, to about 3.8 million contracts in 1998, to about 4.1 million contracts in 1999 to about 3.8 million contracts in 2000, to about 5.3 million contracts in 2001. Through June 30, 2002, equity index trading volume was about 3.6 million contracts.

In 2000, Congress adopted legislation that allows us to trade single-stock futures contracts under the regulatory jurisdiction of the Commodity Futures Exchange Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission. This new type of product could have significant appeal to retail investors and institutional investors.

Under the Commodity Futures Modernization Act of 2000, single-stock futures contracts were made available to be traded on markets limited to institutional investors trading for their own account on a principal-to-principal basis on August 21, 2001. Single stock futures are anticipated to be available to be traded on markets that also allow retail investors to participate as well as brokered trades for institutional investors by Fall 2002.

Execution Facilities

We currently operate two trade execution facilities: a traditional pit-based, open outcry trading market and the electronic a/c/e system.

Open Outcry Trading

In the traditional open outcry trading environment, traders who risk personal capital, or floor brokers, who may execute orders for institutional, commercial, proprietary and retail customers, bid and offer in an open outcry auction arena. This environment facilitates discovery of market prices. We believe that the CBOT has a strong history of providing a venue that offers its users tremendous liquidity, access to trading opportunities, and a reliable and stable trading environment.

Open outcry trading occurs in individual arenas and represented about 67% of our total volume through June 30, 2002. The trading pits are the centralized meeting place for floor brokers and independent traders to trade contracts. Orders for market participants not on the trading floor are relayed to brokers for execution in the trading pits. The trading floors, which cover about 115,150 square feet, have booths surrounding the trading pits from which clearing member firm personnel can communicate with customers regarding current market activity and prices and receive orders either electronically or by telephone. In addition, our trading floors display current market information and news on wallboards hung above the pits.

We have enhanced our open outcry and electronic trading markets through automation and lower fees to help us maintain liquidity for market users. To do this, we have streamlined processes involving order entry, trade execution and open outcry price discovery. The basis for maintaining an open outcry trading system is our belief that many market participants find this system to be an efficient mechanism for price discovery. The open outcry system leverages our members' market-making expertise by utilizing hundreds of speculators to facilitate liquidity and to provide floor brokers with a mechanism to manage execution risk for customers. We believe that the open outcry system is regarded as having a long-standing history as an environment of integrity, stability and reliability.

Technology Supporting Our Open Outcry Execution Facilities

In order to maintain the viability and growth of the open outcry trading system, we have invested and, to the extent that our resources permit, we plan to continue to invest in technology. For example, the CBOT recently purchased a license from the Chicago Board Options Exchange whereby the Chicago Board Options Exchange will provide technology to support and enhance the CBOT's trading floor using software from CBOE Direct. The CBOT will seek to continue its development of technology to provide market participants with rapid, reliable and cost-effective transaction processing. However, we cannot assure you that we will be able to fund technology in the future. This approach will focus on the following applications.

Order Transmission Systems. Our Order Direct application protocol interface enables our member firms to transmit orders electronically to and from the open outcry pits and any other firm or broker, and provides an entry point for Internet-based orders from customers and branch offices. This application has resulted in increased order and confirmation speed, reduced transaction costs, decreased risk of error, improved customer account tracking and bookkeeping and faster clearing reconciliation. eOpenoutcry.com is our web-enabled, browser-based software system that allows trade order entry, execution and confirmation display via the Internet, enhancing member access to the trading floor while reducing transaction costs.

Trade Execution Systems. Our customers may select one of the following two trade execution systems for executing transactions in the open outcry trading environment.

- COMET is the CBOT's booth-based order entry device that fulfills the need for fast and efficient electronic order delivery to the trading floor while preserving the firm's choice of delivery method to the broker. In keeping with the firm's preference, COMET orders may be "flashed" by hand, delivered by wireless headset or delivered electronically to the broker for execution. COMET then enables the trade data to be electronically routed to the firm's bookkeeping system and to the clearing location on a real-time basis.

- Electronic Clerks are the CBOT's order receipt and deck management devices for brokers. Using a hard-wired or wireless Electronic Clerk, unit brokers may receive orders from multiple member firms. Orders are automatically organized by price and order type for ease and speed of execution and trade confirmations are automatically returned to the originator.

Floor Operations Technology. Floor operations technology consists of the pricing and quotation network as well as the data network. The pricing and quotation network collects and disseminates in real time all CBOT pricing data. The internal data network connects futures commission merchants and other building occupants with the floor and one another for all CBOT pricing data. The pricing quotation network comprises price reporters who monitor the price fluctuation in each of the pits and use an electronic data network to communicate this information. As trades are executed, the reporters enter the price data into the pricing network. The price network transmits the data to the wall board display system, the historical data library and the data services network for re-transmittal through information providers such as Bloomberg. The current data network is a traditional wired network. Substantially all futures commission merchant offices have the capability to access the network in order to communicate with other offices and the floor. Most futures commission merchants have external data connections as well as Internet access.

Electronic Trading

Our electronic trading business has historically been, and is currently, primarily conducted through Ceres, of which eCBOT is the general partner and the CBOT members are limited partners. The CBOT has made its products available for electronic trading since 1992, initially, on the Globex system, and, beginning in 1994, on Project A, which was operated through the electronic trading division of Ceres. From September 1998 until its decommissioning in August 2000, Project A provided access to the CBOT's global benchmark financial and index products 22 hours each trading day, with workstations located in the United States, Europe and Asia.

In August 2000, Project A was replaced by the a/c/e system, which is the product of an alliance between the CBOT and certain affiliates and Deutsche Borse AG, the Swiss Stock Exchange and their jointly owned subsidiaries, Eurex Zurich AG and Eurex Frankfurt AG. A jointly-owned company called CBOT/Eurex Alliance, L.L.C. was established to provide services related to electronic trading to Ceres and to Eurex.

The a/c/e system provides CBOT and Eurex members with a single network connection to a single platform configuration with each exchange remaining independent in terms of its membership, access and products. Users of the a/c/e system are provided access to some of the most actively traded derivative products in the world.

Users of the a/c/e system are linked through a dedicated wide-area communications network that can be connected to from virtually anywhere in the world. Currently about 85 firms trade for themselves and their customers CBOT products on the a/c/e system from more than 160 locations in the U.S., Europe and Asia.

As of June 30, 2002, volume on the a/c/e system surpassed an aggregate of above 111.8 million contracts traded since it became operational. The chart below illustrates monthly volume on the a/c/e system for the months of September 2000 through June 2002:

In July 2002, the CBOT and the Eurex Group reached an agreement to restructure their alliance concerning the a/c/e system. The new agreement focuses on continuing the technological cooperation between the two exchanges. In addition the CBOT and Eurex Frankfort AG have agreed to permit each other to independently launch new products denominated in U.S. Dollars and Euros, respectively, outside of a small number of their core product offerings.

Under the new arrangements with the Eurex Group, Deutsche Borse AG and SWX Swiss Stock Exchange will provide Ceres with a non-exclusive, royalty-bearing license for the use of the a/c/e software that serves as the basis of the a/c/e electronic trading platform, covering both a/c/e Release 1.0, which is the current version of the a/c/e software operated for the CBOT, as well as a/c/e Release 1.1, which the CBOT currently intends to implement by the first quarter of 2003. The royalty owed by the CBOT under the license with the Eurex Group will include both a split component and a variable component. Deutsche Borse Systems AG has operated and will continue to operate the CBOT's electronic market for the duration of the restructured arrangements, which will expire in December 31, 2003. Under the restructured alliance with the Eurex Group, the CBOT has relinquished co-ownership of a/c/e Release 1.0, which it held pursuant to the previous arrangements, but the obligation of Ceres to contribute to development costs pursuant to the previous arrangements has been terminated.

Under a licensing agreement, Ceres provides services related to the operation of the a/c/e system and a sublicense of the a/c/e software to the CBOT. In addition, under a separate agreement, Ceres operates with employees seconded to it from the CBOT.

We currently expect to liquidate Ceres upon termination of the CBOT's arrangements with the Eurex Group and thereafter conduct our electronic trading business through the CBOT subsidiary, eCBOT, or another affiliate.

We currently permit a non-member to have a direct connection to the a/c/e system with the approval of its clearing member. Members are permitted to have an unlimited number of terminals to conduct proprietary or customer trading, and member firms that handle customer business are permitted to connect their own electronic order routing systems to the a/c/e system. Eurex member firms have been given the right to obtain electronic access to our products traded on the a/c/e system by leasing a Full Membership or Associate Membership or buying an Associate Membership. It is possible that the conditions for connectivity could be relaxed or tightened. A change in these conditions could have the effect of enhancing or diminishing revenue growth associated with the a/c/e system.

Market Data

Our markets generate valuable information regarding the prices of our products and the trading activity in those markets. We sell our market data, which includes bids, offers, trades and trade size, to vendors who redistribute the data to persons or entities that use our markets or that monitor general economic conditions. Such persons and entities include financial information providers, futures commission merchants, banks, broker-dealers, public and private pension funds, investment companies, mutual funds, insurance companies, hedge funds, commodity pools, individual investors and other financial services companies or organizations.

We believe the market data supplied by the CBOT enhances trading activity in our products and trading activity in related cash and derivatives markets. The dissemination of real-time data generates revenue and supports our customer bases with timely market information. In general, the price information is sent via dedicated networks to over 140 worldwide quote vendors and subvendors. These firms consolidate our market data and information with data from other exchanges and third party data and news services and the firms resell the consolidated data and information to their subscribers. These quote vendors distribute our market data through dedicated networks, the Internet and wireless handheld devices.

As of June 30, 2002, our market data was displayed on approximately 179,000 screens worldwide. Revenue from market data represented about 20% of our total revenue for the six month period ended June 30, 2002. Our annual revenue from market data has grown from less than $45 million in 1996 to more than $66 million in 2001. We attribute this increase to a change in our market data pricing structure that we instituted in 1999, as well as a substantial increase in the total number of display devices receiving our market data.

We believe that the evolution of technology and the financial services industry, including the trend of industry consolidation, will change the existing distribution channels, sales methods and pricing structure for market data. These changes might adversely impact the revenue we receive from market data. Increases in the volume of electronic trading, the use of the Internet as a distribution mechanism and increases in the use of our products by individual retail investors will all impact revenue from market data.

Building Services

Our building services division operates the CBOT's commercial real estate assets. In total, we own and manage three buildings, with over 1.5 million square feet of commercial space in the aggregate, in the central business district of the City of Chicago. As of June 30, 2002, the buildings were about 94% occupied, with about 26% of the occupied space used by the CBOT itself.

Tenants pay market rates for rent. The majority of tenant leases have terms of three to five years, with large tenants having leases for up to ten years. The largest tenant, other than the CBOT itself, leases 17% of the rentable area and the next five largest tenants lease about 12% of our commercial space. Our largest tenant plans to move out during the third quarter of 2002 but we are actively seeking a tenant or tenants to replace this tenant. The CBOT manages both the real estate and the general services relating to such real estate such as cleaning, power and telephone services. Building services generated about 9% of our total revenue through June 30, 2002.

The majority of our commercial lease space is designated as "Class A," which describes that class of premium commercial office space which is typically located in central business districts and provides the highest level of services and amenities. We have spent considerable resources so that all three buildings have advanced telecommunication infrastructure and services. The demographics of the tenants of our commercial space have begun to widen beyond traditional brokerage/trading service firms to include technology-related firms which we believe is due to the location and desirable telecommunications infrastructure of our buildings.

Marketing and Advertising

Our marketing department targets both institutional and retail customers. Our marketing programs for institutional customers are designed to educate highly sophisticated traders, portfolio managers, corporate treasurers and other market professionals about innovative uses of our products, such as new hedging and risk management strategies. We also seek to educate these users about changes in product design, margin requirements and new clearing services. Our marketing typically involves the development of personal relationships with professional traders who actively use our markets. We participate in a number of domestic and international trade shows and seminars regarding futures and options and other marketing events designed to inform market users about our products. Through these relationships and programs, we attempt to determine the needs of our customer base and we use this information in our product development and product maintenance efforts.

Our advertising strategy is based on both targeted direct contact and cooperative venture advertising techniques. We utilize direct mail, electronic mail and fax networking extensively. We also support CBOT product-specific advertising.

Competition

We are currently one of the seven principal futures exchanges in the United States, which include: the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, the Kansas City Board of Trade, the Minneapolis Grain Exchange, the New York Board of Trade, the New York Mercantile Exchange and the Philadelphia Board of Trade. Of these exchanges, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the New York Mercantile Exchange have already demutualized in connection with recent restructurings completed within the last several years. In addition, the Kansas City Board of Trade demutualized in 1973. According to data provided by the Futures Industry Association, we are currently the fifth largest futures exchange in the world based on contract volume for futures, options on futures and equity index options contracts for the six month period ended June 30, 2002.

We face a variety of competitors and competing marketplaces and products. We compete by offering market participants efficient, cost-effective and liquid marketplaces for trade execution through both open outcry and electronic trading systems, broadly disseminated and transparent market and quotation data, access to market making, superior product design and innovative technology. Additionally, we are continually enhancing our products and providing additional efficiencies to our customers. We are committed to improving the technology, services, market integrity and liquidity that will continue to make us an industry leader.

In addition to competition from futures exchanges that offer comparable derivative products, we also face competition from other exchanges, from electronic trading systems, from consortia of end users and futures commission merchants and from technology firms. Other futures exchanges have trading systems and financial market expertise that may lead them to consider listing copies of our products. These potential competitors would still need to obtain regulatory approval, establish market liquidity and develop derivative product clearing services. For information concerning legislative changes that may make it easier for potential competitors to enter our markets, see "--Regulation--Changes in Existing Laws and Rules."

Electronic trading firms that currently specialize in the trading of equity securities have electronic trade execution and routing systems that could be used to trade products that compete with our products. In an industry where all derivatives are traded electronically, the concept of an exchange, including the services we provide and our sources of revenue, may change swiftly and substantially. Increased development of the electronic trading markets could increase substantially competition for some or all of the products and services we currently provide. For more information, see "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to Our Business--Intense Competition Could Materially Adversely Affect Our Market Share and Financial Performance." Typically, while these firms have advanced electronic and Internet technology, significant capitalization and competitive pricing, we believe they lack the overall market liquidity and neutrality offered by our electronic and open outcry trading systems. They also currently lack the financial security and guarantees provided by a "AAA" rated clearinghouse such as Board of Trade Clearing Corporation.

Consortia owned by member firms and large market participants also may become our competitors, particularly with respect to our Treasury futures and options contracts. For instance, BrokerTec Global LLC, an electronic inter-dealer fixed income broker, has a designation as a futures contract market and has been operational approximately 10 months from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. Most of the members of BrokerTec Global are either clearing member firms of the CBOT or affiliates of our clearing member firms, and are significant participants in the Treasury market.

Technology companies, market data and information vendors, and front end software vendors also represent potential competitors because, as purveyors of market data, these firms typically have substantial distribution capabilities. As technology firms, they also have access to trading engines that can be connected to their data and information networks. Additionally, technology and software firms that develop trading systems, hardware and networks but who are otherwise outside of the financial services industry may be attracted to enter our markets.

STRATEGIC ALLIANCES, ACQUISITIONS AND DIVESTITURES

Due to increasing competitive pressures in the futures industry, we review our competitive position on an ongoing basis and from time to time consider, and engage in discussions with other parties regarding, various strategic alliances, acquisitions and divestitures in order to continue to compete effectively, improve our financial results, increase our business and allocate its resources efficiently. It is also important for us to form strategic partnerships to bring together the necessary expertise and resources to address competitive pressures and meet new market demands.

OUR MEMBERS

We are currently owned by our members. Members and individuals who have leased seats from members can execute trades for their own accounts or for the accounts of customers of clearing member firms. The trades of members and lessees of memberships for their own accounts qualify for lower fees in recognition of the market liquidity that their trading activity provides. Members and lessees also benefit from market information advantages that may accrue from their proximity to trading activity on the trading floors.

Currently, there are the following classes of CBOT memberships:

- Full;
- Associate;
- GIM (and one-half Associate Memberships, as described below);

. IDEM; and

Each class of CBOT membership has associated with it different trading rights and privileges. The specific trading rights and privileges associated with each class of CBOT membership are governed by our rules and regulations. All membership applicants are reviewed and approved by us in accordance with the membership and eligibility requirements set forth in our rules and regulations.

Currently, CBOT memberships may be purchased or sold pursuant to transfer mechanisms established by our rules and regulations. We are currently evaluating appropriate transfer mechanisms, whether internal or external to the CBOT, to facilitate the transfer of the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

On August 30, 2000, the day prior to the date of public announcement of the refined restructuring strategy, which contemplated the restructuring transactions, the closing price for Associate Memberships in the CBOT was $73,000, as reported by the CBOT. No Full Memberships, GIMs, IDEMs or COMs were purchased or sold on August 30, 2000. On August 30, 2000, the bid and ask prices for Full Memberships, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs were $335,000 and $400,000, $25,000 and $40,000, $4,200 and $5,000 and $14,000 and $16,500, respectively.

Individual Members

Currently, our membership committee reviews applicants and conducts proceedings to determine whether candidates meet our membership and eligibility requirements. Additionally, registration or a temporary license to act as either a floor broker or a floor trader must be granted by the National Futures Association before an individual can begin trading on our trading floors. All members must be guaranteed or qualified to trade by a clearing member before they may personally execute a transaction on the CBOT's exchange facilities.

Full Members. Our Full Members are entitled to execute trades in all futures and options contracts listed on the CBOT. Currently, Full Members are also entitled to the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right, as described in greater detail elsewhere in this document. As of June 30, 2002, there were 1,402 Full Memberships.

Associate Members. Our Associate Members are entitled to execute trades in all futures and options contracts listed in the CBOT's Government Instruments Market, Index, Debt and Energy Market and Commodity Options Market. As of June 30, 2002, there were 791 Associate Memberships.

GIMs/One-Half Associate Members. The holder of a GIM Membership is a member entitled to execute trades in all futures contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Government Instrument Market," which includes contracts in certain U.S. government and agency securities, certain foreign government securities and certain domestic certificates of deposit. We are currently phasing out GIM Memberships by converting each GIM Membership into a one-half Associate Membership upon the sale of such membership and permitting the conversion of two one-half Associate Memberships into one Associate Membership. In addition, upon the sale or transfer of a GIM Membership, and the resulting conversion into a one-half Associate Membership, the associated trading rights and privileges are eliminated. Following completion of the restructuring transactions, two Series B-3, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be convertible into one Series B-2, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, which may result in fewer members having the trading rights and privileges of GIMs and more members having the trading rights and privileges of Associate Members. As of June 30, 2002, there were 150 GIM Memberships and 2 one-half Associate Memberships.

For purposes of the restructuring transactions, including for purposes of determining the number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and the appropriate series of Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary to be distributed in connection with the restructuring transactions, all one-half Associate Memberships shall be treated as GIM Memberships. In addition, we sometimes in this document refer to one-half Associate Members as GIMs, as the context requires.

IDEMs. The holder of an IDEM Membership is a member entitled to execute trades in all futures contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Index, Debt and Energy Market," which includes contracts in certain stock and bond indices, certain money market instruments and certain energy, i.e., crude oil, a gasoline and heating oil, products. As of June 30, 2002 there were 642 IDEM Memberships.

COMs. The holder of a COM Membership is a member entitled to execute trades in all options contracts assigned to the market category known as the "Commodity Options Market," which includes contracts in U.S. Treasury bond futures options and all other options contracts listed for trading by the CBOT. As of June 30, 2002 there were 643 COM Memberships.

Clearing Members

Under our rules, all CBOT contracts must be cleared through the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, or such other clearing entity as the CBOT board of directors designates. Such contracts are subject to the bylaws of Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, and our rules provide that it may not change its bylaws without the consent of the CBOT board of directors. However, Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has disputed this restriction and its governing documents do not contain a similar restriction requiring the CBOT's approval for changes to its bylaws. In addition, no person or organization may become a stockholder of Board of Trade Clearing Corporation until approved by the CBOT.

Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has informed us that it is the world's largest fully independent futures and futures options clearinghouse and the only futures and options clearinghouse that is rated "AAA" by Standard & Poor's. On a daily basis, Board of Trade Clearing Corporation compares the data that is submitted by its members, collects and disburses original and variation or "mark-to-market" margin payments though a network of banks, and provides its financial guarantee of performance for every trade that is accepted by it for clearing. Since its inception in 1925, Board of Trade Clearing Corporation has designed risk management policies and practices for the CBOT and its members.

We do not currently have a written contract with the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation that would obligate it to provide its clearing services to our clearing members. We are currently considering negotiating a written contract regarding clearing-related services with Board of Trade Clearing Corporation prior to the completion of the restructuring transactions. However, we cannot provide any assurances that we will determine to do so or, if we so determine, that we will be successful in entering into such a written contract with Board of Trade Clearing Corporation. Our unwillingness or inability to enter into a written contract with Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, or some other entity which would provide comparable clearing-related services to CBOT subsidiary, could materially adversely affect our business.

OTHER BUSINESS RELATIONSHIPS AND SUBSIDIARIES

Ceres Trading Limited Partnership. The Ceres Trading Limited Partnership is a Delaware limited partnership, which we formed in 1992 to initiate the development of our electronic trading system. Ceres currently owns rights to electronic trading of the CBOT's products, including on the a/c/e system. It has entered into contractual arrangements with us for the provision of services in connection with the operation of the system and the provision of related support services. We currently charge Ceres the fair value for these services. In addition, we have entered into an agreement with Ceres whereby we pay Ceres a fee for access to the a/c/e system. This licensing fee is about equal to the exchange fees received by us as a result of transactions executed on the a/c/e system.

Our wholly owned subsidiary, eCBOT, is currently the general partner of Ceres. In addition, as of June 30, 2002, Ceres had 3,630 Class A limited partnership interests, of which there are four series, and 59 Class B limited partnership interests. The following table indicates the number of limited partnership interests held by the CBOT members as of June 30, 2002:

CERES LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS BY INDIVIDUAL MEMBERSHIP CLASS

MEMBERSHIP CLASS	CLASS A-1 LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS	CLASS A-2 LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS	CLASS A-3 LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS	CLASS A-4 LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS	CLASS B LIMITED PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS
Full	1,389	--	--	--	--
Associate	--	791	--	--	--
GIM	--	--	150	--	--
IDEM	--	--	--	641	--
COM	--	--	--	643	--
Clearing Member	--	--	--	--	59
Total	1,389	791	150	1,284	59

With the exception of 16 interests currently held by the eCBOT, Class A limited partnership interests are generally held by individual CBOT members. Class B limited partnership interests are held by CBOT clearing member firms.

Ceres's wholly owned subsidiary, Ceres Alliance L.L.C., holds the CBOT's 50% interest in CBOT/Eurex Alliance, L.L.C., a Delaware limited liability company. The other member of CBOT/Eurex Alliance is Eurex Beteiligungen AG, a Swiss company owned by Deutsche Borse AG and the Swiss Stock Exchange. CBOT/Eurex Alliance does not presently employ its own staff, and operates with personnel seconded to it by the CBOT and the Eurex Group. Generally, the voting rights, percentage interests and profits of the CBOT/Eurex Alliance are shared equally between its two members, the Ceres Alliance L.L.C. and Eurex Beteiligungen AG, and its expenses are allocated among the members as incurred. The CBOT and the Eurex Group have agreed to cease the cost-sharing arrangement with respect to the CBOT/Eurex Alliance L.L.C.

Following completion of the restructuring transactions, CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary would continue to conduct their electronic trading business through Ceres until such time as the CBOT's current arrangements with the Eurex Group is terminated, which we currently expect to occur in December 2003. We currently anticipate that, at such time, Ceres will be liquidated and its assets distributed to its partners in accordance with the terms of the Ceres limited partnership agreement, and CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary will conduct their electronic trading business through eCBOT.

MidAmerica Commodity Exchange. The MidAmerica Commodity Exchange, a wholly owned subsidiary of the CBOT since 1986, is the designated contract market for open outcry trading of smaller versions of certain futures and options on futures contracts currently traded at the CBOT, Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the New York Mercantile Exchange. On June 12, 2001, the CBOT's board approved a plan to redesignate certain futures and options on futures contracts currently traded as the MidAmerica Exchange as CBOT contracts and to make such redesignated contracts available for electronic trading. This plan was implemented in fall of 2001.

Single-Stock Futures Joint Venture. The CBOT recently agreed to become a minority interest holder in One Chicago, LLC, a joint venture formed by Chicago Board Options Exchange and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The joint venture will be a for-profit company that will facilitate the electronic trading of single-stock futures.

Intellectual Property

We regard our brand name and logos and substantial portions of our marketing elements, products, market data, software and technology as proprietary, and we attempt to protect these elements by relying on trademark, service mark, copyright and trade secret laws, contracts, restrictions on disclosure and other methods. For example, with respect to trademarks, we currently have registered marks in more than 15 countries.

We are undertaking a review of our intellectual property to identify property and methods of doing business which should be protected, as well as the extent of current protection for that property and the availability of additional protection. We believe that our various trade and service marks have been registered where needed. Recent legal developments allowing patent protection for methods of doing business hold the possibility of additional protection, which we are examining.

Employees

As of June 30, 2002, we had 645 full-time employees and 26 part-time employees. These numbers do not include 55 full-time employees and 35 part-time employees of C-B-T Corporation, our subsidiary engaged in managing our properties, which operates the CBOT building located at 141 West Jackson Boulevard.

We consider our relations with our employees to be good. Forty-five of the 81 C-B-T Corporation employees are represented by one of the following unions:

- Chicago & North East Illinois District Council of Carpenters;
- United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners of America;

. International Union of Operating Engineers Local 399, AFL-CIO; and

. Local 1, Service Employees International Union, SEIU, AFL-CIO.

Facilities

Our principal executive offices are located at 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604. Our telephone number is (312) 435-3500.

We own the three buildings, located at the property at 141 West Jackson Boulevard, which consist of a total of about 1,523,077 square feet. We occupy about 406,795 square feet of office, trading floor and support space. We lease the remaining space in this building to third parties. The trading area has state-of-the-art wallboard price display systems, order routing and communications systems.

In addition, we lease 1,191 square feet of office space at 1455 Pennsylvania N.W. in Washington, D.C. This space houses our government relations operations. The current lease on the Washington office space expired on January 31, 2001 and is currently being renewed on a month-to-month basis. We currently expect that this lease will be renegotiated on terms satisfactory to us.

We lease 1,800 square feet of office space at 52-54 Gracechurch Street in London, England, which is used by our European marketing staff. The current lease on the London office expires in June 2004.

We believe that our facilities are adequate for our current operations and that additional space can be obtained if needed.

Regulation

Regulation of the U.S. Futures Exchange Industry

Our operations are subject to extensive regulation by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission under the Commodity Exchange Act. The Commodity Exchange Act generally requires that futures trading in commodities be conducted on a commodity exchange designated as a contract market by the CFTC. That act establishes non-financial criteria for an exchange to be designated to list futures and options contracts. Designation as a contract market for the trading of a specified futures contract is non-exclusive. This means that the CFTC may designate additional exchanges as contract markets for trading the same or similar contracts. For information regarding the CFTC approvals required as a condition to our obligation to complete the restructuring transactions, see "The Restructuring Transactions--Regulatory Matters."

We are a self-regulatory organization that is subject to the oversight of the CFTC. In order to guard against default risk with respect to contracts traded on the CBOT, we have instituted detailed risk management policies and procedures. To manage the risk of financial non-performance, we have established minimum capital requirements for all futures commission merchant member firms. In addition we operate and maintain systems to:

. ensure that futures commission merchant members maintain capital in excess of the risk based capital requirement adopted by the Board to Trade Clearing Corporation;

. require that all clearing futures commission merchant member firms electronically file a financial statement each month. All other futures commission merchant members must electronically file quarterly financial statements. Firms are placed on additional reporting, i.e., daily, weekly or monthly reporting, when necessary;

. analyze futures commission merchant member firms financial statements with a state-of-the-art computer system designed to immediately detect financial violations and unfavorable financial trends;

. require that all futures commission merchant member firms collect initial and variation margin from their customers;

- on a daily basis, collect large trader information to determine those firms which may have increased financial exposure and, whenever necessary, the CBOT will contact firms to ensure financial compliance;

- during volatile market conditions, simulate the effect of market moves on large trader positions in order to identify those firms that have increased risk exposure; and

- exercise broad disciplinary authority over member firms including the ability to issue fines in the case of serious rule violations, and in the case of a financially distressed firm, we may take various emergency actions to protect customers, other member firms and the CBOT.

We also have surveillance and compliance operations and procedures to monitor and enforce compliance with rules pertaining to the trading, position sizes, delivery obligations and financial condition of members.

Changes in Existing Laws and Rules

Additional legislation or regulation, or changes in existing laws and rules or their interpretation, may directly affect our mode of operation and our profitability. Congress has recently adopted amendments to the Commodity Exchange Act that will reduce the cost and burdens of listing new contracts for trading. The CFTC has adopted rules to implement those changes. Other amendments to the Commodity Exchange Act have been adopted by Congress that might be less favorable to our business. The regulations under which we have operated since 1974 have been changed in a manner that will permit unregulated competitors and competitors in other regulated industries to attempt to trade our products in their own trading facilities without the same regulatory costs we bear.

The Commodity Exchange Act generally requires all futures contracts to be executed on an exchange that has been approved by the CFTC. For many years, the exchange trading requirement was modified by CFTC regulations to permit privately negotiated swap contracts to be transacted in the over-the-counter market. The CFTC exemption, under which the over-the-counter derivative market operated, precluded the over-the-counter market from using exchange-like electronic transaction systems and clearing unless specific permission, including the imposition of specific conditions, was granted by the CFTC. These limitations on the exemptions granted to the over-the-counter market were called into question by a November 1999 report of the President's Working Group on Financial Markets, which is made up of the Treasury Secretary, the Chairmen of the SEC and the CFTC and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The working group advocated a complete exemption from the Commodity Exchange Act for some principal-to-principal derivative exchanges that provide electronic trade execution services comparable to those performed by us. The customers who may access those exempt exchanges are also significant customers of regulated exchanges like ours. The working group recommended equivalent treatment for the existing electronic markets operated by regulated exchanges or their affiliates and further recommended legislation that would permit CFTC-regulated clearing organizations to clear futures, options on futures contracts and OTC derivatives that are not securities or securities options. In contrast, the working group recommended permitting banks and SEC-regulated clearing organizations to clear financial derivative contracts, as well as equities, government securities, repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements and other instruments. Finally, the working group recommended permitting banks and broker-dealers, and their affiliates, to operate currency futures markets for retail customers without being subject to regulation under the Commodity Exchange Act. All of the working group proposals, if adopted, would likely increase the number and quality of competitors who provide execution and clearing services for standardized derivative contracts.

In February 2000, the CFTC staff released a report advocating the passage of broad regulatory exemptions to create a regulatory environment that would permit the futures industry to accommodate itself to real world competitive conditions. Its goal was regulation by oversight rather than proscription. The degree of regulation proposed was directly related to the characteristics of the product and the type of customer that has direct or indirect access to the market, with retail customer markets being subject to greater regulation. The CFTC's proposal would treat open outcry markets and electronic trading market in the same way.

During 2000, Congress considered legislation to implement the suggestions of the working group and the CFTC. On October 19, 2000, the U.S. House of Representatives passed that legislation in a bill numbered H.R. 4541, by a vote of 377 to 4. Further amendments were made to that bill and, as amended, it was reintroduced in the House of Representatives as H.R. 5660 on December 14, 2000. The U.S. House of Representatives and Senate each passed H.R. 5660 on December 15, 2000. It was signed into law by President William J. Clinton on December 21, 2000 as the Commodity Futures Modernization Act of 2000.

The Commodity Futures Modernization Act provides a series of exclusions from the Commodity Exchange Act that would allow our competitors to trade futures contracts identical to the ones that we offer without any form of regulation or oversight by the CFTC under certain circumstances. Generally those exclusions are available to markets limited to financial products traded among institutions, whether traded electronically or not. We too could comply with those exclusions and operate markets that are outside CFTC jurisdiction. If we chose to remain subject to CFTC jurisdiction, the Commodity Futures Modernization Act replaces the current rigid and rigorous statutory requirements exchanges now face with flexible core principles that exchanges--called contract markets or derivatives transaction execution facilities--would need to satisfy subject to CFTC oversight. In addition, if we elect to trade our non-agricultural contracts on the derivatives transaction execution facility platform, banks and broker-dealers would become qualified to act as a sales force for our contracts, thus expanding our sales force substantially. Finally, the Commodity Futures Modernization Act lifts the current ban on trading in single-stock futures subject to the coordinated oversight of the CFTC and SEC, providing U.S. futures exchanges with the opportunity to compete for this new market.

The Commodity Futures Modernization Act's new regulatory framework for exchanges could reduce our regulatory costs and enhance our ability to deliver cost-effective services to our customers. The new framework will also make it easier for others to compete with us at lower regulatory cost. Thus, the regulatory framework may provide greater regulatory advantages for some of our competitors than it does for us.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, we are involved in legal proceedings and litigation arising in the ordinary course of business. As of the date of this document, except as described below, we are not a party to any litigation or other legal proceeding that, in our opinion, could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results or financial condition.

Lawsuit Brought By Certain Associate Members and Membership Interest Holders. On August 11, 2000, eight Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs filed a complaint, on behalf of themselves and persons or entities who own Associate Memberships, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs (excluding the 1,402 individuals who hold Full Memberships and any entity which owns a Full Membership in addition to owning an AM or other membership interest), with the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois. The complaint names as defendants five persons holding Full Memberships owned by corporations with multiple Full Memberships in the CBOT and a defendant class of all 1,402 Full Members.

The complaint alleges that the allocation developed by our Independent Allocation Committee is unfair and the allocation methodology used by the Independent Allocation Committee improperly weights members' voting and liquidation rights as well as the historical distribution of market values of memberships. The plaintiffs seek a declaratory judgment that the allocation is unfair to Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs, and that the vote of Full Members in favor of the allocation in connection with the restructuring transactions would constitute a breach of fiduciary duties allegedly owed by Full Members to Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs. The complaint requests that the court enjoin Full Members from voting in favor of the allocation and declare that the proposed allocation is unfair.

On January 9, 2001, the defendants moved to dismiss the case on the grounds that the complaint did not sufficiently allege that the defendants would breach any fiduciary duties to Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs by voting in favor of the restructuring. On January 25, 2001, the circuit court denied defendants' motions to dismiss without ruling on the merits of the dispute, including whether Full Members owe fiduciary duties to plaintiffs or whether the allocation is actually unfair. On February 6, 2001, a motion to compel arbitration under the CBOT rules and regulations, which provide for arbitration of disputes between members at the CBOT, and to stay the proceedings in Illinois court was filed on behalf of individual defendant Steinborn. On February 8, 2001, a similar motion to compel arbitration and stay proceedings was filed on behalf of the additional individual defendants. On March 23, 2001, the circuit court granted the defendants' motions to compel arbitration and stay proceedings. On April 20, 2001, the plaintiffs filed an appeal of the circuit court's order granting the defendant's motion to compel arbitration. On November 15, 2001, the Illinois appellate court reversed the circuit court's decision, holding that the five named defendants had waived their right to arbitration.

Following the Illinois appellate court's reversal, the five named defendants moved to dismiss the case as moot. Four of the defendants submitted affidavits stating that they would not vote in favor of the proposed allocation; the fifth defendant, Burnell Kraft, submitted an affidavit stating that he had retired and no longer held a CBOT membership. The court granted Burnell Kraft's motion to dismiss, but denied the motion to dismiss as moot by the remaining defendants on the ground that it was premature. The court stated that it would resolve class certification issues before deciding the motion to dismiss as moot. The Court subsequently certified for the above described plaintiff and defendant classes. The CBOT has assumed the defense of the Full Members named as defendants in the complaint and of the defendant class.

On December 19, 2001, plaintiffs filed a second amended complaint, which is virtually identical to the amended complaint, with the exception that it adds a second count, brought by one plaintiff, Virginia McGathey, who holds a COM membership, against the CBOT as a defendant. The CBOT filed a motion to dismiss the second count of the second amended complaint for failing to state a valid claim. On February 8, 2002, the court granted the CBOT's motion to dismiss the plaintiff's second amended complaint, but allowed the plaintiff twenty-one days to amend the second count of its second amended complaint again. The CBOT again moved to dismiss the second count of the third amended complaint. At the oral argument on CBOT's motion to dismiss, the plaintiff voluntarily dismissed the second count of its complaint. As a result, the only remaining claim in the case is the first count against the defendant class.

On May 31, 2002, defendants moved for summary judgment on the only remaining count of plaintiffs' complaint, on the grounds that Full Members do not owe a fiduciary duty to Associate Members or membership interest holders and that Delaware's business judgment rule protects the allocation decision made by the Independent Committee and the board of directors. On August 8, 2002, the Court granted defendants' motion for summary judgment, holding that Full Members do not owe fiduciary duties to Associate Members and membership interest holders. On September 6, 2002, plaintiffs filed a motion asking the court to reconsider its decision to dismiss the case and terminate this litigation. The court has not yet ruled on plaintiffs' motion.

We believe that the Court's decision is correct and that the plaintiffs' position is without merit. Nevertheless, we cannot provide any assurances that the plaintiffs will not appeal nor can we provide any assurances that the plaintiffs will not succeed in preventing or delaying the vote which is the subject of this proxy solicitation or in altering the proposed allocation of equity in the restructuring transactions. Additionally, we cannot assure you that the plaintiffs will not attempt to pursue other remedies, such as damages, in the event that the restructuring transactions are completed on the terms proposed in this document. For more information, see "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--Certain Members Have Filed a Complaint in Illinois State Court Challenging the Proposed Allocation of Equity in the CBOT" and "--The Allocation of the Equity in CBOT Holdings Depends on Several Relative Factors."

Chicago Board Options Exchange Dispute. Since 1973, when we created the Chicago Board Options Exchange, our Full Members have had a legal right to become members of that exchange without having to purchase a membership pursuant to the exercise right. Over the last year or more, the Chicago Board Options Exchange has stated publicly its view that, if consummated, the restructuring transactions would extinguish the exercise right under certain circumstances.

In response, on June 30, 2000, we filed a complaint against the Chicago Board Options Exchange seeking declaratory and injunctive relief with respect to our Delaware reincorporation. Specifically, we sought a declaration that becoming a Delaware not-for-profit corporation would not violate a 1992 agreement between the parties or serve to extinguish the exercise right of our Full Members. On August 3, 2000, after the Chicago Board Options Exchange agreed in court that it would take no action to extinguish or limit the exercise right based solely on the reincorporation of the CBOT in Delaware, the court dismissed the CBOT's complaint. On August 30, 2000, the Chicago Board Options Exchange filed a proposed rule change with the Securities and Exchange Commission consisting of a proposed interpretation of the exercise right. On October 10, 2000, the Chicago Board Options Exchange filed an amendment to its proposed rule change and interpretation and sought SEC approval of its position. In its filing, the Chicago Board Options Exchange stated that the exercise right would be terminated:

- for any Full Member, if that Full Member sells or otherwise transfers any of the stock and other interests received as a result of completing the restructuring transactions in exchange for his or her Full Membership;

- for all Full Members, if the CBOT by expanding electronic trading on the a/c/e system or otherwise, allows non-members to trade directly on the CBOT on the same basis as members; or

- for all Full Members, if CBOT members who exercise their right to become members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange are able to trade all of the CBOT's products and the Chicago Board Options Exchange's products simultaneously.

On October 17, 2000, the CBOT filed a second complaint seeking a declaration that the restructuring transactions would not extinguish the exercise right and an injunction prohibiting the Chicago Board Options Exchange from taking any action to the contrary. On January 19, 2001, the Illinois Circuit Court dismissed Count I of our complaint for failure to sufficiently allege breach of the 1992 agreement by the Chicago Board Options Exchange and for failure to allege damages. The court also dismissed Count II of the complaint as preempted by federal law, holding that this matter should be resolved in the first instance by the SEC. The court's ruling did not address the merits of the dispute, including whether or not the Chicago Board Options Exchange's position breaches the 1992 agreement. Under this ruling, the SEC would have been free to determine whether the Chicago Board Options Exchange could take the actions described above with respect to the exercise right in connection with its proposed rule change and interpretation filed with the SEC. In response, on February 16, 2001, the CBOT filed an amended complaint, seeking a declaration by the court that the Chicago Board Options Exchange breached the 1992 agreement by adopting its proposed rule change and submitting it to the SEC for approval without the written consent of the CBOT. In addition, the CBOT sought an injunction prohibiting the Chicago Board Options Exchange from attempting to amend or modify its Rule 3.16(b), relating to the exercise right, adopted pursuant to the 1992 agreement, without our written consent, in violation of its obligations' under the 1992 agreement. Finally, the CBOT sought a declaration that certain elements of its proposed restructuring comply with the CBOT's obligations under the 1992 agreement.

On November 17, 2000, the SEC requested public comment on the Chicago Board Options Exchange's proposed rule change. On December 11, 2000 we filed a comment letter with the SEC challenging the legal validity of the proposed rule change and urging the SEC not to approve it. On February 12, 2001, we filed a supplementary comment letter with the SEC summarizing the proposed restructuring transactions and notifying the SEC of developments at the Illinois Circuit Court.

On February 26, 2001, the Chicago Board Options Exchange filed with the SEC a letter in support of its proposed rule change and in response to our filed opposition to that proposed rule change. The Chicago Board Option Exchange's letter took the position that after the restructuring transactions the CBOT will not be a membership corporation and therefore will not satisfy one of the conditions for retention of the exercise right under the 1992 agreement. The Chicago Board Options Exchange further claimed that the a/c/e system gives our members who exercise the right to become Chicago Board Options Exchange members the ability to trade on the Chicago Board Options Exchange trading floor and through the CBOT at the same time, activity that the Chicago Board Options Exchange claimed is incompatible with the exercise right. The Chicago Board Options Exchange also claimed that the exercise right may be terminated after completion of the restructuring transactions because certain non-trading rights, including voting rights, of the current Full Members of the CBOT will change in connection with the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In March 2001, representatives of the CBOT initiated discussions with representatives of the Chicago Board Options Exchange to arrange for a settlement of this dispute. On March 28, 2001, we entered into an agreement with the Chicago Board Options Exchange for the purpose of facilitating our discussions regarding possible settlement of this dispute. Pursuant to this agreement, the Chicago Board Options Exchange agreed to request that the SEC refrain from approving the Chicago Board Option Exchange's filing with the SEC (File No. SR-CBOE-00-44) and the CBOT has agreed not to seek to have the registration statement of which this document forms a part declared effective by the SEC, in each case so long as such agreement remains in effect. In addition, we agreed with the Chicago Board Options Exchange that each party would file one or more joint requests for an extension of time such that the Chicago Board Options Exchange's answer or response to the CBOT's amended complaint in Illinois Circuit Court would not be due any sooner than 14 days after the termination of the agreement. This agreement remained in effect through August 1, 2001.

On August 7, 2001, the CBOT entered into an agreement with the Chicago Board Options Exchange for the stated purpose of resolving the dispute between the parties regarding the exercise right within the context of the restructuring transactions and electronic trading generally at the CBOT. Among other things, the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange agreed:

- that in order to exercise to become a member at the Chicago Board Options Exchange, an individual must be the owner (or delegate of such owner) of (A) 25,000 shares of Class A common stock of the previously contemplated stock, for-profit CBOT, subject to certain anti-dilution adjustments, (B) one share of Series B-1, Class B common stock of the previously contemplated stock, for-profit CBOT and (C) one instrument to be issued to the 1,402 Full Members, which represents the exercise right;

- that the CBOT has created and will maintain various incentives to promote the continued value of CBOT membership, including meaningful member and delegate fee preferences (applicable to the floor and electronic trading platform) and pit closing provisions, in each case as described in this document;

- to submit any questions that may subsequently arise as to the continued meaningfulness of the preferences and incentives described above to binding arbitration in accordance with the terms of the August 7, 2001 agreement;

- that if a Full Member of the CBOT delegates his or her membership rights to an individual who exercises and becomes a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, such Full Member will relinquish all member trading rights at both the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange and may trade only as a customer at customer rates at the CBOT unless that Full Member owns another CBOT membership which entitles that member to member trading rights and transaction rates;

- that delegates of Full Members of the CBOT who have exercised their right to trade at the Chicago Board Options Exchange may trade on the CBOT's electronic trading platform only at customer rates; and

- that if a Full Member of the CBOT is present on the trading floor of the Chicago Board Options Exchange or is logged on to the Chicago Board Options Exchange electronic trading platform at the time an order is entered or altered on the CBOT's electronic trading platform by or on behalf of such member, then such member will be charged CBOT customer rates for trades resulting from the execution of such order.

In addition, the CBOT agreed to file a notice of voluntary dismissal of its litigation in the Illinois Circuit Court relating to the exercise right, which was filed on August 17, 2001. The Chicago Board Options Exchange agreed that it will take no action to amend, modify or otherwise limit, or terminate or cause to expire, whether by interpretation or otherwise, the exercise right as a result of the completion of the restructuring transactions, except as contemplated in the settlement agreement.

In addition, the Chicago Board Options Exchange agreed to withdraw and terminate its proposed rulemaking request, which was done on August 13, 2001.

The August 7, 2001 agreement states that it is subject to a number of conditions, including, among other things:

- the agreement must be filed with and approved by the SEC;
- the agreement must be approved by the membership of the Chicago Board Options Exchange;
- the registration statement of which this document is part must be declared effective by the SEC;
- the Chicago Board Options Exchange must consent to any amendment to the registration statement of which this document is part;
- the restructuring transactions must be approved by the membership of the CBOT; and
- the CBOT must receive a favorable ruling from the IRS and any required approvals by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

On October 24, 2001, the CBOT, CBOT Holdings and the Chicago Board Options Exchange entered into a letter agreement that, among other things, specified the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 agreement will apply upon completion of the restructuring transactions as revised to provide for the holding company structure. In addition, among other things, the parties agreed that for purposes of the August 7, 2001 agreement:

- the common stock of CBOT Holdings would correspond to the "Class A Common Stock" referred to in the August 7, 2001 agreement;
- the Series B-1, B-2, B-3, B-4 and B-5, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary would correspond to the "Class B Common Stock" or applicable series thereof referred to in the August 7, 2001 agreement; and
- the Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary would correspond to the "Exercise Coupon" referred to in the August 7, 2001 agreement.

In a related action, on August 30, 2001, 10 members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange filed a motion for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction against the Chicago Board Options Exchange and the CBOT, alleging that the then pending Chicago Board Options Exchange membership vote on the settlement agreement between the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange would breach the 1992 agreement, which includes as a recital article fifth (b) of the certificate of incorporation of the Chicago Board Options Exchange. According to plaintiffs, article fifth (b) and the 1992 agreement require approval of the August 7, 2001 agreement by 80% of members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange and 80% of CBOT members or their delegates who have become members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange pursuant to the exercise right. Plaintiffs asked the court to enjoin approval of the settlement agreement by members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange and to enjoin the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange from enacting the provisions of the settlement agreement. Both the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange filed motions to dismiss, which were granted by the court on September 17, 2001.

On September 13, 2002, the CBOT, CBOT Holdings and the Chicago Board Options Exchange entered into a letter agreement that, among other things, specified the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 agreement and the October 24, 2001 letter agreement will apply upon completion of the restructuring transactions, as refined subsequent to the October 24, 2001 letter agreement. In addition, among other things, the parties agreed that for purposes of the August 7, 2001 Agreement the exercise right will continue to be available to Full Members (or their delegates) under the terms of the August 7, 2001 Agreement and the October 24, 2001 letter agreement notwithstanding the restriction on transfers applicable to Series B-1, Class B memberships.

Notwithstanding entry into the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements, we cannot assure you that the Chicago Board Options Exchange will not take other actions in the future to challenge or interfere with the exercise right or that it will not otherwise be successful in terminating the exercise right or preventing Full Members from exercising such right in the future. For more information about these risks, see "Risk Factors--Risks Relating to the Restructuring Transactions--The "Exercise Right' Could be Subject to Further Challenge by the Chicago Board Options Exchange."

You are being asked to ratify the agreements recently entered into by us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange. We have included as Appendices E-1, E-2 and E-3 to this document a copy of the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements, respectively. We urge you to review carefully all three agreements before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Patent Rights Litigation. On May 5, 1999, the CBOT, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, the New York Mercantile Exchange and Cantor Fitzgerald, L.P., were sued by Electronic Trading Systems, Inc. in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas (Dallas Division) for alleged infringement of Wagner United States patent 4,903,201, entitled "Automated Futures Trade Exchange." On February 1, 2001, the complaint was amended to allege that CBOT infringed the patent by operating Project A, which we decommissioned in August 2000, as well as the a/c/e system. The amended complaint seeks treble damages, attorney's fees and preliminary and permanent injunctions against all defendants. The district court denied our motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction and our motion to transfer the case to the Northern District of Illinois. On April 16, 2001, we asserted a right to be indemnified with respect to this litigation by Eurex Frankfurt AG in connection with its provision of market supervision services. Eurex has disputed that obligation. On April 25, 2001, we were advised that an interest in the patent had been transferred to eSpeed, Inc. On June 5, 2001, the court allowed eSpeed to join the case as a plaintiff. On October 12, 2001, the court issued an order interpreting the asserted claims of the Wagner patent. On August 23, 2002, the CBOT and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange entered into a settlement with eSpeed Inc. and Electronic Trading Systems Inc., and the plantiffs' claims were dismissed with prejudice. In connection with the settlement, the CBOT acquired a license to the Wagner patent.

Soybean Antitrust Litigation. On November 14, 1989, plaintiff Sanner brought suit against us. This case is pending in federal court in the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division. The one remaining count in this case is an antitrust claim for monetary damages brought on behalf of a class of soybean farmers alleging a conspiracy to fix the price of cash soybeans. The claim is based on an emergency order promulgated by our board of directors in connection with the July 1989 soybean futures contract. The other defendants in this suit are certain individuals alleged to have been involved in recommending or implementing the emergency order. All of the other claims brought in plaintiff's original complaint, which was filed in 1989, have been dismissed.

The court certified the Sanner case as a class action, but a motion for reconsideration of this decision is pending. The court denied our motion for summary judgment but without prejudice to reassert a motion for summary judgment on the issues of market power and antitrust injury.

In September 2001, the court issued a ruling with respect to defendants' motion to strike the testimony of plaintiffs' only expert, Professor Jeffrey Williams. The court's ruling limits the testimony that plaintiffs' expert will be allowed to give in this case. In light of this limitation, we filed a supplemental brief in support of our motion for reconsideration of the court's class certification ruling, and filed a motion for summary judgment reasserting our arguments pertaining to market power, antitrust injury and standing. In June 2002, the court denied the motion for summary judgment, but has yet to rule on the motion for reconsideration of the class certification decision. The court has set a trial date of September 17, 2002.

MANAGEMENT AND EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Directors and Executive Officers

The CBOT board of directors currently consists of 18 directors, including:

- the chairman of the board;
- the vice chairman of the board;
- nine elected directors who are Full Members and of whom at least two are nonresident;
- four non-member directors nominated and approved by the board of directors;
- two elected directors who are Associate Members; and
- the president and chief executive officer, who serves as a non-voting member of the board.

Currently, there is one vacant non-member directorship.

The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as members of the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders following completion of the restructuring transactions. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will then consist of the chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, a vice-chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, eight directors who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, two directors who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, three directors who will be "independent" within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings who will be appointed by the board of directors as a non-voting director. Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of each such corporation following their election and will not be subject to term limits.

The elected directors of CBOT Holdings will be classified into two classes of directors consisting of eight directors and seven directors, respectively. The first class of directors will consist of the chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and two independent directors. The second class of directors will consist of the vice-chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

Set forth below are the names, ages and positions of the persons currently serving as directors and executive officers of each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT. As described above, immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions, the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary will consist of the members of the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions. We currently expect that, subject to resignation or removal, the current executive officers of each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT will continue to serve as executive officers of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, respectively, immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. However we can provide no assurances in this regard.

Committees of the Board of Directors

It is currently expected that the members of these committees will be elected by CBOT Holdings' board of directors following the effectiveness of the restructuring transactions. Each of these committees is described in more detail below.

Nominating Committee

It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have a nominating committee consisting of four members who will be directors elected by the board to serve on such committee. We currently expect that the nominating committee will initially include the chairman of the board, one independent director and, if serving on the board, the chief executive officer. This committee will review the qualifications of potential candidates and will propose to the then-sitting board of directors for their review and approval nominees for vacant positions or positions expected to be vacant on the board of directors.

Executive Committee

It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have an executive committee consisting of directors elected by the board to serve on such committee. The Executive Committee will exercise the authority of the full board of directors when the board is not in session, except as required by the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of CBOT Holdings or applicable law.

We currently expect that directors of the CBOT subsidiary will not receive any fees, except that all directors of the CBOT subsidiary will receive reimbursement of expenses for travel to meetings to the extent such meetings do not coincide with meetings of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

Mr. Neubauer was elected by the members to serve as chairman of the board of directors in December 2000 and began to serve in such capacity in January 2001. Mr. Neubauer was paid a total of $240,000 in director's fees for 2001.

Employee Benefit Plans

Stock Plan

We are currently reviewing, and expect to adopt a stock plan under which stock-based awards may be made to employees and directors of CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries, including the CBOT subsidiary. In order to incent management, it is currently expected that CBOT Holdings will have a long-term equity incentive plan which will enable CBOT Holdings to grant to such individuals stock appreciation rights, performance awards and other similar awards. The purpose of the plan will be to enable CBOT Holdings to attract and retain highly qualified employees, officers and directors.

401(k) and Thrift Plan

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will maintain the 401(k)-type plan currently sponsored by us and currently known as the "Employee Savings Plan." This is a defined contribution retirement plan intended to qualify under Section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code. Employees of CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will be eligible to participate in this plan after completing three months of continuous employment.

The following table describes the elective employee and matching employer contributions as defined under this plan, and the vesting of employer contributions:

Employee Contributions*	Employer Contributions
Basic Pre-Tax 1-4%.....	100% Match up to 4%
Voluntary Pre-Tax 5-30%.....	None
Voluntary After-Tax 1-10%...	None
Vesting.....	25% after working each of the first two calendar years. Participants become fully vested after completing three years of service.

- --------

* Subject to limits (Employee Contributions restricted to a combined limit of 40%) and other statutory annual limits.

Pension Plan

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will also maintain a non-contributory defined benefit pension plan that provides a predetermined amount of retirement income to eligible participants and their beneficiaries. To participate in this plan, an employee must complete one year of employment and be 21 years of age. The policy will be to fund currently required pension costs to the extent allowed for a tax deduction by the IRS. Participants become fully vested in the plan after five years of vesting service, i.e., one year of vesting service is obtained by completing 1,000 hours of work in a calendar year after age 18.

Health Plan

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will maintain the health plan currently sponsored by us which provides multiple medical and dental coverage options covering qualified participants and their eligible dependents. New employees are eligible to participate in the plan if working on a full-time basis after 30 days of consecutive active service. Plan funding is accomplished through a combination of fully insured and self-funded arrangements. Employees contribute specified amounts to the plan, depending on the medical or dental option elected and the number of dependents covered. The administration of claims is performed by insurance carriers and paid claims administrators.

Insurance Benefit Plan

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will maintain our non-contributory welfare plan providing life, disability and accidental death and dismemberment benefits to eligible participants. New employees are eligible to participate in the plan if working on a full-time basis after 30 days of consecutive active service. The plan pays certain insurance carriers premiums through which designated benefits are paid.

Non-Qualified Plans

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will maintain our non-qualified plans that are not subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. Employees whose compensation limits their benefits under Section 415 of the Internal Revenue Code are compensated at year end for any benefit shortfall based on current actuarial assumptions that mirror the defined benefit or defined contribution plans.

CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries also will maintain a nonqualified supplemental pension plan for certain former employees. The liability for this nonqualified plan is funded by life insurance on the lives of the participating employees. CBOT Holdings and its subsidiaries will succeed to the trust established by us for the purpose of administering the nonqualified plan.

Employment-Related Agreements

On April 18, 2000, Mr. Dutterer entered into a letter agreement with the CBOT and the CBOT entered into a letter agreement with the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, which agreements provided for Mr. Dutterer's employment as Interim President and Chief Executive Officer of the CBOT and his retention of his position as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation under the terms of his existing employment agreement with the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, as amended. Pursuant to the agreements, Mr. Dutterer was entitled to receive a base salary of $825,000 per year for his services to the CBOT and any discretionary bonus determined by our board of directors. His employment with the CBOT was "at will" and the CBOT is not responsible for any severance obligations. Under the agreements, the CBOT agreed to reimburse the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation for its payment of:

- Mr. Dutterer's base salary;
- applicable employment taxes; and
- the amount of any discretionary bonus awarded to Mr. Dutterer by the CBOT board of directors, with such reimbursement for employment taxes and bonus being grossed-up for any additional taxes resulting from the reimbursement.

All other expenses relating to the employment of Mr. Dutterer are the responsibility of the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation.

Pursuant to his agreement with the CBOT, Mr. Dutterer agreed to abstain from taking part in discussions and decisions that involve a potential conflict of interest between the CBOT and the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation. The agreement also contained certain confidentiality provisions and the CBOT's agreement to indemnify Mr. Dutterer and to provide liability insurance to the extent provided to the CBOT's other officers. Effective in January 2001, Mr. Dutterer resigned from his position as Interim President and Chief Executive Officer of the CBOT and returned to his position as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation on a full-time basis.

Vitale Agreement

On February 20, 2001, we entered into an employment agreement with David J. Vitale, our President and Chief Executive Officer, which has a term of four years unless terminated earlier by the CBOT or the Executive or as a result of Mr. Vitale's death or permanent disability. Under the agreement, Mr. Vitale is entitled to a base salary of $1,250,000 per year in addition to a performance bonus, which for fiscal year 2001 was $750,000. He is entitled to participate in all of our employee benefit plans that are generally available to senior management.

In addition, in the event that Mr. Vitale's term of employment terminates prior to achieving vested status under such employee benefit plans, he will be entitled to an additional benefit under a non-qualified deferred compensation plan in an amount equal to the amount of non-vested benefits accrued under such employee benefit plans. He is also entitled to have certain perquisites paid for or reimbursed by the CBOT, including club memberships, automobile allowance and financial planning and other professional expenses not to exceed $25,000.

In addition, Mr. Vitale received an incentive award, consisting of equity appreciation rights, which will entitle him to receive the benefit of any appreciation in the value of the CBOT's memberships and/or their post-restructuring equivalents. The equity appreciation rights, which have been granted in the form of appreciation units, give Mr. Vitale the right to receive the excess of the fair market value of the covered equity with respect to an appreciation unit on the date such appreciation unit is exercised over the grant value of such appreciation unit.

The following table summarizes the type, number, grant value and covered equity with respect to each appreciation unit granted to Mr. Vitale, as modified to reflect the holding company structure adopted by the board of directors in October 2001 and set forth in a letter agreement, which we expect to enter into with Mr. Vitale prior to the completion of the restructuring transactions.

EQUITY APPRECIATION RIGHTS			COVERED EQUITY
Class of Appreciation Unit	Number of Appreciation Units	Grant Value Per Unit	Membership Equivalent Per Unit	Common Stock Equivalent Per Unit	Class B Membership Equivalent Per Unit	Class C Membership Equivalent Per Unit
A-1A.....	25	$400,000	1 Full Membership	A-1 Conversion Shares	1 Series B-1	1 Class C
A-1B.....	10	$600,000	1 Full Membership	A-1 Conversion Shares	1 Series B-1	1 Class C
A-2.....	10	$80,000	1 Associate Membership	A-2 Conversion Shares	1 Series B-2	--
A-4.....	5	$10,000	1 IDEM Membership	A-4 Conversion Shares	1 Series B-4	--
A-5.....	5	$20,000	1 COM Membership	A-5 Conversion Shares	1 Series B-5	--

The number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings covered by an appreciation right will be dependent upon the number of shares of common stock issued with respect to the membership equivalent for such appreciation unit following completion of the restructuring transactions. The appreciation rights will generally vest in accordance with the schedule set forth in the following table:

	Number of Applicable Appreciation Units Vested
Class of Appreciation Unit	February 20, 2002	February 20, 2003	February 20, 2004	February 20, 2005
A-1A.....	10 Units	5 Units	5 Units	5 Units
A-1B.....	4 Units	2 Units	2 Units	2 Units
A-2.....	4 Units	2 Units	2 Units	2 Units
A-4.....	2 Units	1 Unit	1 Unit	1 Unit
A-5.....	2 Units	1 Unit	1 Unit	1 Unit

In the event that Mr. Vitale's term of employment is terminated because of death, he would be entitled to receive his base salary through the end of the sixth calendar month following the calendar month during which his employment is terminated and any portion of the incentive award that is not vested would immediately vest. In the event that Mr. Vitale's term of employment is terminated because of permanent disability, he would be entitled to receive his base salary through the earlier of the expiration of his employment agreement and the first year of such permanent disability, and would be entitled to receive one-half his base salary during the remaining term of the employment agreement, if any. In addition, upon permanent disability, any portion of the incentive award that is not vested would immediately vest. If Mr. Vitale is terminated by the CBOT for cause, terminates employment without good reason or the employment agreement reaches the end of its term, he would be entitled to his base salary through his last day of employment and any portion of the incentive award that has not been exercised would be forfeited. In the event that the CBOT terminates Mr. Vitale without cause or Mr. Vitale terminates with good reason, Mr. Vitale would be entitled to his base salary through the expiration of his employment agreement and any portion of the incentive award that is not vested would immediately vest; provided that any unexercised incentive awards shall be forfeited four years following the date of termination. In addition, Mr. Vitale would be entitled to payment of his performance bonus of $750,000 in the event that the date of termination without cause or for good reason occurs prior to payment of performance bonuses for fiscal year 2001.

In the event that the restructuring transactions are not completed within 12 months of the date of the employment agreement, which term may be extended by Mr. Vitale for six months, thereafter, Mr. Vitale may terminate the employment agreement in the thirty day period immediately following the end of such term. Under such circumstances, he would be entitled to receive his base salary through the earlier of the expiration of his employment agreement and the end of the second full fiscal year following the fiscal year of his election to terminate employment and any portion of the incentive award that is not exercised would be forfeited. In the event of a change of control, Mr. Vitale or the CBOT may terminate Mr. Vitale's employment, and Mr. Vitale would be entitled to receive his base salary through the earlier of the expiration of his employment agreement and the end of the second full fiscal year following the fiscal year such change of control occurs and all outstanding incentive awards would become vested immediately prior to the transaction giving rise to the change of control.

Mr. Vitale is also subject to certain non-competition and non-solicitation provisions during the employment term and, in the event his employment agreement is terminated prior to expiration, for one year following the date of termination.

In February 2002, the CBOT entered into a letter agreement with Mr. Vitale, which provides, among other things, a minimum performance bonus for Mr. Vitale and an extension of the period in which Mr. Vitale may terminate the employment agreement in the event that the restructuring transactions are not completed to the terms of the employment agreement. In addition, the later agreement confirmed the parties' understanding of the employment agreement in light of recent refinements to the restructuring transactions.

Other Agreements

We also have an Executive Employment Agreement with Carol A. Burke, our Executive Vice President and General Counsel. The term of the agreement began May 18, 1999 and generally runs until May 18, 2002 or the earlier death, total and permanent disability or termination of the executive. The employment period under the agreement will be extended for one calendar month for each calendar month after May 2001 that Ms. Burke serves under her agreement. The CBOT and Ms. Burke each have the right to provide notice to the other party to their respective agreements of their intent to cease extending such agreement and, upon such notice, the term of such agreement shall terminate 12 calendar months following the furnishing of notice of such intent. The agreement provides for a base salary of $500,000 and annual increases as determined by our board of directors in its sole discretion. The agreement provides that the executive is entitled to participate in all of our employee benefit plans that are generally available to senior management, including post-employment medical and dental benefits.

In the event of Ms. Burke's disability, she would receive her base compensation for the first year during which she is under the disability. After the first year, she would receive one-half of her base pay during the remainder of the disability, but not beyond the end of the employment term. This disability pay would be reduced to the extent she receives payments from other sources such as insurance as a result of the disability. We may terminate her if the disability is total and permanent, in which case she would be entitled to her base compensation through the end of the employment term. Pursuant to the agreement, Ms. Burke agrees to certain non-competition provisions during the employment term and for one year thereafter.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

We describe generally below the material terms of the capital stock of CBOT Holdings. However, this description is not complete. For a complete description of the terms of our capital stock, we refer you to the forms of amended and restated certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings, which are attached as Appendices F and G, respectively, to this document. WE URGE YOU TO READ THOSE DOCUMENTS CAREFULLY BEFORE VOTING ON THE PROPOSITIONS RELATING TO THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS.

For more information about our capital stock and how your rights and obligations as stockholders of CBOT Holdings and members of the CBOT subsidiary will differ from your current rights and obligations as CBOT members, see "Comparison of the Rights of Members of the CBOT Prior to and After Completion of the Restructuring Transactions."

GENERAL

Under its certificate of incorporation, the authorized capital stock of CBOT Holdings will consist of 39,802,650 shares of common stock, $0.001 par value per share.

Immediately following the completion of the restructuring transactions, 39,802,650 shares of common stock will be outstanding. The shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings issued in connection with the restructuring transactions will be validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable.

DESCRIPTION OF COMMON STOCK

Overview

The common stock will represent an equity interest in CBOT Holdings and will generally have traditional features of common stock, including, among other things, dividend, voting and liquidation rights.

Dividend Rights

Subject to the limitations under Delaware law and priorities and preferences that may apply to any outstanding shares of preferred stock, holders of common stock will be entitled to receive such dividends or other distributions as may be declared by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings out of funds legally available therefor.

It is not currently anticipated that CBOT Holdings will pay cash dividends on its common stock in the near future. However, CBOT Holdings may later determine to pay cash dividends out of its available surplus.

Voting

Unless otherwise required by the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings or applicable law, holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to one vote per share with respect to all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings are entitled to vote generally, including the election of directors, amendments to the certificate of incorporation, mergers, sales of all or substantially all of the corporate assets or property or a dissolution. Except as may be required by Delaware law or the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, the common stock will be the only capital stock of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in the election of directors and on all other matters presented to the stockholders of CBOT Holdings. The common stock will not have cumulative voting rights.

Board of Directors. The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as members of the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders following completion of the restructuring transactions. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will then consist of the chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, a vice-chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, eight directors who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, two directors who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, three directors who will be "independent" within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings who will be a non-voting director. Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of each such corporation following their election and will not be subject to term limits.

The elected directors of CBOT Holdings will be classified into two classes of directors consisting of eight directors and seven directors, respectively. The first class of directors will consist of the chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and two independent directors. The second class of directors will consist of the vice-chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

No Conversion, Preemptive or Subscription Rights

The holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings will have no conversion, preemptive or subscription rights.

Liquidation Rights

Upon any liquidation, dissolution or winding up of CBOT Holdings, whether voluntary or involuntary, holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to receive pro rata such assets as are available for distribution to stockholders after there shall have been paid or set apart for payment the full amounts necessary to satisfy any preferential or participating rights to which holders of each outstanding series of preferred stock, if any, are entitled by the terms of such series. In other words, each share of common stock of CBOT Holdings shall have equal liquidation rights.

Transfer Restrictions

The shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will generally be subject to a complete restriction on transfer. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, stockholders may transfer all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock associated with a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary if all such shares of common stock are transferred together with the associated Class B membership (i.e., 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-1, Class B membership, 5,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-2, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, 2,500 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-3, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, 300 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-4, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, and 350 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-5, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary). The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings must be amended to remove or reduce the foregoing restrictions on transfer of the common stock. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

The Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will also be subject to a complete restriction on transfer. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, the holder of a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary may transfer a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary if such Class B membership is transferred together with all, but not less than all, the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings then held and associated with such Class B membership (i.e., 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-1, Class B membership, 5,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-2, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, 2,500 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-3, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, 300 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-4, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, and 350 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings with one Series B-5, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary). The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer of the Class B memberships. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and the approval of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. .In addition, the exercise of the trading rights and privileges associated with the Class B memberships will be subject to substantially the same restrictions that currently apply, including, in the case of Series B-3, Class B memberships, that such memberships may not be sold or transferred without eliminating the associated trading rights and privileges. Holders of Class B memberships will remain subject to the application and approval process applicable to CBOT membership candidates. Under that process, any adult, other than an employee of the CBOT subsidiary, of good character, reputation, financial responsibility and credit will be eligible to become a Class B member of, and exercise trading rights and privileges at, the CBOT subsidiary. Candidates will be reviewed to determine whether they meet applicable requirements in accordance with the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary.

The Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will not be subject to any transfer restrictions. However, a holder of a Class C membership seeking to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange must hold 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and one Series B-1, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, along with such Class C membership, in each case subject to certain adjustments, in order to be eligible to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Accordingly, if you are a Full Member of the CBOT, you should give careful consideration to this requirement before either transferring some or all of your common stock of CBOT Holdings without all of your other shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and your Series B-1, Class B membership and Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary or transferring your Series B-1, Class B membership or Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary without all of your shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

The existing limited partnership interests in Ceres are currently subject to certain transfer restrictions which result in the Ceres limited partnership interests being "stapled" to the CBOT memberships. As a result of the above-described transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, and substantially similar transfer restrictions that will be applicable to the existing limited partnership interests in Ceres, all of these interests will be "stapled" together after the completion of the restructuring transactions. This means that, unless and until these transfer restrictions are eliminated or modified, these interests can only be transferred together.

In addition to the restrictions discussed above, shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings received in connection with the restructuring transactions by "affiliates" may be resold only pursuant to further registration under the Securities Act or in transactions that are exempt from registration under the Securities Act.

Other Provisions

CBOT Holdings will establish a number of change of control provisions that may have the effect of encouraging persons considering unsolicited tender offers or other unilateral takeover proposals to negotiate with CBOT Holdings' board of directors rather than pursue non-negotiated takeover attempts. Some of these provisions will be implemented pursuant to the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and others will be implemented independently. These provisions will include the following:

Advance Notice Procedures. CBOT Holdings' bylaws will contain provisions requiring that advance notice be delivered to CBOT Holdings of any business to be brought by a stockholder before an annual meeting of stockholders and providing for certain procedures to be followed by stockholders in nominating persons for election to the CBOT Holdings board of directors.

Generally, such advance notice provisions will require that a stockholder must give written notice to the secretary of CBOT Holdings not less than 20, nor more than 60, days prior to the first anniversary of the date on which CBOT Holdings first mailed its proxy materials for the preceding year's annual meeting of stockholders. In each case, the notice must set forth specific information regarding such stockholder and each director nominee or other business proposed by such stockholder, as applicable, as provided in the bylaws. Except as described below with respect to nominations by stockholders of CBOT Holdings for persons to be elected to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings at a special meeting of stockholders at which directors are to be elected, stockholders will not be permitted to make proposals, or bring other business, to a special meeting of stockholders.

Nominations by stockholders for persons to be elected to the CBOT Holdings board of directors at a special meeting of the stockholders, if directors are to be elected at such meeting, generally will require that a stockholder give written notice to the secretary of CBOT Holdings not later than the later of the 90th day prior to such special meeting or the 10th day following the day on which public announcement is first made of the date of the special meeting and of the nominees proposed by the CBOT Holdings board of directors.

If nominations are made in accordance with such advance notice procedures, CBOT Holdings shall, to the extent it prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy, at its own expense, related to such nominee that is provided with respect to the board of directors' nominees include the name of such nominee and all other information in such proxy statement and form of proxy in the event that:

- a stockholder proposes to nominate an individual for election or reelection as a director of CBOT Holdings;

- such stockholder has satisfied each of the terms and conditions described above for the nomination of such nominee; and

- such stockholder has delivered to the secretary of CBOT Holdings a written petition executed by at least 40 holders of Class B Memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary proposing to nominate such nominee,

Special Meetings of Stockholders. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation and bylaws will provide that the chairman of the board, the president or the board of directors may call special meetings of the stockholders. In addition, the chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting upon the written request of the holders of at least 10% of all outstanding shares entitled to vote on the action proposed to be taken at such meeting.

No Action by Written Consent of Stockholders. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation will require that all stockholder actions must be taken by a vote of the stockholders at an annual or special meeting, and will not permit the stockholders to take action by written consent without a meeting.

Amendment of Certificate of Incorporation. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation will generally require the approval of not less than a majority of the voting power of all then-outstanding shares of stock of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class, in order to amend the certificate of incorporation.

Amendment of Bylaws. CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation will generally require the approval of not less than a majority of the votes cast at any annual or special meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings, in order to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws in response to a stockholder proposal.

Delaware Anti-Takeover Statute. CBOT Holdings will elect to be subject to a Delaware anti-takeover law. Subject to certain exceptions, this statute prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging in a "business combination" with an "interested stockholder" for a period of three years after the date of the transaction in which the person became an interested stockholder, unless:

- prior to such date, the board of directors of the corporation approved either the business combination or the transaction which resulted in the stockholder's becoming an interested stockholder;

- upon completion of the transaction which resulted in the stockholder's becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding, for purposes of determining the number of shares outstanding, those shares owned by persons who are directors and also officers and by employee stock plans in which employee participants do not have the right to determine confidentially whether shares held subject to the plan will be tendered in a tender or exchange offer; or

- on or after such date, the business combination is approved by the board of directors and authorized at an annual or special meeting of stockholders, and not by written consent, by the affirmative vote of at least 66 2/3% of the outstanding voting stock which is not owned by the interested stockholder.

For purposes of this statute, a "business combination" includes a merger, asset sale or other transaction resulting in a financial benefit to the interested stockholder, and an "interested stockholder" is a person who, together with affiliates and associates, owns 15% or more of the corporation's voting stock or a person who is an affiliate of the corporation and who did own, within three years prior to the date of determination whether the person is an "interested stockholder," 15% or more of the corporation's voting stock.

Limitation of Liability of Directors

The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will provide, as authorized by Delaware law, that a director of CBOT Holdings will not be personally liable to CBOT Holdings or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability imposed by law, as in effect from time to time:

- for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to CBOT Holdings or its stockholders;
- for any act or omission not in good faith or which involved intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law;
- for unlawful payments of dividends or unlawful stock repurchases or redemptions as provided by Delaware law; or
- for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit.

The inclusion of this provision in our certificate of incorporation may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against directors, and may discourage or deter stockholders or management from bringing a lawsuit against directors for breach of their duty of care, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise have benefitted CBOT Holdings and its stockholders.

The bylaws of CBOT Holdings will provide that CBOT Holdings will indemnify its directors and officers and may indemnify its employees and agents to the fullest extent permitted by law. The bylaws will also permit CBOT Holdings to secure insurance on behalf of any officer, director, employee or other agent for any liability arising out of his or her actions in that capacity, regardless of whether the bylaws would permit indemnification.

Transfer Agent

We have selected LaSalle Bank, National Association to serve as transfer agent and registrar for the common stock of CBOT Holdings following completion of the restructuring transactions.

Instead of receiving share certificates, you will receive account statements reflecting your respective ownership interest in shares of the common stock of CBOT Holdings. Your book-entry shares will be held with our transfer agent, LaSalle Bank, National Association, who will serve as the record keeper for all holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings. However, any holder of the common stock of CBOT Holdings who would like to receive a physical certificate evidencing his or her shares of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will be able to obtain a certificate at any time at no charge by contacting the transfer agent.

COMPARISON OF THE RIGHTS OF MEMBERS OF THE CBOT PRIOR TO AND AFTER COMPLETION OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

OVERVIEW

As a result of the restructuring transactions, the CBOT will be demutualized by creating a stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to our members, while maintaining the CBOT as a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings in which our members will hold memberships entitling them to certain trading rights and privileges on the exchange operated by such subsidiary. In addition, in connection with the restructuring transactions, our board of directors has approved and adopted, and we are proposing for your consideration, certain significant changes to our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations. Generally speaking, these changes are designed to implement a more modern and efficient corporate governance structure.

You are being asked to approve and adopt the certificates of incorporation and bylaws of each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary as part of the restructuring transactions. The certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings will become effective prior to the time the reorganization merger becomes effective and the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary will become effective at the time the reorganization merger becomes effective, with the exception of a provision in the CBOT's bylaws that is designed to confirm that GIMs, IDEMs, and COMs are members for purposes of Delaware law, which will become effective immediately following membership approval of the restructuring transactions. By voting in favor of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions, you will be voting to approve and adopt this amendment to the CBOT's bylaws in advance of the completion of the restructuring transactions. Upon the effectiveness of these changes to our corporate governance structure, certain of your rights and obligations as stockholders of CBOT Holdings and as members of the CBOT subsidiary will change from those that you currently have as members of the CBOT. In this section, we will describe those changes that we believe to be material. WE URGE YOU TO CAREFULLY REVIEW AND CONSIDER THESE CHANGES IN YOUR RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS BEFORE VOTING ON THE PROPOSITIONS RELATING TO THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS.

The following description summarizes the material differences between the rights and obligations of holders of the CBOT memberships prior to and after completion of the restructuring transactions. We do not intend this summary to be a complete statement of the rights and obligations of holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings or memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, or a comprehensive comparison of the rights and obligations of members of the CBOT prior to and after completion of the restructuring transactions, or a complete description of the specific provisions referred to in this summary. We do not intend that this identification of specific differences is to indicate that other equally or more significant differences do not exist.

THE FORMS OF CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION AND BYLAWS OF CBOT HOLDINGS ARE ATTACHED AS APPENDICES F AND G, RESPECTIVELY, TO THIS DOCUMENT AND THE FORMS OF CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION AND BYLAWS OF THE CBOT SUBSIDIARY ARE ATTACHED AS APPENDICES H AND I, RESPECTIVELY, TO THIS DOCUMENT. OUR CURRENT CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION, BYLAWS AND RULES AND REGULATIONS HAVE BEEN FILED AS EXHIBITS TO THE REGISTRATION STATEMENT OF WHICH THIS DOCUMENT FORMS A PART. IN ADDITION, THE FORM OF THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE CBOT SUBSIDIARY, WHICH, SUBJECT TO CHANGES TO THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OCCURRING FROM TIME TO TIME AFTER THE DATE OF THIS DOCUMENT, WE CURRENTLY EXPECT TO BE THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE CBOT SUBSIDIARY IMMEDIATELY AFTER COMPLETION OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS, HAS BEEN FILED AS AN EXHIBIT TO THE REGISTRATION STATEMENT. A SUMMARY OF THE STATUS OF CERTAIN CURRENT CBOT RULES AND REGULATIONS AS A RESULT OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS IS ATTACHED AS APPENDIX J TO THIS DOCUMENT. WE URGE YOU TO REVIEW AND CONSIDER CAREFULLY EACH OF THESE DOCUMENTS BEFORE VOTING ON THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS.

FOR-PROFIT STATUS; AUTHORITY TO ISSUE CAPITAL STOCK

Currently, our certificate of incorporation expressly provides that the CBOT is not-for-profit and has no authority to issue capital stock. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that it remains without authority to issue capital stock but that it is for-profit. CBOT Holdings, as the holder of the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary, will be entitled to receive all profits, i.e., distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation, from the CBOT subsidiary. The certificate of incorporation for CBOT Holdings will provide that it is for-profit and has the ability to issue capital stock, which will enable CBOT Holdings to issue the shares of common stock to be issued to the CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions.

Dividends

Delaware law currently provides that corporations, whether for-profit or not-for-profit, may declare and pay dividends on the shares of its stock, or to its members if the corporation is a nonstock corporation, out of funds legally available for such purposes. Neither the CBOT's, CBOT Holdings' nor the CBOT subsidiary's certificate of incorporation otherwise restricts the CBOT's, CBOT Holdings' or the CBOT subsidiary's respective authority to declare and pay dividends. Consequently, the CBOT, under the current certificate of incorporation, CBOT Holdings, under its certificate of incorporation, and the CBOT subsidiary, under its certificate of incorporation, are, for purposes of Delaware law, authorized to declare and pay dividends.

CBOT Holdings will have the ability to declare and pay dividends to its common stockholders, and the CBOT subsidiary will have the ability to declare and pay dividends to its Class A member, CBOT Holdings, in each case, out of funds legally available for such purposes. Stock corporations may pay dividends out of their "surplus" as defined under Delaware law or, in certain circumstances out of "net profits" for the fiscal year in which the dividend is declared and/or the preceding fiscal year. However, the right to receive dividends as common stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be subject to priorities and preferences that may apply to any outstanding shares of preferred stock.

The demutualization of the CBOT pursuant to the restructuring transactions has been designed to provide that the mechanism for the distribution of legally available funds, if any, to the CBOT members after completion of the restructuring transactions will be the declaration and payment of dividends on the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be able to determine, in its sole and absolute discretion, the time of declarations and payments, if any, of dividends on the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

We have no current plans to pay cash dividends on the common stock of CBOT Holdings in the near future. However, although we can provide no assurances in this regard, CBOT Holdings may later determine to pay cash dividends out of its available surplus.

Authorized Capital

Currently, our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations authorize the following classes of CBOT membership:

- Full;
- Associate;
- GIM (and one-half Associate Membership);
- IDEM; and
- COM.

In order to authorize any additional classes of CBOT membership, it would be necessary to amend our bylaws or rules, which are deemed part of the bylaws. The authorized or maximum number of Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs under the bylaws and rules is 866, 351, 642 and 643, respectively. Our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations do not expressly provide for an authorized or maximum number of Full Memberships. However, our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations do not authorize the creation of new members in existing classes. Therefore, we believe that the creation of new members would require an amendment to our rules, which, in the case of Full Members, has the result of creating a de facto authorized or maximum number of Full Memberships equal to the current number of such memberships, which is 1,402.

Under its amended and restated certificate of incorporation, CBOT Holdings will be authorized to issue up to 39,802,650 shares of common stock, par value $0.001 per share. The common stock of CBOT Holdings will generally have traditional features of common stock, including, among other things, dividend, voting and liquidation rights. Immediately after completion of the restructuring transactions, there will be 39,802,650 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings issued and outstanding.

As a result, based on the foregoing, following completion of the restructuring transactions, the board of CBOT Holdings will not be authorized to issue any additional shares of its common stock without requiring an amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings and without stockholder approval. The authorization of any additional shares of common stock would require an amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, which would, in turn, require appropriate stockholder approval.

The creation of any additional classes of common stock of CBOT Holdings will require an amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings.

Under the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary, it will be authorized to issue up to:

- one Class A membership;
- 1,402 Series B-1, Class B memberships;
- 867 Series B-2, Class B memberships;
- 152 Series B-3, Class B memberships;
- 642 Series B-4, Class B memberships;
- 643 Series B-5, Class B memberships; and
- 1,402 Class C memberships.

Immediately after completion of the restructuring transactions, we currently expect that the following memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be outstanding:

- one Class A membership;
- 1,402 Series B-1, Class B memberships;
- 791 Series B-2, Class B memberships;
- 152 Series B-3, Class B memberships;
- 642 Series B-4, Class B memberships;
- 643 Series B-5, Class B memberships; and
- 1,402 Class C memberships.

The sole Class A membership, which will be held by CBOT Holdings, will entitle CBOT Holdings to the right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT subsidiary, as well as the exclusive right to receive all distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary. Each of the five series of Class B membership will entitle an eligible holder to trading rights and privileges that correspond to the trading rights and privileges of one of the five current classes of CBOT membership. The Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary will, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Neither the Class B nor Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will entitle the holder to receive any distributions, dividends or proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT subsidiary.

The creation of any additional classes or series of memberships or the creation of any additional authorized memberships from the classes or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary described above would require an amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary, which would require the approval of the CBOT subsidiary's board of directors and Class A member. In addition, any amendment which would adversely affect the authorized number of Class B memberships would require a class vote of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships.

Terms and Conditions of Membership

Currently, the terms and conditions of membership in the CBOT are set forth in our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations. The terms and conditions of membership, including all trading rights and privileges, will continue to be set forth in the CBOT subsidiary's certificate of incorporation and bylaws, which will include the rules and regulations. The terms and conditions of membership in the CBOT include, among other things, general provisions related to application for membership, member rights, privileges and obligations, member conduct and discipline, registration, assessments and fees, purchase and sale or transfers of memberships or membership interests, insolvency and trading and other rights and privileges of the various classes of membership.

As described above, the Class B memberships will be issued in five separate series: Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that each holder of Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B memberships who satisfies the membership and eligibility requirements with respect to a Full Membership, Associate Membership, GIM Membership, IDEM Membership or COM Membership, respectively, in each case, as set forth in the CBOT subsidiary's rules and regulations, will be entitled to all of the rights and privileges, including all trading rights and privileges, of a CBOT Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM or COM, as the case may be, subject to applicable Delaware law or as otherwise provided in the CBOT subsidiary's certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations.

In addition, the certificate of incorporation for the CBOT subsidiary will provide that one Class C membership, which will, subject to satisfaction of certain terms and conditions, entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange, will be issued to each CBOT Full Member.

Transferability

Currently, memberships may be purchased or sold pursuant to transfer mechanisms established by our rules and regulations.

Following completion of the restructuring transactions, the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will generally be subject to a complete restriction on transfer, except to the extent otherwise described in greater detail elsewhere in the document.

Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, stockholders may transfer all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings associated with a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary if all such shares of common stock are transferred together with the associated Class B membership. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer of the common stock. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

The Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will be subject to a complete restriction on transfer. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, the holders of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary may transfer Class B memberships if such Class B memberships are transferred together with all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings associated with the Class B memberships. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer on the Class B memberships. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and the approval of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the exercise of the trading rights and privileges associated with the Class B memberships will be subject to substantially the same restrictions that currently apply, including, in the case of Series B-3, Class B memberships, that such memberships may not be sold or transferred without eliminating the associated trading rights and privileges, and satisfaction of the application and approval process applicable to CBOT membership candidates. Under that process, any adult, other than an employee of the CBOT subsidiary, of good character, reputation, financial responsibility and credit will be eligible to become a Class B member of, and exercise trading rights and privileges at the, CBOT subsidiary. Candidates will be reviewed to determine whether they meet applicable requirements in accordance with the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary.

The Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will not be subject to any transfer restrictions. However, a holder of a Class C membership seeking to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange must hold 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and one Series B-1, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, along with such Class C membership, in each case subject to certain adjustments, in order to be eligible to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Accordingly, if you are a Full Member of the CBOT, you should give careful consideration to this requirement before either transferring some or all of your common stock of CBOT Holdings without all of your other shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and your Series B-1, Class B membership and Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary or transferring your Series B-1, Class B membership or Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary without all of your shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

The existing limited partnership interests in Ceres are currently subject to certain transfer restrictions which result in the Ceres limited partnership interests being "stapled" to the CBOT memberships. As a result of the above-described transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, and substantially similar transfer restrictions that will be applicable to the existing limited partnership interests in Ceres, all of these interests will be "stapled" together after the completion of the restructuring transactions. This means that, unless and until these transfer restrictions are eliminated or modified, these interests can only be transferred together.

Voting Rights

Under the CBOT's current certificate of incorporation and bylaws, Full Members and Associate Members have the right to vote on all matters submitted to a vote of the general membership. Each Full Member is entitled to one vote per Full Membership and each Associate Member is entitled to one-sixth of one vote per Associate Membership on all such matters. GIMs, IDEMs and COMs have no right to vote under the current certificate of incorporation and bylaws.

The holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally, including, among other things, the election of directors to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. As a result, to the extent that they hold shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs will have the right to vote on all matters upon which the stockholders of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to vote generally. In addition, the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings among members in connection with the completion of the restructuring transactions will result in a dilution of the Full Members' voting rights relative to the voting rights of Associate Members, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs.

The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt and recommend for membership approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, except as provided below, CBOT Holdings, the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, which will include the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, without approval from the membership. However, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have the exclusive right to vote on any proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect the following core rights:

- the allocation of products that a holder of a specific series of Class B membership is permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the CBOT subsidiary, e.g., the elimination of any product from a holder's trading rights and privileges;

- the requirement that, subject to certain limited exceptions agreed to by the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will be charged transaction fees for trades of the CBOT subsidiary's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a Class B member for the same products;

- the authorized number of any class or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;

- the membership and eligibility requirements to become a Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary or to exercise the associated trading rights or privileges; and

- the commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary may initiate other proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. The members of the CBOT subsidiary will not be entitled to initiate binding proposals to take any action that requires board approval, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary, or as described above, proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings. Member proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of votes cast at such special or annual meeting.

Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one vote per membership and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one-sixth of one vote per membership in any vote with respect to a proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect any of the above-described core rights and on any proposal initiated by Series B-1 and/or Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B members and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposal.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT Subsidiary will provide that one-third of the voting power of the Class B memberships entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum.

As a result of the modifications to the voting rights of CBOT members, the influence of Full and Associate members will be reduced, and this reduction may lead to decisions and outcomes that differ from those made under our current certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations.

Liquidation Rights

The CBOT's current rules and regulations provide that, in the event of a full liquidation of the CBOT, the members would share in the proceeds from dissolution in an approximate ratio of 6.00 : 1.00 : 0.67 : 0.03 : 0.03 for each Full Membership, Associate Membership, GIM, IDEM and COM, respectively.

In the event of a full liquidation of CBOT Holdings, liquidating distributions will be made to common stockholders pro rata based on the number of shares of common stock they hold. In the event of the full liquidation of the CBOT subsidiary, the Class A member, which will be CBOT Holdings, will be entitled to all liquidating distributions. Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not be entitled to any distributions upon the liquidation of the CBOT subsidiary. As a result of the allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and the creation of the holding company structure in connection with the restructuring transactions, Full Members and GIMs will experience a decline in their liquidation rights relative to the liquidation rights of Associate Members, IDEMs and COMs.

Proceeds of Membership

Under our current rules and regulations, proceeds from the transfer of a membership are subject to certain prior claims of other members against the seller of that membership. As a result of the restructuring transactions, our members will receive a combination of interests consisting of both common stock of CBOT Holdings and memberships in the CBOT subsidiary. As described in greater detail elsewhere in this document, the CBOT Holdings common stock and the Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be linked together for an indefinite period of time. Due to this linkage, we believe that there is significant uncertainty concerning the application of this rule after the completion of the restructuring transactions. Absent special circumstances, proceeds from the transfer of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will not be subject to the prior claims of the holders of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary unless and to the extent that such holders have otherwise perfected a security interest in the transferred shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, such as receiving a pledge of such shares. The rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that the proceeds of any transfer of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be subject to the priority of payments provision that is currently applicable to the transfer of CBOT memberships. However, we are not aware of any court that has considered the applicability of such a provision in the context of linked common stock and memberships. Accordingly, while we currently intend to retain this provision in the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, there is uncertainty as to whether, how and to what extent the priority of payments provision would be enforced in accordance with its terms.

We currently believe that, following completion of the restructuring transactions, the claims of Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary should continue to have an automatic priority over the claims of non-members against the proceeds of the sale of Class B and Class C memberships in substantially the same manner as the priority associated with current CBOT memberships. However, the restructuring transactions involve significant changes to our organizational structure and, as a result, we cannot provide any assurances in this regard. In particular, we are not aware of any court that has considered the enforceability of such a provision in the context of memberships issued by a demutualized exchange. The rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that the proceeds of any transfer of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be subject to the priority of payments provision that is currently applicable to the transfer of CBOT memberships.

Amendment of Certificate of Incorporation

Under our current certificate of incorporation, amendments to the certificate of incorporation must be adopted by the board of directors in accordance with Delaware law and then submitted to a vote of the membership. Proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation will be adopted if at least 300 votes have been cast at a special meeting of the membership and a majority of the votes cast were in favor of the proposal.

Under the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings, amendments must also be adopted by the board of directors and then submitted to a vote of the stockholders. However, proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation will be adopted only if at least a majority of the voting power of all of the then-outstanding shares of stock of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class, are voted in favor of the proposal. As a result, it will be more difficult to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings.

In addition, the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that amendments must be approved by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and submitted to a vote of the membership. However, Class B and Class C members will not have the right to vote on matters that require approval by the members of the CBOT subsidiary, except that Series B-1 and B-2, Class B members will have the limited right to vote on amendments that would adversely affect certain core rights relating to the trading rights and privileges associated with Class B memberships.

Amendment of Bylaws and Rules and Regulations; Modification of the Petition Process

Currently, our certificate of incorporation provides that the bylaws, which include the rules, may only be adopted, amended or repealed with the approval of the membership. Proposed amendments to the bylaws may be independently recommended by the board of directors for submission to a vote at a special meeting of the membership. In addition, 25 or more voting members have the right to petition for the board of directors' approval to call a special meeting of the membership for the purpose of voting on amendments to the bylaws. If the board of directors does not approve the initial petition, 100 or more voting members have the right to petition for such special meeting and such special meeting will then be called by the board of directors or the chairman of the board in accordance with the procedures set forth in the certificate of incorporation and bylaws, See "--Special Meetings." Proposals to amend the bylaws, including the rules, will be adopted if at least 300 votes have been cast at a special meeting and a majority of the votes cast were in favor of the proposal. This process, together with certain other provisions of the bylaws, rules and regulations, effectively vests in the voting membership the authority to adopt, amend and repeal bylaws, including the rules, which, together with our certificate of incorporation and the regulations, generally govern the rights and obligations of the members of the CBOT.

In connection with the restructuring transactions, the boards of directors of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary will each generally have the authority to adopt, repeal and amend the bylaws, including, among other things, the provisions relating to the qualifications relating to directors of the CBOT subsidiary of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, respectively, without approval by the holders of its common stock or members, as the case may be. In addition, the requirement that members approve all changes to the bylaws, which will include the rules and regulations, will be substantially eliminated. However, subject to limitations under applicable law, the stockholders of CBOT Holdings and the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary each will also have the ability to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws of CBOT Holdings or the CBOT subsidiary, respectively, at any annual or special meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings or members of the CBOT subsidiary, respectively. For each organization, the chairman of the board, the president or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the stockholders or members, as applicable, upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings or the members of the CBOT subsidiary, as applicable. The ability of the holders of common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Class B and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary to participate in the day-to-day management and operations of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, respectively, will be reduced. In contrast to the substantial rights of current CBOT members pursuant to the petition process, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will have rights somewhat more consistent with those of stockholders of a publicly held corporation and members of the CBOT subsidiary will have reduced rights relative to the members of the CBOT.

Specifically, the holders of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will be entitled to initiate proposals to amend the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and non-binding recommendations that the board consider proposals, including proposals to amend the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings. Any proposal brought by stockholders of CBOT Holdings may be brought at to a vote at a special meeting or at an annual meeting in accordance with the bylaws of CBOT Holdings described below and will require the approval of a majority of the votes cast at such annual or special meeting, provided certain quorum requirements are met. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will provide that at least one third of the total voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings entitled to vote generally in the election of directors must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum. The certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings will provide that the chairman and the board of directors will have the right to call such special meetings. In addition, the chairman of the board, the president or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the members of CBOT Holdings upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings. In addition, the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of CBOT Holdings without the approval of the stockholders. The bylaws of CBOT Holdings will contain provisions requiring that advance notice be delivered to CBOT Holdings of any business to be brought by a stockholder before an annual or special meeting of stockholders and providing for certain procedures to be followed by stockholders in nominating persons for election to CBOT Holdings' board of directors. Generally, such advance notice provisions will require that for an annual meeting a stockholder must give written notice to the secretary of CBOT Holdings not less than 20, nor more than 60, days prior to the first anniversary of the date on which CBOT Holdings first mailed its proxy materials for the preceding year's annual meeting of stockholders. In each case, the notice must set forth specific information regarding such stockholder and each director nominee or other business proposed by such stockholder, as applicable, as provided in CBOT Holdings' bylaws.

The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt and recommend for membership approval amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and, except as provided below, CBOT Holdings, the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will have the authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, which will include the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary, without approval from the membership. However, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect the following core rights:

- the allocation of products that a holder of a specific series of Class B membership is permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the CBOT subsidiary, e.g., the elimination of any product from a holder's trading rights and privileges;

- the requirement that, subject to certain limited exceptions agreed to by the CBOT and Chicago Board Options Exchange, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will be charged transaction fees for trades of the CBOT subsidiary's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a Class B member for the same products;

- the authorized number of any class or series of memberships in the CBOT subsidiary;

- the membership and eligibility requirements to become a Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary or to exercise the associated trading rights or privileges; and

- the commitment to maintain current open outcry markets so long as each such market is deemed liquid unless the discontinuance of any such market is approved by the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will also have the exclusive right to vote on any amendment to the transfer restrictions set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary may initiate other proposals, including proposals to adopt, repeal or amend the bylaws and non-binding recommendations that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary consider proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary. Member proposals may be initiated at an annual or special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary after satisfying certain advance notice requirements and will require the approval of a majority of votes cast at such special or annual meeting.

Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary will have one vote per membership and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary will have one-sixth of one vote per membership in any vote with respect to a proposed amendment to the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary that would adversely affect any of the above-described core rights and on any proposal initiated by Series B-1 and/or Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B members and Class C members of the CBOT subsidiary will not have the right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposal.

The chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting of the members of the CBOT subsidiary upon the written request of at least 10% of the voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT Subsidiary will provide that one-third of the voting power of the Class B memberships entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy in order to constitute a quorum.

Under our current certificate of incorporation and bylaws, the rules are deemed to be part of the bylaws and are therefore subject to the petition process described above. Under the CBOT subsidiary's certificate of incorporation and bylaws, the rules and regulations will be incorporated into the bylaws and the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, will have authority to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, including, among other things, the provisions relating to the qualifications for directors of the CBOT subsidiary, in the manner described above.

Election of Directors

Currently, our certificate of incorporation provides that the nominating committee will nominate candidates to stand for election to the board of directors. In addition, members have the right to petition, which petition must be signed by at least 40 members, to nominate other candidates to stand for election to the board of directors.

Under the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings, nominations for directors will be made by the nominating committee of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and may be made by stockholders satisfying the advance notice requirements described above under "Description of Capital Stock--Other Provisions--Advance Notice Procedures." As a result of the advance notice requirements under CBOT Holdings' bylaws, stockholder influence on the nomination process in connection with the election of directors may be diminished.

Nomination Procedures for Directors.

It is currently expected that the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will designate a nominating committee to recommend to the board of directors nominations of persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings. In addition to nominations made by the nominating committee, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will also be entitled to nominate persons to stand for election as directors of CBOT Holdings if the nominee is qualified and the stockholder satisfies certain advance notice requirements. If the stockholder satisfies each of these conditions and delivers a petition executed by at least 40 Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, CBOT Holdings and/or the CBOT subsidiary will, to the extent either prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy to its stockholders or members at its own expense, include the name of such nominee and all other information related to such nominee that is provided with respect to the board of directors' nominees in such proxy statement and form of proxy.

The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will provide that the holder of the Class A membership, which will be CBOT Holdings, will be entitled to elect directors to serve on the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. However, it will be a qualification that each director of the CBOT subsidiary serve on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, which will generally result in CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary having boards of directors that are identical in size and composition.

Special Meetings

Currently, our certificate of incorporation and bylaws provides that 25 or more voting members have the right to petition for the board of directors' approval to call a special meeting of the membership for the purpose of voting on amendments to the bylaws. If the board of directors does not approve the initial petition, 100 or more voting members have the right to petition for such special meeting and such special meeting will then be called by the board of directors or the chairman of the board in accordance with the procedures set forth in the certificate of incorporation and bylaws. Independently, the board of directors or the chairman of the board may call for a special meeting of the membership for any purpose to be held at such place, on such date, and at such time as they or he or she fix.

Under the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, special meetings of the stockholders and special meetings of the members, as applicable, may be called by the chairman of the board, the president or by the board of directors acting pursuant to a resolution of a majority of such board of directors, in each case of CBOT Holdings or the CBOT subsidiary, as applicable. In each case the chairman of the board or the board of directors will be required to call a special meeting upon the written request of the holders of at least 10% of all outstanding shares or memberships entitled to vote on the action proposed to be taken at such meeting.

Annual Meetings

Under our current bylaws, the annual meeting of the members is required to be held on the first Thursday after the third Tuesday in February at 2:30 p.m. As a matter of practice, member matters are generally not submitted to a vote at such meeting.

Under the bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, and to the fullest extent required by applicable law, an annual meeting will be required to be held for the purpose of electing directors and transacting such other business as may be properly called come before the meeting at such place, on such date, and at such time as the board of directors shall each year fix, provided that, in the case of CBOT Holdings, the date of the annual meeting shall be within 13 months of the last annual meeting of stockholders as required by applicable law.

Assessments and Dues

The board of directors of the CBOT currently possesses the authority to levy assessments upon the CBOT membership as it may deem necessary or advisable to meet certain anticipated operating deficits. The board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary will continue to possess the authority to levy assessments upon the CBOT subsidiary membership on substantially the same terms as the board of directors of CBOT. The common stock of CBOT Holdings will be issued as fully-paid and non-assessable. As such, CBOT Holdings will have no authority to assess its stockholders.

Conversion Rights

Our current certificate of incorporation and bylaws provide that GIM Memberships are converted into one-half Associate Memberships upon the sale of such memberships and permits the conversion of two one-half Associate Memberships into one Associate Membership.

Following completion of the restructuring transactions, two Series B-3, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary will be convertible at the option of the holder, at any time, into a Series B-2, Class B membership. This convertibility feature is designed to facilitate our current plan to phase out GIM Memberships and, after completion of the restructuring transactions, Series B-3, Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary.

Repeal of Certain Rules and Regulations

In order to implement certain changes to the corporate governance structure of the CBOT subsidiary in connection with the restructuring transactions, certain rules and regulations will be repealed or eliminated in their entirety. A summary of those rules and regulations that will be repealed or eliminated in their entirety in connection with the restructuring transactions is set forth in Appendix J to this document, which is entitled, "Status of Certain Current CBOT Rules and Regulations as a Result of the Restructuring Transactions." We urge you to review this summary carefully before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. Of course, other changes to the rules and regulations not related to the restructuring transactions may be implemented from time to time after the date of this document in accordance with the provisions of our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations.

Board of Directors

The directors serving on the board of directors of the CBOT immediately prior to completion of the restructuring transactions will continue as members of the boards of directors of both CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions. The continuing directors will serve for the duration of their current terms with the exception of the current public directors, whose terms will end in connection with the first annual election following completion of the restructuring.

The size of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings will be reduced from 18 directors to 16 directors in connection with the first annual meeting of stockholders following completion of the restructuring transactions. The board of directors of CBOT Holdings will then consist of the chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, a vice-chairman of the board, who will be a Series B-1, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, eight directors who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, two directors who will be Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, three directors who will be "independent" within the meaning of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the president and chief executive officer of CBOT Holdings who will be appointed by the board of directors as a non-voting director. Except as described below, each director of CBOT Holdings will be elected to serve as a director until the second annual meeting of each such corporation following their election and will not be subject to term limits.

The elected directors of CBOT Holdings will be classified into two classes of directors consisting of eight directors and seven directors, respectively. The first class of directors will consist of the chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and two independent directors. The second class of directors will consist of the vice-chairman of the board, four directors, who will be Series B-1, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary, one director, who will be a Series B-2, Class B member of the CBOT subsidiary, and one independent director.

At the first annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect nine directors, consisting of all of the directors from the first class of directors and the one independent director from the second class of directors. The directors of the first class will be elected to serve until the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, and the independent director of the second class will be elected to serve until the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

At the second annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect three directors from directors of the second class who will serve until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. At the third annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions, the stockholders will elect eight directors from the first class and four directors from the second class. The directors from the first class will be elected to serve until the fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions and the directors from the second class will be elected to serve as directors until the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions. Thereafter, each class of directors will be elected at every other annual meeting, beginning with the second class at the fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings following the completion of the restructuring transactions.

In connection with the election of directors to the new sixteen-member board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it is anticipated that CBOT Holdings, as the sole Class A member of the CBOT subsidiary, which is the sole membership entitled to vote in the election of directors, will elect the same persons as members of the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary. In order to ensure that the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary is generally identical in size and composition to the board of directors of CBOT Holdings, it will be a qualification for service as a director of the CBOT subsidiary that such director also serve at the same time on the board of directors of CBOT Holdings.

Change of Control Provisions

Currently, our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations do not contain robust change of control provisions.

CBOT Holdings will establish a number of change of control provisions that may have the effect of encouraging persons considering unsolicited tender offers or other unilateral takeover proposals to negotiate with the board of directors of CBOT Holdings rather than pursue non-negotiated takeover attempts. These provisions will include, among other things:

- a classified board of directors with staggered terms of office;
- advance notice requirements in connection with stockholder meetings;
- a prohibition on the ability of stockholders to take action by written consent; and
- the application of the provisions of the Delaware anti-takeover statute.

In addition, we currently anticipate that, in the event that CBOT Holdings were to conduct an underwritten public offering of its common stock in the future, the board of directors would be asked to consider, and may adopt, a stockholder rights plan. For more information about these provisions, see "Description of Capital Stock--Other Provisions." We have no current plan or intention to conduct any such offering.

These provisions could have the following effects, among others:

- delaying, deferring or preventing a change of control;
- delaying, deferring or preventing the removal of existing management;
- deterring potential acquirors from making an offer to CBOT's Holdings' stockholders; and
- limiting any opportunity of CBOT Holdings' stockholders to realize premiums over prevailing market or other prices of CBOT Holdings' common stock in connection with offers by potential acquirors.

This could be the case notwithstanding that a majority of CBOT Holdings' stockholders might benefit from such a change in control or offer.

Appraisal Rights

Under Delaware law and subject to certain exceptions, stockholders of CBOT Holdings will have appraisal rights in connection with a merger or consolidation of CBOT Holdings with another entity. Appraisal rights allow a stockholder to dissent from the merger or consolidation and receive the fair value of the stockholder's shares in cash. Appraisal rights will also generally be available to the members of the CBOT subsidiary, as they are presently available to CBOT members, in connection with a merger or consolidation of the CBOT subsidiary with another entity, subject to certain exceptions. Under Delaware law, however, appraisal rights are not available in connection with a merger or consolidation of two nonstock corporations and, accordingly, appraisal rights are not available to any CBOT members in connection with the restructuring transactions.

The 39,802,650 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to be distributed in connection with the restructuring transactions will generally be subject to a complete restriction on transfer. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, stockholders may transfer all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings associated with a Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary if all such shares of common stock are transferred together with the associated Class B membership. The certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer of the common stock. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings will require approval by the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of the stockholders of CBOT Holdings.

The Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary generally will be subject to a complete restriction on transfer. Notwithstanding this restriction on transfer, the holders of Class B memberships in the CBOT subsidiary may transfer Class B memberships if such Class B memberships are transferred together with all, but not less than all, of the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings associated with the Class B memberships. The certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary must be amended to remove or reduce this restriction on transfer on the Class B memberships. An amendment to the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will require approval by the board of directors of the CBOT subsidiary and the approval of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the CBOT subsidiary. In addition, the exercise of the trading rights and privileges associated with the Class B memberships will be subject to substantially the same restrictions that currently apply, including, in the case of Series B-3, Class B memberships, that such memberships may not be sold or transferred without eliminating the associated trading rights and privileges, and satisfaction of the application and approval process applicable to CBOT membership candidates. Under that process, any adult, other than an employee of the CBOT subsidiary, of good character, reputation, financial responsibility and credit will be eligible to become a Class B member of, and exercise trading rights and privileges at the, CBOT subsidiary. Candidates will be reviewed to determine whether they meet applicable requirements in accordance with the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary.

In addition, a holder of a Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary seeking to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange must hold 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and one Series B-1, Class B membership in the CBOT subsidiary, along with such Class C membership, in each case subject to certain adjustments, in order to be eligible to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange without having to purchase a membership on such exchange. Accordingly, if you are a Full Member of the CBOT, you should give careful consideration to this requirement before either transferring some or all of your common stock of CBOT Holdings without all of your other shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and your Series B-1, Class B membership and Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary or transferring your Series B-1, Class B membership or Class C membership in the CBOT subsidiary without all of your shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings.

The existing limited partnership interests in Ceres are currently subject to certain transfer restrictions which result in the Ceres limited partnership interests being "stapled" to the CBOT memberships. As a result of the above-described transfer restrictions applicable to the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the memberships in the CBOT subsidiary, and substantially similar transfer restrictions that will be applicable to the existing limited partnership interests in Ceres, all of these interests will be "stapled" together after the completion of the restructuring transactions. This means that, unless and until these transfer restrictions are eliminated or modified, these interests can only be transferred together.

Common stock of CBOT Holdings received in connection with the restructuring transactions by "affiliates" may be resold only pursuant to further registration under the Securities Act or in transactions that are exempt from registration under the Securities Act.

Sales of substantial amounts of common stock of CBOT Holdings in the open market, or the availability of such shares for sale, could adversely affect the price of our common stock and/or our other capital stock.

MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

The following general discussion constitutes the opinion of Kirkland & Ellis, tax counsel to CBOT Holdings and the CBOT, as to the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of completion of the restructuring transactions, subject to the qualifications described below. This opinion is based upon the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, the United States Treasury Department regulations promulgated thereunder, judicial authority and current administrative rulings and practice now in effect, all of which are subject to change at any time, including with possible retroactive effect, or different interpretations. This opinion does not discuss all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to a particular CBOT member in light of such member's particular circumstances or to CBOT members subject to special treatment under the U.S. federal income tax laws, and this opinion does not discuss any aspects of state, local or foreign tax laws.

In issuing rulings to other exchanges involved in the process of demutualization, the Internal Revenue Service has adopted the position that:

- the equity component of a membership or stock is to be treated as separate property from the trading rights associated with that membership or stock so that the demutualization will be treated, in effect, as two exchanges, an exchange of the equity components and an exchange of the trading rights; and

- the taxability of each exchange must be tested under the relevant provisions of the Code applicable to the particular property rights.

Thus, we understand that, under this IRS position, the exchange of the equity components will be tested for tax-free status under the corporate reorganization or corporate formation provisions, as applicable, and the exchange of the trading rights will be treated as taxable or not based on whether there is any significant modification in the legal rights associated with those rights under Code Section 1001, which provides for recognition of gain or loss on the sale or exchange of property. The IRS has not taken a position on whether, even if there is a significant modification of the trading rights, the exchange would nevertheless constitute a tax-free exchange of like-kind property under Code Section 1031.

Based upon the foregoing, it is the opinion of Kirkland & Ellis that:

- No gain or loss will be recognized by a CBOT member with respect to the receipt of common stock of CBOT Holdings or the Class A, Class B or Class C memberships of the CBOT subsidiary, including any associated right to trade on the CBOT or Chicago Board Options Exchange. The IRS may take the position that the Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary represents a separate trading right from that relating to the right to trade on the CBOT itself.

- If the foregoing exchanges do not result in the recognition of gain or loss, the aggregate basis in a member's current membership will carry over to the property received and must be allocated to the various components. If the equity rights and the trading rights are treated as separate property for tax purposes, the basis in the equity rights will be allocated among the equity rights received in proportion to their fair market values, and the basis in the existing trading rights will carry over to the basis of the trading rights received. It is not entirely clear how basis will be allocated between trading rights and equity rights because no separate market exists for those property rights. Members of the CBOT who intend to sell some but not all of their stock or memberships should consult their own tax advisors.

- The holding period of the common stock of CBOT Holdings or the Class B or Class C memberships of the CBOT subsidiary, will include the period for which such person's current membership has been held, provided that such membership is held as a capital asset or property described in Code Section 1231 on the date of the distribution of the stock or memberships, as the case may be.

- The CBOT will not recognize any gain or loss upon its demutualization and creation of the holding company structure.

It is a condition to the CBOT's obligation to complete the restructuring transactions that it receive a private letter ruling from the IRS generally to the effect that receipt by members of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary and a private letter ruling or an opinion of counsel to the effect that receipt by CBOT Holdings of a Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary and receipt by members of common stock of CBOT Holdings, in form and substance satisfactory to our board of directors, will have the foregoing effects. On October 30, 2001, the CBOT filed a request for the ruling with the IRS. Because of the novelty and complexity of the restructuring transactions, it is unclear at this time whether the IRS will issue a favorable ruling or, if the IRS is willing to issue a ruling, when the ruling will be received. Because none of the other exchanges in the process of demutualization has presented the IRS with facts identical to those of the CBOT or the restructuring transactions described in this document, in particular with respect to the capitalization and the Chicago Board Options Exchange exercise right, no assurance can be given that the IRS will issue a favorable ruling or, if so, how long it will take to obtain such a ruling. Any such ruling would generally be binding on the IRS. Although an IRS ruling can be revoked or modified retroactively under some extraordinary circumstances, we are not aware of any such circumstances that would cause the IRS to revoke or modify any such ruling with respect to the restructuring transactions.

BECAUSE OF THE COMPLEXITY OF THE TAX LAWS, AND BECAUSE THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS TO YOU MAY BE AFFECTED BY MATTERS NOT DISCUSSED IN THIS SECTION, YOU ARE URGED TO CONSULT YOUR OWN TAX ADVISOR WITH RESPECT TO YOUR OWN PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES AND WITH RESPECT TO THE SPECIFIC TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS TO YOU, INCLUDING THE APPLICABILITY AND EFFECT OF STATE, LOCAL AND FOREIGN TAX LAWS AND ANY PROPOSED CHANGES IN APPLICABLE TAX LAWS.

Persons Making the Solicitation

The proxy solicitation being made pursuant to this document is being conducted on behalf of the CBOT board of directors.

Time and Place of Special Meeting

The special meeting will be held on , , 2002 at 2:30 p.m., central time, in the Visitor Center Theater, Fifth Floor, at our executive offices located at 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60604.

Matters To Be Approved

Full Members and Associate Members are being asked to approve each of the following three propositions relating to the restructuring transactions described more fully in this document:

(1) the approval and adoption of the agreement and plan of merger relating to the reorganization merger;

(2) ratification of the August 7, 2001 agreement and the related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements entered into by us and the Chicago Board Options Exchange; and

(3) the approval and adoption or ratification, as applicable, of all other matters relating to the restructuring transactions, including, among other things, a new certificate of incorporation and bylaws for each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary, a technical amendment to the CBOT's bylaws clarifying the status of GIMs, IDEMs and COMs as members for purposes of Delaware law which will become effective immediately following CBOT membership approval of the restructuring transactions and certain changes to the rules and regulations.

Description of Propositions

Proposition 1: Approval and Adoption of the Merger Agreement between the CBOT and CBOT Merger Sub

This proposition is to approve and adopt the agreement and plan of merger between the CBOT and CBOT Merger Sub Inc., a transitory subsidiary of CBOT Holdings formed for the purpose of effectuating the merger. The agreement and plan of merger effectuates the CBOT merger, which we will perform in order to effect the demutualization of the CBOT, as described in this proxy statement and prospectus. The form of the agreement and plan of merger is attached to this proxy statement and prospectus as Appendix C.

Upon the execution of the agreement and plan of merger and the filing of the articles of merger, as required by the agreement and plan of merger, the combination of CBOT Merger Sub with and into the CBOT will occur, with CBOT Holdings becoming the holder of the sole Class A membership in the CBOT subsidiary. The merger of CBOT Merger Sub with and into the CBOT and the distribution by the CBOT of the common stock of CBOT Holdings collectively constitute the demutualization, but the distribution by the CBOT of the common stock of CBOT Holdings will not occur if the CBOT merger is not consummated.

Proposition 2: Ratification of Certain Agreements and Letter Agreements between the CBOT and the Chicago Board Options Exchange

On August 7, 2000, the CBOT entered into an Agreement with the Chicago Board Options Exchange for the stated purpose of resolving the dispute between the parties regarding the exercise right within the context of the restructuring transactions. On October 24, 2001 and on September 13, 2002, the CBOT and the Chicago Board of Trade entered into Letter Agreements, which specify the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 Agreement will apply upon completion of the restructuring transactions, as subsequently revised and further refined. We have included as Appendices E-1, E-2, and E-3 to this proxy statement and prospectus a copy of the August 7, 2001 Agreement and related October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements, respectively. This proposition asks that the membership of the CBOT ratify the CBOT's execution of the August 7, 2001 Agreement and the October 24, 2001 and September 13, 2002 letter agreements.

Proposition 3: Approval and/or Ratification of All other Matters Relating to the Restructuring Transactions

This proposition is to approve and adopt, or, as applicable, to ratify, all other matters relating to the restructuring transactions.

Included in this proposition is the request to ratify the new certificate of incorporation and bylaws for each of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary. The adoption and effectiveness of the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary will occur by operation of law upon the consummation of the CBOT Merger, which you will have the opportunity to vote to approve and adopt in proposition 1. The adoption of the certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings requires the approval of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings and the approval of the CBOT, as sole stockholder in CBOT Holdings and will become effective upon the filing of an amended and restated certificate of incorporation with the state of Delaware, which we expect will occur immediately prior to the consummation of the restructuring transactions. Approval of the amendments to the Bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT requires the approval of the boards of directors of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT, respectively, and we expect that the boards will condition the effectiveness of such amendments upon the consummation of the restructuring transactions. The form of certificate of incorporation of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary are included as Appendices F and H to this proxy statement and prospectus, respectively. The form of amended and restated Bylaws of CBOT Holdings and the CBOT subsidiary are included as Appendices G and I to this proxy statement and prospectus, respectively.

Also included in this proposition is the request that the membership of the CBOT approve a technical change to the Bylaws of the CBOT, which technical change will become effective immediately following membership approval of the propositions. This technical amendment clarifies that, for purposes of the CBOT Merger, GIM, IDEM and COM membership interests are memberships in the CBOT for purposes of Delaware law. Obtaining member approval of this technical amendment to the bylaws is not required under Delaware law, but such approval is required under the current bylaws of the CBOT.

Also included in this proposition will be the ratification of certain changes to the rules and regulations of the CBOT, as described in Appendix J to this proxy statement and prospectus, which we expect will facilitate the demutualization and will enhance the ability of the CBOT subsidiary to modernize certain aspects of its corporate governance. These changes to the rules and regulations will become effective upon approval by the board of directors of the CBOT, which we currently expect will occur immediately prior to the consummation of the restructuring transactions.

Propositions 2 and, for certain matters, 3 seek ratification by the membership of certain matters relating to the restructuring transactions. Ratification is an expression of approval by members of one or more matters for which their approval is not required as a matter of law. In general, ratification by members is effective to approve actions taken by a corporation and its board of directors, even if the actions are challenged by some of the members, provided that such actions are not against public policy (such as actions involving fraud or similar egregious misconduct). The CBOT believes, therefore, that approval and ratification of these propositions relating to the restructuring transactions should bar any claim (other than for fraud or similar egregious misconduct) against the CBOT and its directors based on the restructuring transactions.

Although you are being asked to approve each of these three propositions separately, each of these propositions is related to, and expressly conditioned upon the approval of, the other propositions. This means that we will not take any one or more of these actions relating to the restructuring transactions without taking all actions, subject to the terms and conditions of such transactions as described in greater detail elsewhere in this document. Accordingly, unless ALL THREE of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions are approved by the requisite vote of the members as described in this document, the restructuring transactions will NOT have been approved by the members and, accordingly, none of them will be completed.

Eligibility to Vote

Although this document will be mailed to all CBOT members, you are eligible to vote at the special meeting only if you are a Full Member or Associate Member as of the date for the special meeting of the CBOT membership at which a vote on the restructuring transactions will be taken. In accordance with our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations, GIMs, IDEMs and COMs are not eligible to vote on the restructuring transactions.

Available Votes; Required Vote

Currently, there are 1,402 Full Members and 791 Associate Members of the CBOT. Under our certificate of incorporation, bylaws and rules and regulations, each Full Member will be entitled to one vote for each Full Membership owned and each Associate Member will have one-sixth of a vote for each Associate Membership owned. The restructuring transactions will be approved if Full Members and Associate Members, voting together as a single class based upon their respective voting rights, cast at least 300 votes at the special meeting, whether in person or by proxy, and at least a majority of the votes are cast in favor of all three of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions.

Under our certificate of incorporation, bylaws, rules and regulations, GIMs, COMs and IDEMs are not entitled to vote on the restructuring transactions.

Our directors and officers held memberships as of July 31, 2002 entitling them to cast an aggregate of 16 5/6 votes on the proposal, which would represent about 1.0% of the total votes that may be cast.

Board Recommendation

Our board of directors has determined that the restructuring transactions are in the best interests of the CBOT and its members and that the restructuring transactions are fair to each class of CBOT membership. Our board of directors has approved the restructuring transactions and recommends that you vote "FOR" approval of the restructuring transactions, including ALL THREE of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. Unless ALL THREE of these propositions are approved, the restructuring transactions will NOT have been approved by the members and, accordingly, will NOT be completed.

Manner of Voting; Costs

You may vote on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions by attending the special meeting in person and registering your vote. You may also vote by completing the enclosed proxy ballot and submitting it in accordance with its instructions.

In connection with the proxy ballot solicitation, please note the following instructions:

- Please mark the enclosed proxy ballot with respect to each proposition and provide your signature, printed name and date where indicated, and enclose and seal the completed proxy ballot in the yellow envelope addressed to the Secretary of the CBOT. Each proxy ballot must be signed in order to be effective.

You may vote "FOR" or "AGAINST" in the vote on each of the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. Proxy ballots that are duly executed and submitted with no voting direction as to a given proposition will be counted for purposes of constituting a quorum but will not be counted as a vote cast for such proposition. A proxy ballot with respect to such proposition that has more than one box marked for a given proposition, e.g., both "FOR" and "AGAINST," will not be counted as a vote cast. Your proxy ballot must be received prior to 2:15 p.m., central time, on , 2002 to be counted.

To obtain a replacement proxy ballot, please call Paul J. Draths, Secretary of the CBOT, at (312) 435-3500 between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., central time.

All proxies, ballots and tabulations that identify the vote of a particular member will be kept confidential, except as necessary to allow the third-party inspectors designated with respect to the vote on the propositions relating to the restructuring to certify the voting results or to meet other legal requirements. At the CBOT's request, such inspectors may provide the CBOT with a list of members who have not voted and periodic status reports on the aggregate vote. These status reports may include breakdowns of vote totals by different types of membership classes. However, it is currently expected that the CBOT will not be able to determine how individual members voted.

The cost of soliciting proxies will be borne by us. In addition to solicitation by mail, our directors, officers and employees may solicit proxies in person or by telephone.

INDEX TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Members of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc.

Chicago, Illinois

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of financial condition of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. and its subsidiaries (the "CBOT") as of December 31, 2001 and 2000, and the related consolidated statements of income, members' equity, and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2001. These financial statements are the responsibility of the CBOT's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As discussed in Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements, the CBOT adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities."

In our opinion, such consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2001 and 2000, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2001 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

AND SUBSIDIARIES

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the Years Ended December 31, 2001, 2000 and 1999

1. Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of presentation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., its wholly owned subsidiaries, including Electronic Chicago Board of Trade, Inc. ("eCBOT") established in 2000, which has a controlling general partner interest in Ceres Trading Limited Partnership ("Ceres"), which in turn holds a 50% ownership interest in CBOT/Eurex Alliance LLC ("CBOT/Eurex Alliance"), (collectively, the "CBOT"). The CBOT also holds a 9.75% interest in a joint venture called One Chicago, LLC ("One Chicago"). The CBOT accounts for its interests in CBOT/Eurex Alliance and One Chicago under the equity method. These investments are included in other assets on the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Business and proposed restructuring transactions

The CBOT operates markets for the trading of commodity and financial futures contracts, as well as options on futures contracts. Products traded on the exchange include domestic derivatives, global listed agricultural futures and options contracts (e.g. wheat, corn, and soybeans), and global listed financial futures and options contracts (e.g. U.S. Treasury bonds and notes). Products are traded on traditional open outcry auction markets on trading floors where members trade among themselves for their own accounts and for the accounts of their customers. Since 1992, products are also traded electronically. The CBOT also engages in market surveillance and financial supervision activities designed to ensure market integrity and provide financial safeguards for users of the markets. In addition, the CBOT markets and distributes real-time and historical market data generated for trading activity in its markets to users of its products and related cash and derivative markets.

For the past two and a half years the CBOT has been studying and developing a restructuring strategy. The current proposal contemplates the following:

- demutualize the CBOT by creating a stock, for profit holding company, CBOT Holdings, and distributing shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings to its members, while maintaining the CBOT as a non-stock, for-profit subsidiary of CBOT Holdings;

- adopt a revised corporate governance structure, which would substantially eliminate the membership petition process, adopt a more modern mechanism for initiating and voting on stockholder proposals, and make certain other changes designed to improve the CBOT's corporate decision-making process; and

- reorganize and consolidate the CBOT's electronic trading business, part of which is currently operated by Ceres, into eCBOT, which would be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of the CBOT subsidiary.

The foregoing proposal is subject to a number of conditions, including membership approval.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements do not reflect the effects of the proposed transactions.

Use of estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Actual amounts could differ from those estimates.

Revenue recognition

The largest source of the CBOT's operating revenues is exchange fees which are assessed on trades made through the CBOT. These fees are recognized as revenue in the same period that the trades are made. Adjustments to exchange fees, arising principally from corrections to member firm reporting, are recorded in the period such adjustments are reported to the CBOT. The CBOT recorded adjustments to exchange fees in the amount of a $4.6 million reduction, a $1.1 million addition and a $0.5 million reduction during 2001, 2000 and 1999, respectively.

The CBOT provides to market data vendors real time and delayed market data regarding the prices of the futures and options on futures contracts traded through the CBOT. Fees for market data, which are based on the number of subscribers, are remitted to the CBOT by market data vendors. The CBOT recognizes revenue for market data based on quotation services provided to market data vendors at the time services are rendered.

Revenues from the rental of office space is recognized over the life of the lease term, utilizing the straight-line method.

Service revenues consist primarily of telecommunication charges, badge fees, booth space rentals and membership application and registration fees, and are recognized when the services are provided.

Member dues are determined by the Board of Directors of the CBOT based upon various factors including the CBOT's cash and working capital requirements. Member dues are recognized over the period to which they relate.

Other revenue relates primarily to fines levied on members and member's firms for rule infractions, as determined by the CBOT's regulatory committees and board of directors. The fines are recognized as revenue when levied.

Property and equipment

Property and equipment, excluding land, are reported at historical cost, net of accumulated depreciation. Land is reported at cost. Computer software and systems include purchased and internally developed software, including software jointly developed with Deutsche Borse AG and the Swiss Stock Exchange (collectively the "Eurex Group") for use in electronic trading of financial derivative products. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets which are generally as follows:

Buildings and equipment	10 to 60 years
Furnishings and fixtures	3 to 10 years
Computer software and systems	3 to 5 years

Income taxes

The CBOT and its wholly owned subsidiaries file a consolidated federal income tax return. Income taxes are determined using the asset and liability method. Accordingly, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based upon the differences between financial statement carrying amounts and the tax bases of existing assets and liabilities, and are measured at the tax rates expected to be in effect when these differences reverse.

Cash flows

For purposes of the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, cash and cash equivalents include highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less from date of purchase.

Restricted Cash

Restricted cash consists of collateral required for purchase of foreign currency forward contracts.

Long-lived assets

Long-lived assets to be held and used by the CBOT are reviewed to determine whether any events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset may not be recoverable. The CBOT bases its evaluation on such impairment indicators as the nature of the assets, the future economic benefit of the assets, any historical or future profitability measurements, as well as other external market conditions or factors that may be present. If such impairment indicators are present or other factors exist that would indicate that the carrying amount of the asset may not be recoverable, the CBOT determines whether an impairment has occurred through the use of an undiscounted cash flows analysis of assets at the lowest level for which identifiable cash flows exist. In the event of an impairment, the CBOT recognizes a loss for the difference between the carrying amount and the estimated value of the asset as measured using quoted market prices or, in the absence of quoted market prices, a discounted cash flow analysis.

During the fourth quarter of 2001, formal discussions began and preliminary term sheets were shared regarding licensing a new version of the electronic trading platform. Based on management's assessment of the probable outcome of these discussions, management has concluded that the carrying value of the current electronic trading platform, included in computer software and systems, should be reduced. The carrying value represents the future undiscounted cash flows to be generated from the current electronic trading platform. As a result of management's evaluation, a $15.2 million pretax charge was recorded in the fourth quarter of 2001 to adjust the carrying value of the current electronic trading platform to its estimated realizable value. The adjustment is reflected in the Electronic Trading operating segment. The remaining carrying value of $12.5 million will be amortized through June 30, 2002.

Operating Segments

Management has identified three reportable operating segments: exchange floor trading, electronic trading and real estate operations. The CBOT evaluates segment reporting based on revenues and income from operations.

Derivative Instruments Held for Purposes Other Than Trading

The CBOT enters into derivative contracts as a means of reducing the CBOT's foreign exchange exposures. The CBOT's derivative program is monitored by senior management. The CBOT's risk of loss is typically limited to the fair value of its derivative instruments and not to the notional or contractual amounts of those derivatives. Risks arise from changes in the fair value of the underlying instruments and, with respect to over-the-counter transactions, from the possible inability of counterparties to meet the terms of the contracts. The CBOT has strict policies regarding the financial stability and credit standing of its major counterparties. The CBOT attempts to limit its credit risk by dealing with creditworthy counterparties.

At the inception of these contracts, the contracts are evaluated in order to determine whether they may qualify for hedge accounting treatment and prior to January 1, 2001, were accounted for either on a deferral, accrual or market value basis, depending on the nature of the CBOT's hedge strategy and the method used to account for the hedged item. Hedge criteria include demonstrating the manner in which the hedge will reduce risk, identifying the specific asset, liability or firm commitment being hedged, and citing the time horizon being hedged. Regular evaluations are performed to ensure that continuing correlation exists between the hedge and the item being hedged. See "Adoption of new accounting policies" for accounting policies adopted in 2001.

Adoption of new accounting policies

In 1999, the CBOT adopted Statement of Position ("SOP") 98-1, "Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software Developed or Obtained for Internal Use." SOP 98-1 provides guidance on accounting for the costs of computer software developed or modified for internal use. The adoption of SOP 98-1 did not have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements.

In 1999, the CBOT also adopted SOP 98-5, "Reporting on the Costs of Start-Up Activities." SOP 98-5 requires that start-up activities be expensed as incurred. Previously, start-up activities were capitalized and amortized on a straight-line basis over 60 months. The cumulative effect of this change in accounting principle as of January 1, 1999 was a charge of $2.9 million, net of a tax credit of $2.0 million.

On January 1, 2001, the CBOT adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities," as amended and interpreted. SFAS No. 133 requires recognition of all derivative instruments in the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition as either assets or liabilities and the measurement of those instruments at fair value. SFAS No. 133 also requires changes in the fair value of the derivative instruments to be recorded each period in current earnings or other comprehensive income depending on the hedge designation and whether the hedge is highly effective. If the derivative is designated as a fair-value hedge, the changes in the fair value of the derivative and the hedged item are recognized in earnings. If the derivative is designated in a cash-flow hedge, changes in the fair value of the derivative are recorded in other comprehensive income and are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Income when the hedged item affects earnings. SFAS No. 133 defines new requirements for designation and documentation of hedging relationships as well as ongoing effectiveness assessments in order to use hedge accounting. For a derivative that does not qualify, or is not designated, as a hedge, changes in fair value are recognized in earnings.

On January 1, 2001, the CBOT recorded in the Consolidated Statements of Income an $87,000 pretax loss ($51,000 loss, after tax) as the cumulative effect of the change in the foregoing accounting principle. The loss related to derivatives that were either not designated as hedges or derivatives that had been used as fair-value type hedges prior to adoption of SFAS No. 133. In addition, the CBOT recorded a $462,000 pretax gain in other comprehensive income, reflecting the cumulative effect of the foregoing change in accounting principle, relating to derivatives that had been used as cash-flow type hedges prior to adoption of SFAS No. 133.

The CBOT formally measures effectiveness of its hedging relationships both at the hedge inception and on an ongoing basis in accordance with its risk management policy. The CBOT will discontinue hedge accounting prospectively if it is determined that the derivative is no longer effective in offsetting changes in the fair value or cash flows of a hedged item; when the derivative expires or terminates; when the derivative is de-designated as a hedge instrument, because it is probable that the forecasted transaction will not occur; or management determines that designation of the derivative as a hedge instrument is no longer appropriate.

In June 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued SFAS No. 141, "Business Combinations," which established accounting and reporting standards for business combinations on or after July 1, 2001. All combinations in the scope of this statement are to be accounted for using the purchase method. The adoption of SFAS No. 141 did not have an impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

Recent accounting pronouncements

In June 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets," which established accounting and reporting standards for acquired goodwill and other intangible assets. SFAS No. 142, which is effective January 1, 2002 for the CBOT, addresses how intangible assets that are acquired individually or with a group of other assets (but not those acquired in a business combination) should be accounted for in financial statements upon their acquisition. SFAS No. 142 also addresses how goodwill and other intangible assets should be accounted for after they have been initially recognized in the financial statements. The adoption of SFAS No. 142 is not expected to have a significant impact on the CBOT's financial position or results of operations.

In June 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 143, "Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations," which addresses the financial accounting and reporting for obligations associated with the retirement of long-lived assets that result from the acquisition, construction, development and (or) the normal operation of a long-lived asset. This statement amends SFAS No. 19, "Financial Accounting and Reporting by Oil and Gas Companies." For the CBOT, this statement is effective January 1, 2003 and, when adopted is not expected to have a material impact on the financial position or results of operations.

In August 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets," which addresses the financial accounting and reporting for the impairment of disposal of long-lived assets. This statement supercedes SFAS No. 121, "Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets and for Long-Lived Assets to Be Disposed Of," and the accounting and reporting provisions of APB No. 30, "Reporting the Results of Operations--Reporting the Effects of Disposal of a Segment of a Business, and Extraordinary, Unusual and Infrequently Occurring Events and Transactions," for disposal of a segment of a business. For the CBOT, this statement is effective January 1, 2002 and, when adopted, is not expected to have a material impact on the financial position or results of operations.

Prior year reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made of prior year amounts to conform to current year presentations.

2. MINORITY INTERESTS IN SUBSIDIARIES

Ceres was formed by the CBOT for the purpose of engaging in activities related to financial and futures markets. The CBOT, through eCBOT, as general partner, holds a 10% interest in Ceres. Members of the CBOT are limited partners of Ceres. Under the terms of the Ceres partnership agreement, income and losses are allocated to the general partner and limited partners based on their partnership interests. Losses in excess of limited partner capital accounts are allocated to eCBOT, as general partner. The limited partners do not have rights that allow them to participate in the management of Ceres or rights that limit the CBOT's ability to control the operations of Ceres. Accordingly, the CBOT controls Ceres and Ceres is accounted for as a consolidated subsidiary of the CBOT.

The carrying value of the minority interest at December 31, 2001 and 2000 was zero as the losses of Ceres that were allocated to the minority partners exceeded the capital of such partners.

3. DEBT

Long-term debt at December 31 consisted of the following (in thousands):

	2001	2000
Private placement senior notes, due in annual installments through 2007, at an annual interest rate of 6.81%.....	$64,286	$75,000
Secured revolving credit agreement, due in 2001, at an annual interest rate based on LIBOR (6.6875% at December 31, 2000), plus .625%.....	--	7,300
Secured note payable, due in 2004, at an annual interest rate of 8.25%.....	7,990	--
Note payable to the Eurex Group, due in June 2002, at an annual interest rate of 6.25%.....	4,446	9,069
Total.....	76,722	91,369
Less current portion.....	18,398	27,083
Total.....	$58,324	$64,286

In March 2001, the CBOT entered into a secured note payable with a lending institution, under which the CBOT borrowed $10.0 million. The note payable is secured by certain assets of the CBOT with an approximate carrying value of $12.7 million at December 31, 2001. The CBOT primarily used the proceeds to retire the secured revolving credit agreement in the amount of $7.3 million.

Under the terms of an agreement between Ceres and the Eurex Group, Ceres agreed to pay to the Eurex Group certain amounts related to the modification of the CBOT's electronic trading systems. The payments to the Eurex Group are denominated in euros. Such amounts were hedged using foreign exchange forward contracts. The balances due at December 31, 2001 and 2000 were $4.4 million (5.0 million euros) and $9.3 million (9.8 million euros), respectively.

The aggregate amount of required principal repayments on the CBOT's long-term debt as of December 31, 2001 are as follows (in thousands):

2003	14,229
2004	11,951
2005	10,714
2006	10,714
Thereafter	10,716
Total	$76,722

On January 15, 2002, the CBOT entered an agreement with LaSalle Bank National Association to provide the CBOT with a $20.0 million revolving credit facility (the "Revolver"). The Revolver has a maturity date of one year from the closing date. Interest related to the Revolver is payable monthly at the lower of LIBOR plus 2.75% or the bank's prime rate. The Revolver contains certain covenants which, among other things, require the CBOT to maintain certain equity levels and financial ratios, as well as restrict the CBOT's ability to incur additional indebtedness, except in certain specified instances. The Revolver restricts the usage of the proceeds to the "Ceres Interest Repurchase and general corporate purposes." No principal is outstanding on the Revolver.

4. Income taxes

Deferred income taxes reflect the tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts for income tax purposes. These temporary differences result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years. Differences between financial reporting and tax bases arise most frequently from differences in the timing of expense recognition.

Significant components of the CBOT's deferred tax assets (liabilities) as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 are as follows (in thousands):

	2001	2000
Allowance for bad debt	$ 1,553	$ 870
Rebate accrual	1,095	153
Legal expense	1,192	--
Other	172	619
Net current asset	$ 4,012	$ 1,642
Depreciation	$(25,773)	$(28,281)
Employee and retiree benefit plans	2,021	1,032
Ceres partnership	3,576	(5,469)
Other	3,299	2,504
Net long-term liability	$(16,877)	$(30,214)

The CBOT has not established a valuation reserve at December 31, 2001 and 2000 as management believes that all deferred tax assets are fully realizable.

A reconciliation of the statutory federal income tax rate to the effective income tax rate is as follows:

	2001	2000	1999
Statutory federal income tax rate	35.0%	(35.0)%	(35.0)%
State income tax rate, net of federal income tax effect	5.7	1.4	(3.4)
Non-deductible corporate restructuring costs	6.5	42.3	5.9
Other non-deductible expenses	3.4	6.5	4.5
Other, net	(3.3)	8.7	0.2
Effective income tax rate	47.3%	23.9%	(27.8)%

5. MEMBERSHIP

At December 31, 2001 and 2000, the membership of the CBOT consisted of the following classes and numbers of members:

	2001	2000
Full memberships	1,402	1,402
Associate memberships	789	779
Government Instruments Market membership interests ("GIM")	156	174
Commodity Options Market membership interests ("COM")	643	643
Index, Debt and Energy Market membership interests ("IDEM")	642	641

The principal differences between the memberships relate to voting and trading rights, and member preferences in liquidation rights. In accordance with the CBOT rules and regulations, the members' preferences in dissolution are dictated by their class of membership. These preferences as defined, and the equivalent percentages resulting are as follows:

	PREFERENCES	PERCENTAGE
Full members	1.000	77.7%
Associate memberships	0.167	13.0
GIMs	0.111	8.5
IDEMs	0.005	0.4
COMs	0.005	0.4
		100.0%

6. BENEFIT PLANS

Substantially all employees of the CBOT are covered by a noncontributory, defined benefit pension plan. The benefits of this plan are based primarily on the years of service and the employees' average compensation levels. The CBOT's funding policy is to contribute annually the maximum amount that can be deducted for federal income tax purposes. The plan assets are primarily invested in marketable debt and equity securities.

The following provides a reconciliation of pension benefit obligation, plan assets, funded status and net periodic benefit expense of the plan as of, and for the years ended, December 31 (in thousands):

	2001	2000
Change in benefit obligation:
Benefit obligation, beginning of year	$ 26,352	$ 23,799
Service cost	1,519	1,678

The components of net periodic benefit cost are as follows:

	2001	2000	1999
Service cost	$ 1,519	$ 1,678	$ 1,575
Interest cost	1,872	1,950	1,604

Unrecognized net loss	248	394	278
Net periodic benefit cost	1,744	2,420	1,962
Special termination benefits, curtailment and settlement	4,226	--	--
Net periodic benefit cost after special termination benefits, curtailment and settlement	$ 5,970	$ 2,420	$ 1,962

During 2001, the CBOT recorded special termination benefits of $3,170 for pension benefits and loss on settlements of $1,056. These benefits were primarily the result of 31 employees taking advantage of an early retirement program offered by the CBOT in 2001.

The assumptions used in the measurement of the pension benefit obligation as of December 31 are as follows:

Weighted average discount rate	7.25%	7.25%
Expected return on plan assets	9.0	9.0
Rate of compensation increase	5.0	5.0

The CBOT has a retiree benefit plan which covers all eligible employees, as defined. Employees retiring from the CBOT on or after age 55, who have at least ten years of service, or after age 65 with five years of service, are entitled to postretirement medical and life insurance benefits. The CBOT funds benefit costs on a pay-as-you-go basis. These costs totaled approximately $83,200, $80,700 and $57,500 for the years ended December 31, 2001, 2000 and 1999, respectively.

The following provides a reconciliation of postretirement obligation, plan assets, funded status and net periodic benefit cost of the plan as of, and for the years ended, December 31 (in thousands):

	2001	2000
Change in benefit obligation:
Benefit obligation, beginning of year	$ 4,089	$ 3,490
Service cost	207	238
Interest cost	312	285
Actuarial loss (gain)	302	161

Unrecognized transition obligation	1,371	1,557
Accrued benefit cost (included in other long-term liabilities)	$(4,475)	$(3,567)

The components of net periodic benefit cost are as follows:

	2001	2000	1999
Service cost	$ 207	$ 238	$238
Interest cost	312	285	250
Expected return on plan assets	--	--	--
Net amortization:
Transition liabilities	130	130	130
Net gain	(51)	(56)	(31)
Net periodic benefit cost	598	597	587
Special termination benefits, curtailment and settlement	398	--	--
Net periodic benefit cost after special termination benefits, curtailment and settlement	$ 996	$ 597	$587

During 2001, the CBOT recorded special termination benefits and curtailment losses of $341 and $57, respectively for postretirement obligations.

The assumptions used in the measurement of the postretirement obligation as of December 31 are as follows:

	2001	2000
Weighted average discount rate	7.25%	7.25%
Rate of compensation increase	5.0	5.0

The assumed health care cost trend rate used in measuring the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation was 11% in 2001 and 2000 (decreasing by 1% per year until a long-term rate of 5% is reached). If the health care cost trend rate assumptions were increased by 1% for each year, the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation as of December 31, 2001 would be increased by 9%. The effect of this change on the sum of the service costs and interest cost would be an increase of 14%. If the health care cost trend rate assumptions were decreased by 1% for each year, the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation as of December 31, 2001 would be decreased by 7%. The effect of this change on the sum of the service costs and interest cost would be a decrease of 12%.

The CBOT also maintains a qualified savings plan pursuant to Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code. The plan is a defined contribution plan offered to eligible employees of the CBOT, who meet certain length of service requirements and elect to participate in the plan. The CBOT will make matching contributions to certain participants based on a formula specified by the plan. The cost of these matching contributions amounted to approximately $1,363,000, $1,368,000 and $1,370,000 for the years ended December 31, 2001, 2000 and 1999, respectively. The CBOT also sponsors a nonqualified supplemental pension plan for certain former employees. The liability for this nonqualified plan is funded by life insurance policies on the lives of the participating employees. The CBOT has established a trust for the purpose of administering the nonqualified plan. The CBOT also has a health plan which provides benefits (hospital, surgical, major medical and short-term disability) for full-time salaried employees of the CBOT. The plan is funded by the CBOT as claims are paid. Employees may contribute specified amounts to extend coverage to eligible dependents.

7. Commitments

Certain office space, data processing and office equipment are leased. Certain of these leases contain escalation clauses. Rental expense for the years ended December 31, 2001, 2000 and 1999 was $1,956,000, $2,173,000 and $2,461,000 respectively. The future minimum rental payments under non-cancelable leases in effect as of December 31, 2001 for the next five years are as follows (in thousands):

2002	$300
2003	240
2004	185
2005	144
2006	140

Building revenues relate primarily to the leasing of office and commercial space, generally for periods ranging from one to five years. Future minimum rentals under non-cancelable leases in effect as of December 31, 2001 are as follows (in thousands):

2002	$19,601
2004	7,016
2005	3,232
2006	1,152

In June 1997, the CBOT agreed to license certain index and trademark rights, including the Dow Jones Industrial Average, the Dow Jones Transportation Average, the Dow Jones Utilities Average and the Dow Jones Global Indices. The initial license fee remitted to Dow Jones is being amortized over the term of the agreement and is included in other assets on the Consolidated Statements of Financial Condition. In December 2001, the CBOT renewed its agreement with Dow Jones. The license is a non-transferable and exclusive worldwide license to use these indices as the basis for standardized exchange-traded futures contracts and options on futures contracts. The agreement which expires December 31, 2007 unless terminated by either party, requires the CBOT to pay Dow Jones annual royalties, based upon the trading volumes, with a minimum annual royalty requirement of $2.0 million.

The CBOT, through Ceres, has commitments with Deutsche Borse Systems for approximately $32.1 million (36.0 million euros) as of December 31, 2001 to fund the operations of the CBOT's current electronic trading platform. These payments are due at various times through 2003 as follows (in thousands):

On January 30, 2002, the CBOT entered into foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain commitments in euros to the Eurex Group. The notional amount of these contracts total 12.0 million euros with exchange rates ranging from .8561 to .8591 and maturities at various dates which correspond to the terms of the commitments through December, 2002.

In connection with an agreement with the CBOT's former chief executive, dated April 14, 2000, the CBOT terminated an employment agreement and agreed to make payments through 2003 of approximately $6.1 million plus amounts for certain medical, insurance and pension benefits. These costs are recorded in 2000 and reflected in Severance and related costs.

Additionally, the CBOT has employment agreements with certain members of management. The agreements called for, among other incentives and benefits, payments in the aggregate of approximately $2.5 million during 2001.

Furthermore, under the agreement with the new President and Chief Executive Officer (the "Executive"), the Executive was granted a right to receive a benefit from the appreciation in the value of the CBOT's memberships through appreciation units. The memberships and their related appreciation rights are as follows:

MEMBERSHIP TYPE	NUMBER OF APPRECIATION UNITS	GRANT VALUE PER UNIT
1 Full Membership	25	$400,000
1 Full Membership	10	600,000
1 Associate Membership	10	80,000
1 IDEM Membership	5	10,000
1 COM Membership	5	20,000

Each appreciation unit represents the right to receive the excess of the fair market value of the membership type over the grant value of each appreciation unit on the date of which such appreciation unit is exercised. The fair market value is to be determined by computing the average sale price of the membership type over the prior ninety calendar days to the day of exercise.

The units vest over a four year-year period, with 40% vesting one year after the grant date and 20% vesting on the same date in each year of the following three years.

The CBOT is accounting for the appreciation rights in a manner similar to stock appreciation rights as set forth in SFAS Interpretation No. 28, "Accounting for Stock Appreciation Rights and Other Variable Stock Option or Award Plans" (An interpretation of APB Opinion Nos. 15 and 25). For the year ended December 31, 2001, there was no measured compensation expense relating to the appreciation rights.

In October 2001, the CBOT became a minority interest holder in the joint venture One Chicago with the Chicago Board Options Exchange and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. One Chicago is a for-profit company whose business is to facilitate the electronic trading of single-stock futures. Pursuant to the joint venture agreement, the CBOT is obligated to make specified capital contributions. In October 2001, the CBOT made a capital contribution of $292,500. The maximum future amount the CBOT was required to contribute to the joint venture was $682,500. This amount was paid in February of 2002.

8. Foreign Currency Forward Contracts

On September 27, 2000, the CBOT entered into foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge its risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain commitments to Eurex and related entities, denominated in euros. The notional amount of these contracts totaled approximately $29.0 million with exchange rates ranging from .89429 to .91100 and maturities at various dates through 2002 which correspond to the terms of the commitments. In December 2000, the CBOT decided not to pursue certain software commitments for enhancements. The CBOT then entered into approximately $9.8 million of foreign exchange forward contracts offsetting certain of the contracts entered into in September 2000. Gains and losses on certain of the original forward contracts, which are hedging ongoing commitments, are deferred, and totaled a gain of approximately $462,000 at December 31, 2000. A net gain of approximately $819,000 at December 31, 2000 on all other forward contracts was recognized in earnings and included in Other revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Income.

At December 31, 2001, the CBOT had foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge its risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain liabilities and commitments in euros with Eurex and related entities.

Foreign exchange forward contracts designated as cash-flow type hedges of liabilities or firm commitments had notional amounts approximating $9.9 million (11.1 million euros) at December 31, 2001. A loss before income taxes of approximately $80,000 was recognized on these contracts and recorded as accrued liabilities and other comprehensive income for these derivatives at December 31, 2001. This amount is expected to be reclassified into earnings as the commitments are recorded, which is expected to occur by June 30, 2002.

9. Litigation

The CBOT has been named as a defendant in various lawsuits. Although the ultimate outcome of these matters cannot be presently determined, the CBOT established an accrual for legal liabilities of $3.0 million, which represents the CBOT's assessment of the probable outcome of, and reasonable estimate of the liabilities associated with, such matters. See Note 13.

10. Deposits of U.S. Treasury Securities

The rules and regulations of the CBOT require certain minimum financial requirements for delivery of physical commodities, maintenance of capital requirements and deposits on pending arbitration matters. To satisfy these requirements, member firms have deposited U.S. Treasury securities with the CBOT. These deposits are not considered assets of the CBOT, nor does any interest earned on these deposits accrue to the CBOT; accordingly, they are not reflected in the accompanying financial statements. The aggregate market value of these securities on deposit was $28.2 million and $15.0 million as of December 31, 2001 and 2000, respectively.

11. OPERATING SEGMENTS

During 2001, the CBOT reorganized its allocation methodology relating to operating segments. The segment information that follows has been restated to reflect the internal reorganization. The CBOT evaluates segment performance based on revenues and income from operations. Intercompany transactions between segments have been eliminated. A summary by operating segment follows (in thousands):

12. Fair value of financial instruments

Cash equivalents, accounts receivable and other current assets are carried at amounts which approximate fair value due to their short-term nature. Similarly, liabilities including accounts payable and accrued liabilities, the current portion of long-term debt, funds held for deposit and membership transfers and other liabilities are carried at amounts approximating fair value. Based on a comparison of the terms of the CBOT's existing long-term debt and the terms currently available for similar borrowings, management estimates the fair value of the long-term debt approximates the carrying value.

13. Subsequent events

On August 27, 2002, the CBOT announced an agreement to settle a patent infringement lawsuit. In accordance with the settlement agreement, the CBOT is to pay $15.0 million over a five year period, which consists of an initial payment of $5.0 million, with five subsequent annual payments of $2.0 million. The effect of the settlement, net of discount, was recorded on August 27, 2002 and was approximately $13.7 million ($8.2 million after tax).

On September 17, 2002, the Board of Directors approved a modification to the restructuring strategy, described in Note 1, to delay the reorganization of the electronic trading business until the termination of the CBOT's arrangements with the Eurex Group, which is currently expected to occur in December 2003. See Note 1.

NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(UNAUDITED)

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., its wholly owned subsidiaries, and its controlled subsidiary, Ceres Trading Limited Partnership ("Ceres") (collectively, the "CBOT") have been prepared in accordance with Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 28 and Rule 10-01 of Regulation S-X promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"). The condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the CBOT. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. These condensed consolidated financial statements do not include all of the necessary disclosures required for complete financial statements.

In the opinion of the CBOT's management, the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring adjustments, necessary to present fairly the CBOT's financial position as of June 30, 2002 and December 31, 2001 and its results of operations and cash flows for the six month interim periods ended June 30, 2002 and 2001. Interim period operating results may not be indicative of the operating results for a full year. This information should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes thereto as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 and for each year in the three year period ended December 31, 2001.

For a summary of significant accounting policies (which have not significantly changed from December 31, 2001) and additional information, see note 1 to the audited December 31, 2001 consolidated financial statements.

Use of estimates

The preparation of the condensed consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, hereafter referred to as "generally accepted accounting principles," requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made to prior period amounts to conform to current period presentations.

2. Debt

Debt at June 30, 2002 and December 31, 2001 consisted of the following (in thousands):

	June 30, 2002	December 31, 2001
Private placement senior notes, due in annual installments through 2007, at an annual interest rate of 6.81%	$53,571	$64,286
Secured note payable, due in 2004, at an annual interest rate of 8.25%	--	7,990
Note payable to the Eurex Group, due in April 2002, at an annual interest rate of 6.25%	--	4,446
Total	53,571	76,722
Less current portion	10,714	18,398
Total	$42,857	$58,324

In April 2002, the secured note payable, due 2004 and related accrued interest was paid in full.

3. Commitments

The CBOT, through Ceres, has commitments with Deutsche Borse Systems for approximately $23.8 million (24.0 million euros) as of June 30, 2002 to fund the operations of the CBOT's current electronic trading platform. These payments are due at various times through June 2003 as follows (in thousands):

2002	$11,903
2003	11,903

4. Foreign Currency Forward Contracts

At June 30, 2002, the CBOT had foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge its risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain liabilities and commitments in euros with Eurex and related entities.

Foreign exchange forward contracts identified to liabilities and commitments as cash flow type hedges had notional amounts approximating $16.2 million (18.0 million euros) at June 30, 2002. A gain before income taxes of approximately $1.0 million on these contracts was recorded as part of other comprehensive income at June 30, 2002, which is expected to be reclassified into earnings as the commitments are recorded and as the foreign exchange forward contracts mature, which is expected to occur by March 31, 2003.

5. Litigation

The CBOT has been named as a defendant in various lawsuits. As of June 30, 2002, no material changes have occurred with respect to the legal issues outlined in the company's 2001 audited consolidated financial statements and related notes. See Note 6.

6. Subsequent Events

On July 17, 2002, the CBOT entered into foreign exchange forward contracts with a financial institution to hedge risk of foreign currency fluctuations related to certain commitments in euros to the Eurex Group. The notional amount of these contracts total 2.5 million euros with exchange rates ranging from 1.0067 to 1.0105 and maturities at various dates which correspond to the terms of the commitments through January, 2003.

On August 27, 2002, the CBOT announced an agreement to settle a patent infringement lawsuit. In accordance with the settlement agreement, the CBOT is to pay $15.0 million over a five year period, which consists of an initial payment of $5.0 million, with five subsequent annual payments of $2.0 million. The effect of the settlement, net of discount, was recorded on August 27, 2002, and was approximately $13.7 million ($8.2 million after tax).

NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Unaudited Pro forma Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements reflect such adjustments as necessary, in the opinion of management, to reflect the conversion of members' equity to common stock of CBOT Holdings.

Pro forma adjustments reflect the issuance of common stock and the conversion of members' equity into stockholders' equity, which is comprised of common stock and additional paid-in capital. Immediately following completion of the restructuring transactions, 39,802,650 shares of common stock, with a par value of $0.001 per share will be issued and outstanding. Accordingly, common stock will have a value of $39,803 with the remaining equity balance of approximately $217,615,000 being transferred to additional paid-in capital. Accumulated other comprehensive income does not change.

The CBOT has estimated $18,857,000 for total expenses to be incurred in connection with the restructuring transactions. Through December 31, 2000, the CBOT recognized $11,600,000 of these expenses. For the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the year ended December 31, 2001, the CBOT recognized $1,189,000 and $4,567,000, respectively of these expenses in the Unaudited Pro forma Condensed Consolidated Statements of Income. The balance of the estimated expenses to be incurred in connection with the restructuring transactions, which approximates $1,501,000, is expected to be expended in the remainder of 2002.

Net income per share for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the year ended December 31, 2001 is calculated as follows (in thousands, except per share amounts):

September 17, 2002

The Independent Allocation Committee of the Board of Directors of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc.

The Board of Directors of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc.

141 West Jackson Blvd.

Chicago, IL 60604

Gentlemen:

We understand that the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., a Delaware nonstock, not-for-profit corporation (the "CBOT") intends to implement a series of restructuring transactions, which are designed to restructure and demutualize the CBOT. In connection with the initial proposal for such restructuring and demutualization ("Initial Restructuring Proposal"), you previously requested, and we delivered, our opinion dated May 5, 2000 (the "May 5 Opinion") as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the allocation of ownership described below (the "Allocation") among the members and holders of membership interests (the "Members") of the CBOT with respect to their respective memberships (the "Memberships").

In August 2000, the Initial Restructuring Proposal was substantially revised (the "Revised Restructuring Proposal"). At your request, we updated our May 5 Opinion on November 21, 2000 and January 16, 2001 in light of the Revised Restructuring Proposal. In September, 2001, you further modified and amended the Revised Restructuring Proposal to provide for the restructuring and demutualization of the CBOT by (i) creating a Delaware stock, for-profit holding company ("CBOT Holdings") that will own the Class A membership (described below) in a Delaware for-profit, non stock successor of the CBOT (the "CBOT Subsidiary") and (ii) distributing shares of CBOT Holdings to those members of the CBOT who were members immediately prior to completing such transactions (collectively the "Restructuring Transactions"). At your request we updated the January 16 Opinion on September 24, 2001 and December 18, 2001 (the "December 18 Opinion") in connection with the Restructuring Transactions.

We understand that, as part of the Restructuring Transactions, the CBOT will declare and pay a dividend of common stock of CBOT Holdings to each Member. The common stock of CBOT Holdings will consist of a single class (not divided into series) with customary voting, liquidation and dividend rights, which, immediately following completion of the Restructuring Transactions, will represent all of the equity value and equity voting power of CBOT Holdings. Shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings will be issued to each member in accordance with the Allocation ratio in respect of his or her Membership. In addition, we understand that the CBOT will become a Delaware nonstock, for-profit corporation and a subsidiary of CBOT Holdings, and issue new Class A, Class B and Class C memberships. The sole Class A membership in the CBOT Subsidiary will be held by CBOT Holdings and will entitle CBOT Holdings to (a) receive all distributions, dividends and proceeds upon liquidation from the CBOT Subsidiary, and (b) the exclusive right to vote on most matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT Subsidiary. Each Member of the CBOT will receive one of the five series of Class B memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary in respect of each Membership held by such Member (i.e., each Full Member, Associate Member, GIM, IDEM and COM will receive one Series B-1, Series B-2, Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B membership in the CBOT Subsidiary, respectively). Each Class B membership will, subject to satisfaction of applicable membership and eligibility requirements, entitle the holder to trading rights and privileges that correspond to such holder's current class of membership in the CBOT. In addition, each Full Member will receive one Class C membership in the CBOT Subsidiary, which, subject to satisfaction of certain requirements, will entitle the holder to become a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange Incorporated (the "CBOE") at no additional cost. The holders of Class B and Class C memberships will generally not have voting rights with respect to matters requiring a vote of the members of the CBOT Subsidiary, except that holders of Series B-1 and Series of B-2, Class B memberships will have voting rights to amend the bylaws of the CBOT Subsidiary and to approve changes that would adversely affect certain core rights of Class B memberships.

You have now advised us that you have added to the Restructuring Transactions a restriction (the "Restriction") against any transfer of common stock of CBOT Holdings or a Class B membership in the CBOT Subsidiary except (i) in a transfer of the Class B membership together with a transfer to the same transferee of the number of shares issued with such Class B membership in the Restructuring Transactions; (ii) transfers by operation of law; or (iii) transfers with the consent of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings (for a separate transfer of stock) or the board of directors of the CBOT Subsidiary (for a separate transfer of a Class B membership). The Restriction does not prevent separate sale of a Class C membership, although use of a Class C membership to trade on the CBOE requires ownership of a Class B-1 membership and the number of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings issued with such Class B-1 membership in the Restructuring Transaction. As in the case of our previous opinions, the Allocation does not reflect a valuation, comparative or otherwise, of the trading rights and privileges and the CBOE exercise right, either before or after the Restructuring Transactions.

You have asked us to update our December 18 Opinion in light of the Restriction. We have been advised by the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board of Directors of the CBOT in reliance upon the advice of the Implementation Committee of the Board of Directors of the CBOT that, for purposes of rendering this opinion, we may assume that the Restructuring Transactions will not be effected by means of a liquidation. Please note that we have made such assumption and that we have made such assumption without independent legal analysis.

In connection with our review of the Restructuring Transactions and the preparation of our opinion herein, we have examined: (a) certain descriptive information concerning the Restructuring Transactions; (b) the draft dated September 13, 2002 of Amendment No. 2 to the Registration Statement on Form S-4 ("Form S-4") of CBOT Holdings relating to the proposed issuance of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings; (c) the drafts dated September 13, 2002 of the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of CBOT Holdings; (d) the drafts dated September 13, 2002 of the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of the for-profit CBOT Subsidiary; (e) various CBOT documents including the Chicago Board of Trade rules and regulations; (f) various trading and financial statistics for the CBOT; (g) certain publicly available information regarding terms of certain transactions involving restructurings of exchanges comparable to the CBOT and the allocation of value; (h) presentations provided to the CBOT by consultants and financial and legal advisors; (i) letters to the CBOT from various members regarding the restructuring and demutualization of the CBOT; (j) information regarding the historical trading prices of Memberships; and (k) certain other information regarding the CBOT and its operations. We have also held discussions of the foregoing with current and former members of the senior management of the CBOT and of the various classes of Members, have considered other matters which we have deemed relevant to our inquiry and have taken into account such accepted financial and investment banking procedures and considerations as we have deemed relevant.

Furthermore, in connection with our review of the Restructuring Transactions and the preparation of our opinion herein, we have assumed that: (a) there will not be any transaction (including any business combination) with the CBOE or any other party; in this connection, we understand that prior discussions between the CBOT and the CBOE of a possible business combination have terminated; and (b) all existing trading rights and privileges of each Membership class and the CBOE exercise right of Full Members will remain intact following the Restructuring Transactions; in this connection, we note the concerns raised by disclosures within the Form S-4 with respect to possible future actions by the CBOE adverse to the CBOE exercise right, the effects of which are beyond the scope of this opinion.

In rendering our opinion, we have assumed and relied, without independent verification, upon the accuracy and completeness of all the information examined by or otherwise reviewed or discussed with us (subject to any updating and/or correction by the parties supplying such information) for purposes of this opinion. In particular, we note and have relied upon the revisions to the contract volume data that have been supplied by the CBOT. We have not made or obtained an independent valuation or appraisal of the assets, liabilities or solvency of the CBOT. We were not requested to, and did not, participate in the structuring of the Restructuring Transactions nor were we asked to consider, and our opinion does not address, the relative merits of the Restructuring Transactions as compared to any alternative business strategies that might exist for the CBOT or the effect of any other transaction in which the CBOT might engage. Our opinion herein is based upon economic, market, financial and other conditions existing on, and other information disclosed to us as of, the date of this letter. It should be understood that, although subsequent developments may affect this opinion, we do not have any obligation to update, revise or reaffirm this opinion except as provided in the letter agreement between William Blair & Company and the Independent Allocation Committee dated September 3, 2002.

William Blair & Company has been engaged in the investment banking business since 1935. We have acted as the investment banker to the Independent Allocation Committee in connection with the Restructuring Transactions (and the Initial Restructuring Proposal and the Revised Restructuring Proposal) and have received fees from the CBOT for our services. In addition, the CBOT has agreed to indemnify us against certain liabilities arising out of our engagement. Our investment banking services and our opinion were provided for the use and benefit of the Independent Allocation Committee of the Board of Directors and the Board of Directors of the CBOT in connection with the Restructuring Transactions. Our opinion is limited to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the Members of the CBOT of the Allocation of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings in respect of their Memberships in connection with the Restructuring Transactions, and we do not address the merits of the underlying decision by the CBOT to engage in the Restructuring Transactions and this opinion does not constitute a recommendation to any Member as to how such Member should vote with respect to the Restructuring Transactions. It is understood that this letter may not be disclosed or otherwise referred to without prior written consent, except that the opinion may be included in its entirety in a proxy statement and prospectus mailed to the Members by the CBOT in connection with the Restructuring Transactions.

In arriving at our conclusion, we have considered various methodologies for allocating the shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings. We have concluded that an allocation methodology that takes into account a combination of factors rather than a single factor is appropriate, and that such combination of factors should include, with respect to each of the five classes of Members: (a) relative liquidation rights; (b) relative voting rights; (c) the allocation made in respect of each class of Membership in connection with the formation of Ceres; (d) the market values of Memberships; and (e) the contract volumes for which each class of Membership has been responsible on a historical basis. In arriving at our conclusion, we have attached greater importance to liquidation rights, voting rights and the allocation made in respect of each Membership in connection with the formation of Ceres.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that the Allocation to Members of shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings in respect of their Memberships in connection with the Restructuring Transactions in the ratio of 5.0 : 1.0 : 0.5 : 0.06 : 0.07 to each Full, Associate, GIM, IDEM and COM Membership, respectively, is fair, from a financial point of view to each of the five classes of Members.

Very truly yours,

2 THE CBOT'S AGREEMENTS.

(a) The CBOT agrees, in its own capacity and on behalf of its members, that only an individual who is an Eligible CBOT Full Member or an Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegate is a member of the CBOT within the meaning of Article Fifth(b) eligible to be an Exerciser Member, subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and to the extent not inconsistent with this Agreement, the 1992 Agreement.

(b) The CBOT agrees that as part of the CBOT Restructuring Transactions it shall issue exactly 1,402 shares of Class B Common Stock, Series B-1, and exactly 1,402 Exercise Right Coupons, and shall distribute one (1) such share of Class B Common Stock and one (1) such Exercise Right Coupon to each of the 1,402 CBOT Full Members, and will not issue any additional shares of Class B Common Stock, Series B-1, or any additional Exercise Right Coupons. The CBOT shall also issue and distribute 25,000 shares of its Class A Common Stock to each of the 1,402 CBOT Full Members. CBOE for its own account and CBOE members will be free to purchase and to hold, lease or sell the Class B shares and the Exercise Coupons without limitation, and may also purchase, hold, lease or sell the Class A shares subject to the same terms as other purchasers of Class A shares.

(c) The CBOT agrees and represents that it has created and will maintain various incentives to promote the continued value of CBOT membership, including meaningful member and delegate fee preferences (applicable to the floor and electronic trading platform) and pit closing provisions as described in the Registration Statement. In addition, CBOT agrees to maintain seat ownership requirements for CBOT clearing firms. A schedule of such current fee preferences and incentives has been provided to CBOE by the CBOT and the CBOE has taken notice of the member and delegate fee preferences reflected in such schedule. These fee preferences and incentives are expected to serve the purpose of preventing mass migration of CBOT exercisers to CBOE. Any questions that may subsequently arise as to the continued meaningfulness of such preferences and incentives for this purpose, as they may be amended from time to time, shall be submitted to binding arbitration in accordance with Section 7 of this Agreement. The arbitration panel will have the authority: 1) to determine whether the member and delegate fee preferences and other incentives maintained by the CBOT remain meaningful for the purposes set forth in this Section 2(c); 2) if that determination is unfavorable to CBOT, to specify a remedy for CBOT's failure to maintain meaningful fee preferences and incentives, including what CBOT must do to restore meaningful fee preferences and incentives; and 3) to prescribe the consequences of any failure by the CBOT to take any action required under the remedy specified by the arbitrators, including any failure to restore meaningful fee preferences and incentives in the manner specified, within thirty (30) days of the panel's decision.

(d) The CBOT agrees that if a CBOT Full Member delegates his or her membership rights to a CBOT Full Member Delegate who exercises to become an Exerciser Member, the CBOT Full Member/delegator relinquishes all member trading rights at both the CBOT and the CBOE, and may trade only as a customer at customer rates at the CBOT unless the member/delegator owns another CBOT membership which entitles that member to member trading rights and transaction rates.

(e) The CBOT agrees that CBOT Full Member Delegates who are Exerciser Members of the CBOE may trade on the CBOT's electronic trading platform only at customer rates. The CBOT agrees that CBOT Full Members who are Exerciser Members of the CBOE may trade on the CBOT's electronic trading platform as a CBOT member at member rates only if they are not physically present on the CBOE trading floor and are not logged on to the CBOE's electronic trading platform. If a CBOT Full Member is present on the CBOE trading floor or is logged on to the CBOE's electronic trading platform at the time an order is entered or altered on the CBOT's electronic trading platform by or on behalf of such member, then such member will be charged CBOT customer rates for trades resulting from the execution of such orders.

(f) The CBOT agrees to amend its rules, effective no later than the consummation of the CBOT Restructuring Transactions, to the extent necessary to implement the provisions of this Agreement.

(g) Within five (5) dates following the Effective Date of this Agreement, the CBOT will file a notice of voluntary dismissal of its amended complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief and damages, Civil Action No. 00CH1500, filed on February 16, 2001, in the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, Chancery Division.

3. THE CBOE'S AGREEMENTS.

(a) The CBOE agrees, in its own behalf and on behalf of its members, that an Eligible CBOT Full Member or an Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegate is a member of the CBOT within the meaning of Article Fifth(b), and is eligible to be an Exerciser Member upon satisfaction of the terms and conditions of this Agreement and, to the extent not inconsistent with the terms and conditions of this Agreement, the 1992 Agreement.

(b) The CBOE agrees to submit to binding arbitration in accordance with Section 7 of this Agreement questions concerning the continued meaningfulness of member and delegate fee preferences or other incentives for the purpose of preventing mass migration of CBOT exercisers to CBOE as described in Section 2(c).

(c) Within five (5) days following the Effective Date of this Agreement, the CBOE will withdraw and terminate its proposed rulemaking request (File No. SR-CBOE-00-44), initially filed with the Commission on August 30, 2000 and further agrees that it shall take no action to amend, modify or otherwise limit, or terminate or cause to expire, whether by interpretation or otherwise, the Exercise Right as a result of the completion of the CBOT's Restructuring Transactions, except as contemplated herein.

4. ELECTRONIC TRADING. The CBOT and CBOE are each free to develop, provide, maintain and use electronic trading platforms and to determine their respective trading hours and access policies for all their respective products without such action adversely affecting the Exercise Right except as such action may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Agreement.

5. INFORMATION SHARING. The parties agree to provide full information regarding the status of all members including exercisers and delegate exercisers on a current and continuing basis.

6. FURTHER ASSURANCES. The CBOT and the CBOE shall take such further steps toward ensuring that their respective memberships understand the implications of this Agreement as they shall reasonably agree, including, without limitation, the development of either a joint or separate "question and answer" publications, in either case subject to the approval of both the CBOT and the CBOE, and other appropriate materials for distribution to the membership of the CBOT and the CBOE. In addition, the CBOE and the CBOT will actively pursue cost-sharing and other mutually beneficial initiatives.

7. ARBITRATION. Questions subject to arbitration in accordance with Sections 2(c) and 3(b) of this Agreement shall be submitted to arbitration in Chicago, Illinois under the auspices of the American Arbitration Association ("AAA") and pursuant to the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the AAA in effect at the time arbitration is initiated. The arbitration panel shall consist of three arbitrators: one arbitrator selected by each of the parties within 15 days after receipt of the demand for arbitration, and a neutral arbitrator selected by the two party-appointed arbitrators. If the two party-appointed arbitrators cannot agree upon a person to serve as the neutral arbitrator within 30 days after the parties have notified each other of the identity of the party-appointed arbitrators, the neutral arbitrator shall be selected by the AAA.

8. GOVERNING LAW. Except to the extent that this Agreement is governed by any law of the United States or of a rule or regulation adopted by a regulatory agency pursuant to any such law, this Agreement shall in all respects be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Illinois, without regard to its conflicts of law doctrine.

9. ASSIGNMENT. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the successors and permitted assigns of each party hereto, provided that no rights, obligations or liabilities hereunder shall be assignable by any party without the prior written consent of the other party. It is expressly understood and agreed by the parties that the conversion of the CBOT from a Delaware non-stock, not-for-profit corporation into a Delaware stock, for-profit corporation pursuant to the CBOT Restructuring Transactions shall have no effect whatsoever on the validity or enforceability of this Agreement or the 1992 Agreement.

10. OTHER AGREEMENTS. The 1992 Agreement shall remain in full force and effect, and the CBOT and the CBOE hereby reaffirm all of their respective rights and obligations thereunder except that if any provision of the 1992 Agreement conflicts with any provision of this Agreement the provisions of this Agreement shall control. The CBOT and the CBOE agree that this Agreement and, to the extent consistent with this Agreement, the 1992 Agreement, reflect the complete and exclusive understanding and agreement of the parties concerning the Exercise Right, and supersede all prior proposals and communications (oral or written) by or between the parties on the same subject. The CBOT and the CBOE agree to be bound by this Agreement and not to take any action inconsistent with this Agreement.

11. APPROVALS.

(a) The CBOT and CBOE mutually agree that it is appropriate, and within the meaning and spirit of Article Fifth(b), for the CBOE to interpret Article Fifth(b) in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement. The CBOT and the CBOE acknowledge that, as an interpretation of Article Fifth(b), this agreement must be filed with and approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") in order to become effective. The CBOE will submit any rule changes required to implement this Agreement to the SEC for its review and approval. The CBOE also intends to submit this Agreement to the approval of the CBOE membership. The CBOE will use its best efforts to obtain approval from its membership and the SEC in the most expeditious manner possible. The CBOT intends to submit any rule changes required to implement this Agreement to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC") for its review and approval. The CBOT will use its best efforts to obtain approval from the CFTC in the most expeditious manner possible. If the SEC, the CFTC, or both, refuse any of the above approvals unless certain changes are made, the parties agree to consider in good faith the adoption of the necessary changes as expeditiously as possible. If the SEC, the CFTC or the CBOE membership thereafter refuse their approval, despite the parties' good faith efforts, this Agreement shall be null and void, as if never executed, and neither party shall be deemed to be in any way bound by any term or provision, including any agreement or acknowledgement, of this Agreement.

(b) This Agreement shall be attached as an exhibit to the CBOT's Registration Statement and the material provisions of this Agreement shall be summarized in that Registration Statement. This Agreement shall be null and void, as if never executed, and neither party shall be deemed to be in any way bound by any term or provision, including any agreement or acknowledgement, of this Agreement if 1) the SEC does not declare the Registration Statement effective; 2) if the CBOE does not consent to amendments to the Registration Statement subsequent to Amendments No. 1 through 4 which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld; 3) the CBOT membership does not vote to approve the restructuring transactions described in the Registration Statement; 4) the CBOT does not receive a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"), in form and substance satisfactory to the CBOT's Board of Directors, relating to the restructuring transactions described in the Registration Statement; 5) the CBOT does not receive any required approvals by the CFTC relating to the restructuring transactions described in the Registration Statement; or 6) a court order or other government regulation prohibits or restricts the restructuring transactions described in the Registration Statement. The CBOT will use its best efforts to obtain approval from the SEC, the IRS and the CFTC in the most expeditious manner possible. If the SEC, the IRS or the CFTC refuse their approval unless certain changes are made, the CBOT agrees to consult with the CBOE and to consider in good faith the adoption of the necessary changes as expeditiously as possible.

Chicago, Illinois 60605

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We refer to that certain Agreement dated August 7, 2001, (the "August 7, 2001 Agreement") by and between the Chicago Board Options Exchange Incorporated, a Delaware nonstock corporation (the "CBOE") and the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., a Delaware nonstock, not-for-profit corporation (the "CBOT"), which addressed the resolution of certain disputes that had arisen concerning the Exercise Right. Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined in this letter agreement shall have the meanings set forth in the August 7, 2001 Agreement and the 1992 Agreement as applicable.

The purpose of this letter agreement is to specify the terms and conditions under which the August 7, 2001 Agreement will apply in the circumstances of the proposed restructuring of the CBOT revised to accommodate the proposed holding company structure as described in a new registration statement on form S-4 to be filed by CBOT Holdings, Inc. ("CBOT Holdings") on or shortly after October 24, 2001 (referred to herein as the "Holdings Registration Statement"). Under such holding company structure, the CBOT would be a for-profit, nonstock Delaware corporation (referred to herein as the "CBOT Subsidiary") and a subsidiary of a new stock, for-profit holding company, CBOT Holdings. Upon completion of the restructuring, each Existing Full Member of CBOT would receive 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, which corresponds to the 25,000 shares of Class A Common Stock of CBOT referred to in the August 7, 2001 Agreement, and would receive one Class B-1 membership in the CBOT Subsidiary and one Class C membership in the CBOT Subsidiary (which correspond to the Class B Common Stock, Series B-1, and the Exercise Right Coupon, respectively, referred to in the August 7, 2001 Agreement).

It is our understanding, with which we ask you to evidence your agreement by signing a copy of this letter agreement in the space provided below, that subject to the conditions specified in this letter agreement, and in the absence of any other material changes to the structure or ownership of the CBOT Subsidiary or to the trading rights and privileges appurtenant to a CBOT Full Membership not contemplated in the CBOT Restructuring Transactions as defined herein, the proposed restructuring of the CBOT as described in the Holdings Registration Statement will constitute "CBOT Restructuring Transactions" for the purposes of the August 7, 2001 Agreement, such that upon the consummation of the CBOT's restructuring as so described, Eligible CBOT Full Members and Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegates will continue to be entitled to become Exerciser Members of the CBOE in accordance with Article Fifth(b), the 1992 Agreement, the August 7, 2001 Agreement and this letter agreement; provided that all references in the August 7, 2001 Agreement to shares of Class A Common Stock of the CBOT, shares of Class B Common Stock, Series B-1, of the CBOT and the Exercise Right Coupon shall be deemed to refer to shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings, the Series B-1, Class B memberships of the CBOT Subsidiary and the Class C memberships of the CBOT Subsidiary, respectively. In addition, all references in Sections 2 and 11 of the August 7, 2001 Agreement to the Registration Statement shall be deemed to refer to the Holdings Registration Statement.

The agreed-upon conditions to the extension of the August 7, 2001 Agreement to the proposed holding company structure are the following:

A. CBOT Holdings shall cause the CBOT Subsidiary to comply fully with each of the terms of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as modified by this letter agreement.

B. CBOT Holdings will take no action, directly or indirectly, that, if taken by the CBOT Subsidiary itself, would amount to a violation of the terms of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as modified by this letter agreement, including but not limited to action that would cause the various incentives to promote the continued value of CBOT membership, including member and delegate fee preferences and pit closing provisions and seat ownership requirements for CBOT clearing firms as described in paragraph 2(c) of the August 7, 2001 Agreement, to no longer be meaningful for the purpose stated in said paragraph 2(c).

C. In the event questions arise as to whether CBOT Holdings has taken or proposes to take action that would have the effect of causing the various incentives to promote the continued value of CBOT membership, including member and delegate fee preferences and pit closing provisions and seat ownership requirements for CBOT clearing firms to no longer be meaningful in violation of its obligation in paragraph B above, such questions shall be submitted to binding arbitration in accordance with Sections 2(c) and 7 of the August 7, 2001 Agreement, and the arbitrators will have the same authority as provided in the August 7, 2001 Agreement to decide such questions, to specify a remedy for CBOT Holding's failure to honor its obligation not to take any such action, and to prescribe the consequences of any failure by CBOT Holdings to take any action required under any such remedy specified by the arbitrators within thirty (30) days of the arbitrators' decision.

The CBOE hereby consents to the filing with the SEC of the Holdings Registration Statement in a form substantially the same as the draft of the Holdings Registration Statement dated October 23, 2001, previously provided to the CBOE.

It is understood that Sections 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as modified by this letter agreement shall be incorporated by reference herein, and that the provisions of those Sections shall be binding upon CBOT Holdings to the same extent as upon CBOT, except where the context otherwise requires.

This letter agreement supercedes in its entirety the letter agreement executed by the parties hereto on October 19, 2001, which upon the execution of this letter agreement shall cease to be of any force or effect.

Very truly yours,

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We refer to that certain Agreement dated August 7, 2001, (the "August 7, 2001 Agreement") by and between the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Incorporated, a Delaware nonstock corporation (the "CBOE") and the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., a Delaware nonstock, not-for-profit corporation (the "CBOT"), as amended by a letter agreement dated October 24, 2001, (the "October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement") by and among CBOE, CBOT and CBOT Holdings, Inc, a Delaware stock, for-profit corporation ("CBOT Holdings"), which embody certain agreed upon interpretations of Article Fifth(b) of CBOE's Certificate of Incorporation intended to resolve disputes that had arisen concerning the Exercise Right. Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined in this letter agreement shall have the meanings set forth in the August 7, 2001 Agreement, the October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement and the 1992 Agreement as applicable. The August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended by the October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement is sometimes referred to herein as the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended.

The purpose of this letter agreement is to confirm the understanding of the parties that the interpretations of the Exercise Right embodied in the August 7, 2001 Agreement and the October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement will continue to apply in the circumstances whereby the 25,000 shares of common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Series B-1 Class B membership in the CBOT Subsidiary proposed to be issued to each of the 1,402 Existing Full Members of CBOT will generally be subject to a complete restriction on transfer, except that holders of such shares and memberships may transfer them if they are transferred together, all as described in Amendment No. 2 to the Holdings Registration Statement. Class C memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary will continue to be freely transferable without restriction, except for restrictions on transfer, if any, imposed under applicable law. This letter agreement also sets forth the understanding of the parties in respect of certain aspects of the definitions of "Eligible CBOT Full Member" and "Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegate" as contained in the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended.

It is our understanding that in the absence of any other material changes to the structure or ownership of the CBOT Subsidiary or to the trading rights and privileges appurtenant to a CBOT Full Membership not contemplated in the CBOT Restructuring Transactions as defined herein, the proposed restructuring of the CBOT as described in the Holdings Registration Statement as amended by Amendment No. 2 thereto in a form substantially the same as the draft of said Amendment No. 2 dated September 13, 2002, previously provided to the CBOE will constitute "CBOT Restructuring Transactions" for the purposes of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended, such that upon the consummation of the CBOT's restructuring as so described, Eligible CBOT Full Members and Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegates will continue to be entitled to become Exerciser Members of the CBOE in accordance with Article Fifth(b), the 1992 Agreement, the August 7, 2001 Agreement, the October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement and this letter agreement.

Consistent with the foregoing, it is also our understanding that the last sentence in the definition of "Eligible CBOT Full Member" set forth in Section 1(d) of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended, which states that CBOT Class A Common Stock, CBOT Class B Common Stock and Exercise Right Coupons (as amended in the October 24, 2001 Letter Agreement to refer to the common stock of CBOT Holdings, the Series B-1 Class B memberships of the CBOT Subsidiary and the Class C memberships of the CBOT Subsidiary, respectively) may be separately bought and sold, is now to be read as being subject to the restrictions on transferability of the common stock of CBOT Holdings and the Series B-1 Class B memberships of the CBOT Subsidiary described above and in Amendment No. 2 to the Holdings Registration Statement.

Finally, we wish to clarify the intent of the parties as reflected in Sections 2(a) and 3(a) of the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended, which provide that in determining who is an Eligible CBOT Full Member or an Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegate eligible to be an Exerciser Member, the terms of the 1992 Agreement will continue to apply to the extent they are not inconsistent with the August 7, 2001 Agreement as amended. It is our understanding that the parties intended this to mean that in order to be an "Eligible CBOT Full Member" or an "Eligible CBOT Full Member Delegate" as defined in Section 1(d) or 1(e) of the August 7, 2001 Agreement, in addition to satisfying the requirements of one or the other of those Sections, a person must also be in possession of "all trading rights and privileges appurtenant to such CBOT Full Membership" as that term is defined in Section 1(c) of the 1992 Agreement.

We ask you to evidence your agreement with our understandings as stated above, and to evidence your consent to the filing with the SEC of Amendment No. 2 to the Holdings Registration Statement in a form substantially the same as the draft of said Amendment No. 2 dated September 13, 2002, previously provided to the CBOE, by signing a copy of this letter agreement in the space provided below.

Very truly yours,

The holders of Common Stock shall also have power to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws.

ARTICLE VIII

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

If the DGCL is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the Corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, as so amended.

Any repeal or modification of the foregoing paragraph by the stockholders of the Corporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director of the Corporation existing at the time of such repeal or modification.

ARTICLE IX

AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

The Corporation reserves the right to amend or repeal any provision contained in this Certificate of Incorporation in the manner prescribed by the laws of the State of Delaware and all rights conferred upon stockholders are granted subject to this reservation.

the Corporation to purchase or receive from the Corporation shares of Common Stock or other securities or assets of the Corporation or any other entity. The times at which and the terms upon which such rights are issued, are exercisable and are to remain outstanding shall be determined by the Board of Directors. (D) Provisions which deny the holder of a specified percentage of the outstanding stock or other securities of the Corporation the right to exercise such rights and/or cause the rights held by such holder to become void;

(E) Provisions which permit the Corporation to redeem or to exchange such rights; and Section 1. Stockholder Meetings.

(1) An annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation, for the election of directors to succeed those whose terms expire and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting, shall be held at such place, on such date, and at such time as the Board of Directors of the Corporation (the "Board of Directors") shall each year fix, which date shall be within thirteen (13) months of the last annual meeting of stockholders.

(2) Nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors and the proposal of business to be transacted by the stockholders may be made at an annual or special meeting of stockholders (a) pursuant to the Corporation's notice with respect to such meeting, (b) by or at the direction of the Board of Directors or (c) by any stockholder of record of the Corporation who was a stockholder of record at the time of the giving of the notice provided for in the following paragraph, who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with the notice procedures set forth in this section.

(3) For nominations or other business to be properly brought before an annual or special meeting by a stockholder pursuant to clause (c) of the foregoing paragraph, (1) the stockholder must have given timely notice thereof in writing to the Secretary of the Corporation, (2) such business must be a proper matter for stockholder action under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (as amended from time to time, the "DGCL"), (3) if the stockholder, or the beneficial owner on whose behalf any such proposal or nomination is made, has provided the Corporation with a Solicitation Notice, as that term is defined in subclause (c)(iii) of this paragraph, such stockholder or beneficial owner must, in the case of a proposal, have delivered a proxy statement and form of proxy to holders of at least the percentage of the Corporation's voting shares required under applicable law to carry any such proposal, or, in the case of a nomination or nominations, have delivered a proxy statement and form of proxy to holders of a percentage of the Corporation's voting shares reasonably believed by such stockholder or beneficial holder to be sufficient to elect the nominee or nominees proposed to be nominated by such stockholder, and must, in either case, have included in such materials the Solicitation Notice and (4) if no Solicitation Notice relating thereto has been timely provided pursuant to this section, the stockholder or beneficial owner proposing such business or nomination must not have solicited a number of proxies sufficient to have required the delivery of such a Solicitation Notice under this section. To be timely, a stockholder's notice shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not less than twenty (20) or more than sixty (60) days prior to the first anniversary (the "Anniversary") of the date on which the Corporation first mailed its proxy materials for the preceding year's annual meeting of stockholders; provided, however, that for purposes of the first annual meeting of stockholders following the Effective Time, or if the date of an annual meeting is advanced more than thirty (30) days prior to or delayed by more than thirty (30) days after the anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting, notice by the stockholder to be timely must be so delivered not earlier than the 90th day prior to such annual meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of (i) the 45th day prior to such annual meeting or (ii) the 10th day following the day on which public announcement of the date of such meeting is first made. Such stockholder's notice shall set forth (a) as to each person whom the stockholder proposes to nominate for election or reelection as a director (x) all information relating to such person as would be required to be disclosed in solicitations of proxies for the election of such nominees as directors pursuant to Regulation 14A under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"), (y) whether the stockholder proposes to nominate such person to be an Independent Director (as defined in Section 1 of Article II of these Bylaws), a Class B Director, the At-large Director or, if permitted by the Certificate of Incorporation, the Chairman Director (as such terms are defined in Section A of Article VI of the Certificate of Incorporation) and, if applicable, a statement that such person satisfies the applicable criteria for Independent Directors or Class B Directors, as applicable, and (z) such person's written consent to serve as a director if elected and, if applicable, a written undertaking to promptly provide to the Secretary of the Corporation upon request any information that the Corporation deems to be relevant to the determination of whether such person satisfies the applicable criteria for Independent Directors or Class B Directors, as applicable; (b) as to any other business that the stockholder proposes to bring before the meeting, a brief description of such business, the reasons for conducting such business at the meeting and any material interest in such business of such stockholder and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the proposal is made; (c) as to the stockholder giving the notice and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the nomination or proposal is made (i) the name and address of such stockholder, as they appear on the Corporation's books, and of such beneficial owner, (ii) the class and number of shares of the Corporation that are owned beneficially and of record by such stockholder and such beneficial owner, and (iii) whether either such stockholder or beneficial owner intends to deliver a proxy statement and form of proxy to holders of, in the case of a proposal, at least the percentage of the Corporation's voting shares required under applicable law to carry the proposal or, in the case of a nomination or nominations, a sufficient number of holders of the Corporation's voting shares to elect such nominee or nominees (an affirmative statement of such intent, a "Solicitation Notice").

(4) In the event that (a) a stockholder proposes to nominate an individual for election or reelection as a director of the Corporation; (b) such stockholder has satisfied each of the terms and conditions set forth in paragraph (3) of this Section 1 for the nomination of such nominee; and (c) such stockholder has delivered to the Secretary of the Corporation a written petition executed by at least forty holders of Class B Memberships in the CBOT Subsidiary proposing to nominate such nominee, the Corporation shall, to the extent it prepares and delivers a proxy statement and form of proxy, at its own expense, use commercially reasonable efforts to include the name of such nominee and all other information required as a matter of law in such proxy statement and form of proxy.

(5) Notwithstanding anything in the second sentence of the third paragraph of this Section 1 to the contrary, in the event that the number of directors to be elected to the Board of Directors is increased and there is no public announcement naming all of the nominees for director or specifying the size of the increased Board of Directors made by the Corporation at least fifty-five (55) days prior to the Anniversary, a stockholder's notice required by this Bylaw shall also be considered timely, but only with respect to nominees for any new positions created by such increase, if it shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not later than the close of business on the 10th day following the day on which such public announcement is first made by the Corporation.

(6) Only persons nominated in accordance with the procedures set forth in this Section 1 shall be eligible to be elected as directors at an annual meeting of stockholders, and only such business shall be conducted at an annual meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting in accordance with the procedures set forth in this section. The chairman of the meeting shall have the power and the duty to determine whether a nomination or any business proposed to be brought before the meeting has been made in accordance with the procedures set forth in these Bylaws and, if any proposed nomination or business is not in compliance with these Bylaws, to declare that such defectively proposed business or nomination shall not be presented for stockholder action at the meeting and shall be disregarded.

(7) For purposes of these Bylaws, "public announcement" shall mean disclosure in a press release reported by the Dow Jones News Service, Associated Press or a comparable national news service or in a document publicly filed by the Corporation with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Section 13, 14 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act.

(8) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Section 1, a stockholder shall also comply with all applicable requirements of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder with respect to matters set forth in this Section 1. Nothing in this Section 1 shall be deemed to affect any rights of stockholders to request inclusion of proposals in the Corporation's proxy statement pursuant to Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act.

Section 2. Special Meetings.

(1) Special meetings of the stockholders, other than those required by statute, may be called by the Chairman of the Board or the President of the Corporation or by the Board of Directors acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the Whole Board. For purposes of these Bylaws, the term "Whole Board" shall mean the total number of authorized directors whether or not there exist any vacancies in previously authorized directorships. The Board of Directors may postpone or reschedule any previously scheduled special meeting.

(2) A special meeting shall be called by the Chairman of the Board or the Board of Directors acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the Whole Board upon receipt by the Secretary of the Corporation of a written demand of Members stockholders entitled to cast 10% of the total number of votes entitled to be case as such meeting. Any such written demand shall specify the purpose of such special meeting and the special meeting so called shall be limited to the purpose so set forth. The written demand shall also specify the date of such special meeting that shall be a business day not less than sixty (60) nor more than ninety (90) days from the date of such written demand.

(3) Only such business shall be conducted at a special meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting. The chairman of the meeting shall have the power and the duty to determine whether a nomination or any business proposed to be brought before the meeting has been made in accordance with the procedures set forth in these Bylaws and, if any proposed nomination or business is not in compliance with these Bylaws, to declare that such defectively proposed business or nomination shall not be presented for stockholder action at the meeting and shall be disregarded. Nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors may be made at a special meeting of stockholders at which directors are to be elected pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting (a) by or at the direction of the Board of Directors or (b) by any stockholder of record of the Corporation who is a stockholder of record at the time of giving of notice provided for in this paragraph, who shall be entitled to vote at the meeting and who complies with the notice procedures set forth in Section 1 of this Article I. Nominations by stockholders of persons for election to the Board of Directors may be made at such a special meeting of stockholders if the stockholder's notice required by the third paragraph of Section 1 of this Article I shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not earlier than the day on which public announcement is first made of the date of the special meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of the 90th day prior to such special meeting or the 10th day following the day on which public announcement is first made of the date of the special meeting and of the nominees proposed by the Board of Directors to be elected at such meeting.

(4) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Section 2, a stockholder shall also comply with all applicable requirements of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder with respect to matters set forth in this Section 2. Nothing in this Section 2 shall be deemed to affect any rights of stockholders to request inclusion of proposals in the Corporation's proxy statement pursuant to Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act.

Section 3. Notice of Meetings.

Notice of the place, if any, date, and time of all meetings of the stockholders, and the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such meeting, shall be given, not less than ten (10) nor more than sixty (60) days before the date on which the meeting is to be held, to each stockholder entitled to vote at such meeting, except as otherwise provided herein or required by law (meaning, here and hereinafter, as required from time to time by the DGCL or the Certificate of Incorporation).

When a meeting is adjourned to another time or place, notice need not be given of the adjourned meeting if the time and place, if any, thereof, and the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such adjourned meeting are announced at the meeting at which the adjournment is taken; provided, however, that if the date of any adjourned meeting is more than thirty (30) days after the date for which the meeting was originally noticed, or if a new record date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, notice of the place, if any, date, and time of the adjourned meeting and the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such adjourned meeting, shall be given in conformity herewith. At any adjourned meeting, any business may be transacted which might have been transacted at the original meeting.

Section 4. Quorum.

At any meeting of the stockholders, the holders of a one-third of the voting power of all of the shares of the stock entitled to vote at the meeting, present in person or by proxy, shall constitute a quorum for all purposes, unless or except to the extent that the presence of a larger number may be required by law. Where a separate vote by a class or classes or series is required, the holders of a majority of the voting power of all of the shares of such class or classes or series entitled to participate in such separate vote, present in person or by proxy, shall constitute a quorum entitled to take action with respect to that vote on that matter.

If a quorum shall fail to attend any meeting, the chairman of the meeting may adjourn the meeting to another place, if any, date or time.

Section 5. Organization.

Such person as the Board of Directors may have designated or, in the absence of such a person, the Chairman of the Board or, in his or her absence, the President of the Corporation or, in his or her absence, such person as may be chosen by the holders of a majority of the voting power of the shares entitled to vote who are present, in person or by proxy, shall call to order any meeting of the stockholders and act as chairman of the meeting. In the absence of the Secretary of the Corporation, the secretary of the meeting shall be such person as the chairman of the meeting appoints.

Section 6. Conduct of Business.

The chairman of any meeting of stockholders shall determine the order of business and the procedure at the meeting, including such regulation of the manner of voting and the conduct of discussion as seem to him or her in order. The chairman shall have the power to adjourn the meeting to another place, if any, date and time. The date and time of the opening and closing of the polls for each matter upon which the stockholders will vote at the meeting shall be announced at the meeting.

Section 7. Proxies and Voting.

At any meeting of the stockholders, every stockholder entitled to vote may vote in person or by proxy authorized by an instrument in writing or by a transmission permitted by law filed in accordance with the procedure established for the meeting. Any copy, facsimile telecommunication or other reliable reproduction of the writing or transmission created pursuant to this paragraph may be substituted or used in lieu of the original writing or transmission for any and all purposes for which the original writing or transmission could be used, provided that such copy, facsimile telecommunication or other reproduction shall be a complete reproduction of the entire original writing or transmission.

The Corporation may, and to the extent required by law, shall, in advance of any meeting of stockholders, appoint one or more inspectors to act at the meeting and make a written report thereof. The Corporation may designate one or more alternate inspectors to replace any inspector who fails to act. If no inspector or alternate is able to act at a meeting of stockholders, the person presiding at the meeting may, and to the extent required by law, shall, appoint one or more inspectors to act at the meeting. Each inspector, before entering upon the discharge of his or her duties, shall take and sign an oath faithfully to execute the duties of inspector with strict impartiality and according to the best of his or her ability. Every vote taken by ballots shall be counted by a duly appointed inspector or inspectors.

All elections shall be determined by a plurality of the votes cast, and except as otherwise required by law, all other matters shall be determined by a majority of the votes cast affirmatively or negatively.

Section 8. Stock List.

A complete list of stockholders entitled to vote at any meeting of stockholders, arranged in alphabetical order for each class of stock and showing the address of each such stockholder and the number of shares registered in his or her name, shall be open to the examination of any such stockholder for a period of at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting in the manner provided by law.

The stock list shall also be open to the examination of any stockholder during the whole time of the meeting as provided by law. This list shall presumptively determine the identity of the stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting and the number of shares held by each of them.

Section 9. Initial Meeting.

Notwithstanding anything in these Bylaws to the contrary, with respect to stockholder nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors at the Initial Meeting (as such term is defined in Section A of Article VI of the Certificate of Incorporation), the Board of Directors may, in its sole and absolute discretion, establish stockholder nomination notice requirements and procedures to apply in lieu of all or part of the stockholder nomination notice requirements and procedures set forth in Section 1 of this Article I and in the second paragraph of Section 2 of this Article I.

ARTICLE II--BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Section 1. Number, Election, Term and Qualifications of Directors.

The effectiveness of the amendment and restatement of these Bylaws shall not change the size or composition of the Board of Directors and the directorships thereon shall continue to have the same voting rights (or no voting rights) associated therewith as were associated with such directorships prior to the effectiveness of the amendment and restatement of these Bylaws. Commencing with the election of directors at the Initial Meeting (as such term is defined in the Certificate of Incorporation), the number of directors constituting the whole Board (as such term is defined in the Certificate of Incorporation) shall be nine (9), plus any directors who the holders of any series of preferred stock may be entitled to elect under specified circumstances (hereinafter referred to as "Preferred Stock Directors"). The directors shall serve for such terms and be subject to such qualifications and requirements as are set forth in the Certificate of Incorporation.

For purposes of these Bylaws and the Certificate of Incorporation, "independent director" means a person other than an officer or employee of the Corporation or it subsidiaries or any other individual having a relationship which, in the sole and absolute discretion of the Board of Directors, or in the case of a nominee, the nominating committee of the Board of Directors, would interfere with the exercise of independent judgement in carrying out the responsibilities of a director. The following persons shall not be considered independent:

(A) a director who is a Member of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc., a nonstock, for-profit subsidiary of the Corporation ("CBOT Subsidiary"), or who is employed by the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary, or any of their respective affiliates for the current year or any of the past three (3) years;

(B) a director who accepts any compensation from the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary, or any of their respective affiliates in excess of $60,000 during the previous fiscal year, other than compensation for board service, benefits under a tax-qualified retirement plan, or non-discretionary compensation or who primarily performs services for the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary in a capacity other than as a member of their respective boards of directors;

(C) a director who is a member of the immediate family of an individual who is, or has been in any of the past three years, employed by the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary, or any of their respective affiliates as an executive officer. Immediate family includes a person's spouse, parents, children, siblings, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law and anyone who resides in such person's home;

(D) a director who is a partner in, or a controlling stockholder or an executive officer of, any for-profit business organization to which the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary made, or from which the Corporation or the CBOT Subsidiary received, payments (other than those arising solely from investments in the Corporation's securities or the CBOT Subsidiary's memberships) that exceed 5% of the Corporation's, the CBOT Subsidiary's, or the business organization's consolidated gross revenues for that year, or $200,000, whichever is more, in any of the past three years;

(E) a director who is employed as an executive of another entity where any of the Corporation's or the CBOT Subsidiary's executives serve on that entity's compensation committee; and

(F) a director who is an officer, principal (as defined in the Commodity Exchange Act and applicable Regulations promulgated thereunder) or employee of a firm, which holds a membership in the CBOT Subsidiary either in its own name or through an employee on behalf of the firm.

Section 2. Chairman of the Board.

The Chairman of the Board shall be the presiding officer at all meetings of the Board of Directors and shall exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as are delegated to him or her by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Newly Created Directorships and Vacancies.

Subject to the rights of the holders of any series of preferred stock then outstanding, newly created directorships resulting from any increase in the authorized number of directors or any vacancies in the Board of Directors resulting from death, resignation, retirement, disqualification, removal from office or other cause shall, unless otherwise required by law or by resolution of the Board of Directors, be filled only by a majority vote of the directors then in office, though less than a quorum (and not by stockholders), and directors so chosen shall hold office for a term expiring at the next annual meeting of stockholders and until such director's successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. No decrease in the number of authorized directors shall shorten the term of any incumbent director.

Section 4. Regular Meetings.

Regular meetings of the Board of Directors shall be held at such place or places, on such date or dates, and at such time or times as shall have been established by the Board of Directors and publicized among all directors. A notice of each regular meeting shall not be required.

Section 5. Special Meetings.

Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be called only by the Chairman of the Board, the President of the Corporation or by a majority of the Whole Board and shall be held at such place, on such date, and at such time as they or he or she shall fix. Notice of the place, date, and time of each such special meeting shall be given to each director by whom it is not waived by mailing written notice not less than five (5) days before the meeting or by telephone or by telegraphing or telexing or by facsimile or electronic transmission of the same not less than twenty-four (24) hours before the meeting. Unless otherwise indicated in the notice thereof, any and all business may be transacted at a special meeting.

Section 6. Quorum.

At any meeting of the Board of Directors, a majority of the total number of the Whole Board shall constitute a quorum for all purposes. If a quorum shall fail to attend any meeting, a majority of those present may adjourn the meeting to another place, date, or time, without further notice or waiver thereof.

Section 7. Participation in Meetings By Conference Telephone.

Members of the Board of Directors, or of any committee thereof, may participate in a meeting of such Board of Directors or committee by means of conference telephone or other communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other and such participation shall constitute presence in person at such meeting.

Section 8. Conduct of Business.

At any meeting of the Board of Directors, business shall be transacted in such order and manner as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine, and all matters shall be determined by the vote of a majority of the directors present, except as otherwise provided herein or required by law. Action may be taken by the Board of Directors without a meeting if all members thereof consent thereto in writing or by electronic transmission, and the writing or writings or electronic transmission or transmissions are filed with the minutes of proceedings of the Board of Directors. Such filing shall be in paper form if the minutes are maintained in paper form and shall be in electronic form if the minutes are maintained in electronic form.

Section 9. Compensation of Directors.

Unless otherwise restricted by the certificate of incorporation, the Board of Directors shall have the authority to fix the compensation of the directors. The directors may be paid their expenses, if any, of attendance at each meeting of the Board of Directors and may be paid a fixed sum for attendance at each meeting of the Board of Directors or paid a stated salary or paid other compensation as director. No such payment shall preclude any director from serving the Corporation in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefor. Members of special or standing committees may be allowed compensation for attending committee meetings.

ARTICLE III--COMMITTEES

Section 1. Committees of the Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors may from time to time designate committees of the Board of Directors, with such lawfully delegable powers and duties as it thereby confers, to serve at the pleasure of the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors shall elect a director or directors to serve as the member or members of any such committee, designating, if it desires, other directors as alternate members who may replace any absent or disqualified member at any meeting of the committee. In the absence or disqualification of any member of any committee and any alternate member in his or her place, the member or members of the committee present at the meeting and not disqualified from voting, whether or not he or she or they constitute a quorum, may by unanimous vote appoint another member of the Board of Directors to act at the meeting in the place of the absent or disqualified member.

Section 2. Conduct of Business.

Each committee may determine the procedural rules for meeting and conducting its business and shall act in accordance therewith, except as otherwise provided herein or required by law. Except as otherwise determined by the Board of Directors, adequate provision shall be made for notice to members of all meetings; one-third (1/3) of the members shall constitute a quorum unless the committee shall consist of one (1) or two (2) members, in which event one (1) member shall constitute a quorum; and all matters shall be determined by a majority vote of the members present. Action may be taken by any committee without a meeting if all members thereof consent thereto in writing or by electronic transmission, and the writing or writings or electronic transmission or transmissions are filed with the minutes of the proceedings of such committee. Such filing shall be in paper form if the minutes are maintained in paper form and shall be in electronic form if the minutes are maintained in electronic form.

ARTICLE IV--OFFICERS

Section 1. Generally.

The officers of the Corporation shall consist of a President (who shall also be Chief Executive Officer), one or more Vice Presidents, a Secretary, a Treasurer and such other officers as may from time to time be appointed by the Corporation.

Section 2. President.

The President shall be the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation. Subject to the provisions of these Bylaws and to the direction of the Board of Directors, he or she shall have the responsibility to carry on the day to day activities of the Corporation, subject to the Board's authority to review the activities of the President and determine the policies of the Corporation, and for the general management and control of the business and affairs of the Corporation and shall perform all duties and have all powers which are commonly incident to the office of chief executive and which are delegated to him or her from time to time by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Vice President.

Each Vice President shall have such powers and duties as may be delegated to him or her by the Board of Directors. One (1) Vice President shall be designated by the Board of Directors to perform the duties and exercise the powers of the President in the event of the President's absence or disability.

Section 4. Treasurer.

The Treasurer shall have the responsibility for maintaining the financial records of the Corporation. He or she shall make such disbursements of the funds of the Corporation as are authorized and shall render from time to time an account of all such transactions and of the financial condition of the Corporation. The Treasurer shall also perform such other duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time prescribe.

Section 5. Secretary.

The Secretary shall issue all authorized notices for, and shall keep minutes of, all meetings of the stockholders and the Board of Directors. He or she shall have charge of the corporate books and shall perform such other duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time prescribe.

Section 6. Delegation of Authority.

The Board of Directors may from time to time delegate the powers or duties of any officer to any other officers or agents, notwithstanding any provision hereof.

Section 7. Removal.

Any officer of the Corporation may be removed at any time, with or without cause, by the Board of Directors.

Section 8. Action with Respect to Securities of Other Corporations.

Unless otherwise directed by the Board of Directors, the President or any officer of the Corporation authorized by the President shall have power to vote and otherwise act on behalf of the Corporation, in person or by proxy, at any meeting of stockholders of or with respect to any action of stockholders of any other corporation in which this Corporation may hold securities and otherwise to exercise any and all rights and powers which this Corporation may possess by reason of its ownership of securities in such other corporation.

ARTICLE V--STOCK

Section 1. Certificates of Stock.

The shares of capital stock of the Corporation shall be represented by certificates unless the Board of Directors shall by resolution provide that some or all of any class or series of stock shall be uncertificated shares. Any such resolution shall not apply to shares represented by a certificate until the certificate is surrendered to the Corporation. Notwithstanding the adoption of any resolution providing for uncertificated shares, every holder of stock represented by certificates and upon request every holder of uncertificated shares shall be entitled to have a certificate signed by, or in the name of the Corporation by, the Chairperson or Vice Chairperson of the Board of Directors, or the President or Vice President, and by the Treasurer or an Assistant Treasurer, or the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary, representing the number of shares registered in certificate form. The form of such certificates and the signatures thereon shall comply with the requirements of the DGCL. Any or all of the signatures on the certificate may be by facsimile.

Section 2. Transfers of Stock.

Transfers of stock shall be subject to the restrictions on transfer set forth in the Certificate of Incorporation and shall be made only upon the transfer books of the Corporation kept at an office of the Corporation or by transfer agents designated to transfer shares of the stock of the Corporation. Except where a certificate is issued in accordance with Section 4 of Article V of these Bylaws, an outstanding certificate for the number of shares involved shall be surrendered for cancellation before a new certificate is issued therefor.

Section 3. Record Date.

In order that the Corporation may determine the stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at any meeting of stockholders, or to receive payment of any dividend or other distribution or allotment of any rights or to exercise any rights in respect of any change, conversion or exchange of stock or for the purpose of any other lawful action, the Board of Directors may, except as otherwise required by law, fix a record date, which record date shall not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is adopted and which record date shall not be more than sixty (60) nor less than ten (10) days before the date of any meeting of stockholders, nor more than sixty (60) days prior to the time for such other action as hereinbefore described; provided, however, that if no record date is fixed by the Board of Directors, the record date for determining stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall be at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which notice is given or, if notice is waived, at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the meeting is held, and, for determining stockholders entitled to receive payment of any dividend or other distribution or allotment of rights or to exercise any rights of change, conversion or exchange of stock or for any other purpose, the record date shall be at the close of business on the day on which the Board of Directors adopts a resolution relating thereto.

A determination of stockholders of record entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall apply to any adjournment of the meeting; provided, however, that the Board of Directors may fix a new record date for the adjourned meeting.

Section 4. Lost, Stolen, Mutilated or Destroyed Certificates.

In the event of the loss, theft, mutilation or destruction of any certificate of stock, another may be issued in its place pursuant to such regulations as the Board of Directors may establish concerning proof of such loss, theft, mutilation or destruction and concerning the giving of a satisfactory bond or bonds of indemnity.

Section 5. Regulations.

The issue, transfer, conversion and registration of certificates of stock shall be governed by such other regulations as the Board of Directors may establish.

ARTICLE VI--NOTICES

Section 1. Notices.

If mailed, notice to stockholders shall be deemed given when deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, directed to the stockholder at such stockholder's address as it appears on the records of the Corporation. Without limiting the manner by which notice otherwise may be given effectively to stockholders, any notice to stockholders may be given by electronic transmission in the manner provided in Section 232 of the DGCL.

Section 2. Waivers.

A written waiver of any notice, signed by a stockholder or director, or waiver by electronic transmission by such person, whether given before or after the time of the event for which notice is to be given, shall be deemed equivalent to the notice required to be given to such person. Neither the business nor the purpose of any meeting need be specified in such a waiver. Attendance at any meeting shall constitute waiver of notice except attendance for the sole purpose of objecting to the timeliness of notice.

ARTICLE VII--MISCELLANEOUS

Section 1. Facsimile Signatures.

In addition to the provisions for use of facsimile signatures elsewhere specifically authorized in these Bylaws, facsimile signatures of any officer or officers of the Corporation may be used whenever and as authorized by the Board of Directors or a committee thereof.

Section 2. Corporate Seal.

The Board of Directors may provide a suitable seal, containing the name of the Corporation, which seal shall be in the charge of the Secretary. If and when so directed by the Board of Directors or a committee thereof, duplicates of the seal may be kept and used by the Treasurer or by an Assistant Secretary or Assistant Treasurer.

Section 3. Reliance upon Books, Reports and Records.

Each director, each member of any committee designated by the Board of Directors and each officer of the Corporation shall, in the performance of his or her duties, be fully protected in relying in good faith upon the books of account or other records of the Corporation and upon such information, opinions, reports or statements presented to the Corporation by any of its officers or employees, or committees of the Board of Directors so designated, or by any other person as to matters which such director or committee member reasonably believes are within such other person's professional or expert competence and who has been selected with reasonable care by or on behalf of the Corporation.

Section 4. Fiscal Year.

The fiscal year of the Corporation shall be as fixed by the Board of Directors from time to time.

Section 5. Time Periods.

In applying any provision of these Bylaws which requires that an act be done or not be done a specified number of days prior to an event or that an act be done during a period of a specified number of days prior to an event, calendar days shall be used, the day of the doing of the act shall be excluded, and the day of the event shall be included.

ARTICLE VIII--INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

Section 1. Right to Indemnification.

Each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is otherwise involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director, officer, committee member or employee of the Corporation or is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan (hereinafter an "indemnitee"), whether the basis of such proceeding is alleged action in an official capacity as a director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee or in any other capacity while serving as a director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended (but, in the case of any such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than such law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such amendment), against all expense, liability and loss (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such indemnitee in connection therewith; provided, however, that, except as provided in Section 3 of this Article VIII with respect to proceedings to enforce rights to indemnification, the Corporation shall indemnify any such indemnitee in connection with a proceeding (or part thereof) initiated by such indemnitee only if such proceeding (or part thereof) was authorized by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Right to Advancement of Expenses.

In addition to the right to indemnification conferred in Section 1 of this Article VIII, an indemnitee shall also have the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses (including attorney's fees) incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition (hereinafter an "advancement of expenses"); provided, however, that, if the DGCL requires, an advancement of expenses incurred by an indemnitee in his or her capacity as a director or officer (and not in any other capacity in which service was or is rendered by such indemnitee, including, without limitation, service to an employee benefit plan) shall be made only upon delivery to the Corporation of an undertaking (hereinafter an "undertaking"), by or on behalf of such indemnitee, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined by final judicial decision from which there is no further right to appeal (hereinafter a "final adjudication") that such indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified for such expenses under this Section 2 or otherwise.

Section 3. Right of Indemnitee to Bring Suit.

If a claim under Section 1 or 2 of this Article VIII is not paid in full by the Corporation within sixty (60) days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, except in the case of a claim for an advancement of expenses, in which case the applicable period shall be twenty (20) days, the indemnitee may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim. If successful in whole or in part in any such suit, or in a suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the indemnitee shall be entitled to be paid also the expense of prosecuting or defending such suit. In (i) any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification hereunder (but not in a suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to an advancement of expenses) it shall be a defense that, and (ii) in any suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the Corporation shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that, the indemnitee has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the DGCL. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its directors who are not parties to such action, a committee of such directors, independent legal counsel, or its stockholders) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such suit that indemnification of the indemnitee is proper in the circumstances because the indemnitee has met the applicable standard of conduct set forth in the DGCL, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its directors who are not parties to such action, a committee of such directors, independent legal counsel, or its stockholders) that the indemnitee has not met such applicable standard of conduct, shall create a presumption that the indemnitee has not met the applicable standard of conduct or, in the case of such a suit brought by the indemnitee, be a defense to such suit. In any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification or to an advancement of expenses hereunder, or brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the burden of proving that the indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified, or to such advancement of expenses, under this Article VIII or otherwise shall be on the Corporation.

Section 4. Non-Exclusivity of Rights.

The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in this Article VIII shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, the Corporation's Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaws, agreement, vote of stockholders or directors or otherwise.

Section 5. Insurance.

The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under the DGCL.

Section 6. Indemnification of Agents of the Corporation.

The Corporation may, to the extent authorized from time to time by the Board of Directors, grant rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses to any agent of the Corporation to the fullest extent of the provisions of this Article with respect to the indemnification and advancement of expenses of directors and officers of the Corporation.

Section 7. Nature of Rights.

The rights conferred upon indemnitees in this Article VIII shall be contract rights and such rights shall continue as to an indemnitee who has ceased to be a director, officer or trustee and shall inure to the benefit of the indemnitee's heirs, executors and administrators. Any amendment, alteration or repeal of this Article VIII that adversely affects any right of an indemnitee or its successors shall be prospective only and shall not limit or eliminate any such right with respect to any proceeding involving any occurrence or alleged occurrence of any action or omission to act that took place prior to such amendment or repeal.

ARTICLE IX--AMENDMENTS

The Board of Directors is expressly empowered to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws of the Corporation. Any adoption, amendment or repeal of the Bylaws of the Corporation by the Board of Directors shall require the approval of a majority of the Whole Board. The stockholders shall also have power to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws of the Corporation; provided, however, that any adoption, amendment or repeal of the Bylaws of the Corporation by the stockholders shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast on any such properly presented proposal at any annual or special meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation.

2. Series B-1 and B-2, Class B Voting Rights.

(a) In addition to any approval of the Board of Directors required by this Certificate of Incorporation, the Bylaws or applicable law, the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the voting power of the then-outstanding Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships, voting together as a class based on their respective voting rights, shall be required to adopt any amendment or make any change to this Certificate of Incorporation, the Bylaws or the Rules that, in the sole and absolute determination of the Board of Directors, adversely affects:

(1) the allocation of products that the holders of any Series of Class B Membership are permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the Corporation (including both the open outcry trading system and the electronic trading system),

(2) the requirement that, except as provided in that certain Agreement, dated August 7, 2001, between the Corporation and CBOE, as modified by that certain Letter Agreement, dated October 24, 2001, between the Corporation, CBOT Holdings and the CBOE, in each case, as may be amended from time to time in accordance with their respective terms, holders of Class B Memberships who meet the applicable membership and eligibility requirements will be charged transaction fees for trades of the Corporation's products for their accounts that are lower than the transaction fees charged to any participant who is not a holder of Class B Membership for the same products, whether trading utilizing the open outcry trading system or the electronic trading system,

(5) the Commitment to Maintain Open Outcry Markets set forth in Section F of Article IV of this Certificate of Incorporation.

For purposes of clause (1) of this Section, the allocation of products that the holders of any Series of Class B Membership are permitted to trade on the exchange facilities of the Corporation shall be deemed to be adversely affected only if a product is eliminated from the allocation of products the holders of a particular Series of Class B Memberships are permitted to trade. The right of the holders of Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships to vote on the amendments and changes specified in this Section D(2)(a) shall apply only if any such amendment or change is first approved by the Board of Directors or the holder of the Class A Membership, and the holders of Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships shall have no right to propose, initiate or unilaterally take any of the actions as to which they are entitled to vote pursuant to this Section D(2)(a). For purposes of any vote of the holders of Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships permitted by this Certificate of Incorporation, the Board of Directors shall be entitled to fix a record date, and only holders of record as of such record date shall be entitled to vote on the matter to be voted on.

(c) In addition to any approval of the Board of Directors required by this Certificate of Incorporation, the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the voting power of the then-outstanding Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships, voting together as a class based on their respective voting rights, shall be required to adopt any amendment or make any change to Section E of Article IV.

(d) On any matter on which holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Memberships are entitled to vote pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this Article IV(D)(2), such holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Memberships shall be the only members of the Corporation entitled to vote thereon, and any such matter shall be approved thereby if approved by the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by such holders, voting together as a class based on their respective voting rights. Holders of Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Memberships shall have no other voting rights except as expressly set forth herein and shall not have the right to take action by written consent in lieu of a meeting. One-third of the total voting power of the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B Memberships present in person or by proxy shall constitute a quorum at any meeting to take action on the matters as to which such holders are entitled to vote pursuant to paragraphs (a)(b) and (c) of this Article IV(D)(2). Series B-3, Series B-4 and Series B-5, Class B Memberships shall have no right to vote on any matters or to initiate any proposals at or for any meeting of members.

3. Conversion Rights of Series B-3.

(a) Conversion. Subject to, and upon compliance with, the provisions of this Section D(3) of Article IV, any two (2) Series B-3, Class B Memberships shall be convertible at the option of the holder into one (1) Series B-2, Class B Membership.

(b) Mechanics of Conversion. A holder of Series B-3, Class B Memberships may exercise the conversion right specified in Section D(3)(a) of Article IV by surrendering to the Corporation or any transfer agent of the Corporation the certificates or other instruments, if any, representing the memberships to be converted, accompanied by written notice stating that the holder elects to convert such memberships represented thereby. Conversion shall be deemed to have been effected on the date when delivery of such certificate or other instrument, if any, accompanied by such written notice, is made, and such date is referred to herein as the Conversion Date. As promptly as practicable after the Conversion Date, the Corporation shall issue and deliver to or upon the written order of such holder a certificate or other instrument representing the number of Series B-2, Class B Memberships to which such holder is entitled as a result of the exercise of such conversion right. The person in whose name the certificates or other instruments representing Series B-2, Class B Memberships are to be issued shall be deemed to have become the holder of record of such Series B-2, Class B Memberships on the applicable Conversion Date.

(c) Memberships Reserved for Issuance. The Corporation shall take all actions necessary to reserve and make available at all times for issuance upon the conversion of Series B-3, Class B Memberships, such number of Series B-2, Class B Memberships as are issuable upon the conversion of all outstanding Series B-3, Class B Memberships.

E. Restriction on Transfer of Class B Memberships. Except as otherwise provided in this Article IV.E, no Class B Membership may be sold, transferred or otherwise disposed of (excluding any hypothecation thereof) except (a) by operation of law, (b) in a transaction specifically approved by the Board of Directors of the Corporation or a duly authorized committee thereof or (c) in a transaction consummated in connection with and conditioned upon the sale, transfer or disposition of shares of common stock (including any successor interests, the "Common Stock") of CBOT Holdings, that results in the number of shares of Common Stock of CBOT Holdings associated with the series of such Class B Membership, as set forth hereinafter in this Section E, being simultaneously sold, transferred or disposed of to the same transferee of such Class B Membership. The number of shares of Common Stock of CBOT Holdings that must be sold, transferred or otherwise disposed of in accordance with the preceding sentence is as follows: twenty five thousand (25,000) shares of Common Stock with one (1) Series B-1, Class B Membership; five thousand (5,000) shares of Common Stock with one (1) Series B-2, Class B Membership; two thousand five hundred (2,500) shares of Common Stock with one (1) Series B-3, Class B Membership; three hundred (300) shares of Common Stock with one (1) Series B-4, Class B Membership; and three hundred fifty (350) shares of Common Stock with one (1) Series B-5, Class B Membership. The restrictions contained in this Article IV.E shall be terms and conditions of membership in the Corporation and any purported sale, transfer or other disposition of a Class B Membership not in accordance with this Article IV.E shall be void and shall not be recorded on the books of or otherwise recognized by the Corporation.

F. Commitment to Maintain Open Outcry Markets. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Section F of Article IV, the Corporation shall maintain open outcry markets operating as of the effective date of the amendment and restatement of this Certificate of Incorporation creating Class B Memberships with the State of Delaware and provide financial support to each such market for technology, marketing and research, which the Board of Directors determines, in its sole and absolute discretion, is reasonably necessary to maintain each such open outcry market.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or any other provision of this Certificate of Incorporation, the Board of Directors may discontinue any open outcry market at such time and in such manner as it may determine if (1) the Board of Directors determines, in its sole and absolute discretion, that a market is no longer "liquid" or (2) the holders of a majority of the voting power of the then outstanding Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships, voting together as a single class based on their respective voting rights, approve the discontinuance of such open outcry market.

For purposes of the foregoing, an open outcry market will be deemed "liquid" for so long as it meets either of the following tests, in each case as measured on a quarterly basis:

(a) if a comparable exchange-traded product exists, the open outcry market has maintained at least 30 percent (30%) of the average daily volume of such comparable product (including for calculation purposes, volume from Exchange-For-Physicals transactions in such open outcry market); or

(b) if no comparable exchange-traded product exists, the open outcry market has maintained at least 40 percent (40%) of the average quarterly volume in that market as maintained by the Corporation in 2001 (including, for calculation purposes, volume from Exchange-For-Physicals transactions in such open outcry market).

ARTICLE V

MANAGEMENT OF AFFAIRS

The following provisions are inserted for the management of the business and the conduct of the affairs of the Corporation, and for further definition, limitation and regulation of the powers of the Corporation and of its directors and stockholders:

In addition to the powers and authority expressly conferred upon them by statute or by this Certificate of Incorporation, the Bylaws or the Rules, the directors are hereby empowered to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws and the Rules of the Corporation, subject to Section D(2) of Article IV of this Certificate of Incorporation, and to exercise all powers and do all acts and things as may be exercised or done by the Corporation. B. Special meetings of the members of the Corporation may be called only by the Chairman of the Board or by the Board of Directors acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the Whole Board. For purposes of this Certificate of Incorporation, the term "Whole Board" shall mean the total number of authorized directors whether or not there exist any vacancies in previously authorized directorships.

ARTICLE VI

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The holder of the Class A Membership shall have the exclusive right to vote for and elect the members of the Board of Directors. To qualify for election to, and continued service on, the Board of Directors as of any particular time, a person must, as of such time, be a member of the board of directors of CBOT Holdings. The Chairman of the Board of CBOT Holdings shall, whenever he or she is serving as a member of the Board of Directors, be Chairman of the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE VII

AMENDMENT OF BYLAWS

The only members of the Corporation with any power to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws or the Rules of the Corporation shall be the holders of the Series B-1 and Series B-2 Class B memberships, as set forth in Article IV.D.2 of this certificate of incorporation, and no other member of, or class or series of membership in, the Corporation shall have any such power.

ARTICLE VIII

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

A director of the Corporation shall not be personally liable to the Corporation or its members for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability (A) for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the Corporation or its members, (B) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (C) under Section 174 of the DGCL, or (iv) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. If the DGCL is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the Corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, as so amended.

Any repeal or modification of the foregoing paragraph shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director of the Corporation existing at the time of such repeal or modification. For purposes of this Article, the term "director" shall, to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, include any person who, pursuant to this Certificate of Incorporation, is authorized to exercise or perform any of the powers or duties otherwise conferred upon a board of directors by the DGCL.

ARTICLE IX

AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

The Corporation reserves the right to amend or repeal any provision contained in this Certificate of Incorporation in the manner prescribed by the laws of the State of Delaware, and all rights conferred upon the members of the Corporation are granted subject to this reservation. Any amendment of, or repeal of any provision contained in, this Certificate of Incorporation shall require the approval of (A) the holder of the Class A Membership and, (B) if and to the extent required by Section D(2) of Article IV hereof, the holders of a majority of the voting power of the then-outstanding Series B-1, Class B Memberships and Series B-2, Class B Memberships voting as a single class.

To the extent authorized by the Certificate of Incorporation, the Board of Directors shall be entitled to fix a record date for purposes of determining the members entitled to vote on any matter. ARTICLE VIII--INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

Section 1. Right to Indemnification.

Each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is otherwise involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director, officer, committee member or employee of the Corporation or is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a Director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan (hereinafter an "indemnitee"), whether the basis of such proceeding is alleged action in an official capacity as a Director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee or in any other capacity while serving as a Director, officer, trustee, committee member or employee, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the Delaware General Corporation Law, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended (but, in the case of any such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than such law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such amendment), against all expense, liability and loss (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such indemnitee in connection therewith; provided, however, that, except as provided in Section 3 of this Article VIII with respect to proceedings to enforce rights to indemnification, the Corporation shall indemnify any such indemnitee in connection with a proceeding (or part thereof) initiated by such indemnitee only if such proceeding (or part thereof) was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

Section 2. Right to Advancement of Expenses.

The right to indemnification conferred in Section 1 of this Article VIII shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses (including attorney's fees) incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition (hereinafter an "advancement of expenses"); provided, however, that, if the Delaware General Corporation Law requires, an advancement of expenses incurred by an indemnitee in his or her capacity as a Director or officer (and not in any other capacity in which service was or is rendered by such indemnitee, including, without limitation, service to an employee benefit plan) shall be made only upon delivery to the Corporation of an undertaking (hereinafter an "undertaking"), by or on behalf of such indemnitee, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined by final judicial decision from which there is no further right to appeal (hereinafter a "final adjudication") that such indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified for such expenses under this Section 2 or otherwise. The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in Sections 1 and 2 of this Article VIII shall be contract rights and such rights shall continue as to an indemnitee who has ceased to be a Director, officer, committee member or employee and shall inure to the benefit of the indemnitee's heirs, executors and administrators.

Section 3. Right of Indemnitee to Bring Suit.

If a claim under Section 1 or 2 of this Article VIII is not paid in full by the Corporation within sixty (60) days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, except in the case of a claim for an advancement of expenses, in which case the applicable period shall be twenty (20) days, the indemnitee may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim. If successful in whole or in part in any such suit, or in a suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the indemnitee shall be entitled to be paid also the expense of prosecuting or defending such suit. In (i) any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification hereunder (but not in a suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to an advancement of expenses) it shall be a defense that, and (ii) in any suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the Corporation shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that, the indemnitee has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the Delaware General Corporation Law. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such suit that indemnification of the indemnitee is proper in the circumstances because the indemnitee has met the applicable standard of conduct set forth in the Delaware General Corporation Law, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the indemnitee has not met such applicable standard of conduct, shall create a presumption that the indemnitee has not met the applicable standard of conduct or, in the case of such a suit brought by the indemnitee, be a defense to such suit. In any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification or to an advancement of expenses hereunder, or brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the burden of proving that the indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified, or to such advancement of expenses, under this Article VIII or otherwise shall be on the Corporation.

Section 4. Non-Exclusivity of Rights.

The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in this Article VIII shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, the Corporation's Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

Section 5. Insurance.

The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, officer, committee member or employee of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Section 6. Indemnification of Agents of the Corporation.

The Corporation may, to the extent authorized from time to time by the Board of Directors, grant rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses to any agent of the Corporation to the fullest extent of the provisions of this Article with respect to the indemnification and advancement of expenses of directors and officers of the Corporation.

Section 7. Corporation Defense Expenses.

Any member or member firm who fails to prevail in a lawsuit or any other type of legal proceeding instituted by that member or member firm against the Corporation or any of its officers, Directors, committee members, employees or agents must pay to the Corporation all reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by the Corporation in the defense of such proceeding. Any member or member firm required to compensate the Corporation pursuant to this section shall be assessed interest on such amount at the rate of Prime plus one percent (1%), which interest shall accrue from the date such amount was demanded in writing after the member or member firm failed to prevail in a lawsuit or any other type of legal proceeding against the Corporation.

ARTICLE IX--AMENDMENTS

The Board of Directors is expressly empowered to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws of the Corporation. Any adoption, amendment or repeal of the Bylaws of the Corporation by the Board of Directors shall require the approval of a majority of the Whole Board. The Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members of the Corporation shall also have power to adopt, amend or repeal the Bylaws of the Corporation; provided, however, that any adoption, amendment or repeal of the Bylaws of the Corporation by the Series B-1 and Series B-2, Class B members shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast on any such properly presented proposal at any annual or special meeting of the members of the Corporation.

APPENDIX J

STATUS OF CERTAIN CURRENT CBOT RULES AND REGULATIONS AS A RESULT OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS

The following summary provides the status of certain CBOT rules and regulations that will either be amended and restated, restated in their entirety or repealed in connection with the completion of the restructuring transactions. Where an existing rule or regulation will be either modified and restated or restated in its entirety, the location of the new provision in the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary, the form of which is attached to this document as Appendix H, and/or the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, the form of which is attached to this document as Appendix I, has been identified for your information and reference. However, because changes are being made to many of the restated provisions, you should review and consider carefully the new provisions before voting on the propositions relating to the restructuring transactions. In addition, the CBOT's current rules and regulations and, subject to changes to the rules and regulations occurring from time to time after the date of this document, the form of the rules and regulations of the CBOT subsidiary immediately after the restructuring transactions have been filed as exhibits to the registration statement of which this document is a part. WE URGE YOU TO REVIEW CAREFULLY ALL OF THESE MATERIALS IN CONNECTION WITH YOUR CONSIDERATION OF THE RESTRUCTURING TRANSACTIONS.

We currently expect that these changes to our rules and regulations, which will form part of the bylaws of the CBOT subsidiary, will take effect at the time that the certificate of incorporation of the CBOT subsidiary becomes effective and that the CBOT subsidiary will publish an amended and restated Rulebook as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter. We currently plan to make copies of this new Rulebook available to holders of Class B and Class C memberships in the CBOT subsidiary in accordance with our past practice and procedures.

Pursuant to Rule 190.00, the following information will be made available on a quarterly basis by the Secretary's Office to any Full or Associate member requesting this information:

COMPENSATION

Information enumerating all direct compensation and gifts (over a value of $1,000) from the Exchange of any kind and nature since the beginning of the CBOT's last fiscal year, including but not limited to, salaries, deferred payments, bonuses, retirement benefits, trusts and potential severance payments to the President, Executive Vice-Presidents, and members of the Board of Directors.

TRANSACTIONS

Information about any transaction or series of similar transactions to which the Exchange or any of its subsidiaries was or is a party, and in which the President, any Executive Vice-President, any member of the Board of Directors, or any immediate family member of such persons, had or has a material interest. An interest shall not be deemed "material" within the meaning of this rule:

(a) Where the interest arises only (i) from such person's position as a director of another corporation or organization which is a party to the transaction; or (ii) from the direct or indirect ownership by such person of less than a ten percent (10%) equity interest in another person (other than a partnership) which is a party to the transaction; or (iii) from both such position and ownership.

(b) Where the interest arises only from such person's position as a limited partner in a partnership in which the person and all other persons specified in the above paragraph have an interest of less than ten percent (10%); or

(c) Where the interest arises solely from the holding of an equity interest (including a limited partnership interest, but excluding a general partnership interest) or a creditor interest in another person that is a party to the transaction with the Exchange or any of its subsidiaries, and the transaction in question represents five percent (5%) or less of the other entity's consolidated gross revenues for its last full fiscal year. (04/01/00)

RULE 190.00 WILL BE REPEALED.

Rule 296. Elimination of GIM Membership Interests--Subject to the exceptions set forth below, on the effective date of the Rule, each existing GIM Membership Interest shall automatically become a one-half participation in an Associate Membership; each unaccumulated one-quarter participation in a GIM Membership Interest shall automatically become a one-eighth participation in an Associate Membership; and status as a GIM Membership Interest holder or nominee shall cease respectively for each individual who owns a GIM Membership Interest or is a nominee of a firm-owned GIM Membership Interest. Fractional participations in an Associate Membership shall carry no privileges of a Membership or Membership Interest, including but not limited to trading and voting privileges.

(1) With respect to individuals who own GIM Membership Interests, each individual who (a) applied for approval as a GIM Membership Interest holder prior to January 21, 1986, and whose application for such approval was pending as of January 21, 1986 and/or (b) acquired his current GIM Membership Interest as of January 21, 1986, or pursuant to a bid to purchase that was listed with the Exchange as of January 21, 1986, may continue as a GIM Membership Interest holder subject to all the privileges and obligations such Membership Interest entails. However, each GIM Membership Interest covered by this exception may only be sold or transferred as a one-half participation in an Associate Membership. The limitations on transfers of a GIM Membership Interest described in this Rule 296.00(1) shall not apply when (i) the transferor is the estate of a deceased membership interest holder and the transferee is the decedent's spouse and (ii) the GIM Membership Interest has not already been transferred pursuant to this sentence.

(2) With respect to nominees of firm-owned GIM Membership Interests, each nominee who has had this current GIM Membership Interest assigned to him as of January 21, 1986, may, at the assigning firm's election, continue as a GIM Membership Interest nominee subject to all the privileges and obligations such Membership Interest entails. In addition, a firm shall be permitted to assign any GIM Membership Interest it owns to two consecutive nominees following the nominee who was assigned such Membership Interest as of January 21, 1986. However, each firm-owned GIM Membership Interest covered by this exception may only be sold as a one-half participation in an Associate Membership.

None of the foregoing shall preclude individuals covered by paragraph (1) or firms covered by paragraph (2) from treating their GIM Membership Interests as one-half participations in Associate Memberships and combining them with the other fractional participations in Associate Memberships. (11/01/99).

RULE 296.00 WILL BE AMENDED AND RESTATED AS FOLLOWS:

Transfer Restrictions on GIM Membership Interests/One-Half Associate Memberships--At the Effective Time, each GIM Membership and one-half Associate Membership shall be subject to the restrictions, conditions and limitations set forth below.

(1) Non-Transferred GIM Memberships. Except as otherwise provided below, a holder of a GIM Membership that have not been sold or transferred prior to the Effective Time ("Non-Transferred GIM Memberships") may continue as a GIM Membership holder following the Effective Time with all the privileges and obligations such Membership entails. However, in the event that any Non-Transferred GIM Membership is sold or transferred after the Effective Time, such Non-Transferred GIM Membership shall be treated as a Transferred GIM Membership (as defined in clause (2) below). This limitation shall not apply when (x) the transferor is the estate of a deceased Non-Transferred GIM Membership holder and the transferee is the decedent's spouse and (y) the Non-Transferred GIM Membership has not already been transferred pursuant to this sentence.

(2) Transferred GIM Memberships/One-Half Associate Memberships. One-half Associate Memberships and Non-Transferred GIM memberships that have been sold or transferred after the Effective Time in a manner other than as permitted in clause (1) above (collectively, "Transferred GIM Memberships") shall not be permitted to exercise the trading rights and privileges associated with the GIM Memberships.

None of the foregoing shall preclude the holders of Transferred GIM Memberships or Non-Transferred GIM Memberships from exercising their right to convert their GIM Membership into an one-half Associate Membership and to exchange two one-half Associate Memberships in exchange for an Associate Membership in accordance with the terms of Article IV D.3 of the Certificate of Incorporation.

INTERPRETATION--The Board of Directors adopted the following on April 17, 1990 as a formal rule interpretation which confirms established Exchange practice: "For purposes of all petition provisions in Rules 102.00 "Nominations for Elective Office' and 107.00 "Amendment of Rules', the signature of an Associate Member shall count for 1/6th of the signature of a Full Member." (08/01/94)

THE ABOVE INTERPRETATION WILL BE REPEALED.

We currently expect that Rules 210.00 and 221.00, which relate to the exercise right, will be amended to reflect the interpretations set forth in the August 7, 2001 agreement and related October 24, 2001 letter agreement entered into by the CBOT, CBOT Holdings and the Chicago Board Options Exchange. In addition, we may, from time to time, adopt as part of, and in connection with, the restructuring transactions, additions, deletions or other modifications to the rules and regulations as the board of directors may deem necessary, proper or advisable in order to implement the restructuring transactions in a manner consistent with the disclosure set forth in this document.

PART II

INFORMATION NOT REQUIRED IN PROSPECTUS

ITEM 20. INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

Delaware General Corporation Law

Under Section 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law, CBOT Holdings is empowered to indemnify its directors and officers in the circumstances therein provided. Certain portions of Section 145 are summarized below:

Section 145(a) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that a corporation may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (other than an action by or in the right of the corporation) by reason of the fact that such person is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, against expenses (including attorneys' fees), judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement actually and reasonably incurred by such person in connection with such action, suit or proceeding if such person acted in good faith and in a manner such person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation, and, with respect to any criminal action or proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe such person's conduct was unlawful.

Section 145(b) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that a corporation may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action or suit by or in the right of the corporation to procure a judgment in its favor by reason of the fact that such person is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by such person in connection with the defense or settlement of such action or suit if such person acted in good faith and in a manner such person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation and except that no indemnification shall be made in respect of any claim, issue or matter as to which such person shall have been adjudged to be liable to the corporation unless and only to the extent that the Delaware Court of Chancery or the court in which such action or suit was brought shall determine upon application that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all the circumstances of the case, such person is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for such expenses which the Delaware Court of Chancery or such other court shall deem proper.

Section 145(c) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that to the extent that a present or former director or officer of a corporation has been successful on the merits or otherwise in defense of any action, suit or proceeding referred to in Section 145(a) and (b), or in defense of any claim, issue or matter therein, such person shall be indemnified against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by such person in connection therewith.

Section 145(d) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that any indemnification under Section 145(a) and (b) (unless ordered by a court) shall be made by the corporation only as authorized in the specific case upon a determination that indemnification of the present or former director, officer, employee or agent is proper in the circumstances because such person has met the applicable standard of conduct set forth in Section 145(a) and (b). Such determination shall be made, with respect to a person who is a director or officer at the time of such determination, (1) by a majority vote of the directors who were not parties to such action, suit or proceeding, even though less than a quorum, or (2) by a committee of such directors designated by majority vote of such directors, even though less than a quorum, or (3) if there are no such directors, or if such directors so direct, by independent legal counsel in a written opinion, or (4) by the stockholders.

Section 145(e) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by an officer or director in defending any civil, criminal, administrative or investigative action, suit or proceeding may be paid by the corporation in advance of the final disposition of such action, suit or proceeding upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of such director or officer to repay such amount if it shall ultimately be determined that such person is not entitled to be indemnified by the corporation as authorized in Section 145. Such expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by former directors and officers or other employees and agents may be so paid upon such terms and conditions, if any, as the board of directors deems appropriate.

Section 145(f) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that the indemnification and advancement of expenses provided by, or granted pursuant to, Section 145 shall not be deemed exclusive of any other rights to which those seeking indemnification or advancement of expenses may be entitled under any bylaw, agreement, vote of stockholders or disinterested directors or otherwise.

Section 145(g) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides that a corporation shall have the power to purchase and maintain insurance on behalf of any person who is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any liability asserted against such person and incurred by such person in any such capacity, or arising out of such person's capacity as such, whether or not the corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such liability under Section 145.

Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation

The amended and restated certificate of incorporation, as amended, provides that a director of CBOT Holdings shall not be personally liable to CBOT Holdings or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability (i) for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to CBOT Holdings or its stockholders, (ii) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (iii) under Section 174 of the Delaware General Corporation Law ("DGCL"), or (iv) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. If the DGCL is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the CBOT Holdings shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, as so amended.

Bylaws

Each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is otherwise involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director or an officer of CBOT Holdings or is or was serving at the request of CBOT Holdings as a director, officer or trustee of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan (hereinafter an "indemnitee"), whether the basis of such proceeding is alleged action in an official capacity as a director, officer or trustee or in any other capacity while serving as a director, officer or trustee, shall be indemnified and held harmless by CBOT Holdings to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended (but, in the case of any such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits CBOT Holdings to provide broader indemnification rights than such law permitted CBOT Holdings to provide prior to such amendment), against all expense, liability and loss (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such indemnitee in connection therewith; provided, however, that, except as otherwise provided in the bylaws with respect to proceedings to enforce rights to indemnification, CBOT Holdings shall indemnify any such indemnitee in connection with a proceeding (or part thereof) initiated by such indemnitee only if such proceeding (or part thereof) was authorized by the board of directors.

In addition, an indemnitee shall also have the right to be paid by CBOT Holdings the expenses (including attorney's fees) incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition (hereinafter an "advancement of expenses"); provided, however, that, if the DGCL requires, an advancement of expenses incurred by an indemnitee in his or her capacity as a director or officer (and not in any other capacity in which service was or is rendered by such indemnitee, including, without limitation, service to an employee benefit plan) shall be made only upon delivery to CBOT Holdings of an undertaking (hereinafter an "undertaking"), by or on behalf of such indemnitee, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined by final judicial decision from which there is no further right to appeal (hereinafter a "final adjudication") that such indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified for such expenses.

If a claim for indemnification is not paid in full by CBOT Holdings within sixty (60) days after a written claim has been received by CBOT Holdings, except in the case of a claim for an advancement of expenses, in which case the applicable period shall be twenty (20) days, the indemnitee may at any time thereafter bring suit against CBOT Holdings to recover the unpaid amount of the claim. If successful in whole or in part in any such suit, or in a suit brought by CBOT Holdings to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the indemnitee shall be entitled to be paid also the expense of prosecuting or defending such suit. In (i) any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification hereunder (but not in a suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to an advancement of expenses) it shall be a defense that, and (ii) in any suit brought by CBOT Holdings to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, CBOT Holdings shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that, the indemnitee has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the DGCL. Neither the failure of CBOT Holdings (including its directors who are not parties to such action, a committee of such directors, independent legal counsel, or its stockholders) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such suit that indemnification of the indemnitee is proper in the circumstances because the indemnitee has met the applicable standard of conduct set forth in the DGCL, nor an actual determination by CBOT Holdings (including its directors who are not parties to such action, a committee of such directors, independent legal counsel, or its stockholders) that the indemnitee has not met such applicable standard of conduct, shall create a presumption that the indemnitee has not met the applicable standard of conduct or, in the case of such a suit brought by the indemnitee, be a defense to such suit. In any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification or to an advancement of expenses hereunder, or brought by CBOT Holdings to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the burden of proving that the indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified, or to such advancement of expenses, under the bylaws or otherwise shall be on CBOT Holdings.

The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in the bylaws shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, CBOT Holdings' certificate of incorporation, agreement, vote of stockholders or directors or otherwise.

Insurance

CBOT Holdings may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any director, officer, employee or agent of CBOT Holdings or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not CBOT Holdings would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under the DGCL.

Item 22. Undertakings.

Insofar as the indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted as to directors, officers and controlling persons of the Registrant pursuant to the provisions described in Item 20, or otherwise, the Registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the SEC, such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payments by the Registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the Registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the Registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes to respond to requests for information that is incorporated by reference into the document pursuant to Item 4, 10(b), 11 or 13 of this form, within one business day of receipt of such request, and to send the incorporated documents by first class mail or other equally prompt means. This includes information contained in documents filed subsequent to the effective date of the registration statement through the date of responding to the request. The undersigned Registrant hereby further undertakes to supply by means of a post-effective amendment all information concerning a transaction and the company being acquired involved therein, that was not the subject of or included in the registration statement when it became effective.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes as follows: that prior to any public reoffering of the securities registered hereunder through use of a prospectus which is a part of this registration statement, by any person or party who is deemed to be an underwriter within the meaning of Rule 145(c), the issuer undertakes that such reoffering prospectus will contain the information called for by the applicable registration form with respect to reofferings by persons who may be deemed underwriters, in addition to the information called for by the other Items of the applicable form.

The registrant undertakes that every prospectus (i) that is filed pursuant to the immediately preceding paragraph, or (ii) that purports to meet the requirements of section 10(a)(3) of the Act and is used in connection with an offering of securities subject to Rule 415, will be filed as a part of an amendment to the registration statement and will not be used until such amendment is effective, and that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes:

(1) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement:

(i) To include any prospectus required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act;

(ii) To reflect in the document any facts or events arising after the effective date of the Registration Statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the Registration Statement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of prospectus filed with the SEC pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in the aggregate, the changes in volume and price represent no more than 20 percent change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the "Calculation of Registration Fee" table in the effective Registration Statement;

(iii) To include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the Registration Statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement.

(2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.

FIFTH: The terms and conditions of membership in the Corporation, including, without limitation, the rights and obligations, including trading rights and privileges, of members (full, associate or otherwise), member firms, membership interest holders, delegates and all categories and classes of memberships and other interests in the Corporation, shall be as provided in or pursuant to this Certificate of Incorporation, Exhibit A hereto and the bylaws of the Corporation (including all provisions incorporated therein by reference, the "Bylaws"). Each person or entity that held any membership or other interest in the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, an Illinois not-for-profit corporation ("Old CBOT"), immediately prior to the merger of Old CBOT with and into the Corporation (the "Merger"), shall hold such membership or other interest in the Corporation immediately following the Merger, subject to this Certificate of Incorporation and the Bylaws, Rules and Regulations (each as hereinafter defined) of the

MEMBERSHIP

The rights of members and other interest holders in the Corporation shall be subject to the following provisions:

Section 1. Terms and Conditions of Membership. The terms and conditions of membership in the Corporation, including, without limitation, the rights and obligations, including trading rights and privileges, of members (full, associate or otherwise), member firms, membership interest holders, delegates and all categories and classes of memberships and other interests in the Corporation, shall be as provided in the Certificate of Incorporation and this Exhibit A, and in the Bylaws, Rules and Regulations of the Corporation, as each may be amended from time to time.

Section 2. Election Procedures. Members shall vote to elect persons to serve on the Board of Directors and Nominating Committee as follows. The election of such persons shall be in charge of tellers appointed by the Chairman of the Board. If the Chairman of the Board appoints as teller a non-member employee of a member, the member shall require such employee to serve as teller upon the established terms. All votes shall be cast by secret ballot. No member shall vote who is not in good standing with the Corporation. Members may vote by mail in the Annual Election in the manner prescribed in Section 4 of this Exhibit A. The portions of ballots on which votes are cast for Directors and on which votes are cast for the Nominating Committee shall be rejected unless such portions are marked for a full ticket. The tellers shall receive the ballots and place the same in the ballot box, and shall keep a list of the members voting. After the election, the tellers shall count the ballots and report to the Chairman of the Board the names of the persons elected. The ballots shall be preserved for one month, and, upon request of any interested party, the Board may verify the correctness of the returns.

Section 3. Vote Necessary. The vote required at the Annual Election for the choice of elective offices shall be as specified in this Section.

(a) Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Board. A majority of all votes cast shall be necessary to elect a Chairman of the Board and to elect a Vice Chairman. If no candidate received a majority vote for Chairman of the Board or for Vice Chairman at the Annual Election, another ballot shall be taken fifteen days later; and if again there shall be a failure to elect, a third ballot shall be taken on the fifteenth following day, when a plurality shall elect. (11/01/00)

(b) Directors. A plurality of votes shall elect the Directors who are required to be Full Members of the Corporation; provided, however, that if none of the candidates for such offices receiving a plurality of votes is a non-resident member, the non-resident candidate receiving the largest vote as among all non-resident candidates shall be elected Director, in lieu of the resident candidate receiving the lowest winning plurality. A plurality of votes shall elect the Directors who are required to be Associate Members of the Corporation.

(c) Other Elective Offices. For all other elective offices, a plurality of votes shall elect.

Section 4. Voting by Mail. At the Annual Election and at all balloting on propositions submitted to a vote of the members, members may vote by mail by delivering a proxy to the Secretary of the Corporation, or any other person or persons designated by the Board of Directors for these purposes (collectively, the "Proxy"), in the manner hereafter provided. At least ten days prior to the balloting, the Proxy shall send to each member (1) a proxy ballot (a "Proxy Ballot") with which the member can appoint the Proxy as proxy and direct the Proxy how to vote; and (2) a copy of the proposition(s) on which a vote is to be taken. Any member who so desires may mark and execute the Proxy Ballot and deliver or mail it to the Proxy. The Proxy shall deliver all such Proxy Ballots to the tellers in charge of the balloting, and the tellers shall indicate which members have submitted Proxy Ballots. The Proxy shall cast one or more ballots to vote, as proxy, as directed in the Proxy Ballots. No ballots received after the polls have closed shall be counted.

The latest dated Proxy Ballot of a given member delivered or received by mail shall be the Proxy Ballot followed by the Proxy with respect to such member. A member can revoke a Proxy Ballot by voting in person.

Section 5. Amendment of Bylaws. New Bylaws and Rules may be adopted and existing Bylaws and Rules may be amended or repealed by the membership. Proposed amendments may be recommended by the Board of Directors and, upon such recommendation, the Chairman of the Board shall call for a special meeting of the membership to be held not less than ten days or more than sixty days after the proposed amendment shall have been posted upon the bulletin board (which shall not be later than the date Proxy Ballots are sent to each member) and notice thereof shall have been sent to the members. All votes shall be cast by Proxy Ballot pursuant to Section 4 of this Exhibit A or otherwise in person or by proxy. For such proposed amendment to be approved, at least 300 votes must be cast, with at least a majority of such votes being cast in favor of the amendment; if less than 300 votes are cast, such proposal shall be resubmitted to the membership in accordance with the procedures set forth in this Section 5 of this Exhibit A. If twenty-five members or more petition for a special meeting for the purpose of voting upon any proposed amendment, the Board of Directors, within thirty days or at the next regular Board of Directors meeting, whichever is sooner, shall either approve and recommend the proposed amendment and call for a special meeting to vote upon such amendment, or report to the petitioners the reason for its disapproval. If, within thirty days after such disapproval, one hundred members or more petition for a special meeting for the purpose of voting upon such proposed amendment, a special meeting shall be called for in accordance with the procedures set forth in this Section 5 of this Exhibit A as though the proposed amendment had been recommended by the Board of Directors.

A petition for a special meeting for the purpose of voting upon an amendment which in the opinion of the Board of Directors involves the same or substantially the same subject matter as has been submitted to a vote of the membership at a special meeting at which at least 300 votes were cast at any time within the twelve months immediately preceding the receipt of such petition by the Board of Directors shall require the signatures of at least one hundred members.

The Board of Directors shall within thirty days or at the next regular Board of Directors meeting, whichever is sooner, either approve and recommend the proposed amendment and call for a special meeting to vote upon such amendment, or report to the petitioners the reason for its disapproval. If, within thirty days after such disapproval, two hundred and fifty members or more petition for a special meeting for the purpose of voting upon such proposed amendment, a special meeting shall be called for in like manner as though the proposed amendment had been recommended by the Board of Directors and, for such amendment to be approved, at least 300 votes must be cast, with at least two-thirds of such votes being cast in favor of such amendment.

Every petition for amendment shall be signed and dated by each petitioning member. It shall be considered an act detrimental to the welfare of the Corporation for any member to sign a petition for a special meeting for the purpose of a vote on an amendment despite disapproval of such amendment by the Board of Directors unless and until the Board of Directors shall actually have disapproved submission of such amendment.

Section 6. Amendment of Amendment of Bylaws. During the period of posting of an amendment in accordance with Section 5 of this Exhibit A, such amendment may be amended at a special meeting held for that purpose if the amendment to the proposed amendment is approved in a vote of the membership in which at least 300 votes are cast and at least a majority of such votes are cast in favor of the amendment to the proposed amendment. If the proposed amendment is thus amended, the amended amendment shall then be posted for at least ten days before submission to the membership for vote at a special meeting.

Section 7. Other Propositions For Vote By Members. Any proposition which the Board of Directors orders submitted to a vote of the members may be so submitted in accordance with the provisions of this Section 7 of this Exhibit A, unless provision for such a submission is specifically provided by some other provision of the Certificate of Incorporation or Bylaws. Such a proposition may be an amendment to the Corporation's Certificate of Incorporation, or may be any other proposition which by law or by the Bylaws or by the Regulations or by order of the Board of Directors for any other reason is required to be so submitted to a vote of the members. Any number of propositions not exceeding five may be submitted concurrently to such a vote of the members.

In submitting any proposition to a vote of the members, the Board of Directors shall adopt a resolution setting forth such proposition, recommending its adoption and ordering it to be submitted to a vote at a special meeting of the members. Thereupon, the Chairman of the Board shall cause such proposition to be posted upon the bulletin board of the Corporation and shall call for a special meeting upon the proposition on a day to be fixed by the Chairman of the Board, which shall not be less than ten days or more than sixty days after the proposition shall have been posted upon the bulletin board. A notice of the date and time of such special meeting shall be given by mail to each member at least ten days in advance of the date upon which such vote is to be taken. Such notice may be accompanied by a letter from the Chairman of the Board in such form and with such content as the Board of Directors shall approve. A form of Proxy Ballot setting forth the proposition(s) to be voted upon and providing an appropriate space for use by the member in voting "for" or "against" the proposition shall be supplied to each member.

Any such proposition thus submitted to a vote of the members shall be deemed adopted if at least 300 votes shall have been cast in the special meeting and a majority of the votes thus cast shall have been in favor of the adoption of the proposition.

Section 8. Voting Rights. Each Full Member shall be entitled to one vote on all matters that are subject to a vote of the general membership. Each Associate Member shall be entitled to one-sixth (1/6) of one vote on all matters that are subject to a vote of the general membership. Until surrendered for an Associate Membership, no one-half (1/2) participations or multiples thereof, shall have any voting rights. In addition, except as otherwise provided herein, no other member or Membership Interest holder (as defined in the Rules) shall have any voting rights.

EXHIBIT B

The Board of Directors shall be subject to the provisions set forth below:

Section 1. Chairman of the Board. The Chairman of the Board shall be the presiding officer of all membership and Board of Directors meetings and shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as generally appertain to that office. Subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, he may appoint special committees and all other committees where the method of appointment is not otherwise provided for, and may temporarily fill any vacancy in any appointive office other than non-member Director.

Section 2. Vice Chairman. Until the first Annual Election following the Required Approval, the Vice Chairman of the Board ("Vice Chairman") shall perform the duties of the Chairman of the Board in his absence or disability. Section 3. President. (1) The Board of Directors may elect a President of the Corporation, who shall be a non-member, by the affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of the full Board of Directors; (2) the Board of Directors is expressly authorized, by such affirmative vote, to fix the compensation of such President, to prescribe the duties to be performed by him and to prescribe a tenure of office which tenure shall be subject to termination for good cause or otherwise, by a vote of not less than two-thirds of the full Board of Directors; and (3) the Board of Directors is expressly authorized to delegate to the President full power to carry on the day-to-day activities of the Corporation, reserving to itself in such case the authority to review the activities of the President and to determine the policies of the Corporation.

Section 4. President's Duties. (1) The President shall be the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation responsible to the Board of Directors for the management and administration of its business affairs; (2) he shall serve as chief liaison between the Corporation and the public, including federal, state and local government agencies; (3) he shall be a non-voting Director of the Corporation and a non-voting member of the Executive Committee and shall be included for purposes of determining whether a quorum of the Board of Directors or the Executive Committee is achieved; (4) he shall be an ex officio non-voting member of all appointed and special committees of the Corporation of which he is not a regular member; (5) he shall employ such subordinate administrative personnel as he may determine from time to time are required for the efficient management and operation of the Corporation, and shall establish the qualifications, duties and responsibilities of all subordinate administrative personnel; (6) subject to the approval of the Board, he shall fix the compensation, terms and conditions of employment of all subordinate administrative personnel, and may terminate the employment of such personnel; (7) he shall supervise the activities of the Departments of the Corporation; (8) he shall execute all contracts on behalf of the Corporation; (9) he shall not engage in any other business during his incumbency as President, nor shall he trade for his own account or for the account of others in any commodity which is traded on the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago; and (10) by his acceptance of the office of President, he shall be deemed to have agreed and he shall have agreed to uphold the Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws, and the Rules, Regulations and Interpretations, of the Corporation. The Board may confer upon the President such other and additional rights and responsibilities as it may deem warranted; provided, however, that the Board shall not confer upon the President the power to formulate the policies of the Corporation or to take disciplinary action, arbitrate disputes or adjust claims against members except in his capacity as Director upon review of such matters.

Section 5. Tenure of Office.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in Section 5(b) of this Exhibit B, the following provisions relating to tenure of office shall apply:

(1) The term of office of the Chairman of the Board and the Vice Chairman of the Board shall commence immediately following the Annual Election (as defined in the Bylaws) at which he or she is elected and will expire at the second Annual Election thereafter. The term of office of each elected Director shall commence immediately following the Annual Election at which he or she is elected and will expire at the third Annual Election thereafter, except as provided in Section 7 of this Exhibit B. In addition, each non-member Director shall be nominated and appointed pursuant to Section 5(a)(4) of this Exhibit B. The term of the office of each non-member Director shall commence immediately following the Annual Election designated by the Board as the beginning of his or her term of office and will expire at the fourth Annual Election thereafter.

(2) If a vacancy occurs in the office of non-member Director, such vacancy will be filled by a successor nominated and approved pursuant to Section 5(d) of this Exhibit B. The successor non-member Director will take office at the meeting following approval and shall hold office for the remainder of the applicable four-year term.

(3) No member shall be elected by the members of the Corporation to more than:

- Three consecutive two-year terms as Chairman of the Board; or

- Three consecutive two-year terms as Vice Chairman of the Board; or

- Two consecutive three-year terms as elected Director.

The foregoing term limits shall apply separately and distinctly to each of the specified elective offices (i.e., Chairman of the Board, Vice Chairman of the Board, and elected Director). In addition, any terms served in substantially the same office with predecessors to the Corporation shall be counted for purposes of the foregoing term limits. A member who has reached a consecutive term limit in any one of the specified elective offices shall not thereby be ineligible for election to any other elective office on the Board.

(4) The names of all candidates for the non-member Directors' positions shall be submitted to the Corporation's Nominating Committee. It will be the responsibility of the Nominating Committee to review the qualifications of the candidates and present to the Board of Directors the names of those candidates which the Nominating Committee believes are best qualified to serve on the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors will elect candidates from among those submitted by the Nominating Committee which the Board of Directors believes are best qualified to serve the membership.

(b) On and after the first Annual Election following the Required Approval, the provisions of Section 5(a) shall be of no further force and effect and the following provisions relating to tenure of office shall apply:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in Section 5(b)(2) of this Exhibit B, the term of each Director in office immediately prior to the first Annual Election following the Required Approval shall expire in connection with such Annual Election.

(2) Notwithstanding anything else set forth in this Certificate of Incorporation, the position of the Chairman of the Board shall not be elected at the first Annual Election following the Required Approval but rather shall be held by the person who held the office of the Chairman of the Board immediately prior to the first Annual Election following the Required Approval.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in Section 5(b)(4) of this Exhibit B, each Director elected in connection with the first Annual Election following the Required Approval or thereafter shall have a term of office that will commence immediately following the Annual Election at which he or she is elected and will expire at the first Annual Election following such Director's election. There shall be no limit to the number of terms a Director may serve on the Board of Directors.

(c) If a vacancy occurs in any elective office due to death, resignation or other reason, such vacancy may be filled by a successor elected by the Board of Directors to serve until the next Annual Election or until his or her successor is elected and qualified. If any Director shall absent himself without an excuse from six consecutive regular meetings of the Board of Directors, his or her office may be declared vacant.

(d) For purposes of this Certificate of Incorporation, the "Effective Time" shall mean the effective time of this amendment and restatement of the Certificate of Incorporation to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware in connection with the modernization of certain aspects of the Corporation's corporate governance structure, including, but not limited to, the possible reduction in size of the Board of Directors from 18 directors to nine directors.

Section 6. Qualifications for Elective Office.

(a) No person shall be a candidate for a non-resident Full Member Directorship as defined in Article SIXTH of the Certificate of Incorporation unless that person:

(2) Remains a Full Member thereafter through and including his election; and

(3) Has prior experience in the futures industry.

(b) No person shall be a candidate for any other Directorship or elective office required to be filled by a member unless that person is a member at the time of standing for election and has been a member of the Corporation for at least one year next preceding his election. Notwithstanding the foregoing, to the extent a candidate for director is required to be a Full Member, such candidate may count time as an Associate Member towards such one year obligation.

(c) All Directors and members of the Nominating Committee required to be Full Members, which include the Chairman of the Board and Vice Chairman of the Board elected prior to the Required Approval, or Associate Members of the Corporation, shall remain as such throughout their terms. All Directors and members of the Nominating Committee shall be referred to as the "elective officers." Notwithstanding the above, a Director who is required to be an Associate Member and has completed at least one and one-half years of his/her current term of office may continue in that office of Director for the remainder of that term provided that such Director continuously remains either an Associate Member of the Corporation or a Full Member of the Corporation.

(d) Individual delegates of memberships who do not separately hold in their own name a membership of the appropriate class are not eligible to be an elective officer as defined in Section 6(d) of this Exhibit B. Members shall not be ineligible for elective office or for committee appointments based on their having delegated their memberships.

(e) For purposes of Article Sixth(c) of this Certificate of Incorporation, "independent director" means a person other than an officer or employee of the Corporation or its subsidiaries or any other individual having a relationship, which, in the sole and absolute discretion of the Board of Directors, or in the case of a nominee, the Nominating Committee, would interfere with the exercise of independent judgement in carrying out the responsibilities of a Director. The following persons shall not be considered independent:

(3) a Director who is a member of the immediate family of an individual who is, or has been in any of the past three years, employed by the Corporation or any of its affiliates as an executive officer. (4) a Director who is a partner in, or a controlling stockholder or an executive officer of, any for-profit business organization to which the Corporation made, or from which the Corporation received, payments that exceed 5% of the Corporation's or business organization's consolidated gross revenues for that year, or $200,000, whichever is more, in any of the past three years;

(5) a Director who is employed as an executive of another entity where any of the Corporation's executives serve on that entity's compensation committee; and

(6) a Director who is an officer, principal (as defined in the Commodity Exchange Act and applicable Regulations promulgated thereunder) or employee of a firm, which holds a membership either in its own name or through an employee on behalf of the firm.

BOARD OF TRADE OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO, INC.

The amendment and restatement of the Bylaws provided for hereinafter shall take effect at the effective time (the "Effective Time") of the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation (as amended from time to time, the "Certificate of Incorporation") of Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. (the "Corporation") to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware in connection with the modernization of certain aspects of the Corporation's corporate governance structure, including, but not limited to, the possible reduction in the size of the Board of Directors of the Corporation from 18 directors to nine directors. If the Effective Time does not occur, the Bylaws shall not be amended and restated as provided for hereinafter but instead shall remain unchanged until further amended in accordance with the Bylaws and applicable law.

ARTICLE I - RULES AND REGULATIONS

Section 1 Incorporation of Rules.

In accordance with the Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation, the Rules of the Corporation (the "Rules"), as they may be amended from time to time, are hereby incorporated by reference into and made part of these Bylaws. The Bylaws and Rules may be adopted, amended or repealed by the membership in the manner provided in the Certificate of Incorporation and Exhibit A thereto.

Section 2 Regulations.

The Board of Directors may adopt, amend or repeal Regulations of the Corporation (the "Regulations") not in conflict with the Rules, which shall have the binding effect of Rules. By majority vote, the Board of Directors may delegate, to particular committees as designated by the Board of Directors, the power to adopt, amend or repeal Regulations. Applicants for membership and any person or entity holding any membership or other interest in the Corporation shall be required to sign a written agreement to observe and be bound by this Certificate of Incorporation and the Bylaws, Rules and Regulations of the Corporation, as each may be amended from time to time. In addition, the Board of Directors may adopt interpretations of the Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaws and Regulations ("Interpretations") which shall be incorporated into and deemed to be Regulations. The Regulations and Interpretations of Old CBOT, as in effect at the effective time of the Merger, shall become Regulations and Interpretations, respectively, of the Corporation, subject to the provisions hereof and of the Certificate of Incorporation.

ARTICLE II MEMBERS AND OTHER INTEREST HOLDERS

Section 1 Terms and Conditions.

The terms and conditions of membership in the Corporation, including, without limitation, the rights and obligations, including trading rights and privileges, of members (full, associate or otherwise), member firms, membership interest holders, delegates and all categories and classes of memberships and other interests in the Corporation, shall be as provided herein, in the Certificate of Incorporation and in the Rules and Regulations. Without limiting the foregoing, requirements with respect to, and restrictions and limitations on, the ownership, use, purchase, sale, transfer or other disposition of any membership or interest therein, or any other interest of or relating to the Corporation or membership therein, including the payment of proceeds from the sale, transfer or other disposition of any membership or interest therein, shall be as provided herein, in the Certificate of Incorporation and in the Rules and Regulations, or as otherwise provided in accordance with applicable law.

Section 2 Annual Meeting and Chairman's Report.

The annual meeting of members shall be held on the first Thursday after the third Tuesday in February at 2:30 P.M. The annual mid-year Chairman's Report shall be given on the first Thursday after the third Tuesday in June at 2:00 P.M.

Section 3 Special Meetings.

Except as otherwise provided in the Certificate of Incorporation, special meetings of the members, for any purpose or purposes prescribed in the notice of the meeting, may be called by the Board of Directors or the Chairman of the Board and shall be held at such place, on such date, and at such time as they or he or she shall fix.

Section 4 Nominations and Annual Election.

(a) In connection with each Annual Election (as defined below), the Nominating Committee shall hold at least three meetings, of which due notice shall be posted on the bulletin board. To the extent it remains a qualification for office, at least one candidate for Director at each applicable Annual Election must be a non-resident Full Member as defined in Article SIXTH of the Certificate of Incorporation. The Nominating Committee shall nominate at least one candidate for each of the elective offices. The Nominating Committee may, in its sole discretion, nominate two candidates for any of the elective offices, but shall not nominate more than two candidates for any individual elective office. The Nominating Committee will make the final determination of eligibility (i.e., qualification) for nomination for election to the Board of Directors, but may not otherwise preclude candidates nominated pursuant to Section 4(c) below from being added to the ballot.

(b) The Nominating Committee shall furnish the Secretary with a list of its nominees not later than five weeks prior to the Annual Election. Promptly upon submission, the list shall be posted by the Secretary upon the bulletin board. In case any nominee named by the Nominating Committee withdraws or becomes ineligible, and such withdrawal or ineligibility leaves no such candidate for the office for which the candidate was nominated, it shall be the duty of the Committee to nominate another candidate for such office. However, if such withdrawal or ineligibility leaves one or more candidates for such office, the Committee may at its discretion, but need not, nominate another candidate to replace the withdrawn or ineligible candidate.

(c) Other nominations may be made by petition, signed by not less than forty members in good standing and filed with the Nominating Committee not later than three weeks prior to the Annual Election. The Nominating Committee shall furnish the Secretary with a list of eligible petition nominees not later than two weeks prior to the Annual Election. Promptly upon submission to the Secretary, the names of eligible petition nominees shall be posted by the Secretary upon the bulletin board.

(d) Members shall vote to elect persons to serve on the Board of Directors and Nominating Committee at an annual election (the "Annual Election"). The Annual Election shall be held on such date and at such time as the Board of Directors shall each year fix, which date shall be within thirteen (13) months of the last Annual Election; provided however that the first Annual Election following the Effective Time need not be held until, but may occur no later than, March 31, 2002.

The notice of any special meeting of members shall also state the purpose or purposes for which such meeting is called.

When a meeting is adjourned to another place, date or time, written notice need not be given of the adjourned meeting if the place, date and time thereof are announced at the meeting at which the adjournment is taken; provided, however, that if the date of any adjourned meeting is more than thirty (30) days after the date for which the meeting was originally noticed, or if a new record date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, written notice of the place, date, and time of the adjourned meeting shall be given in conformity herewith. In the absence of the Secretary of the Corporation, the secretary of the meeting shall be such person as the chairman appoints.

Section 8 Conduct of Business.

The chairman of any meeting of members shall determine the order of business and the procedure at the meeting, including such regulation of the manner of voting and the conduct of discussion as seem to him or her in order.

Section 9 Consent of Members in Lieu of Meeting.

Any action required to be taken at any annual or special meeting of members of the Corporation, or any action which may be taken at any annual or special meeting of the members, may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote, if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the number of members that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all members entitled to vote thereon were present and voted and shall be delivered to the Corporation by delivery to its registered office in Delaware, its principal place of business, or an officer or agent of the Corporation having custody of the book in which proceedings of meetings of members are recorded. Delivery made to the Corporation's registered office shall be made by hand or by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested.

Every written consent shall bear the date of signature of each member who signs the consent and no written consent shall be effective to take the corporate action referred to therein unless, within sixty (60) days of the date the earliest dated consent is delivered to the Corporation, a written consent or consents signed by a sufficient number of members to take action are delivered to the Corporation in the manner prescribed in the first paragraph of this Section.

In accordance with Section 7 of this Article II, members of the Board of Directors or any committee who are physically present at a meeting of the Board of Directors or any committee may adopt as the procedure of such meeting that, for quorum purposes or otherwise, any member not physically present but in continuous communication with such meeting shall be deemed to be present. Continuous communication shall Section 4 Regular Meetings.

Regular meetings of the Board of Directors shall be at such place or places, on such date or dates, and at such time or times as shall be established by the Board of Directors and publicized among all of the Directors by call letter. A notice of such regular meeting shall not be required.

ARTICLE VIII - INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

Section 1 Right to Indemnification.

Each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is otherwise involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a Director, officer, committee member or employee of the Corporation or is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a Director, officer, committee member or employee of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan (hereinafter an "indemnitee"), whether the basis of such proceeding is alleged action in an official capacity as a Director, officer, committee member or employee or in any other capacity while serving as a Director, officer, committee member or employee, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the Delaware General Corporation Law, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended (but, in the case of any such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than such law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such amendment), against all expense, liability and loss (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such indemnitee in connection therewith; provided, however, that, except as provided in Section 3 of this ARTICLE VIII with respect to proceedings to enforce rights to indemnification, the Corporation shall indemnify any such indemnitee in connection with a proceeding (or part thereof) initiated by such indemnitee only if such proceeding (or part thereof) was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

Section 2 Right to Advancement of Expenses.

The right to indemnification conferred in Section 1 of this ARTICLE VIII shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses (including attorney's fees) incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition (hereinafter an "advancement of expenses"); provided, however, that, if the Delaware General Corporation Law requires, an advancement of expenses incurred by an indemnitee in his or her capacity as a Director or officer (and not in any other capacity in which service was or is rendered by such indemnitee, including, without limitation, service to an employee benefit plan) shall be made only upon delivery to the Corporation of an undertaking (hereinafter an "undertaking"), by or on behalf of such indemnitee, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined by final judicial decision from which there is no further right to appeal (hereinafter a "final adjudication") that such indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified for such expenses under this Section 2 or otherwise. The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in Sections 1 and 2 of this ARTICLE VIII shall be contract rights and such rights shall continue as to an indemnitee who has ceased to be a Director, officer, committee member or employee and shall inure to the benefit of the indemnitee's heirs, executors and administrators.

Section 3 Right of Indemnitee to Bring Suit.

If a claim under Section 1 or 2 of this ARTICLE VIII is not paid in full by the Corporation within sixty (60) days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, except in the case of a claim for an advancement of expenses, in which case the applicable period shall be twenty (20) days, the indemnitee may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim. If successful in whole or in part in any such suit, or in a suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the indemnitee shall be entitled to be paid also the expense of prosecuting or defending such suit. In (i) any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification hereunder (but not in a suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to an advancement of expenses) it shall be a defense that, and (ii) in any suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the Corporation shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that, the indemnitee has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the Delaware General Corporation Law. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such suit that indemnification of the indemnitee is proper in the circumstances because the indemnitee has met the applicable standard of conduct set forth in the Delaware General Corporation Law, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the indemnitee has not met such applicable standard of conduct, shall create a presumption that the indemnitee has not met the applicable standard of conduct or, in the case of such a suit brought by the indemnitee, be a defense to such suit. In any suit brought by the indemnitee to enforce a right to indemnification or to an advancement of expenses hereunder, or brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the burden of proving that the indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified, or to such advancement of expenses, under this ARTICLE VIII or otherwise shall be on the Corporation.

Section 4 Non-Exclusivity of Rights.

The rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses conferred in this ARTICLE VIII shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, the Corporation's Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

Section 5 Insurance.

The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, officer, committee member or employee of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Section 6 Indemnification of Agents of the Corporation.

The Corporation may, to the extent authorized from time to time by the Board of Directors, grant rights to indemnification and to the advancement of expenses to any agent of the Corporation to the fullest extent of the provisions of this Article with respect to the indemnification and advancement of expenses of Directors and officers of the Corporation.

Section 7 Corporation Defense Expenses.

Any member or member firm who fails to prevail in a lawsuit or any other type of legal proceeding instituted by that member or member firm against the Corporation or any of its officers, Directors, committee members, employees or agents must pay to the Corporation all reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by the Corporation in the defense of such proceeding. Any member or member firm required to compensate the Corporation pursuant to this section shall be assessed interest on such amount at the rate of Prime plus 1%, which interest shall accrue from the date such amount was demanded in writing after the member or member firm failed to prevail in a lawsuit or any other type of legal proceeding against the Corporation.

188.04 Conflicts of Interest -

(a) Relationship with a Named Party in Interest

(1) Nature of Relationship. A member of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, the Regulatory Compliance Committee, the Appellate Committee, the Hearing Committee, the Business Conduct Committee, the Floor Governors Committee, the Financial Compliance Committee, or the Floor Conduct Committee must recuse himself from such body's deliberations and voting on any matter involving a person or entity that is identified by name as a subject of the matter ("named party in interest"), except with regard to summary penalties for violating rules relating to decorum, attire, floor recordkeeping or submission of trade data to the Clearing House, where such member:

(i) is the named party in interest;

(ii) has a family relationship with the named party in interest. A family relationship includes the member's spouse, former spouse, parent, child, sibling, grandparent, grandchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece or in-law;

(iii) is an employer, employee, or fellow employee of the named party in interest; or

(iv) has a direct and substantial financial relationship with the named party in interest, but not including relationships limited to executing futures or options transactions opposite each other.

When a CTR violation is not treated as a summary offense, and the preliminary penalty is not more than $5,000, a member of the CTR Subcommittee or the Business Conduct Committee must only recuse himself from deliberations and voting on the recommendation, issuance or settlement of charges against a member firm if the committee member is a principal or employee of that member firm.

(2) Recusal. Prior to the consideration of any matter involving a named party in interest, each member who believes that he has a relationship of the type specified in section (a)(1) of this Regulation must voluntarily recuse himself from deliberations and voting on the matter. If the member is not sure if his relationship meets the criteria specified in section (a)(1), he must disclose the relationship to the designated Exchange staff liaison who will determine whether recusal is required based on the information provided by the member.

(b) Financial Interest in an Emergency Action

(1) Nature of Interest. A member of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, or the Business Conduct Committee must recuse himself from such body's deliberations and voting with regard to recommending or taking action to address an emergency, as defined in CFTC Regulation 40.1, if the member knowingly has a direct and substantial financial interest in the result of the vote based upon either Exchange or non-Exchange positions that could reasonably be expected to be affected by the action.

(2) Recusal. Prior to the consideration of an emergency action, each member who believes that he has such a financial interest must voluntarily recuse himself from deliberations and voting on the matter, except as provided in section (c). If the member is not sure if a financial interest, of which he has knowledge, is direct and substantial, he must disclose the interest to the designated Exchange staff liaison who will determine whether recusal is required based on the information provided by the member.

In determining whether a financial interest is direct and substantial, a member should consider the following positions: (a) those held in accounts in which he has an ownership interest; (b) those held in accounts for which he directs trading; (c) those which he knows are held in proprietary accounts of any firm of which he is an employee or principal, as defined in CFTC Regulation 3.1(a); and (d) those which he knows are held in customer accounts of any firm of which he is an employee or principal.

(c) Participation in Deliberations

A member of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, or the Business Conduct Committee may participate in deliberations prior to a vote to recommend or take emergency action, from which he otherwise would be required by section (b)(2) to recuse himself, if the deliberating body determines that such participation is necessary for such body to achieve a quorum in the matter, or if the member has unique or special expertise, knowledge or experience in the matter. If such a member participates in deliberations, he must recuse himself from voting on the matter.

(d) Business Conduct Committee Surveillance of Expiring Contracts

A member of the Business Conduct Committee must recuse himself from the Committee's deliberations and voting with regard to all matters relating to its surveillance of expiring futures contracts, except with regard to recommending or taking action to address an emergency, which is governed by paragraph (b) above, if the member personally owns or controls positions in the expiring futures contract or in its corresponding options contract.

(e) Documentation

The Board of Directors or the relevant committee must reflect in its minutes: (a) the names of all members who attended the meeting in person or who otherwise were present by electronic means, and (b) the names of any members who recused themselves from deliberating or voting on any matter.

* Note: Members of the Board of Directors may be required to recuse themselves from deliberations and voting for other reasons or in other circumstances than those discussed above, as required by Delaware corporate law. (01/01/02)

188.05 Board's Interpretive Authority - The Board of Directors, pursuant to authority granted to it by Article I, Section 2 of the Amended and Restated Bylaws of the CBOT (the "Bylaws"), may from time to time adopt Interpretations of the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the CBOT (the "Charter"), the Bylaws, which include the Rules of the CBOT, and Regulations of the CBOT in a manner that replicates, to the largest extent permissible under the Delaware General Corporation Law, the comparable provisions of the Special Charter, Rules and Regulations of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, except as otherwise set forth in the Chapter, Bylaws and Regulations. FORMAL INTERPRETATION OF CBOT RULE 190.00-COMPENSATION INFORMATION (Adopted by Board of Directors February 15, 2000)

Pursuant to Rule 190.00, the following information will be made available on a quarterly basis by the Secretary's Office to any Full or Associate member requesting this information:

Compensation

Information enumerating all direct compensation and gifts (over a value of $1,000) from the Exchange of any kind and nature since the beginning of the CBOT's last fiscal year, including but not limited to, salaries, deferred payments, bonuses, retirement benefits, trusts and potential severance payments to the President, Executive Vice-Presidents, and members of the Board of Directors.

Transactions

Information about any transaction or series of similar transactions to which the Exchange or any of its subsidiaries was or is a party, and in which the President, any Executive Vice-President, any member of the Board of Directors, or any immediate family member of such persons, had or has a material interest. An interest shall not be deemed "material" within the meaning of this rule:

(a) Where the interest arises only (i) from such person's position as a director of another corporation or organization which is a party to the transaction; or (ii) from the direct or indirect ownership by such person of less than a ten percent (10%) equity interest in another person (other than a partnership) which is a party to the transaction; or (iii) from both such position and ownership.

(b) Where the interest arises only from such person's position as a limited partner in a partnership in which the person and all other persons specified in the above paragraph have an interest of less than ten percent (10%); or

(c) Where the interest arises solely from the holding of an equity interest (including a limited partnership interest, but excluding a general partnership interest) or a creditor interest in another person that is a party to the transaction with the Exchange or any of its subsidiaries, and the transaction in question represents five percent (5%) or less of the other entity's consolidated gross revenues for its last full fiscal year. (04/01/00)

Resolution - The following Resolution was adopted by the Board of Directors on June 24,1987:

WHEREAS, the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago ("Board of Trade") has consistently followed a policy of trading options contracts on all liquid futures contracts to the maximum extent permitted by federal law and regulation; and

WHEREAS, it is the unanimous consensus of this Board of Directors that options on futures contracts have proven to be a successful product of great benefit to both the membership and public market participants; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors this day approved and recommended for membership approval an agreement to establish a joint venture with the Chicago Board Options Exchange which includes commitments regarding future trading on options on futures contracts;

THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED: That it is the unanimous consensus of this Board of Directors and the recommendation of this Board to future Boards of Directors that the policy of establishing options on liquid futures contracts to the maximum extent permissible by law be continued when in the best interest of the membership and the public.

Interpretation - The Board of Directors adopted the following on April 17, 1990 as a formal rule interpretation which confirms established Exchange practice:

"For purposes of all petition provisions in Rules 102.00 `Nominations for Elective Office' and 107.00 `Amendment of Rules', the signature of an Associate Member shall count for 1/6th of the signature of a Full Member." (08/01/94)

Chapter 2
Membership

Chapter 2
Membership

Ch2 Applicants

200.00 Applicants for Membership - Any individual, other than an employee of the Association, at least twenty-one years of age, of good character, reputation, financial responsibility and credit who satisfies the Membership Committee that such individual is suitable to assume the responsibility and privileges of membership shall be eligible. 100 (08/01/94)

201.00 Application for Membership - Each application for membership shall be in writing and filed with the Exchange together with the names of one member sponsor. All applicants for membership shall be investigated as to the representations contained in the application. Upon receipt of the application for membership, the Secretary shall, within fifteen days thereafter, make available to members of the Association the name of the applicant and of the sponsor, and shall post the same information on the bulletin board for a period of at least ten days after such notification to the Membership.

The foregoing provisions do not apply to those applicants seeking to become Full Members or Full Member Delegates of the Exchange solely for the purpose of becoming regular members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") pursuant to Rule 210.00 and Article FIFTH(b) of the CBOE's Certificate of Incorporation. Such applicants need only submit an application in writing in the form and manner prescribed by the Exchange. 101 (07/01/01)

201.00A Examination Requirement - Individuals applying for membership, who have not evidenced a broad experience in the commodity industry, will be required to pass a general futures examination covering the basics of the commodity industry before their membership application can be approved by the Membership Committee. The foregoing provision does not apply to those applicants seeking to become Full Members or Full Member Delegates of the Exchange solely for the purpose of becoming regular members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") pursuant to Rule 210.00 and Article FIFTH(b) of the CBOE's Certificate of the Incorporation. 47R (11/01/99)

201.01 Responsibilities of Applicant for Membership and His Sponsors - Any undue delay by an applicant or his sponsors in the submission of documents required for processing of the membership application or any undue delay by the applicant or his sponsors in appearing may be deemed as a withdrawal of the membership application. 1807A (08/01/94)

201.01A Sponsoring Applicants for Membership - When the Exchange considers the qualifications of applicants for membership in the Chicago Board of Trade, it relies to a large extent upon the statements of members who are sponsoring the applicant.

Sponsorship, therefore, entails considerable responsibility; and the Exchange feels that such responsibility is not met when a member recommends for membership an individual whom the member sponsor does not know to be fully qualified. Such sponsorship is of no assistance whatever to the Exchange and only results in the rejection of the sponsorship-often to the embarrassment of both the applicant and the sponsor.

The Exchange requires that an applicant have one sponsor.

- - For applicants who will not have a primary clearing member ("PCM") firm, the sponsor must be either: (1) a registered member, partner or officer of a CBOT(R) member firm; or (2) a member who has been acquainted with the applicant for a period of at least ninety days.

- - For applicants who will have a PCM, the member sponsor must be a registered member, partner or officer of the applicant's PCM.

In every case it is imperative that a sponsor make a thorough investigation of the applicant and be fully informed regarding the applicant's character, integrity, financial standing and business history.

The foregoing provisions do not apply to those applicants seeking to become Full Members or Full Member Delegates of the Exchange solely for the purpose of becoming regular members of the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") pursuant to Rule 210.00 and Article FIFTH(b) of the CBOE's Certificate of Incorporation.
21R (07/01/01)

201.02 Maintenance of Membership Qualifications

1. Each applicant for membership, in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 203.01, member and member firm immediately shall notify the Association, in writing, upon the occurrence of any of the following events:

   - Such member's suspension or expulsion from any other contract market or self-regulatory organization;

   - Such member's plea of guilty to or conviction of any felony.

   Failure to so notify the Association within ten days shall be an act detrimental to the Association. For the purpose of this regulation, "felony" shall mean any criminal sanction that is punishable by imprisonment of more than a year or a fine in excess of $10,000.

   Upon the Association's receipt of notification, by whatever means, of the occurrence of any of the above-referenced events, the matter shall be referred to the Membership Committee, which immediately shall review the matter to determine if there is sufficient basis to recommend that membership status be reconsidered. The Membership Committee shall advise the Chairman of the Association of its determinations in this regard.

2. The Chairman of the Association, upon the advice of the Membership Committee, is authorized to take summary action pursuant to this regulation, when immediate action is necessary to protect the best interests of the marketplace, without affording prior opportunity for hearing. The following procedures shall apply to such actions:

   (a) The respondent shall, whenever practicable, be served with a notice before the action is taken. If prior notice is not practicable, the respondent shall be served with a notice at the earliest possible opportunity. The notice shall:

      (1) State the action,

      (2) Briefly state the reasons for the action, and

      (3) State the effective time and date and the duration of the action;

   (b) The respondent shall have the right to be represented by legal counsel or any other representative of his choosing in all proceedings subsequent to any summary action taken;

   (c) The respondent shall be given an opportunity for a subsequent hearing, within five business days, before the Membership Committee. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the following requirements:

      (1) The hearing shall be promptly held before disinterested members of the hearing body after reasonable notice to the respondent. No member of the hearing body may serve on that body in a particular matter if he or any person or firm with which he is affiliated has a financial, personal or other direct interest in the matter under consideration.

      (2) Formal rules of evidence need not apply, but the hearing shall not be so informal as to be unfair;

      (3) The respondent shall have the right to invoke Rule 548.00, if applicable;

      (4) The Member Services Department shall be a party to the hearing and shall present its case on those matters which are the subject of the hearing;

      (5) The respondent shall be entitled to appear personally at the hearing and to be represented by counsel;

(6) The respondent shall be entitled to cross-examine any person(s) appearing as witness(es);

(d) Within five business days following the conclusion of the hearing, the Membership Committee shall render a written decision based upon the weight of the evidence contained in the record of the proceeding and shall provide a copy to the respondent. The decision shall include:

(1) A description of the summary action taken;

(2) The reasons for the summary action;

(3) A brief summary of the evidence produced at the hearing;

(4) Findings and conclusions;

(5) A determination that the summary action should be affirmed, modified, or reversed; and

(6) A declaration of any action to be taken pursuant to the determination specified in (5) above and the effective date and duration of such action.

3. After the hearing conducted pursuant to Section 2(c) above is held before the Membership Committee, the following additional provisions shall apply.

The Regulatory Compliance Committee, pursuant to the provisions of Rule 540.00 and Regulation 540.05, shall consider the Membership Committee's findings and recommendations, as well as the record developed before the Membership Committee, at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Regulatory Compliance Committee or at a meeting specially called by the Chairman as the Chairman may direct. The member under review shall have the opportunity to appear before and address the Reguatory Compliance Committee solely with regard to the record made before the Membership Committee; the Regulatory Compliance Committee shall not be required to entertain any new evidence absent a showing that such evidence could not reasonably have been presented previously to the Membership Committee. Upon full consideration of all the evidence before it, the Regulatory Compliance Committee may confirm the member's good standing status, restrict the member's membership status, deny the member's floor access, issue fines, or recommend to the Board of Directors that the member should be expelled or prohibited from association with any member or member firm.

4. The Regulatory Compliance Committee shall vote by secret ballot to take any action pursuant to this regulation. If two-thirds of the members present and voting cast votes in favor of such action, the action shall be adopted. (03/01/01)

202.00 Approval for Membership - If two-thirds of the Membership Committee present and voting cast affirmative votes, the applicant shall be approved. The power to deny such applications is expressly reserved to the Regulatory Compliance Committee. 103 (08/01/94)

202.01 Delegation of Authority to Approve Change in Status Request - The Chairman of the Membership Committee or a member of the Membership Committee who has been designated by the Membership Committee Chairman, or upon delegation by the Chairman, the Member Services and Member Firm Staff Service Department, will have the power to approve the request of a Full or Associate Member, a Membership Interest Holder or a Full Member of the MidAmerica Commodity Exchange to obtain additional Full or Associate Memberships, Membership Interests, or to change his or her delegate status. The power to deny such a request is expressly reserved to the Regulatory Compliance Committee.

For the purpose of this regulation, the Chairman may not delegate approval authority to the Member Services and Member Firm Staff Services Department when the following factors are present:

2. The applicant has indicated on the application that he or she is indebted to any member or member firm;

3. The applicant has indicated that he or she has a negative net worth; or

4. The applicant has trading privileges on the MidAmerica Commodity Exchange only.

The foregoing provisions shall not apply to a Full Member or Full Member Delegate of the Exchange who was initially approved for membership pursuant to Regulation 202.01A, unless such applicant intends to become a Full Member or Full Delegate solely for the purpose of becoming a regular member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") pursuant to Rule 210.00 and Article FIFTH(b) of the CBOE's Certificate of Incorporation. (11/01/99)

202.01A Delegation of Authority to Approve "CBOE Exerciser Only" Applicants - The Chairman or a Vice Chairman of the Membership Committee, or another member of the Committee if designated by the Chairman, will have the power to approve the application of an individual seeking to become a Full Member or Full Member Delegate of the Exchange solely for the purpose of becoming a regular member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") pursuant to Rule 210.00 and Article FIFTH(b) of the CBOE's Certificate of Incorporation. (11/01/99)

202.02 Procedures for Hearings on Preliminary Denials by the Membership Committee - In connection with all hearings conducted with respect to preliminary denials of applications for membership or any other denial by the Membership Committee, the following procedures shall be followed:

(a) The respondent shall be entitled in advance of the hearing to examine all books, documents, or other tangible evidence in the possession or under the control of the Association upon which the Member Services and Member Firm Staff Services Department will rely in presenting the issue(s) contained in the Preliminary Denial Letter or which are relevant to that (those) issue(s). (a) Purchase and Sale of Memberships and Membership Interest by Individuals -

(i) When an individual wishes to sell his full or associate membership or membership interest, he shall sign an offer to sell including an offer price, in such form as shall be prescribed by the Exchange.

When an offer is matched to a bid, the member or registered eligible business organization may receive the sale proceeds prior to the expiration of the claims period or the resolution of any claims by depositing treasury bills with the Association, equivalent to the sale price of the membership or membership interest. All amounts deposited shall be available, without restriction, to satisfy claims against the departing member or the registered eligible business organization under this Chapter. In lieu of a deposit, the member or registered eligible business organization may file a clearing firm guaranty, letter of credit, or such other form as the Association may permit, equivalent to the sale price of the membership or membership interest, for the satisfaction of claims.

(ii) Any individual who wishes to purchase a full or associate membership or membership interest subsequent to his approval for a particular membership status shall execute and deliver to the Department of Member Services a bid to purchase such membership or membership interest, in such form as may be prescribed by the Exchange. The bid shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check representing an earnest money deposit in the amount of fifteen percent of the bid, by an irrevocable letter of credit in the amount of fifteen percent of the bid, or by an agreement on a form prescribed by the Exchange and executed by a clearing member of the Association as provided in this section (ii).

Any individual who wishes to purchase a full or associate membership or membership interest prior to his approval for a particular membership status shall execute and deliver to the Department of Member Services a bid to purchase such membership or membership interest, in such form as may be prescribed by the Exchange. The bid shall be accompanied by a check in the amount of the applicable transfer fee. The bid shall also be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of such bid or by an agreement on a form prescribed by the Exchange and executed by a clearing member of the Association which shall provide that in the event the prospective purchaser's bid is matched to an offer, as provided in section (iii) below, and the prospective purchaser fails to make payment in the amount of his bid by 5:00 p.m. of the next business day following the day on which he was notified by the Department of Member Services that his bid was matched to an offer, such clearing member shall purchase the membership or membership interest in question for the full amount of such bid.

The bid shall contain an agreement by such individual to take no recourse against the Association in the event he is not approved for membership, except as may be permitted under Section 8c of the Commodity Exchange Act as amended and a release of the Association of any claim or right that such individual would otherwise have had by reason of such failure to be so elected. The bid also shall contain an agreement by such individual that he or she consents to and accepts the Exchange's jurisdiction with respect to any disciplinary action or other matter within the purview of any Exchange committee from the date of purchase of a membership or membership interest until the date the individual is approved for membership status or, if such individual fails to be approved for membership status, until the date of a sale of the membership or membership interest is effected in accordance with this regulation. With respect to the purchase of a membership which will be registered pursuant to Rule 230.00 for the benefit of an eligible business organization which is not currently a member firm, a consent to jurisdiction also must be executed on behalf of the firm. The consent to jurisdiction shall expressly state that the Exchange may hold the membership or membership interest pending the disposition of any proceeding before any Exchange Committee and apply the proceeds from the sale of the membership or membership interest toward the satisfaction of any decision that may be rendered against the individual or firm.

Nothing herein shall be construed in any way to limit the Exchange's jurisdiction over all individuals and firms which have been approved for membership. If any purchase of a membership or membership interest is being financed by a person other than the purchaser, such purchaser shall file satisfactory proof as required by the Department of Member Services that the financing party is aware of the provisions of this Regulation and Rule 252.00.

(iii) The Department of Member Services shall post continually on the Bulletin Board the lowest offer to sell and the highest bid to buy full and associate memberships and membership interests, respectively. In the event of a match between any such bid and offer, the Department of Member Services shall notify the purchaser and the seller. In the event there are two bids and/or two offers in the same amount, the oldest offer shall be matched to the oldest bid. Title and value of the membership or membership interest shall be transferred to the purchaser upon payment being effected in the full amount of the bid.

In the event that the prospective purchaser fails to make payment in the amount of his bid by 5:00 p.m. of the next business day following the day on which he was notified by the Department of Member Services that his bid was matched to an offer, the clearing member who has executed an agreement to purchase the membership or membership interest as provided in section (a)(ii) of this Regulation shall make payment in the full amount of the bid by 5:00 p.m. of the business day following the day upon which payment was due from the prospective purchaser. Upon becoming the owner of the title and value of the membership or membership interest, the clearing member shall either sell or transfer the membership or membership interest or cause the membership or membership interest to be registered on its behalf in accordance with Rule 230.00 of these Rules and Regulations.

Failure to fulfill the obligations set forth in said agreement shall constitute acts detrimental to the interest and welfare of the Association.

Within ten (10) business days of notice to the purchaser by the Department of Member Services that his or her bid has been matched to an offer, each purchaser of a full or associate membership who is not a full or associate member in good standing, and each purchaser of a membership interest who is not a full or associate member, membership interest holder or nominee thereof, or delegate in good standing, shall file with the Department of Member Services an application for the appropriate membership status, in such form as may be prescribed by the Exchange, in order to be eligible for approval for membership status. Such form shall include an agreement by the applicant to take no recourse against the Association in the event he or she is not approved for a particular membership status, except as may be permitted under Section 8c of the Commodity Exchange Act as amended and a release of the Association of any claim or right that such individual would otherwise have had by reason of such failure to be so elected. No person may exercise the rights of a particular membership status until he or she is approved for such membership status in accordance with these rules.

(iv) If a purchaser of a membership or membership interest fails to file an application with the Department of Member Services as required in paragraph (iii) above, is not approved for membership status, or if for any reason his application is withdrawn, the Exchange shall retain the transfer fee and the purchaser shall assume all risk of gain or loss from the resale of the membership or membership interest purchased by him. The purchaser shall take all necessary steps to effect a sale of the membership or membership interest purchased by him within thirty (30) days of notification of his failure to be approved for membership status, withdrawal of his application, or the purchase of the membership or membership interest if he failed to file an application.

(v) If the purchaser fails to effect a sale within the time period specified in paragraph (iv) above, the Department of Member Services shall effect a sale at the price of the highest bid to purchase then on file with the Department of Member Services on the next business day following the thirtieth (30) day after notification of his failure to be approved for membership status, withdrawal of his application, or the purchase of the membership or membership interest if he failed to file an application. If on the next business day following the thirtieth day after such notification, withdrawal, or purchase if he failed to file an application, there is no bid to purchase on file with the Department of Member Services, the membership or membership interest shall be offered for sale by the Exchange at the same price as the lowest offer to sell then on file with the Department of Member Services. Such offer shall be matched with a bid in accordance with Regulation 249.01(a)(iii). The total amount realized from the sale of the membership or membership interest shall be remitted to the unsuccessful applicant in full satisfaction of all obligations of the Association, subject to Exchange Rule 252.00.

(vi) An individual whose offer to sell his only membership or membership interest has been accepted by a purchaser, shall not make any Exchange contracts after the date of such consummation of the transfer.

An individual whose membership or membership interest status was terminated through a sale in accordance with this paragraph (a), and who was a member or membership interest holder in good standing, not subject to any Exchange investigation, charges, suspension or disciplinary action at the time of such sale, shall remain eligible, for a period of six (6) months following such sale, to purchase another membership or membership interest under the provisions of this paragraph (a), to be the transferee of a membership or membership interest pursuant to subparagraphs 249.01(b) (c) or (d) or to become a delegate, in accordance with provisions of Regulation 202.01. The Exchange may, in its discretion, grant extensions to this six (6) month approval period.

(ii) A registered eligible business organization owning the title and value of a full membership, associate membership, or membership interest may transfer said membership or membership interest to another approved individual who is also a managerial employee of the eligible business organization, by delivering to the Department of Member Services a report of intention to transfer upon such form as shall be prescribed by the Exchange. In addition, with respect to the transfer of a full or associate membership, the firm must deposit with the Department of Member Services an amount equal to the weighted average of all full or associate membership sales for the preceding calendar month, as appropriate. With respect to the transfer of a membership interest, the firm must deposit the greater of $50,000 or an amount equal to the weighted average of all GIM, COM or IDEM sales, for the preceding calendar month, as appropriate. Such amount may be deposited in cash, treasury bills, or such other form as the Association may permit. All amounts deposited shall be available, without restriction, to satisfy claims against the departing approved individual or against the registered eligible business organization under this Chapter. In lieu of a deposit, a firm may file a clearing firm guaranty for the satisfaction of claims in an amount that accords with the formulas set forth in this sub-paragraph. Should the departing approved individual be leaving the employ of the member firm, the application for membership or transfer documents of the transferee must be submitted to the Association within thirty (30) days from the termination date of the departing approved individual. The Exchange may, in its discretion, grant extensions of this 30 day approval period. No such extension shall exceed 60 days total length for any individual.

(iii) Nothing herein shall preclude or impair the right of the Exchange to impose discipline upon the registered eligible business organization, or upon the approved individual, or to dispose of the membership or membership interest of any approved individual, for the acts or delinquencies of the registered eligible business organization, or for the acts or delinquencies of the approved individual, in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Association.

(iv) An approved individual whose only remaining membership or membership interest has been transferred in accordance with this paragraph (b) shall not make any Exchange contracts after the date of such transfer.

(v) In the event that a registered eligible business organization owning the title and value of a full or associate membership or membership interest is acquired by another registered eligible business organization through the purchase of 100% of the partnership or limited liability company property or corporate stock, the acquiring eligible business organization may transfer said membership or membership interest to another approved individual who is a managerial employee of the acquiring eligible business organization by complying with the procedures set forth in sub-paragraph (ii), hereof.

A registered corporation that owns the title and value of a full or associate membership or member interest may transfer said membership or membership interest to another approved individual who is a managerial employee of its wholly-owned registered subsidiary corporation or its registered parent partnership or corporation which owns 100% of its stock, or a sister corporation that is 100% owned by the parent entity, by complying with the procedures set forth in sub-paragraph (ii), hereof. A registered partnership that owns the title and value of a full or associate membership or membership interest may transfer said membership or membership interest to another approved individual who is a managerial employee of its wholly-owned registered subsidiary or a sister entity that is 100% owned by the parent entity, by complying with the procedures set forth in sub-paragraph (ii), hereof. A registered limited liability company that owns the title and value of a full or associate membership or membership interest may transfer said membership or membership interest to another approved individual who is a managerial employee of its wholly-owned registered affiliate or a sister affiliate that is 100% owned by the parent entity by complying with the procedures set forth in sub-paragraph (ii), hereof. Each such transfer of a GIM Membership Interest shall count toward the two transfers specified in Rule 296.00 (2).

(vi) The parties to the transfer set forth in sub-paragraph (ii) of this paragraph may elect not to deposit a sum of money or file a clearing firm guaranty agreement as provided therein, in which case the transferee shall, for a period of time equal to that set forth in paragraph (e) of this Regulation, be ineligible to exercise any of the rights and privileges of the transferred membership or membership interest and, during this time and no other, all claims as set forth in sub-paragraph (ii) of this paragraph against the transferor shall be filed. If such claims are filed the transferee shall remain ineligible until the claims are satisfied or otherwise disposed. In order to satisfy claims set forth in sub-paragraph (ii), which have been properly filed and allowed by the Association, as provided by the Rules and Regulations, the transferred membership or membership interest may be sold by the Association. In the event of such sale and after the claims have been paid, the remaining surplus, if any, of the proceeds of sale shall be paid to the registered eligible business organization upon execution by it of a release which is satisfactory to the Association. In order to preclude the sale of the membership or membership interest by the Association for the satisfaction of claims, and for the transferee to become immediately eligible to exercise the rights and privileges of the transferred membership or membership interest, the registered eligible business organization may, in the alternative, deposit a sum of money or file a clearing firm guaranty as provided in sub-paragraph (ii) hereof.

(vii) An approved individual whose membership or membership interest status was terminated through a transfer in accordance with this paragraph (b), and who was a member or membership interest holder in good standing, not subject to any Exchange investigation, charges, suspension or disciplinary action at the time of such transfer, shall remain eligible, for a period of thirty (30) days following such transfer, to purchase another membership or membership interest under the provisions of this paragraph (a) or to be the transferee of a membership or membership interest pursuant to subparagraphs 249.01 (b) (c) or (d) in accordance with provisions of Regulations 202.01 and/or 230.18, as applicable. The Exchange may, in its discretion, grant extensions of this 30 day approval period. No such extension shall exceed 60 days in total length for any individual.

(c) Transfer by member under loan agreement -

(i) Whenever, under the Rules and Regulations, a registered eligible business organization is required to register a certain number of full or associate memberships or is required to maintain memberships for other purposes, such eligible business organization may execute with an employee, approved for membership under this Chapter, a loan agreement in such form as the Association may prescribe, advancing to such employee the cost of membership and providing for the enforced repayment of such advance. The employee may transfer his membership to another employee of the same registered eligible business organization, approved for membership under this Chapter, upon the deposit with the Department of Member Services of an amount equal to the sum specified in sub-paragraph (ii) of paragraph (b) of this Regulation. All amounts so deposited shall be available, without restriction, to satisfy claims under this Chapter. Should the transferor be leaving the employ of the registered eligible business organization, the application for membership of the transferee must be submitted to the Association within thirty (30) days from the termination date of the transferor.

(ii) Transfer under this paragraph (c) except as provided in sub-paragraph (i) hereof, shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Regulation.

(d) Transfer within family -

(i) It shall be permissible, under the Rules and Regulations, to transfer a full or associate membership or membership interest between members of the same family (a spouse, parent, child, grandparent, or grandchild), or a decedent's membership or membership interest within the same family, provided such transferee is approved for the appropriate membership status under this Chapter and a clearing firm guaranty is filed, or sum of money as described in paragraph (b) is deposited with the Department of Member Services in order to satisfy claims.

(ii) The parties to the transfer may elect not to deposit a sum of money as provided in paragraph (b), in which case the transferee shall, for a period of time equal to that set forth in paragraph (e) of this Regulation, be ineligible to exercise any of the rights and privileges of the transferred membership or membership interest, and during this time and no other, all claims against the transferor shall be filed. If such claims are filed the transferee shall remain ineligible until the claims are satisfied or otherwise disposed. In order to satisfy claims against the transferor, which have been properly filed and allowed by the Association, as provided by the Rules and Regulations, the transferred membership or membership interest may be sold by the Association. In the event of such sale and after the claims have been paid, the remaining surplus, if any, of the proceeds of sale shall be paid to the transferee, or his legal representative, upon execution by him of a release which is satisfactory to the Association. In order to preclude the sale of the membership or membership interest by the Association for the satisfaction of claims, and to become immediately eligible to exercise the rights and privileges of the transferred membership or membership interest, the transferee may, in the alternative, comply with the provisions of sub-paragraph (i), hereof.

(iii) Transfer under this paragraph (d), except as provided in sub-paragraph (i) and (ii) hereof, shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Regulation.

(e) Notice of membership sale or transfer and filing claims -

(i) On the first and sixteenth calendar day of each month (or if the first or sixteenth is not a business day on the following business day ("notice days")), the Secretary shall post on the bulletin board located on the Exchange floor a notice listing each sale or transfer of a membership, each termination or expiration of a delegation agreement, each termination of an individual member registration and each termination of a member firm registered in accordance with the provisions of Rule 230.00 that occurred during the period beginning on the preceding notice day and ending on the business day preceding the current notice day. The Secretary shall also make this information available to the membership. The last day for filing claims pursuant to Rule 253.00 against the proceeds of the sale or transfer of a membership, the termination of an individual member registration, a termination of a member firm or pursuant to Rule 221.00 (c)(2) against a delegate whose delegation agreement has terminated or expired is the business day immediately preceding the notice day that follows the notice day on which the Secretary posts a notice on the bulletin board announcing such sale or transfer or such termination or expiration of a delegation agreement. The Exchange shall hold the proceeds from the sale or transfer of a membership until such time as the relevant claims period has run and/or any disputed claims have been resolved.

(ii) Upon the effective date of sale or transfer of an individual's sole membership, all Exchange contracts of the seller or transferor shall mature, and if not settled, shall be closed out as in the case of insolvency, unless the same are assumed or taken over by another member of the Association.

(iii) The name of a member whose membership or membership interest has been disposed of by the Board shall be posted as in the case of a voluntary sale and such posting shall have the same effect in respect to open contracts and unmatured debts and obligations of the former member as in the case of a voluntary sale.

(f) Sale by Legal Representative -

(i) The membership or membership interest of a deceased member or membership interest holder may be sold pursuant to an offer to sell executed by the executor, administrator or other duly qualified and appointed legal representative of his estate.

(ii) The full or associate membership or membership interest of a member or membership interest holder who has been adjudicated incompetent may be sold pursuant to an offer to sell executed by his duly appointed guardian, conservator or other duly qualified legal representative.

(g) Indirect Exchange of Memberships -

(i) A member may exchange an associate membership for a full membership (an "AM Swap"), a full membership for an associate membership (an "FM Swap"), a GIM membership interest for an associate membership (a "GIM to AM Swap"), a GIM membership interest for a full membership (a "GIM to FM Swap"), a COM membership interest for an associate membership (a "COM to AM Swap"), a COM membership interest for a full membership (a "COM to FM swap") an IDEM membership interest for an associate membership (an "IDEM to AM swap") or an IDEM membership interest for a full membership (an "IDEM to FM swap"), by signing an offer to exchange in such form as shall be prescribed by the Exchange. The offer to exchange shall specify the category of membership being relinquished (the "relinquished membership"); the category of membership the exchanging member wishes to acquire (the "replacement membership"), and the "Price Differential" at which the exchange is to be effected (as described below).

The offer to exchange shall be accompanied by: (1) In the case of an AM, GIM to AM, GIM to FM, COM to AM, COM to FM, IDEM to AM or IDEM to FM Swap, a certified or cashier's check in the amount of the Price Differential, or an agreement of a clearing member of the Association as described in section (a)(ii) of this Regulation; and (2) an agreement of a clearing member of the Association to pay to the Association in cash upon demand the amount of any assessments or claims against the exchanging member's relinquished membership according to Rule 252.00 up to the value of the relinquished membership at the time the exchange is accepted. For this purpose, the value of the relinquished membership will be the bid price for such membership.

(ii) The Department of Member Services shall post continually on the Bulletin Board the highest Price Differential for AM, GIM to AM, GIM to FM, COM to AM, COM to FM, IDEM to AM and IDEM to FM swaps, and the lowest Price Differential for FM swaps. In the event there are two or more AM swaps, two or more FM swaps, two or more GIM to AM Swaps, two or more GIM to FM Swaps, two or more COM to AM Swaps, two or more COM to FM Swaps, two or more IDEM to AM swaps or two or more IDEM to FM Swaps offered at the same Price Differential, the oldest offer shall be listed first.

(iii) The Department of Member Services shall notify an exchanging member that the member's offer to exchange has been accepted when (1) the difference between the bid price for memberships in the category of the relinquished membership and the offer price for memberships in the category of the replacement membership equals (2) the Price Differential for the offer to exchange. Upon notification of acceptance of the offer to exchange, the Department of Member Services shall cause the Association to acquire the relinquished membership from the exchanging member, sell the relinquished membership at its bid price, acquire the replacement membership at its offered price, and transfer the replacement membership to the exchanging member. The exchanging member shall pay the applicable transfer fee not later than 5:00 p.m. of the first business day following acceptance of the offer to exchange.

(iv) If, prior to acceptance of an offer to exchange, the posted Price Differential for AM Swaps matches the posted Price Differential for FM Swaps, the Department of Member Services will notify the respective members and will effect a direct exchange of their memberships according to paragraph (h) below.

(v) Title and value of the relinquished membership shall pass to the Association, and title and value of the replacement membership shall be transferred to the exchanging member, upon notification by the Association that the exchange offer has been accepted.

(vi) The proceeds from the sale of the relinquished membership shall be applied to payment for the replacement membership. Any excess proceeds shall be applied in the manner specified in Rule 252.00 to satisfy assessments and claims against the relinquished membership. The exchanging member shall only be entitled to the replacement membership and any excess proceeds (subject to application of Rule 252.00); in no event shall the exchanging member be entitled to demand receipt of the proceeds from the sale of the relinquished membership in lieu of receipt of the replacement membership.

(vii) If the exchanging member in an AM, GIM to AM, GIM to FM, COM to AM, COM to FM, IDEM to AM or IDEM to FM swap fails to make payment for the Price Differential by 5:00 p.m. of the next business day following the day on which the member was notified by the Department of Member Services that the member's offer to exchange was accepted, the exchanging member shall forfeit ownership of the title and value of the replacement membership and the clearing member who has executed an agreement to purchase the membership as provided in section (a)(ii) of this Regulation shall make such payment by 5:00 p.m. of the next business day following the day upon which payment was due from the exchanging member. Upon such payment, the clearing member shall be the owner of the title and value of the replacement membership. The clearing member shall either sell or transfer the replacement membership or cause the replacement membership to be registered on its behalf in accordance with Rule 230.00 of these Rules and Regulations. The clearing member shall account to the exchanging member for the portion of the replacement membership bid price paid from the proceeds from the sale of the relinquished membership.

Failure to fulfill the obligations set forth in said agreement shall constitute acts detrimental to the interest and welfare of the Association.

(viii) The person who purchases the relinquished membership from the Association and the person who sells the replacement membership to the Association shall follow the procedures specified in section (a) or (b) of this regulation as applicable. Exchanges under this section (g), except as provided herein, shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter.

(h) Direct Exchange of Memberships -

(i) A member in good standing may transfer (1) an associate membership in direct exchange for a full membership of another member, (2) a full membership for an associate membership of another member, (3) a GIM membership interest for an associate membership of another member, (4) a GIM membership interest for a full membership of another member, (5) a COM membership interest for an associate membership of another member, (6) a COM membership interest for a full membership of another member, (7) an IDEM membership interest for an associate membership of another member, or (8) an IDEM membership interest for a full membership of another member. The exchanging members shall jointly execute and deliver to the Department of Member Services an agreement of direct exchange in such form as may be prescribed by the Exchange and setting forth the agreed Price Differential between the memberships. The agreement shall be accompanied by (1) a check from each member in the amount of the applicable transfer fee, (2) a certified or cashier's check for the Price Differential, and (3) for each member, an agreement of a clearing member of the Association to pay to the Association in cash upon demand the amount of any assessments or claims against the exchanging member's relinquished membership according to Rule 252.00 up to the value of the relinquished membership at the time the exchange is accepted. For this purpose, the value of the relinquished membership shall be the average of the posted bid and offer prices for such memberships; provided that if there is either no posted bid or no posted offer, the value shall be the price paid in the last sale of such memberships. Title and value of the memberships shall be transferred to the respective exchanging members upon notification from the Department of Member Services that it has accepted the exchange.

(ii) Exchanges under this section (h), except as provided herein, shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter.

(i) Transfer to a Trust -

(i) A member or membership interest holder (collectively referred to as "member" under this section) or a member's personal representative (including his or her agent under a durable power of attorney) may transfer his or her membership(s) or membership interest(s) to a trust of which the member is a grantor, if: (1) while the member is living and competent, the member is the sole trustee of the trust, (2) the member retains the right to revoke the trust during his or her life, and (3) all beneficiaries of the trust are members of the grantor's family who would be eligible for a family transfer from the grantor pursuant to section (d) of this regulation.

(ii) A trust shall take the membership subject to all of the rules of the Exchange, including Rules 230.00 and 252.00; however, Rule 252.00 shall not apply to the transfer of a membership or membership interest to a trust wherein the member/grantor is the trustee. The transfer of a GIM membership interest to a trust wherein the member/grantor is the trustee shall not constitute a transfer under Rule 296.00(1).

(iii) The interests in the membership that inure to the beneficiaries of the trust shall be subject to all of the rules of the Exchange; the Exchange's rights with respect to the membership shall be superior to those of the beneficiaries; and the Exchange shall have no liability to the beneficiaries of the trust in the event of the mishandling of the trust assets by the trustee. The grantor and the trustee (and any successor) shall each provide in the form provided by the Exchange an acknowledgement that the trust takes the membership subject to all of the rules of the Exchange and that the trust is in compliance with the requirements of this regulation.

(iv) The trustee (and any successor), if not already a member, shall be required to qualify for membership and satisfy the requirements of Chapter 2 of these Rules and Regulations.

(v) The grantor's liability to the Exchange under Rule 209.00 shall continue with respect to any claim arising out of an act or omission occurring prior to such transfer, and the membership will continue to be treated as the asset of the grantor for the purposes of Rule 209.00 and for otherwise meeting any obligations to the Exchange arising out of the grantor's use of the membership prior to the transfer to the trust, including fines imposed with respect to conduct occurring prior to the transfer.

A membership or membership interest held in a trust of which the member/grantor is the sole trustee may be temporarily transferred, subject to the provisions of section (j) of this regulation, to an individual within the member/grantor's same family, as defined in section (d)(I) of this regulation.

(vi) A membership held in trust may not be registered for member firm privileges.

(vii) Subparagraph (vi) shall not apply to self-owned registered memberships, provided that the member demonstrates, to the satisfaction of the Association and before the membership is placed in trust, that the declaration of the trust into which the membership will be transferred incorporates by express reference the Rules and Regulations of the Association.

This subparagraph shall have no effect on the provision of Regulation 249.01(j)(iv) that prohibits the use of a membership that is the subject of a revocable intra-family transfer for member firm privileges.

(viii) The transfer shall be revoked and the membership shall revert to the transferor upon official notice to the Exchange that the trust has been revoked.

(j) Notwithstanding the provisions of section (d) of this regulation pertaining to permanent family transfers, a member or membership interest holder may temporarily transfer his or her respective membership or membership interest to a member of his or her immediate family, as defined in section (d)(i) of this regulation, who shall be subject to all Exchange Rules and Regulations.

Transfers under this section shall be subject to the following terms and conditions:

(i) The transferor may revoke the transfer upon written notice to the transferee, and a copy thereof shall be filed by the transferor with the Member Services Department as a precondition to its effectiveness. The transferee shall remain approved for membership under the same conditions which are applicable in the event of a termination of a delegation agreement, as set forth in Rule 221.00(a).

(ii) The transfer shall be revoked and the membership or membership interest shall revert to the transferor's estate or conservator upon official notice of the death or formally declared incompetence of the transferor.

(iii) Upon election to membership, the transferee shall be treated as a member for all purposes, except that the transferee shall have no authority to sell, transfer or assign the membership or membership interest. The right to vote on all matters subject to a ballot vote among the general membership will remain with the transferor. A Full or Associate Member shall not be ineligible for elective office or committee appointments based on such member's having temporarily transferred his or her Full or Associate Membership pursuant to this section (j).

(iv) While a transfer under this section is in effect, the membership involved would not qualify the transferee for elective office and the membership may not be registered under Rule 230.00 for member firm privileges.

(v) The provisions of Rule 221.00(c) shall apply to the transferor and the transferee in the same manner that those provisions apply to a member and his delegate.

(vi) The transferor may sell or transfer the membership at any time in accordance with the provisions of this regulation. The family transfer shall automatically be null and void upon such a sale or transfer by the transferor. The proceeds of the sale of the membership will be distributed to the transferor following the settlement of all claims pursuant to Rule 252.00

(vii) The transfer of a GIM membership interest under this section shall not constitute a transfer under Rule 296.00(1).

(viii) In the case of a membership or membership interest held in trust pursuant to subsection (i), the trustee may transfer the membership or membership interest in accordance with the provisions of this subparagraph (j). The trustee shall have the rights, duties and obligations of a transferor as provided by this subsection (subject to the provisions of subsection (i)). Where the transferor is the trustee of a membership or membership interest held in trust pursuant to subsection (i), and either (1) the trustee revokes the transfer; (2) the settlor is officially declared dead or (3) the settlor is decreed to be legally incompetent by a court of proper jurisdiction, then the membership or membership interest shall automatically revert to the trustee. (05/01/01)

250.01 Sale and Transfer of Membership Privileges - A member or his legal representative desiring to sell his membership or membership interest shall deliver to the Department of Member Services a signed authorization of sale which is notarized or otherwise officially authenticated, or a telecopy thereof, in the form prescribed below. The authorization of sale shall contain a specific offer price. The member must also deliver to the Department of Member Services a signed consent to jurisdiction in a form prescribed by the Exchange before his authorization of sale will be accepted. With respect to the sale of a firm-owned membership, the consent to jurisdiction must be signed by the last member holding the membership and, if the sale would terminate the firm's member firm status, a consent to jurisdiction must also be executed on behalf of the firm. The consent to jurisdiction form provides that the member and, if applicable, the member firm, consents to and accepts the Association's jurisdiction with respect to any potential or current disciplinary matter of which the Association is aware or becomes aware prior to the distribution of proceeds and further that the Exchange may retain all of the proceeds from the sale of the member's seat pending the outcome of any disciplinary action. The following shall apply to persons elected to membership and to registered member firms for a period of five years after the termination of such individual's or firm's membership status. Each such individual and firm:

- Remains responsible for any violations of Exchange rules and regulations committed while a member or member firm; and

- Agrees to have any disputes which arose while a member or member firm and which relate to or arose out of any transaction upon the Exchange or membership in the Exchange, resolved in accordance with Exchange rules and regulations.

An individual wishing to purchase a membership or membership interest shall inform the Department of Member Services in such form as shall be prescribed by the Exchange of his desire to purchase a membership or membership interest. When the purchaser's bid has been matched with an offer to sell, the purchaser shall sign a confirmation of purchase and shall by 5:00 p.m. of the next business day following the day on which he was notified by the Department of Member Services that his bid was matched to an offer deposit with the Department of Member Services the balance, if any, owing on the purchase price on the membership or membership interest.

For that reason, the registered firm is allowed to designate a qualified individual to exercise the personal privileges of that membership. Any such designation can be terminated by the registered firm at any time. In that event, the individual's right to exercise the personal privileges of that membership terminates immediately and automatically. In the event that an individual wrongfully exercises any personal privilege of membership after termination, the registered firm shall remain responsible for that individual's liabilities and actions until written notice of the termination has been posted on the bulletin board. 1806 (04/01/98)

250.03 Power-of-Attorney - In connection with membership transfers and delegations, a power-of- attorney is permitted to be used only for the following functions;

251.01 Member Under Investigation - No member may transfer his membership privilege by intrafamily transfer and no member firm may transfer a firm-owned membership from one member employee to another employee under Regulation 249.01(b), unless the approval of the Regulatory Compliance Committee is first secured, when the member is under investigation by any standing committee or by a special committee appointed under the provisions of Rule 541.00 or when charges are preferred against him or when he is under suspension for causes other than default, insolvency, or non-payment of assessments. 1835 (08/01/94)

252.00 Proceeds of Membership -

(a) ORDER OF DISTRIBUTION. Upon any transfer of membership, whether made by a member voluntarily or by the Board, the proceeds shall be applied to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(1) FIRST, the payment of all dues, assessments, service fees, fines, contributions, and charges payable to the Association by the member whose membership is transferred, and all other indebtedness of such member to the Association.

(2) SECOND, the payment of all dues, assessments, fines and charges payable by such member to the Clearing House, and all other indebtedness of such member to the Clearing House.

(3) THIRD, the payment to such member's Primary Clearing Member or Members, as specified in Rule 333.00, of all claims filed under Rule 253.00 for trading losses of such member arising out of Transactions on Change, and which claims have been allowed by the Board.

(4) FOURTH, the payment to other Clearing Members of all claims filed under Rule 253.00 for trading losses of such member arising out of Transactions on Change, and which claims have been allowed by the Board.

(5) FIFTH, the payment to members and member firms of all claims filed under Rule 253.00 for money owed on loans which had been made to the member whose membership was transferred, exclusively for the purpose of financing the purchase of such membership, and which had been promptly recorded with the Secretary of the Association, and which claims have been allowed by the Board.

(6) SIXTH, the payment to members and member firms of all claims filed under Rule 253.00 otherwise arising from Member's Contracts, exclusive of personal debts which are not related to the conduct of business as a broker, trader or commission merchant, and which claims have been allowed by the Board. Provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to a membership subject to Regulation 249.01(b) or 249.01(c).

(b) PRO RATA PAYMENT. If the proceeds of a transfer of membership are insufficient to pay all filed claims allowed by the Board, such claims, within the priorities listed in (a) above, shall be paid pro rata, except as provided in (e) below.

(c) SURPLUS, IF ANY. Claims which are not filed during the period specified in Regulation 249.01 but which would otherwise qualify under (a) above may, if allowed by the Board, be paid out of any surplus after all other claims allowed by the Board have been paid in full and shall be paid in preference to claims referred to in (e) below. The remaining surplus, if any, of the proceeds of a transfer of membership, after payment of all claims allowed by the Board under this Rule, shall be paid to the person whose membership is transferred, or to his legal representatives, upon the execution by him or them of a release or releases satisfactory to the Board.

(d) VALUATION.

(1) Claims which have not matured at the time of the transfer of the membership may be treated as though they had matured, and the amount due may be fixed and determined by the Board on the basis of market values or such other basis as the Board deems to be fair and just.

(2) If a claim is contingent or the amount that will ultimately be due cannot be immediately ascertained and determined, the Board may reserve and retain such amount from the proceeds as it deems appropriate, pending determination of the amount due on the claim.

(3) A claim shall be allowed by the Board only for the amount due after credit is given for the proceeds of the sale of any collateral held by the claimant of the fair value of such collateral as determined by the Board, The Board may require, before passing on the claim, that all such collateral be sold.

(e) CLAIMS OF PARTNERS. Claims growing out of transactions between partners, who are members of the Association, shall not share in the proceeds of the membership of one of such partners until all other claims as allowed by the Board have been paid in full.

(f) RIGHTS OF CREDITORS OF DECEASED, INCOMPETENT, SUSPENDED, OR EXPELLED MEMBER. The death, incompetency, expulsion or suspension of a member shall not affect the right of creditors under the provisions of this Rule.

(g) DEATH OR INCOMPETENCY OF CREDITOR MEMBERS. When a member is in debt to another member, the death or incompetency of the creditor member or the transfer of his membership either by his estate or by the Board, shall not affect the rights of the creditor member, his firm, corporation, or estate, to share in proceeds of the membership of the debtor member under this Rule, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the creditor member had not died, become incompetent or his membership had not been transferred.

(h) DEBTS EXISTING AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THIS RULE AS AMENDED. Within 20 business days after the effective date of this Rule, as amended, all members and member firms shall notify the Secretary of the Association of all member debts outstanding as of the effective date which debts have arisen out of members' contracts had between the parties thereto in the ordinary course of business. The Secretary shall record such debts. All recorded debts still remaining unpaid at the time of the transfer of the debtor's membership, if allowed by the Board, shall be included in Category 3 of this Rule to be paid pro rata if necessary along with claims under that category, provided such debts are determined by the Board to have arisen out of members contracts had between the parties thereto in the ordinary course of business. 253.01 Pending Arbitration - In the event an Exchange arbitration action is pending against a member who sells his membership, the entire proceeds from such membership sale shall be reserved and retained by the Exchange towards satisfaction of any resulting arbitration award in accordance with Rule 252.00. Subject to the provisions of Regulation 540.06, he shall thereby become suspended from membership until, after having settled with his creditors or the creditors of his firm or corporation, he has been reinstated by the Board.

If a clearing member firm learns that any of the above-specified conditions apply to a member or member firm whose trades it clears, the clearing member firm must also immediately provide written notice thereof to the Secretary, and prompt notice thereof shall be given to the Association. For purposes of this provision, a clearing member firm will be deemed to have learned of such conditions, if a member who is registered for the firm, and is also a general partner of a partnership, an officer or director of a corporation, or a manager of a limited liability company, has actual knowledge thereof.

Nothing in this Rule shall preclude disciplinary action for the violation of any Rule or Regulation of the Association which contributed to the condition for which the person is suspended under this Rule. (06/1/00)

270.01 Restrictions on Operations - The Financial Compliance Committee shall advise the Chairman or Acting Chairman of the Board whenever it appears that a member, registered eligible business organization, wholly-owned affiliate of such member or registered eligible business organization or any other person with trading privileges is insolvent; is failing to meet the minimum capital requirements of the Association and cannot demonstrate its ability to achieve compliance; is in such financial condition that it cannot be permitted to continue in business with safety to its customers, its creditors, or the Association; or such other condition or practice exists which may adversely affect the safety of funds or positions carried for others. Upon the receipt of such advice, the Chairman or Acting Chairman may, subject to the provisions of Regulation 540.06, impose any restriction upon the operations of a member, registered eligible business organization, wholly-owned affiliate or any other person with trading privileges as he deems appropriate in the circumstances, including but not limited to the following:

272.02 Deliveries in Bankruptcy Situation -

(a) For purposes of this Regulation:

(i) The term "customer" shall mean any person for whom a member carries an Exchange futures contract except a non-public customer as that term is defined in CFTC Regulation 190.01(bb).

(ii) The term "debtor" shall mean any member with respect to which an order for relief is entered under the Bankruptcy Code.

(iii) The term "order for relief" means the filing of a petition in bankruptcy in a voluntary case and the adjudication of bankruptcy in an involuntary case.

(iv) The term "tender" with respect to a notice of delivery shall mean, in the case of a short clearing member that has presented such a notice to the Clearing House, the assignment of such notice by the Clearing House to a long clearing member, and, in the case of a long clearing member, the acceptance by such member of such notice from the Clearing House if such notice is not transferred by such long clearing member within the time permitted under the Rules of the Association or the Clearing House.

(b) This Regulation shall apply only in the event and under the circumstances set forth in paragraph (c) hereof, and only in the event that the opposite clearing member referred to in said paragraph (c) is not itself a debtor.

(c) Any provisions of the Rules or the Clearing House Rules to the contrary notwithstanding, in the event that any member becomes a debtor, and that at that time such member carries for a customer any Exchange futures contract in the current delivery month with respect to which the underlying physical commodity has not become a part of the debtor's estate on the date of the entry of the order for relief, and with respect to which:

(i) trading has ceased on the date of the entry of the order for relief; or (ii) notice of delivery has been tendered on or before the date of the entry of the order for relief; or

(iii) trading ceases before such futures contract can be liquidated by the trustee of the debtor's estate;

then, any customer for whose account such member is holding any such futures contract shall make delivery of and receive payment for, or receive delivery of and make payment for, the physical commodity as required to fulfill such contract directly between the customer and the opposite clearing member identified by the Clearing House as the party to whom delivery should be made or from whom delivery should be taken by such customer, through and in accordance with the bylaws of the Clearing House, and such opposite clearing member shall receive delivery of and make payment for, or make delivery of and receive payment for, such commodity in accordance with the bylaws of the Clearing House; provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall prevent such customer and such opposite clearing member from settling any such contract on such terms as may be mutually agreed upon.

(d) The making or taking of delivery or payment with respect to any futures contract in accordance with paragraph (c) shall discharge in full the obligations of such customer and such opposite clearing member to the debtor and to every other person with respect thereto, but shall not discharge the debtor from any of its obligations with respect to such contract except to the extent that such delivery or payment is made.

(e) Nothing contained in this Regulation shall relieve any customer of its obligation to make or take delivery under any Exchange futures contract for the sole reason that delivery must be made to or taken from a commodity broker which is a debtor. (08/01/94)

273.00 Investigation - Every person suspended under the provisions of Rule 270.00 shall immediately afford every facility required by the Office of Investigations and Audits for the investigation of his affairs, and shall, after the announcement of his suspension, file with the Office of Investigations and Audits a written statement covering all information required by the Office of Investigations and Audits, including a complete list of his creditors and amount owing to each. 122 (08/01/94)

When this is not practicable, the Committee shall then take such other action as will in its judgment assist in securing a prompt, efficient, and economic administration of the member's assets for the bankrupt, as well as for the members of the Association and customers of such bankrupt, who are creditors. Nothing herein, however, shall authorize such Committee to bind the Association to any pecuniary obligation. 1815 (08/01/94)

274.00 Reinstatement - When a person suspended under the provisions of this Chapter applies for reinstatement, the Secretary shall make notice thereof available to the membership, and shall post notice thereof upon the bulletin board at least fifteen days prior to the consideration by the Board of such application. In addition, a firm shall be permitted to assign any GIM Membership Interest it owns to two consecutive nominees following the nominee who was assigned such Membership Interest as of January 21, 1986. However, each firm-owned GIM Membership Interest covered by this exception may only be sold as a one-half participation in an Associate Membership.

However, any individual whose status as a GIM Membership Interest holder or nominee automatically ceases pursuant to Rule 296.00 on the effective date of such Rule shall have 60 days thereafter in which to acquire an Associate Membership and become an Associate Member without applying for election to Associate Membership status. Any individual required to apply for Associate Membership status under this regulation and who is elected to such status must acquire an Associate Membership within 60 days of notification of such election or within such extension of this period as may be granted by the Board of Directors. If he is unable to do so, he must, at his option, either re-apply for Associate Membership status or take all necessary steps to effect a sale of the Associate Membership fractional participations he has acquired within 30 days of the end of the period specified in the preceding sentence. (08/01/94)

296.02 Registration of New Associate Memberships - Any person or firm which acquires and accumulates any combination of fractional participations in Associate Memberships that equals one complete Associate Membership may surrender such fractional participations to the Department of Member Services for one Associate Membership, subject to meeting all qualifications required by the Rules and Regulations relating to membership. Once two or more fractional participations have been combined, they may not be separated. (08/01/94)

296.03 Additional Associate Membership Participations or GIM Membership Interests - The Board of Directors may at any time at its discretion create additional fractional participations in Associate Memberships but only if necessary to facilitate the combination of existing fractional participations into Associate Memberships. The Board of Directors may also create new GIM Membership Interests to sell to individuals who applied for approval as GIM Membership Interest holders prior to January 21, 1986, and/or to individuals whose bids to purchase GIM Membership Interests were on file with the Association as of January 21, 1986. Such new GIM Membership Interests shall be created and sold only if, in the judgement of the Board, GIM Membership Interests are not otherwise available to such individuals through bona fide purchases in the Exchange's bid/ask market. (08/01/94)

296.04 Waiver of Transfer and Registration Fees - No fees shall be charged for transfers of fractional participations in Associate Memberships effected through the Exchange's bid/ask market or for registrations of new Associate Memberships acquired by accumulation of fractional participations under Regulation 296.02. (08/01/94)

296.05 Dues and Assessments - Associate Members shall pay full dues, fees and assessments as provided for by the Association. However, each person or firm who acquires an Associate Membership by the accumulation and surrender of fractional participations pursuant to Regulation 296.02 shall be exempted from member dues assessed on such Associate Membership pursuant to Rule 240.00 for a period of twelve (12) consecutive calendar quarters beginning with the quarter following the quarter in which the fractional participations for such Associate Membership are surrendered. Only the original owner of each newly created Associate Membership shall be eligible for the dues waiver referenced herein. (08/01/94)

296.06 Claims Procedures Regarding Associate Membership Participations - The proceeds of Associate Membership fractional participation sales, and the deposit required for Associate Membership fractional participations transferred pursuant to Regulations 249.01(d) and 296.01, shall be deemed proceeds of membership for purposes of Rule 252.00. Claims may be filed against such proceeds in the same manner and subject to the same terms as set forth in Rule 253.00 and Regulation 249.01(e) with respect to the filing of claims against the proceeds of the sale or transfer of a membership or membership interest. The Secretary shall provide notice of sales or transfers of Associate Membership fractional participations in the same manner as he provides notice pursuant to Regulation 249.01(e) of sales or transfers of memberships and membership interests.

Interpretation - The Board of Directors adopted the following on April 17, 1990 as a formal rule interpretation which confirms established Exchange practice:

The foregoing shall not affect the existing Exchange provisions for the delegation, member firm transfer, or intra-family transfer of Full Memberships." (08/01/94)

When such non-member employees are Associated Persons, such authorization may be granted for a specific period not to exceed three business days but only if the employer demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Floor Conduct Committee, or designated staff pursuant to delegated authority, that it temporarily lacks enough available Floor Clerks to meet its business needs. No particular employee can be so authorized for more than three days in any calendar month. Applicants for membership may be issued special badges by the Exchange Services Department for a period of ten business days. (08/01/94)

301.08 Trainee Non-Members - The Floor Conduct Committee, or designated Exchange staff pursuant to delegated authority, shall, upon written request signed by a member and directed to the Secretary, issue badges to trainee non-member employees of members or member firms, authorizing admission of such trainees to the Exchange Hall. Such authorization shall be limited to a thirty-day period as to any trainee and no member or member firm shall be allowed to have more than one trainee on the Exchange Floor at any one time. Trainees may perform the duties of a "Floor Clerk" as defined in Regulation 301.05. The member or member firm which is the employer of the trainee shall be responsible for his conduct while he is on the Floor. The Member Firm Staff Services Department shall maintain proper records of these authorizations. No member or member firm shall use the provisions of this Regulation to avoid the purchase of a membership. 1377 (08/01/94)

301.10 Twenty-Five Year Member - When a member who has been a member for twenty-five years or more transfers his Membership privilege or delegates the rights and privileges of his Membership under Rule 221.00, said member shall be issued an Honorary Membership Badge by the Secretary's Office which will entitle the former member to access to the Trading Floor (with the exception of the Trading Pits), and to remain on the Association's mailing lists. 1379 (11/01/94)

301.11 AP - With the prior approval of the Floor Conduct Committee, or designated Exchange staff pursuant to delegated authority, an Associated Person and an applicant for membership may be admitted to the Floor of the Exchange for the limited purpose of observing various Floor activities of the members and other privileged non-members who have been allowed access to the Floor. Such admittance shall be limited to a period of two weeks (ten business days). 1380 (08/01/94)

301.12 Membership Floor Access Badges - Any member, membership interest holder or delegate whose floor access trading privileges have been revoked, suspended or lawfully discontinued for any reason must return the floor access membership badge and access card to the Member Services and Member Firm Staff Services Department within 30 days from the termination of floor access privileges. Any failure to comply with this Regulation will be referred to the Floor Conduct Committee.

Willful possession of a membership floor access badge or access cards by anyone not then entitled to the privileges of that membership shall be an act detrimental to the Association. (09/01/00)

305.00 Exchange Floor Fines - (See 519.00) and (See 520.00A) (08/01/94)

310.00 Time and Place for Trading - Dealings upon the Exchange shall be limited to the hours during which the Exchange is open for the transaction of business, and no member shall make any transaction in securities with another member except at the post designated for the particular security in which the transaction is made and no member shall make any transaction for future delivery of a commodity except in the pit assigned to trading in such commodity, except as provided in Regulations 444.01, 444.03, and Chapter 9B. No member shall make, in the rooms of the Association, a transaction with a non-member, in any commodity or in any security admitted to dealing on the Exchange; but this Regulation shall not apply to transactions with an employee of the Association or of the Clearing House engaged in carrying out arrangements approved by the Regulatory Compliance Committee to facilitate the borrowing and lending of money. 258 (11/01/94)

310.01 Access to Trading Pit - Trading in any commodity or option thereon shall be limited to an area specified by the Exchange Services Department. Non-members shall not be authorized to enter the trading areas except as otherwise provided in the Rules and Regulations. (08/01/94)

311.00 Hours for Trading - (See 1007.00) (08/01/94)

311.00A Hours for Trading - Your Rules and Floor Committees have given careful consideration to reports of trading outside of the hours prescribed and recommend enforcement of Rule 1007.00. We feel that disciplinary action is warranted on any infractions.

Strict observance of the above requires that after the closing bell no orders should be transmitted to the Floor, nor should any orders be accepted by brokers for filling, nor should any public wire orders be sent to the pit,-all such being reported back to senders 'received too late, market closed.'

All members should caution clients who want orders filled on or near the close to enter such orders to be filled 'about the close,' so that the broker may handle them properly. On the last trading day of a current month it is essential that all orders to close contracts reach the traders in sufficient time to permit filling without congestion.

Members who trade the options underlying the Soybean Meal, Soybean Oil, Oat and Silver Futures markets may enter futures orders during the respective futures markets' "closing call rotations" providing that the futures orders are entered for the purpose of hedging an option position. 13R (04/01/99)

312.01 Holidays - The following days are declared to be holidays, to wit: New Year's Day (January 1), Martin Luther King, Jr. Day (3rd Monday in January), Washington's Birthday (3rd Monday in February), Good Friday, Memorial Day (last Monday in May), Independence Day (July 4), Labor Day (1st Monday in September), Thanksgiving Day (4th Thursday in November) and Christmas Day (December 25).

When any such holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday next following shall be considered such holiday. When any such holidays fall on Saturday, the Friday immediately preceding shall be considered such holiday. 1937 (12/01/99)

313.00 Sundays or Holidays - When a contract in commodities matures on Sunday, or on a holiday, performance thereof shall be made on the preceding business day. 256 (08/01/94)

320.02 Wire and Other Connections - The privilege of telephonic or other wire connection between the office of a member and the Exchange shall not be enjoyed as a right of the member, but shall rest in the discretion of the Exchange.

The Exchange, in its discretion may grant or withhold such privilege from a member, and, in its discretion, without being obliged to assign any reason or cause for its action, may disconnect or cause to be disconnected any apparatus or means for such communication or may deprive any member of the privilege of using any public telephone or means of communication installed by the Exchange for the use of members. This Regulation shall not apply to wire or other connections relating to the Exchange's e-cbot system. 1031 (09/01/00)

320.03 Decisions of Exchange - Every decision of the Exchange, whereby a member is deprived of any such privilege, shall be immediately posted upon the bulletin board in the Exchange, and every member shall be deemed to have notice thereof.

No member shall, after such notice shall have been posted directly or indirectly furnish to the member named therein any facilities for communication between the office of the member so named and the Floor of the Exchange or between the office of the member so named and the office of any other member. 1032 (10/01/94)

320.04 Consent Required for Wires - No member shall establish or maintain wire connection of any description whatsoever or permit wireless communication between his office and the office of any nonmember corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking or brokerage business, without having first obtained the approval of the Exchange therefor.

The applications for such connections or means of communication shall be in a form prescribed by the Exchange.

The use of public telephone or telegraph service in such manner as to amount to private connection shall be deemed to be within this Regulation. 1033 (08/01/94)

320.05 Registration with Exchange - Every such means of communication shall be registered with the Exchange, together with the telegraphic, telephonic, or wireless calls used in connection therewith; the Exchange may make such requirements governing said matters as it shall deem necessary or desirable. 1034 (08/01/94)

320.06 Notice of Discontinuance of Communications - Notice of the discontinuance of any such means of communication shall be promptly given to the Exchange; and the Exchange shall have power, at any time in its discretion, to order any such means of communication discontinued.

No such communication shall be other than by means of a wire or wireless system approved by the Exchange. 1035 (08/01/94)

320.07A Telephones - Exchange policy permits direct telephone communications to the Trading Floor from the members or member firms to the table or booth of a clearing member on the Trading Floor. 34R (08/01/94)

320.08 Conduct of Private Offices - The Exchange is empowered to examine into the conduct of all private offices or places of business receiving the continuous market quotations of the Association, and, in such places where the Exchange shall deem the continuance of such service detrimental to the best interests of this Association, the Exchange shall forthwith order a discontinuance of the quotations and shall report the facts immediately to the Finance Committee, which shall take whatever further action is necessary to uphold the good name and dignity of this Association. 1040 (08/01/94)

320.09 Telephone Wires and Television - No member of this Association shall, by messenger, signal, telephone, telegraph, or any other means whatsoever, convey or transmit continuously the market quotations from the Floor of the Exchange to any person, firm, or corporation located off the Floor of the Exchange, except with the permission and pursuant to the requirements of the Exchange. This does not prohibit ordinary conversation where dissemination of quotations is not contemplated.

Such permission for telephone wires, if granted, shall be subject to charges as prescribed by Regulation 320.13. Such permission for closed-circuit television, if granted, shall be subject to charges as may be prescribed by the Finance Committee. 1041 (08/01/94)

320.12 Radio Broadcasting -

(a) No member, firm, corporation or employee thereof shall transmit, by any kind of radio service, any market quotations, either securities, futures, cash grain on spot or to arrive, or any market information or gossip without the approval of the Exchange.

(b) No quotations except those prevailing at the opening of the market; and at each thirty minutes thereafter; and at the close of the market, may be used for broadcasting.

(c) Radio broadcasting stations must name the periods at which the quotations prevailed and designate them as furnished by the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago.

(d) No member, firm, corporation, or employee thereof shall in any manner claim or be given credit for furnishing information for radio service, except as provided in section (c) of this Regulation.

(e) Upon application, the Exchange may grant permission to individuals, firms, corporations, or employees thereof, to furnish the quotations of this Association to radio stations. The name of the individual, firm, corporation, or employees thereof, may be mentioned at the beginning and at the end of each period at which quotations are broadcast. In case there is more than one request to furnish this service at any location, the Exchange may divide the time equally upon a yearly basis. 1044 (08/01/94)

320.13 Commodity and Commodity Option Quotations - The transmission by private wire or other means of market quotations of any commodity or commodity option made on the Exchange shall be subject to the approval and control of the Exchange. Such quotations shall include all bids, asks, and market prices of any commodity or commodity option traded on the Exchange each business day between the opening of trading in such commodity or option and until thirty minutes after the close of such trading. Such quotations constitute valuable property of the Board of Trade which are not within the public domain. The transmission and receipt of such quotations shall be subject to such conditions, including the payment of applicable fees, as the Exchange shall impose. Failure to comply with such conditions shall subject any member receiving or distributing such quotations to disciplinary action including suspension from the Association. (08/01/94)

320.14 Transactions Made at other than Current Market - Transactions made at a price above that at which the same futures contract or options series is offered, or below that at which such futures or options contract is bid, are not made at the current market price for such futures or options contracts and shall be disallowed by the action of any two members of the relevant Pit Committee. If so disallowed, such transactions shall not be reported or recorded by the Exchange or, if already reported, shall be cancelled. A determination on whether a price(s) should be disallowed must be made within 10 minutes after the Pit Committee has been notified that the price has been called into question, otherwise the quote(s) in question must stand. A determination pursuant to this Regulation to disallow a transaction shall be final. (05/01/97)

320.15 Market Quotations - The reporter in each pit shall be the judge of what constitutes a proper range of quotations to be sent out, subject to the supervision of the Pit Committee in the respective pits.

Quotations sent out must be based on transactions made in the open market. The term "open market" means a bid or an offer openly and audibly made by a public outcry and in such a manner as to be open to all members in the pit at the time.

It is not permissible for members to reform a trade by changing the price at which orders have been filled, nor to report as filled orders that have not been filled. Any quotations based on a transaction made in the open market, already distributed or sent out over the wire, shall not be cancelled except as provided by Regulations 320.17, 320.18 and 320.14. (08/01/94)

320.16 Fast Quotations - Whenever price fluctuations in the pit(s) are rapid and the volume of business is large, the pit reporter, upon authorization of the Pit Committee Chairman or his designated representative from the Pit Committee, shall cause the "FAST" symbol to be used in conjunction with all Exchange quotation displays and records. (The "FAST" symbol shall be abbreviated "F" when used on Exchange quotation and display devices.) The Pit Committee shall determine at what time "FAST" market conditions began and terminated. When a market is designated "FAST", the Pit Reporter shall endeavor to activate a "FAST" market indicator clearly visible to the entire trading floor.

All prices in the range between those quoted immediately prior to and immediately following the "FAST" market designation are considered officially quoted whether or not such prices actually appear as trades on Exchange quotation displays and records. There shall be no discontinuances.

The consequence of "FAST" market conditions is that a penetrated limit order may not be able to be executed at the specified limit price.

In the event that a dispute arises concerning the execution of an order, the fact that a market was designated "FAST" shall constitute evidence that market conditions were rapid and volatile. A "FAST" designation does not nullify or reduce the obligations of the floor broker to execute orders with due diligence according to the terms of the order. Trading activities which violate the Rules and Regulations of the Exchange remain violations under "FAST" market conditions. (08/01/94)

320.17 Authority of Pit Committees over Quotation Changes and Insertions -

(a) The Pit Committee Chairmen, Vice Chairmen or their Pit Committee designees may change an opening range only within 30 minutes after the opening of the commodity.

(b) The Pit Committee Chairmen, Vice Chairmen or their Pit Committee designees may change a closing range only within 15 minutes after the closing of the commodity.

(c) The Pit Committee Chairmen, Vice Chairmen or their Pit Committee designees may authorize the insertion of a quotation which affects a high or low at any time prior to 15 minutes after the closing of the commodity.

(d) The Pit Committee Chairmen, Vice Chairmen or their Pit Committee designees may authorize any quotation change or insertion which does not affect an open, high, low or close at any time prior to the opening of the commodity on the next business day.

No Pit Committee member may authorize any quotation change, insertion or cancellation, if such individual has a personal or financial interest in such change, insertion or cancellation.

All quotation changes, insertions, or cancellations must be authorized by at least two Pit Committee members. However, if there is only one Pit Committee member who does not have a personal or financial interest in a change, insertion or cancellation, that one Pit Committee member may authorize such change, insertion or cancellation.

When a Pit Committee member is requested to authorize a quotation change, insertion or cancellation, the relevant pit shall be notified of such request. 1037 (09/01/96)

320.17A Authority of Pit Committees over Quotation Changes and Insertions - Silver:

In respect to Quotation Changes and Insertions under Regulation 320.17 the Pit Committee may change a closing range only within 20 minutes after the close of Silver and may authorize the insertion of a quotation which affects a high and low at any time prior to 20 minutes after the close of Silver. (08/01/94)

320.17B Authority of Pit Committees over Quotation Changes and Insertions - Futures Options (Puts and Calls) - In respect to Quotation Changes and Insertions under Regulation 320.17, the Pit Committee may change a closing range only within 30 minutes after the close of each Futures Options contract (Puts and Calls) and may authorize the insertion of a quotation which affects a high and low at any time prior to 30 minutes after the close of each Futures Options contract (Puts and Calls). (08/01/94)

320.18 Authority of the Market Report Department and the Regulatory Compliance Committee over Quotation Changes and Insertions -

(a) The Market Report Department may review and authorize any request for a quotation change or insertion which does not affect an open, high, low or close and which was not reviewed by the Pit Committee.

(b) The Market Report Department may review and make recommendations to the Regulatory Compliance Committee on all requests for quotation changes and insertions which affect an open, high, low or close and are not encompassed by Regulation 320.17. The final disposition of such requests will be left to the Regulatory Compliance Committee. 1038 (09/01/94)

320.19 Opening and Closing Orders - For open outcry Regular Trading Hours, orders entered prior to or on the opening (or resumption) of the market, as applicable and orders effected by such opening (or resumption) orders, as applicable shall not be required to be executed at a specified price due to the unique and rapid market conditions existing during an opening or a resumption. Similarly, orders entered for execution on the close of the market and orders effected by such closing orders shall not be required to be executed at a specific price due to the unique and rapid market conditions existing during a close.

If stop orders are elected within the opening or resumption range, floor brokers who are unable to execute those orders within the opening or resumption range, as applicable, while diligently acting in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Association, shall not be held liable. Stop orders elected during the opening (or resumption) range automatically become market orders and should be executed at the prevailing market, which may or may not be within the opening (or resumption) range. If stop orders are elected within the closing range, floor brokers who are unable to execute such orders, while diligently acting in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Association, shall not be held liable. 330.00 Floor Brokers - A member, who executes orders for another member and who is not a member of the Clearing House, must immediately give up the name of a clearing member. A floor broker trading for a member shall be liable as principal for the performance of the contract except that in the case of commodities his liability shall terminate when the transaction is accepted by the principal. 200 (08/01/94)

330.00A Brokers and Clearing Members - Trades between members of the Clearing House must be confirmed within one hour by depositing at the office of the Clearing House a check slip or memorandum giving the name of the buyer and seller, the commodity sold, the amount thereof, the delivery month, and the purchase price. 4R (08/01/94)

330.01 Floor Broker and Floor Trader Registration - No member may execute any trade on the floor of the Exchange for any other person unless the member is registered or has been granted a temporary license as a floor broker, nor may a member execute any trades on the floor of the Exchange for his or her own account unless the member is registered or has been granted a temporary license as a floor trader, or has been granted a temporary license as a floor broker to act as a floor trader, in accordance with Section 4f of the Commodity Exchange Act and Commodity Futures Trading Commission Regulations 3.11 and 3.40, and such temporary license or registration has not been terminated, revoked or withdrawn.

A floor broker or floor trader shall be prohibited from engaging in any activities requiring registration, or from representing himself to be registered or the representative or agent of any registrant, during the period of any suspension of registration or membership privileges or the denial of floor access. Willful failure to comply with this Regulation may be deemed an act detrimental to the interest of the Association. (08/01/94)

330.02 Maintenance of Floor Broker and Floor Trader Registration - Each member registered as a floor broker or floor trader must promptly submit to the Exchange any changes in the information contained in such member's registration application (Form 8-R) or any supplement thereto. All floor brokers and floor traders must review their registration information every three years in accordance with Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC") Regulation 3.11(d). Additionally, the Exchange shall periodically require such members to confirm that their floor broker registration applications contain complete and accurate information.

Requests for withdrawal of floor broker or floor trader registration must be made on Form 8-W and filed with the National Futures Association and the Association in accordance with CFTC Regulation 3.33.

All registered floor brokers and floor traders must comply with Appendix B to Part 3 of the CFTC's Regulations - Statement of Acceptable Practices with respect to Ethics Training. In this regard, all registered floor brokers and floor traders shall become familiar with, and keep abreast of changes to, the Rule and Regulations of the exchange, rule interpretations issued by the Exchange, and relevant provisions of the Commodity Exchange Act and CFTC Regulations. (12/01/01)

330.03 Broker Associations - Two or more Exchange members with floor trading privileges, of whom at least one is acting as a floor broker, shall be required to register with the Exchange as a Broker Association, within ten days after establishment of the Broker Association, if they: (1) engage in floor brokerage activity on behalf of the same employer, (2) have an employer and employee relationship which relates to floor brokerage activity, (3) share profits and losses associated with their brokerage or trading activity, or (4) regularly share a deck of orders.

The Broker Association shall file its registration statement in a form provided by the Exchange. Such registration statement shall specifically disclose whether the members of the broker association share commissions, profits, losses or expenses associated with their brokerage or trading activity with each other or with any other individual or entity. In addition, such registration statement shall disclose whether or not the members of the broker association have any other business relationships with one another, whether related or unrelated to Exchange business. Members of the broker association shall be required to provide information regarding such other business relationships, including books and records relating to such businesses, upon the request of OIA. Any registration information provided to the Exchange which becomes deficient or inaccurate must be updated or corrected promptly.

A member of a Broker Association shall be prohibited from receiving or executing an order unless the Broker Association is registered with the Exchange.

Members of a broker association may not share profits or losses associated with their personal trading activity by direct or indirect means.

No registered broker association or member thereof shall permit a non-member or non-member firm to have any direct or indirect profit or ownership interest in a registered broker association. Moreover, no registered broker association or member thereof shall permit a member who is not involved in the pre-execution or execution of customer orders to have any direct or indirect profit or ownership interest in a registered broker association.

The Board may establish limits on the percentage of trading between a member of a broker association and (1) other members of broker associations with which he is affiliated; or (2) members of other broker associations which are positioned contiguously to his broker association in the trading pit.

Any such limits established by the Board shall take account of liquidity and such other conditions, from contract to contract, and shall only apply to the most active month or months of any contract. Compliance shall be measured separately for each full calendar month.

The Regulatory Compliance Committee may grant exceptions to the percentage limits on intra-association or contiguous association trading in circumstances where a broker association can demonstrate that compliance with the limits may reduce liquidity or impede the creation of new business in the affected market. (04/01/98)

330.04 Registration of Members Trading in U.S. Treasury Bond Futures - Each Exchange member with floor trading privileges who customarily stands on the top step of the U.S. Treasury Bond futures pit shall be required to register with the Exchange, identifying his affiliation, location and occupation or duties. 331.01 Price of Execution Binding - The price at which an order for commodities is executed on the Exchange shall be binding notwithstanding the fact that an erroneous report in respect thereto may have been rendered. A member shall not guarantee the price of execution to any customer, but a floor broker's or clearing firm's error in handling a customer order may be resolved by a monetary adjustment in accordance with Regulation 350.04. 1841 (09/01/94)

331.01a Acceptable Orders - Market orders to buy or sell, closing orders to buy or sell, spread orders, straight limit orders to buy or sell, and straight stop orders to buy or sell shall be permitted during the last day of trading in an expiring future. Time orders, contingency orders of all kinds, market on close intermonth spread orders involving an expiring future and cancellations that reach the Trading Floor after 11:45 a.m. on the last day of trading in an expiring future may involve extraordinary problems and hence will be accepted solely at the risk of the customer. This Regulation shall only apply to open outcry Regular Trading hours. 32R (09/01/98)

331.02 Acceptable Orders - The following orders are acceptable for execution in this market.

(1). Market order to buy or sell - A market order is an order to buy or sell a stated amount of commodity futures contracts at the best price obtainable.

(2). Closing orders to buy or sell - A closing order to buy or sell is a market order which is to be executed at or as near the close as practicable or on the closing call in a call market.

(4). Stop order to buy or sell - A stop order to buy becomes a market order when the stop price is bid or a transaction in the commodity futures contracts occurs at or above the stop price. A stop order to sell becomes a market order when the stop price is offered or a transaction in the commodity futures contract occurs at or below the stop price.

(5). Stop limit order to buy or sell (where the price of the limit is the same as the stop price only) - A stop limit order to sell becomes a limit order executable at the limit price or at a better price, if obtainable when a transaction in the commodity futures contract is offered or occurs at or below the stop price. A stop limit order to buy becomes a limit order executable at the limit price or at a better price, if obtainable when a transaction in the commodity futures contract is bid or occurs at or above the stop price.

(6). DRT ("Disregard Tape" or "Not Held") Order - An order giving the floor broker complete discretion over price and time in execution of a trade, including discretion to execute all, some or none of the order. It is understood the floor broker accepts such an order solely at the risk of the customer on a "not held" basis.

(7). All-Or-None order to buy or sell - An order to be executed only for its entire quantity at a single price and with a size at or above a predetermined threshold. Such orders must be executed in accordance with Regulation 331.03.

331.03 All-Or-None Transactions - Board of Directors shall determine the minimum thresholds for and the commodities in which All-Or-None transactions shall be permitted. The following provisions shall apply to All-Or-None trading:

(a) A member may request an All-Or-None bid and/or offer for a specified quantity at or in excess of the applicable minimum threshold designated. The request shall be made during the hours of regular trading in the appropriate trading area.

(b) A member may respond by quoting an All-Or-None bid or offer price. A bid or offer in response to an All-Or-None request shall be made only when it is the best bid or offer in response to such request, but such price need not be in line with the bids and offers currently being quoted in the regular market.

(c) A member shall not execute any orders by means of an All-Or-None transaction unless the order includes specific instructions to execute an All-Or-None transaction or the All-Or-None bid offer is the best price available to satisfy the terms of the order.

(d) An All-Or-None bid or offer may only be accepted by a single member for the total amount offered or bid. No partial fills are permitted.

(e) The price at which an All-Or-None transaction is bid, offered or executed will not elect conditional orders (e.g., limit orders, stop orders, etc.) in the regular market or otherwise affect such orders.

(f) All-Or-none transactions must be reported to the reporter in each pit who shall record the price quotes for All-Or-None transactions.

(g) A member who has received both buying and selling All-Or-None orders from different account owners for the same commodity and the same delivery month, or, for options, the same option, may execute such orders for and directly between such account owners provided that the member shall first bid and offer openly and competitively by open outcry at the same price, stating the number of contracts. If neither the bid nor the offer is accepted within a reasonable time, the orders may then be matched by the member in the presence of a member of the Pit Committee. The member making the trade shall clearly identify it on the order or other document used to record the trade, shall note thereon the time of execution to the nearest minute, and shall present such record to such member of the Pit Committee for verification and initialing. Each such transaction shall be recorded by such Pit Committee member on a cross-trade form that shall show the trade data and be made a matter of permanent record by the Exchange. (07/01/00)

331.04 Execution of Simultaneous Buy and Sell Orders for Different Account Owners - A member who has received both buying and selling orders from different account owners for the same commodity and the same delivery month or, for options, the same option, may execute such orders for and directly between such account owners provided that the member shall first bid and offer openly and competitively by open outcry at the same price, stating the number of contracts. If neither the bid nor the offer is accepted within a reasonable time, the orders may then be matched by the member in the presence of a member of the Pit Committee. If either the bid or the offer is accepted in part, the remainder of the orders may be matched pursuant to the requirements of this Regulation. The member making the trade shall clearly identify it on the order or other document used to record the trade, shall note thereon the time of execution to the nearest minute, and shall present such record to such member of the Pit Committee for verification and initialing.

Each such transaction shall be recorded by such Pit Committee member on a cross-trade form that shall show the trade data and be made a matter of permanent record by the Exchange. (07/01/2000)

332.00 Orders Must Be Executed in The Public Market - All orders received by any member of this Association, firm or corporation, doing business on Change, to buy or sell for future delivery any of the commodities dealt in upon the Floor of the Exchange (except when in exchange for cash property) must be executed competitively by open outcry in the open market in the Exchange Hall during the hours of regular trading and, except as specifically provided in Regulations 331.03, 331.04 and 350.10 under no circumstances shall any member, firm or corporation assume to have executed any of such orders or any portion thereof by acting as agent for both buyer and seller either directly or indirectly, in their own name or that of an employee, broker or other member of the Association; provided, that on transactions where brokers as agents for other members meet in the execution of orders in the open market and without prearrangement unintentionally consummate a contract for the one and same clearing member principal, such transactions shall not be considered in violation of this Rule. 202A (07/01/00)

The first time bracket in the trading session of each respective commodity will be less than 15 minutes, as determined by the Regulatory Compliance Committee for each particular contract, and will be designated by a "dollar" sign "$".

The last time bracket in the trading session of each respective commodity will be one minute or less, as determined by the Regulatory Compliance Committee for each particular contract, and will be designated by a "percent" sign "%"; provided however, that each respective contract market's close may be expanded or reduced by an amount of time which shall not exceed one minute due to unique market conditions on a particular trade date as determined in the discretion of each commodity's Pit Committee; any closing period other than that established by the Regulatory Compliance Committee shall be communicated to the market at least five minutes prior to the commencement of the revised close for that date.

The modified closing call in the trading session of each respective commodity will be designated by a "pound" sign "#".

If the member executing the trades does not submit a bracket designation to the clearing member, the clearing member shall enter "?" as the bracket designation when submitting the record of such transaction to the Clearing House. 1979 (09/01/94)

332.03 Lost Orders - Any broker who has reason to believe that an order has been lost or misplaced, shall immediately notify the Secretary of the Exchange, who shall thereupon have the matter investigated. (08/01/94)

332.04 Records of Floor Traders - Each member executing transactions on the Floor of the Exchange for his or her personal account [Type 1 trades as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.35(e)] must execute such transactions on the Floor of the Exchange using pre-printed sequentially pre-numbered trading cards. A new trading card must be used at the beginning of each time bracket as designated in Regulation 332.02.

Each member must record the transactions in exact chronological order of execution on sequential lines of the trading card (no lines may be skipped). Provided, however, that if lines remain after the last execution recorded on a trading card, the remaining lines must be marked through. All transactions which are recorded on a single trading card must be recorded on the same side of such trading card. No more than six transactions may be recorded on each trading card.

The trading cards must contain pre-printed member identification which will include, but will not be limited to, the trading acronym and the full name of the member. The trading cards must also contain preprinted bracket designations. (01/01/96)

332.041 Accountability of Trading Cards - Each member executing transactions on the Floor of the Exchange, and his clearing member(s), shall establish and maintain procedures that will assure the complete accountability of all pre-printed sequentially pre-numbered trading cards used by such member on a daily basis. Such trading cards must be distinguishable from other trading cards used by the member during a one week period. (08/01/94)

332.05 Card Collection - At such times and in such manner as designated by the Regulatory Compliance Committee, each member shall provide his clearing member with trading documents which are relied upon for transactional information necessary for submission to the clearing system containing those trades that have been executed thus far during that day. Trading documents include trading cards of members' personal and proprietary trades, trading cards of one member reflecting trades of another member (CTI 3 pursuant to CFTC Regulation 1.35 (e)) and floor order tickets.

A member may correct any errors on trading documents by crossing out erroneous information without obliterating or otherwise making illegible any of the originally recorded information. Alternatively, with regard to trading cards only, a member may correct any errors by rewriting the trading card. However, if a trading card is rewritten to correct erroneous information, the member shall provide his clearing member with the top ply of the original trading card, or in the absence of plies, the original trading card, which has been subsequently rewritten, in accordance with the same collection schedule designated by the Regulatory Compliance Committee for trading documents relied upon for clearing purposes.

Following the collection of the above-stated documents, the clearing member shall ensure that all such documents receive an Exchange-designated time stamp upon collection. (12/01/96)

332.06 Records of Proprietary Orders - Immediately upon receipt on the Floor of the Exchange of an order from a proprietary or house account (Type 2 trades as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.35(e)) each member or registered eligible business organization shall prepare a written record of the order. It shall be dated and time stamped when the order is received and shall show the account designation.

Such written records of proprietary orders of both clearing and non-clearing member firms need not be prepared if the members executing such transactions on the Floor of the Exchange are employed by such member firms and meet the recordkeeping requirements set forth in Regulation 332.04. However, such members must register with the Exchange and may not trade for their personal accounts. The executing members may record proprietary orders in this manner if they have initiated such orders, or if their employing firm has placed proprietary orders with them for execution. (10/01/00)

332.07 Accountability of Trading Documents - A member is accountable for all documents used in the execution of trades, including trading cards used for his personal account and other documents used by the member in the execution of trades made for others.

Floor brokers who record flashed order executions on broker cards must record on the broker card, the corresponding clearing firm number and order ticket number for every flashed order execution. In addition, floor brokers who record flashed order executions on broker cards must use non-erasable ink and may correct any errors by crossing out the erroneous information without obliterating or otherwise making illegible any of the originally recorded information. (12/01/96)

332.08 CTR Recordkeeping and Data Entry Requirements - Pursuant to Regulations 332.02, 332.04, 332.041, 332.05, 332.06 and 332.07 and 332.09, each member and member firm shall keep, in an accurate and complete manner, all books and records required to be made or maintained under the Rules and Regulations regarding submission of data to the Exchange or the Clearing Corporation for CTR purposes. All trade data submissions must be done in a correct and timely manner.

Trade data includes, but is not limited to, the time bracket, executing broker, opposite broker, transaction type, customer type indicator ("CTI") code [as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.35 (e)], trade timing and trade sequencing information.

If the member executing the trade does not provide the required data to the clearing member, the clearing member shall enter "?" as the designation when submitting the record of such transaction to the Clearing House. If the trade cannot clear without the specific information, it is the clearing firm's obligation to enter a "?" designation and to obtain promptly from the member who executed the trade the complete and correct information concerning the trade. (08/01/94)

332.09 Member Trading for Another Member on the Trading Floor -

(a) At the time of execution, every order, which is not reduced to writing, that a member receives from another member who is present on the trading floor must be recorded. The member executing the order must record the time of execution to the nearest minute on the trading card or other document used to record the trade and must return this card or document to the initiating member.

A member placing a verbal order, except for orders involving options-futures combinations and other spread trades where the initiating member personally executes at least one leg of the spread, shall simultaneously make a written record of the order and record the time of placement to the nearest minute. The order and the time shall be recorded on the member's trading card, which shall be in sequence with other trading cards used by that member. The trading card used to record the placement of the verbal order and the trading card or document used to record the execution of the order must be submitted together to the clearing member by the member placing the order or designated representative in accordance with the collection schedule established by the Exchange.

(b) Every written order that is initiated by a member for his own account while on the Exchange floor must be dated and time stamped upon transmission for execution, and when returned or, in the case of an arbitrage or a flashed transaction, when confirmed or cancelled. (08/01/94)

332.10 Prohibition of Trading or Placing Verbal or Flashed Orders from the Clerks Step in Financial Futures and Options Contracts - Any Exchange member who performs the functions of a floor clerk or broker assistant who also stands in the area designated for broker assistants in any financial future or option pit which is clearly defined as the area behind the top step is prohibited from placing verbal orders or flashed orders for his personal account while standing in that location. Such members are also prohibited from executing trades while standing in this location. For the purposes of this Regulation, trading is defined as executing trades for one's personal account, an account of another member or a customer. Such members may only enter orders for their personal accounts by placing such orders through the normal customer order flow process which requires that the member leave the pit to place an order. (07/01/97)

333.00 Trades of Non-Clearing Members -

(a) PRIMARY CLEARING MEMBER. Each non-clearing member who executes trades on Change must have one and only one Primary Clearing Member who will accept and clear the member's personal trades. A written authorization must be on file with the Member Services Department authorizing such non-clearing member, without qualification, to submit trades through such Primary Clearing Member, and designating such clearing member as the non-clearing member's Primary Clearing Member. Such Primary Clearing Member acts as Commission merchant for the non-clearing member. Such Primary Clearing Member, acting as commission merchant, shall be liable upon all trades made by the non-clearing member for the account of the Primary Clearing Member (unless authorization is revoked as provided in (c) below) and shall be a party to all disputes arising from trades between the authorized non-clearing member and another member or member firm made for the account of the Primary Clearing Member.

(b) OTHER CLEARING MEMBERS. A non-clearing member may have one or more clearing members, in addition to his Primary Clearing Member, through whom he may also clear his trades, provided he has written permission to do so from his Primary Clearing Member. However, as provided in Rule 252.00, such clearing member's claims shall be subordinated to the claims of the Primary Clearing Member(s). Such written permission of the Primary Clearing Member must be filed with the Member Services Department. Written authorization from the other clearing member, authorizing the nonclearing member to make trades on Change for the account of the clearing member, must also be filed with the Member Services Department. Thereafter, such clearing member acting as commission merchant, shall be liable upon all trades made by the non-clearing member for the account of the clearing member (unless authorization is revoked as provided for in (c) below) and shall be a party to all disputes arising from trades between the authorized non-clearing member and another member or member firm made for the account of the clearing member. Notwithstanding the above, a non-clearing member may only obtain clearing authorization for transactions entered through the e-cbot system from a single clearing member in accordance with 9B.08.

(c) REVOCATION OF AUTHORIZATION. A revocation of authorization, either by a Primary Clearing Member or another clearing member, must, to be effective, be in writing and be posted by the Secretary upon the bulletin board of the Exchange. A non-clearing member whose Primary Clearing Member has revoked authorization shall be denied access to the Floor until another clearing member has designated itself as the non-clearing member's Primary Clearing Member, pursuant to (a) above. Revocation of a non-clearing member's authorization to execute transactions through the e-cbot system shall be in accordance with 9B.08.

(d) The non-clearing member will not be permitted to submit a new primary clearing member authorization or clear trades through a new primary clearing member until such time as the former primary clearing member files a release with the Member Services Department. A primary clearing member who has revoked primary clearing member status to a non-clearing member must give the non-clearing member release upon the non-clearing member's request when the non-clearing member has obtained a new primary clearing member unless (1) the non-clearing member has current debts related to the conduct of business as a broker, trader or commission merchant at the primary clearing member equal to or greater than the amount specified in Rule 286.00; or (2) the clearing member is the guarantor under an existing valid guarantee of a loan which had been made to the non-clearing member exclusively for the purpose of financing the purchase of the non-clearing member's membership, such guarantee in an amount equal to or greater than the amount specified in Rule 286.00.

(e) PRIORITY OF DEBTS FOR PURPOSES OF RULE 252.00. Upon transfer of the non-clearing member's membership, any indebtedness owed to a former Primary Clearing Member at the time of revocation which was incurred subsequent to authorization and which continues to be owed such former Primary Clearing Member(s) shall be paid in the chronological order of revocation (oldest debt first), in the manner and to the extent allowed under Rule 252.00. 204 (09/01/00)

333.01 Error Accounts -

(a) Each non-clearing member who acts as a floor broker or is registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission or a registered futures association as a floor broker (i) shall maintain a personal account with his Primary Clearing Member into which he places brokerage errors; (ii) may maintain personal error accounts at one or more secondary clearing members, in addition to his Primary Clearing Member, provided he has written permission to do so from his Primary Clearing Member on file with Member Services Department.

(b) Each clearing member who carries an error account agrees to accept and clear the broker's trades involving brokerage errors. A written authorization must be filed with the Member Services Department authorizing the broker, without qualification, to submit trades involving brokerage errors through such clearing member. Such clearing member shall be liable upon all trades involving brokerage errors that are submitted to the error account (unless authorization is revoked as provided herein) and shall be a party to all disputes involving trades between the broker, in his capacity as a broker, and another member or member firm that may ultimately be submitted to the error account. Revocation of authorization granted pursuant to this Regulation must be filed in writing with the Member Services Department and will become effective when written notice thereof is posted on the Exchange bulletin board by the Secretary. (08/01/94)

333.02 Primary Clearing Members' Membership File Review - Before a clearing member grants Primary Clearing Member authorization to any individual pursuant to Rule 333.00 a duly authorized representative of such clearing member must:

a) review such individual's membership file as maintained by the Association; and

b) confirm, in writing, to the Department of Member Services of the Association, that this review was conducted.

The written confirmation referenced above will be on a form prescribed by the Association and will be retained by the Association in the applicable individual membership file. (08/01/94)

333.03 Funds in Trading Accounts Carried by Clearing Members - The following shall apply to trading accounts which are carried for non-clearing members by clearing members pursuant to Rule 333.00:

(a) If a non-clearing member trades in excess of written limits prescribed by the carrying clearing member, and/or if the non-clearing member is alleged to have engaged in reckless and unbusinesslike dealing inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade, the disposition of any and all funds in the applicable trading accounts(s) may be suspended by the carrying clearing member, or by the Association through the Board of Directors, Executive Committee, Floor Governors Committee or Arbitration Executive Committee pending a determination by the Arbitration Committee regarding the appropriateness of the non-clearing member's conduct.

Any Arbitration Committee decision to release trading account funds to the non-clearing member shall include the payment of interest by the clearing member to the non-clearing member as determined by the Arbitration Committee.

(b) Either the carrying clearing member or the Association may direct that the disposition of trading account funds be suspended pursuant to subparagraph a) of this regulation. However, if such suspension is initiated by the clearing member the suspension will be subject to review within one business day by the Board or one of the Committees designated in paragraph (a). The purpose of this review will be determine if sufficient grounds exist to warrant continuation of the suspension pending a final determination by the Arbitration Committee. Association proceedings in this regard will be conducted in accordance with Regulation 540.60 "Procedures for Member Responsibility Actions". (05/01/94)

334.00 Trades of Non-Clearing Members - (See 431.00) (08/01/94)

335.00 Bids and Offers in Commodities Subject to First Acceptance - Any offer made on Change to buy or sell any commodity for future delivery is subject to immediate acceptance by any other member. All such offers shall be general offers and shall not be specified for acceptance by particular members. 254 (08/01/94)

336.00 Bids and Offers in Commodities Subject to Partial Acceptance - If an offer is made on Change (the Exchange) to buy or sell any specified quantity of any commodity for future delivery, such offer shall be deemed an offer to buy or sell all or any part of such specified quantity and, if not immediately accepted for the entire quantity, it may be accepted for a quantity less than specified. Orders or offers to buy or sell a specified quantity or none shall not be allowed, except as specifically provided in Regulation 331.03. 255 (07/01/00)

336.01 Guaranteeing Terms of Execution - Any member or member firm who receives an order to buy or sell a futures contract or option on a futures contract for execution on the Exchange is prohibited from directly or indirectly guaranteeing the execution of the order or any of its terms such as the quantity or price. A member may only report an execution that has occurred as a result of open outcry or has been effected through an Exchange approved automated order entry facility.

This regulation shall not be construed to prevent a member or member firm from assuming or sharing in the losses resulting from an error or mishandling of an order. (08/01/94)

337.01 Orders Involving Cancellations Accepted on a 'Not Held' Basis - All orders involving cancellations that reach the Trading Floor 10 minutes or less before the opening or resumption of the market, as applicable and all orders involving cancellations that reach the Trading Floor 10 minutes or less before the close of the market may involve extraordinary problems and hence will be accepted solely at the risk of the customer on a 'not held' basis.

All orders must be received by the floor broker within a reasonable time prior to the opening, the resumption or the close of the market, as applicable. Such other orders not received by the floor broker within a reasonable time prior to the opening, the resumption or the close of the market will be accepted solely at the risk of the customer on a 'not held' basis. 1847 (09/01/98)

350.00 Trade Checking Penalties - (See 563.00) (08/01/94)

350.01 Failure to Check Trades - If any member, firm or corporation is unable with diligent effort to check any future delivery transaction made with another member, firm or corporation, then such transaction shall be closed out for the account of whom it may concern by the member, firm or corporation claiming the contract at the earliest reasonable opportunity in order to establish any claim for loss because of such failure to check by the other party to the contract. 1811 (08/01/94)

350.02 Responsibility For Customer Orders - A floor broker or clearing member shall exercise due diligence in the handling and execution of customer orders. The Exchange's Arbitration Committee is authorized to determine whether a broker or clearing firm fulfilled their obligations and whether an adjustment is due to the customer. The Committee may consider the nature of the order and existing market conditions, including the existence of a "FAST" market, at the time the broker or clearing member acted or failed to act. However, a "FAST" designation does not nullify or reduce the obligations of the floor broker to execute orders with due diligence according to the terms of the order.

Except in instances where there has been a finding of willful or wanton misconduct, in which case the party found to have engaged in such conduct cannot avail itself of the protections in this provision, neither floor brokers nor member firms, or other persons acting as agents nor any of their officers, directors or employees, shall be liable for any loss, damage or cost (including attorney's fees and court costs), whether direct, indirect, special, incidental, consequential, lost profits or otherwise of any kind, regardless or whether any of them has been advised or is otherwise aware of the possibility of such damages, arising out of the use or performance of the CBOT's Electronic Order Routing System, any component(s) thereof, or any fault, failure, malfunction or other alleged defect in the Electronic Order Routing System, including any inability to enter or cancel orders, or any fault in delivery, delay, omission, suspension, inaccuracy or termination, or any other cause in connection with the furnishing, performance, maintenance, use of or inability to use all or any part of the Electronic Order Routing System, including but not limited to, any failure or delay in transmission of orders or loss of orders resulting from malfunction of the Electronic Order Routing System, disruption of common carrier lines, loss of power, acts or failures to act of any third party, natural disasters or any and all other causes.

The foregoing shall apply regardless of whether a claim arises in contract, tort, negligence, strict liability or otherwise. The foregoing limitations are cumulative and shall not limit or restrict the applicability or any other limitation or any rule, regulation or bylaw of the Exchange or the Clearing House. The foregoing shall not limit the liability of any floor broker or member firms, or other person acting as agent or any of their respective officers, directors or employees for any act, incident, or occurrence within their control.

If any of the foregoing limits on the liability of the floor brokers or member firms or other persons acting as agents or any of their officers, directors or employees should be deemed to be invalid, ineffective, or unenforceable and a customer sustains a loss, damage or cost (including attorney's fees and court costs) resulting from use of the Electronic Order Routing System, the entire liability of the floor brokers or member firms and their agents or any of their officers, directors or employees shall not exceed the brokerage commissions and any other charges actually paid by the customer.

Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions, this provision shall in no way limit the applicability of any provision of the Commodity Exchange Act, as amended, and Regulations, thereunder. (01/01/99)

350.03 Identification of Floor Trading Personnel and Floor Traders - Every member is required to wear an identification badge issued by the Association in a prominent position and in proper fashion to be admitted to the Trading Floor and must so wear the badge at all times while he is on the Trading Floor. Failure to wear a badge shall be considered an act detrimental to the welfare of the Association (Rule 504.00). 1955 (08/01/94)

350.04 Outtrades and Errors and Mishandling of Orders -

A. Outrades - If a floor broker discovers, either intraday or interday, that all or some portion of a customer order was executed but cannot be cleared, the broker shall do one of the following:

1. Re-execute the order in the market and adjust the customer by check if the re-execution price is worse than the original execution price. If the re-execution price is better than the original execution price, the customer is entitled to the better price.

2. Assign the opposite side of the portion that cannot be cleared to his or her error account and assign a fill to the customer at the execution price. The floor broker shall not liquidate the assigned position until at least ten minutes have elapsed after the execution of the order giving rise to the outtrade and, in any event, after the bracket period in which the outtrade arose has ended. These liquidation restrictions shall not apply to a liquidation during a Modified Closing Call. Any profits resulting from the liquidation of the assigned position belong to the floor broker, and may be retained or disbursed to whomever he chooses, in his discretion.

A floor broker may not use the assignment process to clear unfilled or underfilled orders, orders that were erroneously executed in the wrong contract month, strike price, put vs. call or side of the market, or price outtrades.

B. Errors and Mishandling of Orders - If a broker fails to execute an order in accordance with its instructions, or underbuys or undersells on an order, and the order, or the remainder of the order, is subsequently filled at a better price, then the customer is entitled to the better price. The customer is also entitled to an adjustment if he incurs a loss because of the delay in execution. However, if a broker overbuys or oversells on an order, the customer is not entitled to any of the excess.

A position that has been established in an erroneous or mishandled attempt to execute a customer order must be placed in the error account of the broker or firm responsible for the error or mishandling. When an order has been executed in the wrong contract month or strike price, and the erroneous transaction has been placed in the broker's or firm's error account, the error may be corrected by a spread transaction, in accordance with Regulation 352.01. Any profits resulting from the liquidation of the trades placed in a broker's or firm's error account belong to the relevant broker or firm, and may be retained or disbursed to whomever they choose at their discretion. (10/01/99)

350.05 Floor Practices - The following acts are detrimental to the welfare of the Association:

(a) for a floor broker to purchase any commodity for future delivery, purchase any call commodity option or sell any put commodity option for his own account, or for any account in which he has an interest, or for those accounts falling within the exception of paragraph (c) of this Regulation, while holding an order of another person for the purchase of any future, purchase of any call commodity option, or sale of any put commodity option, in the same commodity which is executable at the market price or at the price at which such purchase or sale can be made for the member's own account or the account in which he has an interest, or for those accounts falling within the exception of paragraph (c) of this Regulation.

(b) for a floor broker to sell any commodity for future delivery, sell any call commodity option or purchase any put commodity option for his own account, or for any account in which he had an interest, or for those accounts falling within the exception of paragraph (c) of this Regulation, while holding an order of another person for the sale of any future, sale of any call commodity option, or purchase of any put commodity option in the same commodity which is executable at the market price or at the price at which such sale or purchase can be made for the member's own account or the account in which he has an interest, or for those accounts falling within the exception of paragraph (c) of this Regulation;

(c) for a floor broker to execute a transaction in the trading pit for an account over which he has discretionary trading authority.

The above restriction shall not apply to:

1. transactions for another member of the Exchange;

2. transactions for members of the floor broker's family which include; spouse, parent, child, grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, or inlaw;

3. transactions for proprietary accounts of member firms.

(d) for a member to disclose at any time that he is holding an order of another person or to divulge any order revealed to him by reason of his relationship to such other person, except pursuant to paragraph (c) of this Regulation, in the legitimate course of business or at the request of an authorized representative of the Exchange or of the Commission; the mere statement of opinions or indications of the price at which a market may open or resume trading does not constitute a violation of the Association's Rules and Regulations; however, nothing herein shall alter or waive a member's responsibility to comply with existing provisions of the Commodity Exchange Act, Commission Rules, and the Rules and Regulations of the Association; furthermore, it shall be a violation of this Regulation for any individual to solicit or induce a member to disclose order information in a manner prohibited by this Regulation;

(e) for a member to take, directly or indirectly, the other side of any order of another person revealed to him by reason of his relationship to such other person, except with such other person's prior consent and in conformity with Exchange rules or except for transactions done in accordance with

Regulation 350.04 to resolve bonafide outtrades;

(f) for a member to make any purchase or sale which has been pre-arranged;

(g) for a member to withhold or withdraw from the market any order or part of an order of another person for the convenience of another member;

(h) for a member to execute any order after the closing bell is sounded except in a call market close;

(i) for a member to buy and sell as an accommodation at any time or, except as specifically provided in Regulations 331.03, 331.04 and 350.10, to use one order to fill another order, or any part thereof;

(j) for parties to a transaction to fail to properly notify the pit recorder of the price at which trades have been consummated;

(k) for a floor broker to allocate executions of orders in any manner other than an equitable manner.

(l) for a member to initiate during the same trading session a transaction for future delivery in a CBOE 50 or CBOE 250 Stock Index future(s) for his or her own account, or for any account in which he or she has an interest, or for the account of his or her family including spouse, parents, children, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces and in-laws, and to execute as a floor broker any order for future delivery in a CBOE 50 or CBOE 250 Stock Index future(s). 350.06 Give-Ups - A member must have prior permission from a clearing member to give-up its name for a trade executed on the Exchange. For give-up orders, the executing clearing member must first clear the trade and then transfer it in accordance with Regulation 444.01(f). A floor broker is prohibited from giving up in the pit a name other than the executing clearing member placing the order. Give-up orders are prohibited when used as a pricing mechanism in connection with cash market contracts. Pricing in connection with cash market contracts must be done only on a versus-cash basis pursuant to the requirements of Regulation 444.01. (11/01/97)

350.07 Checking and Recording Trades - Members must within fifteen minutes after each transaction confirm with the opposite member trader every execution of a futures transaction with respect to executing member, price, quantity, commodity, future and respective clearing members. Members must within fifteen minutes after each transaction confirm with the opposite member trader every execution of an options transaction with respect to executing member, premium, quantity, option series, and respective clearing members. Each record of transactions must show the relevant foregoing information and also must include and clearly identify the date and appropriate time bracket, and the opposite executing member.

In addition, each member who, on the Floor of the Exchange receives a customer's or options customer's order which is not in the form of a written record including the account identification, order number and date and time, to the nearest minute, such order was received on the floor of the Exchange, shall immediately upon receipt thereof prepare a written record of such order, including the account identification and order number, and shall record thereon the date and time, to the nearest minute, such order is received.

Such notice shall be given prior to the following day's Regular Trading Hours opening or resumption, as applicable. In the case of agricultural contracts, such notice shall be given no later than twenty minutes prior to the following day's opening or resumption, as applicable.

The opening range or resumption range, as applicable, of the following day's Regular Trading Hours market shall be the limit of liability as a result of an unchecked trade. (09/01/98)

350.10 Exemption for Certain Joint Venture Products - Notwithstanding any other provisions of these Rules and Regulations, a member who simultaneously holds orders on behalf of different principals to buy and sell any of the inter-regulatory or intermarket spreads designated below, may execute such spread orders for and directly between principals; provided that the member shall first offer such spread orders competitively by open outcry in the open market (a) by both bidding and offering at the same price, and neither such bid nor offer is accepted or (b) by bidding and offering to a point where such offer is higher than such bid by not more than the minimum permissible price fluctuation applicable to such spread orders and neither such bid nor offer is accepted. If any such order is not accepted within a reasonable amount of time, then the member may, execute such order for and directly between the principals. The following requirements must also be met in the execution of such spread orders:

(1) The member who executes such order must do so in the presence of a Chicago Board Options Exchange Floor Official, who is a member qualified to trade Joint Venture futures contracts.

(2) Such member shall clearly identify all such spreads on his trading card or similar record by appropriate symbol or descriptive words and shall note on such card or record the exact time of execution. Such member shall thereupon promptly present said card or record to the Floor Official for verification and initialing.

(3) No futures commission merchant or floor broker who receives any of the inter-regulatory or intermarket spread orders designated below from another person shall take the other side of such spread orders, except with such other person's prior consent.

This Regulation applies to the following spread strategies:

(a) inter-regulatory strategies involving a CBOE 50 and/or CBOE 250 Stock Index future(s) spread against a Standard and Poor's 100 and/or Standard and Poor's 500 option(s) traded on the Chicago Board Options Exchange;

(b) intermarket futures spreads involving a CBOE 50 Stock Index future(s) spread against a CBOE 250 Stock Index future(s); or

(c) any other inter-regulatory or intermarket spread designated under this Regulation by the Board of Directors of the Association. (08/01/94)

350.11 Resolution of Outtrades - Outtrades shall be resolved by issuing a check in an amount agreed to by the members making the trade(s).

A. Price Outtrades

When an outtrade exists due to a discrepancy as to price, members making the trade may choose to resolve the discrepancy by electing either of the two prices in question, if they agree that the trade was executed at that price.

If an outtrade involves a price discrepancy between a local and a broker, and the members cannot agree on the price of execution, the price recorded by the broker shall be used to clear the trade. Any adjustments shall then be made by check, in compliance with this Regulation.

If an outtrade between locals or an outtrade between brokers involves a price discrepancy, and these members cannot agree on the price of execution, the buyer's price shall be used to clear the trade. Any adjustments shall then be made by check, in compliance with this Regulation.

B. Quantity Outtrades

When an outtrade exists due to a discrepancy as to quantity, members making the trade may choose to resolve the discrepancy by electing either of the two quantities in question, if they agree that the trade was executed in that quantity.

If any outtrade between locals involves a quantity discrepancy and these members cannot agree on the quantity that was executed, the higher quantity shall be used to clear the trade. Any adjustments shall then be made by check, in compliance with this Regulation.

A broker may assign the opposite side of any excess quantity on his order, which he believes that he has executed, to his error account, pursuant to Regulation 350.04, and he may agree to the clearing of the transaction according to the quantity recorded by the other member, whether the other member was a broker or a local.

C. Bona Fide Contract Month, Strike, Put vs. Call and Side of Market (Buy vs. Buy or Sell vs. Sell) Outtrades

When an outtrade exists due to a discrepancy as to the contract month, strike price, whether an option trade involved a put or a call, or side of the market, and any party who executed a customer order believes that the order has been executed in accordance with its instructions, the outtrade may be resolved in any one of the following ways:

1. The trade may be busted. If a broker re-executes his order, any losses incurred by the customer as a result of the delay in execution must be adjusted by check. If the order is executed at a more favorable price, the customer is entitled to the better price.

2. The members making the trades(s) may agree that either trade or both trades may be cleared in accordance with the members' recorded trade data.

3. A broker may assign the opposite side of his own order to his error account, pursuant to Regulation 350.04, and he may agree to the clearing of the transaction according to the terms of the other member's recorded trade data, whether the other member was a broker or a local.

4. If both members were brokers, they may both assign their respective trades to their error accounts, pursuant to Regulation 350.04.

A customer shall not be entitled to any portion of any profits realized by a local who was on the opposite side of an outtrade between the local and the customer's broker, as a result of the local's liquidation of his position. Such profits belong to the local, and may be retained or disbursed to whomever he chooses, in his discretion. If the local chooses to disburse any portion of such profits to the broker, and the broker's customer has received a fill in accordance with the broker's recorded trade data, the broker is not obligated to offer such profits to this customer.

It shall be an offense against the Association for members to prearrange a trade to reconcile an outtrade.

Nothing herein shall in any way limit a member's right to submit an outtrade to Exchange arbitration if an outtrade cannot be resolved by agreement. (10/01/99)

352.01 Spreading Transactions - A spread transaction involving options, or the purchase and sale of different futures, at a price or yield difference or simultaneously at a separate price for each side of the spread is permitted on this Exchange provided:

1. that each side of the spread (the purchase of one future and the sale of another future) is for the same account, or in the case of spreads in options, all sides are for the same account. Provided that, when an order has been executed in the wrong month, wrong strike price or wrong commodity, and the erroneous transaction has been placed in the broker's or firm's error account, the error may be corrected by a spread transaction in which one leg of the spread offsets the position in the error account and the other leg is the correct execution of the order. Provided further that the liability of the floor broker or FCM shall be determined in accordance with Regulation 350.04.

2. that all sides of the spread are priced at prices within the daily trading limits specified in Regulation 1008.01;

3. that the spread is offered by public outcry in the pit assigned to the commodity(ies) or option(s) involved.

4. that the transaction shall be reported, recorded and publicized as a spread in the ratio in which it was executed.

5. that when such transactions are executed simultaneously, the executing member on each side of the transaction shall designate each part of the trade as a spread on his cards by an appropriate word or symbol clearly identifying each part of such transaction.

6. that for options the spreads must conform to one of the following definitions, any multiple or combination of these strategies, or any generally accepted relationship between options and the underlying futures, including but not limited to:

   a. Vertical and Horizontal Spreads. Short one call (put) and long another call (put) with a different strike price and/or expiration month.

   b. Straddles. Short (long) puts and calls in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   c. Conversions and Reverse Conversions. Short (long) calls, long (short) puts, and long (short) futures in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   d. Butterflies. Two vertical spreads which share one common strike price.

   e. Boxes. Long a call and short a put at one strike price and short a call and long a put at another strike price.

   f. Synthetic Straddles. Long (short) futures and short (long) calls or long (short) puts in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   g. Ratio Spreads. Long calls (puts) and short calls (puts) in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   h. Ratio Writes. Short calls (puts) and long (short) futures in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   i. Ratio Purchases. Long calls (puts) and short (long) futures in a generally accepted spread ratio.

   j. Synthetic Futures. Long calls (puts) and short puts (calls) in a generally accepted spread ratio.

7. that in executing a ratio spread, a member shall bid or offer by open outcry either both the spread portion at a price difference and the remaining portion (i.e., the "tails") at a specific price for each, or the entire ratio spread at a separate price for each side of the transaction. A ratio spread and if applicable each part of it must be executed competitively by open outcry in accordance with this regulation and Rule 332.00. A bid or offer for a ratio spread is subject to partial acceptance in ratioed units in accordance with Rule 336.00.

8. that for spread transactions at a yield difference the following conditions are met:

   a. one side of the spread is a yield-based futures contract, i.e. where the final contract settlement price is calculated by subtracting a yield measurement from 100.

   b. the sides are priced at the price spread implied by the yield spread.

   c. the prices for Short, Medium, and Long Term U.S. Treasury Note and U.S. Treasury Bond futures are those implied for 8% coupon, semi-annual non-amortizing instruments with exactly two, five, ten, and twenty years remaining maturity as calculated and published by the Exchange.

   d. the prices for the yield-based futures contracts are calculated by subtracting the yield from 100.

   e. the yields are quoted in increments no smaller than one half basis point.

   f. the Regulatory Compliance Committee has designated the spread for trading on a yield basis.

Brokers may not couple separate orders and execute them as a spread, nor may a broker take one part of a spread for his own account and give the other part to a customer on an order. (08/01/00)

352.01A Unacceptable Spread Orders - Certain orders that involve the trading of different contracts, when the contracts involved are traded in different designated trading pits and when the resulting positions do not offset to reduce economic risk, do not represent legitimate spreading transactions and are specifically deemed to be unacceptable orders. Such transactions must be executed on separate orders in the respective designated trading areas. The foregoing provisions apply to, but are not limited to, the following examples:

There are separate trading pits for options and futures. An order to buy a put (or sell a call) and sell the underlying future establishes a short position only, and therefore there is no offsetting feature. An order to sell a put (or buy a call) and buy the underlying future establishes a long position only, and therefore there is no offsetting feature. These orders are unacceptable as spread orders. (08/01/94)

352.02 Joint Venture Intermarket and Inter-Regulatory Spreads - - Notwithstanding any other provisions of these Rules and Regulations to the contrary, the following principles shall apply to spreading transactions involving Joint Venture Products.

1. Futures spreads involving CBOE 50 and/or CBOE 250 Stock Index futures contracts may be bid or offered at a differential and if so bid or offered, such spreads may not be separated into their individual components.

2. Inter-Regulatory spread strategies involving CBOE 50 or CBOE 250 Stock Index futures spread against Standard and Poor's 100 or Standard and Poor's 500 options traded on the Chicago Board Options Exchange ("CBOE") may be bid or offered at a differential. If such spreads are bid or offered at a differential, they may not be separated into individual parts. The futures side of such spreads must be priced within the daily quotation range. The price of the options side of such spreads shall not touch the best bid or offer contained in the CBOE order book but may touch but shall not go through the current best bid or offer prevailing in the trading crowd. The prices for both sides of such spreads shall be disseminated immediately and shall be identified as a spread. The price differential shall also be disseminated immediately.

3. Inter-Regulatory spreads involving CBOE 50 and/or CBOE 250 Stock Index futures contracts spread against Standard and Poor's 100 and/or Standard and Poor's 500 options may be executed in any location in the Standard and Poor's 100 or the Standard and Poor's 500 option pit(s).

4. Joint Venture inter-regulatory or intermarket spreads may not be used to establish opening prices for Joint Venture futures contracts. (08/01/94)

360.01 Pit Supervisory and Enforcement Authority of the Respective Pit Committees - It shall be the function and duty of the Pit Committees to supervise and enforce decorum and trading etiquette within their respective trading pits.

I. Supervision and Enforcement of Pit Decorum

Each Pit Committee shall have the authority over its respective pit to discipline any individual who has committed a decorum offense within the pit, as set forth in Rule 519.00, by the imposition of a fine not to exceed $5,000.00

Pit Committee members shall issue a ticket to the offender notifying the offender that the Pit Committee has imposed a warning or designated fine in accordance with the following schedule guidelines:

1st offense	Warning or fine between $250.00 - $2,500.00
2nd offense and subsequent offenses	Fine between $500.00 - $5,000.00

Any Exchange member may request that the Pit Committee issue a ticket; however, the Pit Committee Chairman or Vice-Chairman or in the alternative, a member of the Floor Governors Committee, must sign and thereby authorize each and every ticket issued by the Pit Committee. Any ticket not authorized by the Pit Committee Chairman or Vice-Chairman, or in the alternative, a member of the Floor Governors Committee, will be deemed to be invalid.

The recipient of a Pit Committee ticket may either pay the corresponding fine or request a summary hearing before the respective Pit Committee to contest the ticket. The summary hearing shall be held after the close of trading on the afternoon of the day the ticket was issued or as soon as possible thereafter. The attendance of either a simple majority or five members of the respective Pit Committee, whichever is less, shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of a summary hearing.

Application of Regulations - The Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or Pit Committee Member who initiated a ticket may not sit on the panel; however, he may participate at the hearing as a witness. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman who simply authorized, but did not initiate the ticket, may sit on the panel that hears the matter.

No member of the summary hearing panel may have a direct financial or personal interest in the outcome of the matter.

If a ticket was issued by the Pit Committee at the request of a member, the requesting member must appear at the summary hearing. If the requesting member fails to appear, the ticket will be voided. Furthermore, the requesting individual's failure to appear may be deemed to constitute an act detrimental to the welfare of the Association.

Members may not be represented by an attorney at the summary hearing.

The decision of the summary hearing panel shall be final; however, a member shall have a limited right to appeal the decision to the Exchange's Appellate Committee on the grounds that the decision was:

a. In excess of the summary hearing panel's authority, jurisdiction, or limitations; or

b. Without observance of the required procedures.

Any member or individual with floor access privileges who has received a Pit Committee ticket for a decorum offense of Disorderly Conduct, Intentional Physical Abuse, Sexual Harassment, and/or Use of Profane or Obscene Language and during the same trading session, engages in a further Rule or Regulation violation relating to Disorderly Conduct, Intentional Physical Abuse, Sexual Harassment, and/or Use of Profane or Obscene Language may, in addition to other sanctions (including but not limited to fines, suspensions, and expulsions imposed by the Association pursuant to the Rules and Regulations), be immediately and summarily removed from the Exchange trading floor and denied trading floor access for the remainder of the trading session pursuant to the following procedures:

a. Certification by a Chairman of the Pit Committee (or, in the Chairman's absence, by a Vice-Chairman of the Pit Committee) that the individual has continued to engage in Disorderly Conduct, Intentional Physical Abuse, Sexual Harassment, and/or Use of Profane or Obscene Language after having previously received a Pit Committee ticket for the same offense in the same trading session; and

b. Approval of such summary action by a member of the Floor Governors Committee and a member of the Board of Directors or by two members of the Board of Directors, provided that no individual granting such approval shall have been involved in the altercation.

Additionally, should the first such offense be of such a serious nature, the individual may be denied trading floor access for the duration of the trading session pursuant to the above procedure.

II. Supervision and Enforcement of Pit Trading Etiquette

Each Pit Committee shall have the authority over its respective pit to issue a ticket to any member who has allegedly violated the pit's trading etiquette. Each pit, by and through its Pit Committee, shall be responsible for determining the nature and extent of its pit trading etiquette. However, the Floor Governors Committee will be responsible for standardizing the pit trading etiquette that is common to all of the Exchange's trading pits.

A breach of trading etiquette does not in itself constitute a specific violation of an Exchange Rule or Exchange Regulation. However, any particularly egregious violation of a trading etiquette or repeated violation of trading etiquette may result in disciplinary action by the Floor Governors Committee pursuant to the general provisions of Exchange Rule 500.00 (Inequitable Proceedings) and/or Rule 504.00 (Acts Detrimental to the Welfare of the Association).

Any member may request that a ticket be issued and any member of the respective Pit Committee may issue a ticket. However, the Pit Committee Chairman or Vice-Chairman must sign and thereby authorize each ticket.

If the recipient of a ticket wishes to contest the ticket he shall immediately notify the Chairman or Vice-Chairman of the Pit Committee and a summary hearing shall be held by the Pit Committee after the close of that day's trading, or as soon as possible thereafter.

The purpose of the hearing will be for the Pit Committee, to determine by majority vote, whether the ticket should stand or whether the ticket should be voided.

The attendance of either a simple majority or five members, whichever is less, shall constitute a Pit Committee Hearing Panel quorum.

No member of the Pit Committee Hearing Panel may have a financial or personal interest in the matter.

The Chairman, Vice-Chairman or Pit Committee Member who initiated a ticket may not sit on the panel, however, he may participate at the hearing as a witness. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman who simply authorized, but did not initiate the ticket, may sit on the panel that hears the matter.

Failure of the member who requested the ticket to appear will result in the ticket being voided, and the failure to appear may constitute an act detrimental to the Association.

Members may not be represented by an attorney at a hearing.

Staff will not be present during any hearing, except at the specific request of the Pit Committee.

Decisions of the panel will be final. Respondents will not be able to appeal the panel's decision.

If a member reaches a total of any three violations (all pits inclusive), within six months, the member shall be automatically referred to Floor Governors for possible disciplinary action pursuant to Rule 500.00 and/or Rule 504.00. However, a pit committee may, at its discretion, refer any single offense committed within its respective pit to the Floor Governors Committee. A simple majority of the pit committee shall be required before a single offense may be referred to the Floor Governors Committee.

A ticket will expire and be expunged from any and all records after twelve months from the date of the ticket's issuance unless the ticket has been referred to Floor Governors Committee. In the event that a ticket has been referred to Floor Governors Committee, the ticket will expire and be expunged from the records only after the Floor Governors Committee decides not to pursue formal charges.

Tickets referred to the Floor Governors Committee will serve as the basis of O.I.A's investigation, and the tickets may be submitted as evidence in support of O.I.A.'s case before the Floor Governors Committee. However, O.I.A. will conduct its own separate and distinct investigation of the matter.

III. Pit Committee Grievance Meetings

On a monthly basis, or more frequently as needed, each Pit Committee shall convene and hold an informal grievance meeting. The purpose of the informal grievance meetings will be to:

a. review and discuss general issues relating to pit etiquette and pit trading practices;

b. formulate and submit to the Floor Governors Committee recommendations for trading standards;

c. review and consider specific complaints relating to pit etiquette and pit trading practices; and

d. determine by simple majority whether to recommend that the Floor Governors Committee investigate specific instances of pit etiquette and pit trading practices that the Pit Committee believes may be inequitable.

The Pit Committees shall conduct and determine the time, location, manner and form of their respective Pit Committee Grievance Meetings. Staff will not be present during any Pit Committee Grievance Meeting, except at the specific request of the Pit Committee. (01/01/00)

Non-clearing members may be permitted to carry both omnibus and disclosed accounts with clearing members provided that when the non-clearing member used both types of accounts, he shall guarantee the clearing member carrying any disclosed accounts against any loss in such accounts.

The non-clearing member must notify the carrying member that he is carrying both omnibus and disclosed accounts. 1819 (08/01/94)

419.00 Trading for Employees - No member shall accept orders or clear trades for a non-member who is employed by another member nor shall another member accept orders or clear trades for a member who is employed by another member when the name of the employer appears in the transaction. 205 (08/01/94)

420.00 Trading by Employees - No member shall accept marginal accounts of any employee, whether member or non-member, of the Association or of the Clearing House or of another member unless written consent of the employer be first obtained. 206 (08/01/94)

420.01 Gratuities - (See 206.02) (08/01/94)

420.01A Elective Officers and Non-Member Directors - For purposes of Rule 420.00, Elective Officers and non-member Directors of the Association shall not be considered employees of the Association. (08/01/94)

421.00 Confirmation to Customers - A commission merchant who makes a trade for a member or non-member customer shall confirm the trade to the customer no later than the business day following the day upon which the transaction was consummated. Such confirmation shall be in writing and shall show the commodity or security bought or sold, the amount, the price, and the name of the other party to the contract, and, in the case of a commodity, the delivery month. A non-resident member may give to his customer the name of his resident commission merchant in lieu of the name of the other party to the contract, subject to the right of the customer to receive the name of the other party to the contract upon request.

Where a trade is made by a branch office of a resident member, such branch office being outside of Illinois, the branch office may confirm the trade to the customer without giving the name of the other party to the contract, provided the confirmation has prominently printed or stamped thereon the words, "Name of other party to contract furnished on request." 207 (08/01/94)

421.01 Confirmations - A confirmation of a commission merchant to the customer need not contain the name of the other party to the contract, provided the confirmation has prominently printed or stamped thereon the words, "name of other party to contract furnished on request." 1845 (08/01/94)

421.02 Options Confirmations -

(a) A commission merchant who makes an options trade for a member or non-member customer shall confirm the trade to the customer no later than the business day following the day upon which the transaction was consummated. Such confirmation shall be in writing and shall indicate the customer's account identification number; a separate listing of the amount of the premium and all other commissions, costs and fees; the option series; the expiration date; and the date of the transaction.

(b) In addition, upon the expiration or exercise of any commodity option, each commission merchant must furnish to each customer holding any such option which has expired or been exercised, not later than the next business day, a written confirmation statement which shall include the date of such occurrence, a description of the option involved, and in the case of exercise, the details of the futures position which resulted therefrom.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Regulation, a commodity options transaction that is executed for a commodity pool (investment company) need be confirmed only to the operator of the commodity pool.

(d) With respect to any account controlled by any person other than the customer for whom the account is carried, each commission merchant shall promptly furnish in writing to such other person the information set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Regulation. (08/01/94)

421.03 Average Price Orders - Member firms may confirm to customers an average price when multiple execution prices are received on an order or series of orders for futures, options or combination transactions. An order or series of orders executed during the same trading day at more than one price may only be averaged pursuant to this regulation if each order is for the same account or group of accounts and for the same commodity and month for futures, or for the same commodity, month, put/call and strike for options.

Any member or member firm that accepts an order pursuant to this regulation must comply with requirements of this regulation and all order recordation requirements.

Upon receipt of an execution at multiple prices for any order subject to this regulation, an average price will be computed by multiplying the execution prices by the quantities at those prices divided by the total quantities. An average price for a series of orders will be computed based on the average prices of each order in that series.

Each Clearing firm that confirms to a customer an average price, must indicate on the confirmation and monthly statement that the price is not an execution price. (10/01/01)

421.05 Allocation of Exercise Notices - The Clearing House, in an equitable, random manner, shall assign exercise notices tendered by options purchasers to clearing members holding open short options positions; and each clearing member and commission merchant, in an equitable, random or proportional manner, shall assign exercise notices it receives on behalf of customer accounts to such customer accounts holding open short options positions. (08/01/94)

422.00 Investment Company Accounts - (See 507.00) (08/01/94)

423.00 Discretionary Orders - No member or registered eligible business organization shall permit any employee, whether member or non-member, to exercise discretion in the handling of any transaction for a customer for execution on this Exchange, unless prior written authorization for the exercise of such discretion has been received. A discretionary order is defined as an order that lacks any of the following elements: the commodity, year and delivery month of the contract, number of contracts, and whether the order is to buy or sell.

All partners of a registered partnership, all managers and members of a registered limited liability company and all officers of a registered corporation, shall be considered employees of their firm or corporation for purposes of these discretionary rules and regulations. 151 (04/01/98)

423.01 Discretionary Accounts - It shall be a violation of this regulation for any member or registered eligible business organization

1. To accept or carry an account over which the member or employee thereof exercises trading authority or control for another person in whose name the account is carried, without-

   a. obtaining a signed copy of the Power of Attorney, trading authorization, or other document by which such trading authority or control is given;

   b. sending direct to the person in whose name the account is carried a written confirmation of each trade as provided in Rule 421.00 and a monthly statement showing the exact position of the account, including all open trades figured to the market; and

   c. reflecting the discretionary nature of the account on all statements sent to the account owner.

2. To accept or carry an account over which any third party individual or organization other than the person in whose name the account is carried exercises trading authority or control, without -

   a. obtaining a signed copy of the Power of Attorney, trading authorization, or other document by which such trading authority or control is given; and

   b. obtaining a written acknowledgment from the person in whose name the account is carried that he has received a copy of the account controller's disclosure document, prepared pursuant to CFTC Regulation 4.31, or a written statement explaining why the account controller is not required to provide a disclosure document to the customer.

   (The above acknowledgement of paragraph b. need not be obtained (i) when the person in whose name the account is carried and the individual given trading authority or control are of the same family; or (ii) when the person given trading authority or control is (A) a member, (B) an officer, partner, member, manager or managerial employee of the eligible business organization carrying the account; (C) a bank or trust company organized under federal or state laws or (D) an insurance company regulated under the laws of any state; or (iii) when the account is carried in the name of (A) an employee benefit plan subject to ERISA or organized under the laws of any state (B) an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, (C) a bank or trust company organized under federal or state law, (D) an insurance company regulated under the laws of any state; or (E) an exempt organization, as defined in section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, with net assets of more than $100 million.)

3. To accept or carry the account of a non-member who has given trading authority to a member unless the member carrying the account requires that all orders entered for the account be executed by an individual or individuals other than the member to whom such trading authority is given. This requirement shall not apply where the non-member customer and the member having such trading authority are of the same family. This Regulation shall only apply to open outcry Regular and open outcry Night Trading Hours.

4. For purposes of this Regulation, a person does not exercise trading authority or control if the person in whose name the account is carried or the account controller specifies (1) the precise commodity interest to be purchased or sold, and (2) the exact amount of the commodity interest to be purchased or sold. Provided the foregoing provisions are met, the provisions of this Regulation shall not apply to discretion as to the price at which or the time when an order shall be executed.

The provisions of this Regulation relate only to transactions executed on this Exchange. 1990 (04/01/98)

423.01B Discretionary Trading - The increasing utilization of trading by programmed recommendations, whether by computer, charts or by any means, has brought several questions to the Rules Committee regarding discretion. These methods tend to create situations requiring the use of discretion and the Rules Committee recommends that member firms treat all such accounts as discretionary accounts unless the member can be certain that the customer(s) has given specific instructions, including price limits and any subsequent price changes relative to orders placed in connection with such trading.

In connection with the above, your attention is called to Rule 423.00 and Regulations 423.01 through 423.03 all having to do with the handling of discretionary accounts. 41R (08/01/94)

423.02 Presumption That Trades Are Pursuant to Discretionary Authority - Every trade in an account over which any individual or organization other than the person in whose name the account is carried exercises trading authority or control shall be rebuttably presumed to have been made pursuant to such trading authority or control. The Power of Attorney, trading authorization or other document by which any individual or organization other than the person in whose name an account is carried exercises trading authority or control over such account can be terminated only by a written revocation signed by the person in whose name the account is carried; by the death of the person in whose name the account is carried; or, where the individual or organization that exercises authority or control over the account is the member carrying the account or an employee thereof, by written notification from the member to the person in whose name the account is held that such member will no longer act pursuant to such trading authorization as of the date provided in the notice. 1991 (08/01/94)

423.03 Supervision of Discretionary Trading by Employees - A Power of Attorney or trading authorization signed by the customer and naming the employee to whom trading authority is given will be considered written authorization of the customer with respect to any discretionary transaction handled by such employee pursuant to such Power of Attorney or trading authorization.

Each account with respect to which an employee has discretionary authority must be given daily supervision by the employer, or by a partner or officer or such other person designated as a compliance officer if the employer is an eligible business organization, to see that trading in such account is not excessive in size or frequency in relation to financial resources in that account. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply where only one employee of an eligible business organization member firm has discretionary authority if that individual is also the only principal who supervises futures trading activity.

No employee who has not been registered for a minimum of two continuous years as an Associated Person (AP) under CFTC Regulations may exercise the discretion permitted by Rule 423.00. The foregoing requirement may be waived in particular cases by the Business Conduct Committee upon a showing by the applicant of experience equivalent to such a two-year registration. 1992 (04/01/98)

423.04 Customer Orders During Concurrent Sessions - For orders involving concurrently traded contracts, the customer will designate whether the order is to be executed in the open outcry market or on e-cbot. (09/01/00)

Ch4 Position Limits and Reportable Positions
425.01 Position Limits -
(a) For the purposes of this Regulation, the following are definitions of titles used in position limit chart-

Spot Month - Spot month futures-equivalent position limit net long or net short effective at the start of trading on the first business day prior to the first trading day of the spot month.

Single Month - Futures-equivalent position limit net long or net short in any one month other than the spot month.

All Months - Position limit net long or net short in all months and all strike prices combined. Note: Long futures contracts, long call options, and short put options are considered to be on the long side of the market while short futures contracts, long put options, and short call options are considered to be on the short side of the market. For each commodity, the futures-equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregated to determine compliance with the net long or net short same side position limits.

Reportable Futures Level - Reportable futures position in any one month.

Reportable Options Level - Reportable options position in any one month in each option category. Note: Option categories are long call, long put, short call, and short put.

Net Equivalent Futures Position - Each option contract has been adjusted by the prior day's risk factor, or delta coefficient, for that option which has been calculated by the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation.

For the purpose of this Regulation:

(i) An option contract's futures-equivalency shall be based on the prior day's delta factor for the option series, as published by the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation. For example, 8 long put contracts, each with a delta factor of 0.5, would equal 4 futures-equivalent short contracts.

(ii) Long futures contracts shall have a delta factor of +1, and short futures contracts shall have a delta factor of -1.

(iii) Long call options and short put options shall have positive delta factors.

(iv) Short call options and long put options shall have negative delta factors.

(v) An eligible option/option or option/futures spread is defined as an intra-month or inter-month position in the same Chicago Board of Trade commodity in which the sum of the delta factors is zero.

(b) Except as provided in Regulations 425.03, 425.04 and 425.05, the maximum positions which any person may own, control, or carry are as follows:

(Note: All position limits and reportable positions are in number of contracts and are based on futures or *Net Equivalent Futures Positions.

#1 Additional futures contracts may be held outside of the spot month as part of futures/futures spreads within a crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, do not exceed the all months combined limit. In addition, a person may own or control additional options in excess of the futures-equivalent limits provided that those option contracts in excess of the futures-equivalent limits are part of an eligible option/futures spread.

#2 No more than 500 futures-equivalent contracts net on the same side of the market are allowed in a single month in all strike prices combined. Additional options contracts may be held as part of option/options or option/futures spreads between months within the same crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, does not exceed the all months combined limit. The futures-equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregated to determine compliance with these net same side single month position limits.

#3 No more than 5,500 futures-equivalent contracts net on the same side of the market are allowed in a single month in all strike prices combined. Additional options contracts may be held as part of option/option or option/futures spreads between months within the same crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, does not exceed the all months combined limit. The futures-equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregated to determine compliance with these net same side single month position limits.

#4 No more than 3,500 futures-equivalent contracts net on the same side of the market are allowed in a single month in all strike prices combined. Additional options contracts may be held as part of option/option or option/futures spreads between months within the same crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, does not exceed the all months combined limit. The futures-equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregated to determine compliance with these net same side single month position limits.

#5 On and after the first notice day of the expiring futures months of July, the limit for the July futures month will be reduced to 200 contracts, for both hedging and speculative positions.

#6 No more than 1,000 futures-equivalent contracts net on the same side of the market are allowed in a single month in all strike prices combined. Additional options contracts may be held as part of option/option or option/futures spreads between months within the same crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, does not exceed the all months combined limit. The futures/equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregated to determine compliance with these net same side single month position limits.

#7 No more than 3,000 futures-equivalent contracts net on the same side of the market are allowed in a single month in all strike prices combined. Additional options contracts may be held as part of option/option or option futures spreads between months within the same crop year provided that the total of such positions, when combined with outright positions, does not exceed the all months combined limit. The futures-equivalents for both the options and futures contracts are aggregate to determine compliance with these net same side single month limits.

#8 In the last five trading days of the expiring futures month, the speculative position limit for the March futures month will be 350 contracts and for the May futures month the limit will be 220 contracts.

#9 The aggregate position limit in CBOT mini-sized Dow/sm/ ($2 multiplier) futures, CBOT mini-sized Dow/sm/ ($5 multiplier) futures and CBOT DJIA/sm/ futures and options is 50,000 DJIA/sm/ contracts, net long or net short in all contract months combined. For the purposes of these regulations, one mini-sized Dow/sm/ ($2 multiplier) contract shall be deemed to be equivalent to one-fifth of a DJIA/sm/ futures contract and one mini-sized Dow/sm/ ($5 multiplier) contract shall be deemed to be equivalent to one-half of a DJIA/sm/ futures contract.

Except for the interest of a limited partner or shareholder (other than the commodity pool operator) in a commodity pool, ownership, including a 10% or more financial ownership interest, shall constitute control over an account except as provided in Regulation 425.05.

The maximum positions which any person, as defined in Regulation 425.01 (c), may own or control shall be as set forth herein. However, with respect to the maximum positions which a member firm may carry for its customers, it shall not be a violation of the limits set forth herein to carry customer positions in excess of such limits for such reasonable period of time as the firm may require to discover and liquidate the excess positions or file the appropriate hedge or exemption statements for the customer accounts in question in accordance with Regulations 425.03 and 425.04. For the purposes of this regulation, a "reasonable period of time" shall generally not exceed one business day for those positions that are not subject to the provisions of Regulations 425.03 and 425.04.

However, for any option position that exceeds position limits for passive reasons such as a market move or exercise assignment, the person shall be allowed one business day to liquidate the excess position without being considered in violation of the limits. In addition, if at the close of trading, an option position exceeds position limits when evaluated using the previous day's delta factors, but does not exceed the limits when evaluated using the delta factors for that day's close of trading, then the position shall not constitute a position limit violation.

Note: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission has imposed speculative position limits on Corn, Oats, Soybean, Wheat, Soybean Oil and Soybean Meal futures contracts as provided in Part 150 of CFTC Regulations.

(c) The term "net" shall mean the long or short position held after offsetting long futures positions against short futures positions. The word "person" shall include individuals, associations, partnerships, limited liability companies, corporations and trusts.

(d) The foregoing limits on positions shall not apply to bona fide hedging positions which meet the requirements of Regulations 425.02 and 425.03, nor to positions subject to particular limits granted pursuant to Regulation 425.04.

(e) The Board, or a Committee authorized by the Board may direct any member or registered eligible business organization owning, controlling or carrying a position for a person whose total position as defined in subsection (f) below exceeds the position limits as set forth in subsection (b) above or as specifically determined pursuant to Regulations 425.03 or 425.04 to liquidate or otherwise reduce the position.

(f) In determining whether any person has exceeded the position limits specified in subsection (b) of this Regulation or those limits determined pursuant to Regulations 425.03 or 425.04, or whether a position is a reportable position as set forth in subsections (b) and (g) herein, all positions in accounts for which such person by power of attorney or otherwise directly or indirectly controls trading, except as provided in Regulation 425.05, shall be included with the positions held by such person. Such limits upon positions shall apply to positions held by two or more persons acting pursuant to an expressed or implied agreement or understanding, the same as if the positions were held by a single person.

(g) If a person owns, controls or carries a position equal to or greater than the number of contracts specified in subsection (b) above long or short in any one month, then all such futures and options on such futures contract owned, controlled or carried by that person, whether above the given level or not, shall necessarily be deemed reportable positions. Every member or registered eligible business organization shall report each and every reportable position to the Office of Investigations and Audits at such times and in such form and manner as shall be prescribed by the Business Conduct Committee.

(1) On or before the first day on which any position must be reported as provided above, the member or registered eligible business organization carrying the position must furnish to the Office of Investigations and Audits a report, in the form, manner and content prescribed by the Business Conduct Committee, identifying the owner of the account for which the position must be reported and all persons associated with the account as described in subsection (f) above.

(2) Every member or registered eligible business organization must report each and every reportable position and provide the report required in subsection (1) above for each person within any account carried on an omnibus basis, unless, upon application of the member or registered eligible business organization to the Business Conduct Committee, the nonmember omnibus account specifically is approved to report directly to the Office of Investigations and Audits. (07/01/02)

425.02 Bona Fide Hedging Positions -

(a) General Definition. Bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions in futures or options shall mean positions in a contract or positions in options on a contract for future delivery on this Exchange, where such positions normally represent a substitute for positions to be taken at a later time in a physical marketing channel, and where they are economically appropriate to the reduction of risks in the conduct and management of a commercial enterprise, and where they arise from:

(1) The potential change in the value of assets which a person owns, refines or merchandises or anticipates owning, refining or merchandising,

(2) The potential change in the value of liabilities which a person owes or anticipates incurring, or

(3) The potential change in the value of services which a person provides, purchases or anticipates providing or purchasing.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, no positions of a person shall be classified as bona fide hedging unless their purpose is to offset price risks incidental to that person's commercial cash or spot operations and such positions are established and liquidated in an orderly manner in accordance with sound commercial practices and unless the provisions of Regulation 425.03 have been satisfied.

(b) Enumerated Hedging Positions. For purposes of Regulation 425.03, the definition of bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions in subsection (a) above includes, but is not limited to, the following specific positions:

(1) Sales of any commodity for future delivery, purchases of any put options on futures contracts and/or sales of any call options on futures contracts, which do not exceed in quantity:

(i) Ownership of the same cash commodity by the same person, and

(ii) Fixed-price purchases of the same cash commodity by the same person.

(2) Purchases of any commodity for future delivery, sales of any put options on futures contracts and/or purchases of any call options on futures contracts, which do not exceed in quantity:

(i) Fixed-price sales of the same cash commodity by the same person; and

(ii) The quantity equivalent of fixed-price sales of the cash products and derivative products of such commodity by the same person.

(3) Sales and purchases of commodities for future delivery or of options on contracts for future delivery described in subsections (b)(1) and (b)(2) may also be offset by the same or other quantities of a different cash commodity, provided that the fluctuations in the value of the position for future delivery or of the commodity underlying the option contract are substantially related to the fluctuations in the value of the actual cash position.

(c) Non-Enumerated Hedging Positions. The Board, or a Committee authorized by the Board, may recognize positions other than those enumerated in subsection (b) as bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions, in accordance with the general definition of bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions in Regulation 425.02(a), upon the filing of a satisfactory initial statement in accordance with Regulation 425.03. Such positions may include:

(1) Short-hedging positions (including long put options or short call options) of unsold anticipated positions in the same cash commodity by the same person;

(2) Long-hedging positions (including long call options or short put options) of unfilled anticipated requirements of the same cash commodity by the same person;

(3) Short or long cross-hedging positions, provided that the fluctuations in the value of the positions for future delivery or the commodity underlying the options positions are substantially related to the fluctuations in the value of the anticipated cash positions; or

(4) Any other positions in commodities for future delivery or options on futures contracts, including those established under the concept of "delta-ratio hedging", under such terms and conditions as the Board, or a Committee authorized by the Board, may specify.

(d) Cash positions described in subsections (b) and (c) above shall not include those positions or portions of positions which are bona fide hedging positions in futures or economically appropriate hedging positions in options pursuant to Regulations 425.02 and 425.03.

Note: Corn, Oats, Soybean, Soybean Oil, Soybean Meal and Wheat futures contracts are subject to Commodity Futures Trading Commission Regulation 1.3(z), which defines bona fide hedging transactions and positions. (10/01/00)

425.03 Reporting Requirements For Bona Fide or Economically Appropriate Hedging Positions in Excess of Limits -

(a) Initial Statement. Every member or registered eligible business organization which owns, controls, or carries positions on behalf of a person who seeks classification of such positions as bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions must file a statement satisfactory to designated staff or a Committee authorized by the Board in order to classify such positions as bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions within the meaning of Regulation 425.02. The initial statement of the member or registered eligible business organization filed on behalf of a person shall be filed no later than 10 business days after the day on which the person's position exceeds the speculative limit for each contract specified in Regulation 425.01 (a), and shall include:

(1) A description of the kinds of intended positions and their potential size;

(2) A statement affirming that the kinds of intended positions are bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions; and

(3) With respect to the kinds of intended positions that are described as non-enumerated hedging positions under Regulation 425.02(c), a justification that the kinds of intended positions are consistent with the definition of bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions within the meaning of Regulation 425.02(a).

(b) Supplemental Statements. Whenever there is a material change in the information provided in the person's most recent statement pursuant to this Regulation, a supplemental statement which updates and confirms previous information shall be filed with designated staff or a Committee authorized by the Board by every member or registered eligible business organization owning, controlling or carrying such person's position. The supplemental statement shall be filed no later than 10 business days after the day on which the person's position exceeds the level specified in the most recent statement.

(c) A Committee or designated staff authorized by the Board will monitor bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions. The initial and supplemental statements prescribed in subsections (a) and (b) above must be submitted to the Office of Investigations and Audits and shall be maintained on a confidential basis. The Board, or a Committee or designated staff authorized by the Board may request additional relevant information necessary to ensure compliance with this Regulation 425.03. (10/01/00)

425.04 Exemptions From Position Limits -

(a) The Board, or a Committee authorized by the Board, may establish particular position limits on those positions of a person normally known as "spreads, straddles or arbitrage," including:

(1) intramarket spreads;

(2) intermarket spreads;

(3) cash-futures arbitrage, where "cash" is defined as spot or forward positions; or

(4) eligible option/option or option/futures spreads as defined in Regulation 425.01.

In addition, the Board or a Committee authorized by the Board, may establish, on a case by case basis, particular maximum position limits on certain risk management positions in interest rate, stock index and currency futures and options, including:

(1) Long positions (futures, long calls, short puts) whose underlying commodity value does not exceed the sum of:

(i) Cash set aside in an identifiable manner, or any of the following unencumbered instruments so set aside, with maturities of less than 1 year: U.S. Treasury obligations; U.S. agency discount notes; commercial paper rated A2 or better by Standard & Poors and P2 or better by Moody's; banker's acceptances; or certificates of deposit, plus any funds deposited as margin on such positions; and

(2) Long positions (futures, long calls) whose underlying commodity value does not exceed the sum of:

(i) The value of equity securities, debt securities, or currencies owned and being hedged by the trader holding such futures or option position, provided that the fluctuations in value of the position used to hedge such securities are substantially related to the fluctuations in value of the securities themselves; and

(ii) Accrued profits on such positions held at the futures commission merchant.

(3) Short calls whose underlying commodity value does not exceed the sum of:

(i) The value of securities or currencies underlying the futures contract upon which the option is based or underlying the futures contract upon which the option is based or underlying the option itself and which securities or currencies are owned by the trader holding such option position; and

(ii) The value of securities or currencies whose price fluctuations are substantially related to the price fluctuations of the securities or currencies underlying the futures contract upon which the option is based or underlying the option itself and which securities or currencies are owned by the trader holding such option position.

Risk management positions eligible for particular position limits under this Regulation do not include those considered as bona fide or economically appropriate hedging positions as defined in Regulation 425.02.

(b) Requirements for Exemptions from Position Limits. Every member or registered eligible business organization which owns, controls or carries positions on behalf of a person who wishes to make purchases or sales of any commodity for future delivery or any option on a contract for future delivery in excess of the position limits then in effect, shall file statements on behalf of the person with the Exchange, in such form and manner as shall be prescribed by the Board, or by a Committee authorized by the Board, in conformity with the requirements of this subsection.

(1) Initial Statement. Initial statements concerning the classification of positions normally known in the trade as "spreads, straddles or arbitrage," or risk management positions, as described in subsection (a) above, for the purpose of subjecting such positions to particular position limits above those specified in Regulation 425.01 (a), shall be filed with designated staff or Committee authorized by the Board no later than 10 business days after the day on which such positions exceed the position limits then in effect. Such statements shall include information necessary to enable the Board, or a Committee authorized by the Board, to make a determination that the particular kinds of intended positions should be eligible for a higher position limit, including, but not limited to:

(i) A description of the specific nature and size of positions for future delivery or in options on contracts for future delivery and offsetting cash, forward or futures positions, where applicable, and affirmation that intended positions to be maintained in excess of the limits set forth in Regulation 425.01 (a) will be positions as set forth in subsection (a) above; and

(ii) In the case of risk management positions, information on the cash portfolio being managed and/or any cash or cash market instruments held in connection with the intended risk management position, as well as other information relevant to the conditions specified in subsection (a) above. Of particular interest are whether the cash market underlying the futures or option market has a high degree of demonstrated liquidity relative to the size of the positions, and whether there exist opportunities for arbitrage which provide a close linkage between the cash market and the futures or options market in question; and whether the positions are on behalf of a commercial entity, including parents, subsidiaries or other related entities, which typically buys, sells or holds the underlying or a related cash market instrument.

(2) Supplemental Statements. Whenever there is a material change in the information provided in the person's most recent statement pursuant to this Regulation, a supplemental statement which updates and confirms previous information shall be filed with designated staff or a Committee authorized by the Board by every member or registered eligible business organization owning, controlling or carrying such person's position. The supplemental statement shall be filed no later than 10 business days after the day on which the person's position exceeds the level specified in the most recent statement.

(c) A Committee or designated staff authorized by the Board will monitor the positions maintained by persons who have obtained particular position limits under the provisions of this Regulation. The initial and supplemental statements prescribed in subsections (b)(1) and (b)(2) above must be submitted to the Office of Investigations and Audits and shall be maintained on a confidential basis. The Board, or a Committee or designated staff authorized by the Board, may request additional relevant information necessary to ensure compliance with this Regulation 425.04, and may, for any good reason, amend, revoke or otherwise limit the particular position limits established.

(b) Additional Requirements for Exemption of Affiliated Entities - If the independent account controller is affiliated with the eligible entity or another independent account controller, each of the affiliated entities must:

1) Have and enforce, written procedures in place to preclude such account controllers from having knowledge of, gaining access to, or receiving data about, trades of other account controllers. Such procedures must include document routing, and other procedures or security arrangements, including separate physical locations, which would maintain the independence of their activities provided, however, that such procedures may provide for the disclosure of information which is reasonably necessary for an eligible entity to maintain the level of control consistent with the fiduciary responsibilities and necessary to fulfill its duty to supervise diligently the trading done on its behalf;

2) Trade such accounts pursuant to separately developed and independent trading systems and market such trading systems separately; and

3) Solicit funds for such trading by separate Disclosure Documents that meet the standards of Commodity Futures Trading Commission Regulation 4.21.

430.00 Deposits by Customers - A member acting as commission merchant for a customer (member or non-member) may require from such customer a deposit, as indemnity against liability, and subsequent deposits to the extent of any adverse fluctuations in the market price. Such deposits must be made with the commission merchant within a reasonable time after demand, and, in the absence of unusual circumstances, one hour shall be deemed a reasonable time. The failure of the customer to make such deposit within such time, shall entitle, but shall not obligate, the commission merchant to close out the trades of the defaulting customer. If the commission merchant is unable to effect personal contact with the customer, a written demand left at the office of the customer, during business hours, shall be deemed sufficient. 209 (08/01/94)

431.00 Margins - No member may accept or carry an account for a customer, whether a member or non-member, without proper and adequate margin. The Exchange shall fix minimum margin requirements.

The provisions of the foregoing paragraph do not apply to a non-clearing member who makes his own trades or who on the Floor gives his orders for trades which are exclusively for his own account and pays the brokerage thereon. 210 (08/01/94)

431.00A Permit Holder Interpretation - The term 'non-clearing member' in paragraph 2 of Rule 431.00 should be interpreted to include Permit Holders. (08/01/94)

431.01 Margins - Non-Clearing Members - A non-clearing member who makes his own futures trades or who on the Floor gives his orders for futures trades which are exclusively for his account shall be subject solely to the provisions of this Regulation. All futures transactions in such account shall be margined to the market. 1822B (08/01/94)

431.02 Margin Requirements - Margin requirements shall at all times be those requirements currently in effect. Changes in margin requirements shall be effective on all transactions.

1. Transferred to Regulations 431.03 and 431.05.

2. Clearing members may carry contracts for future delivery for foreign and domestic correspondents on a gross margin basis as provided in Paragraph 3 of Regulation 431.03, but only to the extent that such contracts are those of customers and non-customers of the foreign and domestic correspondents.

3. If stocks, bonds or similar collateral, which must be free from liens and from any impediments to negotiability, are deposited with a member specifically to secure transactions which are executed on this Exchange, the current market value less the applicable haircut as specified in SEC Rule 15c3-1(c)(2)(vi) may be considered as margin value to such transactions.

   A registered futures commission merchant shall not accept as margin, pledge, hypothecate, assign or factor any customer owned warehouse receipt other than a warehouse receipt that is eligible for delivery in satisfaction of futures contracts at a contract market.

4. Foreign currencies or foreign government securities which are deposited with a member for margin purposes must be reported at the current rate of exchange to the dollar equivalent. The margin value will be determined by Regulation 431.02 paragraph 3.

5. In computing minimum margin requirements for any customer equities or impairment resulting from change in market prices shall be regarded as money equivalents.

6. No member shall extend any credit or give any rebate or gratuity of any kind to any person for the purpose of circumventing or evading minimum margin requirements.

7. It shall be incumbent upon each member to require satisfactory evidence that all hedging trades are bona fide hedging trades. A letter from a customer so stating will be considered "satisfactory evidence" under this paragraph unless there is reason to suspect otherwise.

8. An account shall be entitled to spread margins, whenever said account is in a spread position. The carrying member shall designate spread position on his margin records.

9. When a correspondent member's account with the Clearing House member consists of trades which are spreading trades, such account may be carried as a spreading account by the clearing member.

10. It shall be incumbent upon each member financing purchases of cash grain for country elevator customers to require satisfactory evidence that funds so loaned are not used to margin future contracts other than for the purpose of hedging cash grain.

    When a customer states that funds required to fully margin his account are being transmitted at once, the member may consider this assurance in lieu of cash for a reasonable period. Members are required to keep written records of all margin calls, whether made in writing or by telephone.

11. Members shall not accept orders for new trades from a customer, unless the minimum initial margin on the new trades is deposited and unless the margin on old commitments in the account equals or exceeds the initial requirements on hedging and spreading trades and/or the maintenance requirements specified in Regulations 431.03 and 431.05 on all other trades. If the customer has a credit in excess of the initial margin requirements on all old commitments in his account, this may be used as part or all of the initial margins required on new commitments. However, credits in excess of maintenance margins and less than initial margin requirements may not be used.

12. No customer shall be permitted to make withdrawals from an account when the margin therein is less than the minimum initial margin specified in Regulations 431.03 and 431.05 or when the withdrawals would impair such minimum requirements.

13. No member may carry for a customer spreading transactions when the customer's account, figured to the market, would result in a deficit. Minimum maintenance margins required on other transactions are specified in Regulations 431.03 and 431.05. When a customer's account drops below the maintenance margin level, the account must be brought back to initial margin requirements. The failure of a member to close the customer's account before it results in such deficit or undermargined condition shall not relieve the customer of any liability to the member, nor shall such failure on the part of a member amount to an extension of credit to the customer if the member in the exercise of reasonable care has been unable to close the account without incurring such deficit or undermargined condition.

14. A member may use his discretion in permitting a customer having an established account to trade during any day without margining each transaction, provided the net position resulting from the day's trading is margined as required by Rules 286.00, 431.00 and Regulations 431.02, 431.03 and 431.05.

15. When a customer switches an open interest in the same grain from one future to another and the orders for the purchase and sale are placed simultaneously, no additional margins need be required by his commission merchant because of such switch. However, if such orders are not placed simultaneously, the new position should be margined on the basis of minimum initial margin requirements.

16. A bona fide hedger, in financial instruments, reporting positions on a gross basis pursuant to Regulation 705.01, must pay appropriate margins on the gross positions reported during the delivery month. 1822 (08/01/94)

431.02A Hedging Transactions - WHEREAS, Regulation 431.02(7) makes it incumbent "upon each member to require satisfactory evidence that all hedging trades are bona fide hedging trades," and

WHEREAS, Regulation 431.02(7) further states that "a letter from a customer so stating will be considered 'satisfactory evidence' unless there is reason to suspect otherwise;"

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that whenever a non-member customer of a member or member firm carries in its hedging account an open position in any Board of Trade futures contract exceeding speculative position limits established by the Association, it shall be incumbent upon the member or member firm to satisfy itself, and to be able to confirm to the Business Conduct Committee that the open position of such non-member customer, to the extent that it exceeds such speculative position limits, represents bona fide hedging transactions.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this resolution be published as a Ruling of the Association. 42R (08/01/94)

431.03A Margins-Spreads involving soybeans versus only crude soybean oil or only soybean meal or spreads involving crude soybean oil versus soybean meal do not meet the requirements of Paragraph 4(a) of Regulation 431.03 and, therefore, do not qualify for margins on one side only. 34R (08/01/94)

431.03B Margins-The Rules Committee was asked the following questions:

(1) Is it permissible for a carrying broker to maintain an account with a bank where it is specified that the deposits therein are made at the request of a particular client - such funds not necessarily being those of the client.

(2) Is it permissible to maintain such an account, limiting it to the amounts deposited by such client.

The Committee is unanimously of the opinion that these practices are a violation of the Association's minimum margin Rules and Regulations. They constitute the extending of credit for margins. 40R (08/01/94)

B. Inter-Market Option Spreads--(See 431.03) section 5 (12/01/01)

432.00 Customers' Securities--The improper use of a customer's securities is inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade. 211 (08/01/94)

433.00 Agreement for Use of Securities--An agreement between a member and a customer, authorizing the member to pledge securities, either alone or with other securities carried for the account of the customer, either for the amount due thereon or for a greater amount, or to lend such securities, does not justify the member in pledging or loaning more of such securities than is fair and reasonable in view of the indebtedness of said customer to said member.

No form of general agreement between a member and a customer shall warrant the member in using securities carried for the customer for delivery on sales made by the member for his own account, or for any account in which the firm or corporation of said member or of any general or special partner therein is directly or indirectly interested. 212 (08/01/94)

433.01 Construction of Rules 432.00 and 433.00--A customer's wholly owned securities and/or excess collateral (securities in excess of the approximate amount required to enable the member carrying the account to finance it) must be segregated in a manner which clearly identifies their ownership. The member carrying the account shall keep a record of the location of such segregated securities and the means by which their ownership may be identified. When such securities are in the custody of another broker, the member carrying the account shall keep such other broker fully informed at all times as to the specific securities to be segregated. This Regulation applies to both odd lots and round lots. (08/01/94)

443.00 Exempt Transactions--The provisions of the Rules and Regulations respecting member rates of commission and brokerage rates shall be superseded not later than March 4, 1978. 219A (08/01/94)

444.01 Transfer Trades; Exchange of Futures for Physicals and Give-up Transactions--Transfer trades, or office trades, are defined and limited to trades made upon the books of a commission merchant for the purpose of: (a) transferring existing trades from one account to another within the same office where no change in ownership is involved; or, (b) transferring existing trades from the office of one commission merchant to the office of another commission merchant where no change in ownership is involved, provided that no such transfer may be made for the purpose of evading and avoiding delivery on such trades and provided further that if such transfer is made after receipt from the Clearing House of a notice of intention to deliver applicable to such trades, then the notice of intention to deliver must be passed through the Clearing House along with the trades so transferred and the Clearing House shall thereupon pass the notice of intention to deliver to the commission merchant to whom such transfer has been made and delivery shall be taken by such commission merchant; or, (c) exchanging futures for cash commodities or in connection with cash commodities transactions; or, (d) exchanging futures for, or in connection with, swap transactions involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index(SM) futures, Municipal Bond Index futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term (Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference) Note(sm) futures; or, (e) to establish the prices of cash commodities; or, (f) correcting errors on cleared trades, provided the original trade documentation confirms the error and the special clearing code or screen designated by the Board of Directors has been used to identify these transfers; or (g) transferring trades executed on behalf of another commission merchant from the account of the executing commission merchant to the account of the other commission merchant customer where no change of ownership is involved, provided that the special clearing code or screen designated by the Board of Directors has been used to identify these transfers. The Business Conduct Committee ("BCC") may, in its discretion, upon written request, exempt a transfer trade from the requirements of this provision providing that the transfer trade is made for the purpose of combining the positions held by two or more commodity pools which are operated by the same commodity pool operator and traded by the same commodity trading advisor, pursuant to the same strategy, into a single account so long as the transfer does not result in the liquidation of any open positions, and the pro rata allocation of interests in the consolidating account does not result in more than a de minimis change in the value of the interest of any pool participant and such other transfers as the BCC, in its discretion, shall exempt in connection with or as a result of, a merger, asset purchase, consolidation or similar non-recurring transaction between two or more entities where one or more entities become the successor in interest to one or more other entities.

Give-up transactions must be transferred in accordance with the procedure provided in subparagraph (g) above. In the case of give-up transactions, the commission merchant ("executing commission merchant") executing a trade on behalf of another commission merchant (the "carrying commission merchant") (including such carrying commission merchant's customers) must submit the trade to the Clearing House for clearing, and remains responsible for the clearing and settlement of such trade as prescribed by the Clearing House. Executing commission merchants and carrying commission merchants must utilize an automated invoicing system for commission payments resulting from give-up transactions, as determined by the Board of Directors. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the executing commission merchant, carrying commission merchant and, as applicable, the customer on the account at the carrying commission merchant for which the trade is executed, may by agreement set out their respective obligations and financial responsibility to one another relating to the transfer of the trade.

Exchange of futures in connection with cash commodity transactions or of futures for cash commodities or of futures for, or in connection with, swap transactions involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index(SM) futures, Municipal Bond Index futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term (Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference) Note(sm) futures may be made at such prices as are mutually agreed upon by the two parties to the transaction.

All transfer trades made between the offices of two commission merchants and all office trades made in connection with cash commodity transactions or the exchange of futures for cash commodities or the exchange of futures for, or in connection with, swap transactions involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index(SM) futures, Municipal Bond Index futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term (Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference) Note(sm) futures shall be designated by proper symbol as transfer or office trades and must be cleared through the Clearing House in the regular manner.

Transfer trades must be made at the same price or prices which appear on the books of the transferring commission merchant, and the transfer must also show the date when such trade or trades were originally made; provided, however, that those transfers involving a debtor as defined by and in accordance with Regulation 272.02 shall retain the original trade date for purposes of delivery but shall be entered on the books of the transferee at the settlement price on the day of the transfer. In addition, each party to transfer trade transactions shall file with the Clearing House a memorandum stating the nature of the transaction, whether the transaction has resulted in a change of ownership, the kind and quantity of cash commodity, if any is involved, the kind, quantity and price of the commodity future, the name of the opposite Clearing member, if any, and such other information as the Clearing House may require. 1809A (07/01/02)

444.01A Transfer Trades and Inter-Market Spreads - - Owing to the fact that some questions have arisen as to what may properly be handled in the way of give-ups, as office trades or transfer trades, particularly in connection with the new Commodity Exchange Act, the Directors have found it necessary to clarify this situation with certain interpretations which will be mailed to all members shortly. In the meantime, there is one point which seems important because of the past custom of the trade, and we wish to call attention to it. In case a house has spread orders between markets at a guaranteed difference, such as buying Winnipeg or Minneapolis or Kansas City and selling Chicago at a fixed difference, it has been customary in the past in the event they found some other house going the other way at the same difference to exchange futures in the two markets in order to consummate the spread. In other words, this was done by give-ups rather than by pit executions. Under the new interpretation, such a give-up is not permissible, inasmuch as it involves a change of ownership and is not a give-up against a cash transaction, as interpreted by the Commodity Exchange Act or the Board of Trade Rules. Accordingly, it will not be permissible to exchange futures in the form of give-ups under such circumstances, which will compel the actual filling of these limited spreads by means of pit executions.

While this appears to work a certain amount of hardship, it seems to be required in order to conform to the law and to the Rules of the Association; and, accordingly, attention is directed to it in order to avoid possible confusion where spreads are being worked between two markets. (08/01/94)

444.01B Prohibition on Exchange of Futures for Cash Commodities and on Exchange of Futures for, or in Connection with, Swap Transactions Involving Multi-Parties--The exchange of futures for cash commodities or in connection with cash commodity transactions or of futures for, or in connection with, swap transactions involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index futures, Municipal Bond Index futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term (Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference) Note(sm) futures may only occur when the buyer of the futures contracts is the seller of the cash commodity and the seller of the futures contracts is the buyer of the cash commodity. The transaction must be submitted to the clearing house by a clearing firm acting on its own behalf or for the beneficial account of a customer who is a party to the transaction. (07/01/02)

444.02 Clearance of Exchanges of Futures for Physicals Transactions and of Exchanges of Futures for, or in Connection with, Swap Transactions--With respect to the futures portion of an exchange of future for physical transaction or swap transaction involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index futures, Municipal Bond Index futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term (Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference) Note(sm) futures, clearing firm on opposite sides of the transaction must subsequently approve the terms of the transaction, including the clearing firm (division), price, quantity, commodity, contract month and date prior to submitting the transaction to the Clearing House. (07/01/02)

444.03 Transfer Trades in a Delivery Month--During the delivery month and 2 business days prior to the first delivery day, (or in the case of crude petroleum during position month) transfer trades for the purpose of offsetting existing positions where no change of ownership is involved are prohibited when the date of execution of the position being transferred is not the same as the transfer date. Positions carried at different houses for the same owner 2 business days prior and to a delivery month and thereafter (or in the case of crude petroleum during position month) are required to be offset in the pit or through the normal delivery process. The receiving firm has the responsibility to assure compliance with this regulation. (08/01/94)

444.04 Exchange of Futures for, or in Connection with, Swap Transactions Involving Dow Jones-AIG Commodity Index futures, Municipal Bond Index Futures, 10-Year Interest Rate Swap Futures, 5-Year Interest Rate Swap futures and Long Term and Medium Term Fannie Mae(R) Benchmark and Freddie Mac Reference Note(sm) Futures--An exchange of futures for, or in connection with, a swap transaction (EFS) consists of two discrete, but related, transactions; a swap transaction and a futures transaction. At the time such transaction is effected, the buyer and seller of the futures must be, respectively, the seller and the buyer of the swap. The swap component shall involve the commodity underlying the futures contract (or a derivative, by-product or related product of such commodity). The quantity covered by the swap must be approximately equivalent to the quantity covered by the futures contracts. (07/01/02)

444.05 Transfer Trades for the Purpose of Offsetting mini-sized Dow/sm/ Futures ($2 multiplier), mini-sized Dow/SM/ Futures ($5 multiplier), and CBOT(R) Dow Jones Industrial Average/SM/ (DJIA/SM/) Futures - With the consent of the account controller, a clearing member may offset and liquidate long mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($2 multiplier) positions against short DJIA/SM/ futures positions, or short mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($2 multiplier) positions against long DJIA/SM/ futures positions, held in the same contract month and year and in the same account in a ratio of 5 mini-sized Dow/SM/ ($2 multiplier) contracts to 1 (one) DJIA/SM/ contract. With the consent of the account controller, a clearing member may offset and liquidate long mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($5 multiplier) positions against short DJIA/SM/ futures positions, or short mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($5 multiplier) positions against long DJIA/SM/ futures positions, held in the same contract month and year and in the same account in a ratio of 2 (two) mini-sized Dow/SM/ ($5 multiplier) contracts to 1 (one) DJIA/SM/ contract. With the consent of the account controller, a clearing member may offset and liquidate long mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($2 multiplier) positions against short mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($5 multiplier) positions, or short mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($2 multiplier) positions against long mini-sized Dow/SM/ futures ($5 multiplier) positions, held in the same contract month and year and in the same account in a ratio of 5 (five) mini-sized Dow/SM/ ($2 multiplier) contracts to 2 (two) mini-sized Dow/SM/ ($5 multiplier) contracts. The clearing member shall notify the Clearing House of offsetting positions by submitting reports to the Clearing House in such form and manner as the Clearing House shall specify. The positions being offset shall be transferred to a holding account at the Clearing House and long and short positions in the same contract month in the holding account will be netted, thus reducing the number of open positions in such contract. Where applicable, the decision also shall include a statement that the respondent has accepted the penalties imposed without either admitting or denying the rule violations.

The member, member firm or other person who submits a written settlement offer to the President may withdraw it at any time before final acceptance by the Board. Once the Hearing Committee has begun hearing evidence, the Hearing Committee has exclusive settlement authority. The Business Conduct Committee, Financial Compliance Committee, Floor Governors Committee and Hearing Committee may, in their discretion, permit a respondent to accept a penalty without either admitting or denying any rule violations upon which the penalty is based. If an offer of settlement is accepted by any such Committee, it shall issue a written decision specifying the rule violations it has reason to believe were committed and any penalty to be imposed. Where applicable, the decision also shall include a statement that the respondent has accepted the penalties imposed without either admitting or denying the rule violations.

(3) Any member, member firm, wholly-owned affiliate, agricultural regular firm, other person with trading privileges, guaranteed introducing broker, or employee or associated person of any such individual or firm who fails to appear before the Committee pursuant to its request, or to submit his or its books and records to the Committee at its request, shall be guilty of an offense against the Association.

The Committee may review at any time the operations or procedures of members, member firms, wholly-owned affiliates, agricultural regular firms, any other persons with trading privileges, guaranteed introducing brokers, and any employees or associated persons of any such individuals or firms to assure compliance with the Rules and Regulations of the Association. Whenever such review discloses a condition or practice which, in the Committee's judgment, falls within the provisions of Regulation 270.01 or Regulation 540.06, it shall so advise the Chairman of the Board and recommend such action as it deems appropriate in the circumstances.

(g) Offense Against the Association. Other counterclaims are subject to arbitration by the Committee, or a Mixed Panel, only if the customer agrees to the submission after the counterclaim has arisen.

C. Other Member-Nonmember Controversies. The Arbitration Committee, and Mixed Panels constituted pursuant to Regulation 620.02, have jurisdiction to arbitrate all controversies between members and nonmembers arising out of Exchange business, other than customers' claims and grievances, where neither the claim nor the counterclaim is in excess of $50,000 and where the claim is filed no more than one year after the date of the transaction giving rise to the claim or controversy. Any party may request the arbitration of such controversy by delivering to the Administrator (1) a Statement of Claim and a ''Chicago Board of Trade Arbitration Submission Agreement" signed by all the parties or (2) a Statement of Claim and another arbitration agreement between the parties, which agreement conforms in all respects with any applicable requirements prescribed by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

*The following is the text of Regulation 620.01(B) as amended by CFTC Rule 7.201. The legality of Rule 7.201, and thus the obligation of Board of Trade members to arbitrate customer's claims and grievances, has been the subject of litigation between the Board of Trade and one of its member firms against the CFTC since 1982. On December 30, 1986, the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois declared CFTC Rule 7.201 to be invalid as an unconstitutional denial of a member firm's Seventh Amendment right to a jury trial. However, on December 22,1987, the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals overturned the District Court's decision, thereby upholding CFTC Rule 7.201. The Board of Trade, with a member firm, filed with the United States Supreme Court a petition to review the Seventh Circuit's decision. On October 3,1988, the Supreme Court denied the petition. The Supreme Court's ruling, in effect, reaffirms the Seventh Circuit's decision validating CFTC Rule 7.201 and compelling Association members, at the option of the customer, to arbitrate customer disputes arising out of Exchange business. (h) For the purpose of Rule 703.00 (c), (f) and (g), the registrant of a corporation shall be its chief executive officer or, for good cause shown, its principal managerial employee as defined in paragraph (a) above; the registrant of a partnership shall be its managing partner or, for good cause shown, its principal managerial employee as defined in paragraph (a) above; and the registrant of a limited liability company shall be its managing member or, for good cause shown, its principal managerial employee as defined in paragraph (a) above. (a) Prior to the commencement of trading, orders and quotes may be entered into the e-cbot system until the time set by the Exchange.

For the purpose of determining a particular opening price, additional orders and quotes may be entered until a time established by the Exchange; a preliminary opening price will be continuously displayed during this period (the "Pre-Opening Period"). Quotes may be individually canceled or amended during the Pre-Opening Period, but all quotes for an individual product may not collectively be changed, canceled or withdrawn from trading during this period. During the subsequent netting process, the greatest possible number of orders and quotes contained in the system shall be matched for the purpose of determining a final opening price of each option series and futures contract. The Exchange does not guarantee the execution of any order or quote at such opening price.

The Opening Period with respect to a product shall end as soon as the netting process has been completed for all option series and/or all futures contracts based on such product.

If no market orders exist for any option series or futures contract and matching between limit orders or limit orders and quotes is not possible, the Opening Period shall end without the determination of an opening price.

These orders will then be executed in the order of the times of their conversions to market orders along with any other incoming market orders, in accordance with the general principles for matching of market orders for futures contracts. Stop orders will be entered into a separate order book.

The series designation may only be used when a written, pre-determined allocation scheme that defines the series has been provided to the futures commission merchant accepting the order prior to the time that such order is given. If such information has not been provided to the futures commission merchant prior to the time of order entry, each account number must be entered into e-cbot. B. Current Month Exclusions. Limits shall not apply to trading in current month contracts on and after the second business day prior to the first day of the current month.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, limits shall remain in effect for purposes of trading agricultural contracts on e-cbot.

The provisions of Paragraph B do not apply to CBOT(R) Dow Jones/SM/ Index futures, which will be governed solely by Paragraph D.

C. Limit Bid; Limit Sellers Definitions. The terms "close on the limit bid" or "close on the limit sellers" are defined as follows:

Limit Bid. Restricted to a situation in which the market closes at an upward price limit on an unfilled bid. When a close is reported as a range of different prices, the last price quoted must be limit bid.

Limit Sellers. Restricted to a situation in which the market closes at a downward price limit on an unfilled offer. When a close is reported as a range of different prices, the last price quoted must be a limit ask.

D. Daily Price Limits and Trading Halts for CBOT Dow Jones Industrial and mini-sized Dow/SM/ Index Futures. Daily price limits and trading halts of the CBOT Dow Jones Industrial Average/SM/ Index and mini-sized Dow/SM/ Index Futures contracts shall be coordinated with trading halts of the underlying stocks listed for trading in the primary securities market.

For purposes of this regulation, the primary futures contract shall be defined as the futures contract trading in the lead month configuration in the pit, or for those contracts only listed electronically, on the electronic trading system (ETS), and the Executive Committee or its designee shall have the responsibility of determining whether the primary futures contract is limit bid or offered.

For the first day of trading in a newly listed contract, there will be an implied previous business day's settlement price, created by the Exchange for the sole purpose of establishing price limits. The implied settlement price will be created by extrapolating the annualized percentage carry between the two contract months immediately prior to the newly listed contract.

Price Limits: There shall be three successive price limits for each index, Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3, below the settlement price of the preceding regular trading session. Levels 1, 2, and 3 shall be calculated at the beginning of each calendar quarter, using the average daily closing value of each index for the calendar month prior to the beginning of the quarter. Level 1 shall be 10% of such average closing value calculation; Level 2 shall be 20% of such average closing value calculation; Level 3 shall be 30% of such average closing value calculation. For the Dow Jones Industrial Average/sm/, each Level shall be rounded to the nearest fifty points. The values of Levels 1, 2 and 3 shall remain in effect until the next calculation.

Price Limits and Trading Halts When the U.S. Primary Securities Market is Open for Regular Trading Hours: The following price limits and trading halts shall apply when the primary securities market in the United States underlying the DJIAsm is open for regular trading hours.

(a) Level 1:

Except as provided below, the Level 1 price limit shall be in effect until a trading halt has been declared in the primary securities market, trading in the primary securities market has resumed, and fifty percent (50%) of the stocks underlying the DJIA/SM/ Index (selected according to capitalization weights) have reopened. The Level 2 price limit shall apply to such reopening.

Until 1:00 p.m. Chicago time (2:00 p.m. Eastern time), the trading halt shall be a one-hour trading halt. Between 1:00 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. Chicago time (2:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Eastern time), the trading halt shall be a one-half hour trading halt.

The Level 1 price limit shall not apply after 1:30 p.m. Chicago time (2:30 p.m. Eastern time). If the futures contract is limit offered at the Level 1 price limit and a trading halt has not been declared in the primary securities market, the Level 1 price limit shall be lifted and the Level 2 price limit shall apply thereafter.

(b) Level 2:

Except as provided below, the Level 2 price limit shall be in effect until a trading halt has been declared in the primary securities market, trading in the primary securities market has resumed, and fifty percent (50%) of the stocks underlying the DJIASM Index (selected according to capitalization weights) have reopened. The Level 3 price limit shall apply to such reopening.

Until 12:00 noon Chicago time (1:00 p.m. Eastern time), the trading halt shall be a two-hour trading halt. Between 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m. Chicago time (1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. Eastern time), the trading halt shall be a one-hour trading halt. After 1:00 p.m. Chicago time (2:00 p.m. Eastern time), the trading halt declared in the primary securities market will remain in place for the rest of the primary securities market trading day.

(c) Level 3:

The Level 3 price limit shall be in effect during the entire regular daytime trading session.

Trading Halts: If the primary futures contract for the DJIA/sm/ is limit offered at either the Level 1 or Level 2 price limit as described above and there is a trading halt declared in the primary securities market, trading shall be halted for all Dow Jones/sm/ Index futures contracts that have reached their respective price limits. In the event that trading in the primary securities market resumes after a trading halt, trading in each of the Dow Jones/SM/ Index futures contracts (that have halted) shall resume only after fifty percent (50%) of the stocks underlying the DJIA/SM/ Index (selected according to capitalization weights) have reopened. The next applicable price limit enumerated above shall apply to the reopening indexes and to those indexes that had not reached their previous respective price limits during the period of the halt.

If after 1:00 p.m. Chicago time (2:00 p.m. Eastern time), the primary futures contract for the DJIAsm is limit offered at the Level 2 price limit, or if the primary futures contract for the DJIAsm is limit offered at the Level 3 price limit at any time during the trading day, and the primary securities market declares a trading halt for the rest of its trading day, the Exchange will also declare a trading halt for the rest of its trading day for all Dow Jonessm Index futures contracts that have reached their respective price limits.

If the primary futures contract for the DJIAsm trades at the Level 1, 2, or 3 price limits described above during that portion of the e-cbot trading session when the primary securities market is open for regular trading hours, trading will be halted for all Dow Jonessm futures contracts that have reached their respective price limits. In the event that e-cbot trades occur through the price limits described above, any such trades may be busted with the approval of the Exchange.

Price Limits When the U.S. Primary Securities Market is Not Open for Regular Trading Hours: When the primary securities market is not open for regular trading hours, there shall be a price limit of 10% of the average daily closing value of the index for the calendar month prior to the beginning of the quarter. The value of this limit shall remain in effect until the next calculation. This price limit shall apply above or below the previous trading day's settlement price. (07/01/02)

1008.01A Trading Limits - The Crude Soybean Oil and Soybean Meal Committee has been asked to interpret the following sentence:

"These provisions (trading limits) shall not apply to trading in the current month on or after the first notice day thereof."

The question that arises is whether this means the first business day of the delivery month or the first notice day of the contract which would be the last business day of the previous month.

The Committee is of the opinion that it is the intention of the Regulations that the meaning of the sentence includes the first notice day which is the last business day of the month preceding the delivery month. 36R (09/01/94)

1008.02 Trading Limit Corrections - Daily trading limits determined pursuant to Regulation 1008.01A (1) may be corrected as specified in this regulation only in cases where the applicable settlement price is related to an erroneous closing price quotation.

Such a correction may be made:

- - only to the level which would have been specified had the error not occurred; and

- - only if the error is identified prior to the next day's opening of trading.

Such a correction may be adopted by approvals of the relevant Pit Committee Chairman, or the Pit Committee Vice Chairman in the absence of the Pit Committee Chairman, and the Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Regulatory Compliance Committee within 15 minutes after the closing of the applicable futures contract or within 30 minutes after the closing of the applicable futures option contract. Thereafter, such a correction may be adopted by approval of the Regulatory Compliance Committee.

No such correction may be made after the next day's opening of trading. (09/01/94)

In connection with warehouse receipts currently outstanding which do not contain any such designation, it was determined that unless the designation "36 Ib. minimum test weight" appears on the face of the receipt, that the grade is considered to be 34 Ib. minimum test weight (6 cents per bushel under contract price). Except in the case of delivery on the last delivery day of a delivery month, in which case the warehouse receipt must be registered before 1:00 p.m. on the last delivery day of the delivery month, the grain warehouse receipt must be registered before 4:00 p.m. on notice day, the business day prior to the day of delivery. If notice day is the last business day of a week, grain warehouse receipts must be registered before 3:00 p.m. on that day. (03/01/00)

1043.01 Delivery of Corn and Soybeans by Shipping Certificates - Deliveries of Corn and Soybeans shall be made by delivery of Shipping Certificates issued by Shippers designated by the Exchange as regular to issue Shipping Certificates for Corn and Soybeans using the electronic fields which the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation requires to be completed. In order to effect a valid delivery each Shipping certificate must be endorsed by the holder making the delivery, and transfer as specified above constitutes endorsement. Such endorsement shall constitute a warranty of the genuineness of the Certificate and of good title thereto, but shall not constitute a guaranty, by an endorser, of performance by the issuer of the Certificate. Such endorsement shall also constitute a representation that all premium charges have been paid on the commodity covered by the certificate, in accordance with Regulation C1056.01 or Regulation S1056.10, as applicable. (05/01/01)

1043.02 Registration of Corn and Soybean Shipping Certificates - Corn and Soybean Shipping Certificates in order to be eligible for delivery must be registered with the Official Registrar and in accordance with the requirements issued by the Registrar. Registration of Corn and Soybean Shipping Certificates shall also be subject to the following requirements:

(a) Shippers who are regular for delivery may register certificates at any time. The holder of a registered certificate may cancel its registration at any time. A certificate which has been canceled may not be registered again.

(b) No notice of intention to deliver a certificate shall be tendered to the Clearing House unless said certificate is registered and in possession of the Clearing House member tendering the notice or unless a shipping certificate is registered and outstanding.

(c) When a notice of intention to deliver a certificate has been tendered to the Clearing House, said certificate shall be considered to be "outstanding" until its registration is canceled. Said certificate shall remain outstanding until either its registration is canceled or the issuing shipper declares the certificate is not outstanding. From this information and his own records of registration and of cancellations of outstanding certificates, the Registrar shall maintain a current record of the number of certificates that are outstanding and shall be responsible for posting this record on the Exchange Floor and the CBOT web site.

(d) When a registered shipper regains control of an outstanding certificate calling for shipment from one of his shipping stations, which in any manner relieves him of the obligation to ship corn or soybeans upon demand of a party other than himself, the shipper shall by noon of the next business day either cancel the registration of said certificate or declare that said certificate is not outstanding but is to remain registered by transmitting to the Registrar the certificate number and the name and location of the shipping plant, except in the case where a notice of intention to redeliver said certificate for the shipper has been tendered to the Clearing House by 4:00 p.m. of the day that the shipper regained control of said certificate.

(e) The Registrar shall not divulge any information concerning the registration, delivery or cancellation of certificates other than the record posted on the Exchange Floor, except that he shall issue a weekly report showing the total number of certificates outstanding as of 4:00 P.M. on the last trading day of each week. In addition to the information posted on the Exchange Floor, this weekly report will show the names of shippers whose certificates are outstanding and the location of the shipping stations involved. (10/01/01)

1044.01 Certificate Format - The electronic fields which the Board of Trade Clearing corporation requires to be completed shall indicate the registration number and date, shipping station, commodity, quantity, grade and class, and premium charge.

The electronic shipping certificate obligates the shipper, for value received and receipt of the certificate properly endorsed, and subject to a lien for payment of premium charges, to deliver the specified quantity of the relevant commodity conforming to the standards of the Exchange, and to ship the commodity in accordance with orders of the lawful owner of the certificate and in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Exchange. Delivery shall be by water or rail conveyance according to the Registered loading capability of the shipper.

Delivery of the electronic shipping certificate to the issuer by the owner of the certificate, for the purpose of shipment of the commodity, is conditioned upon loading of the commodity in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Exchange, and a lien is claimed until all loadings are complete and proper shipping documents presented accompanying demand draft for freight and premium charges due which the owner of the certificate agrees to honor upon presentation. (05/01/01)

1045.01 Lost or Destroyed Negotiable Warehouse Receipts Shipping Certificate

(a) Unless a federal or state law prescribes different procedures to be followed in the case of lost or destroyed warehouse receipts or shipping certificates, the following procedures shall be followed. A replacement receipt/certificate may be issued upon compliance with the conditions set forth in paragraph (b) of this Regulation. Such replacement receipt/certificate must be issued upon the same terms, must be subject to the same conditions, and must bear on its face the number and the date of the receipt/certificate in lieu of which it is issued. It must also contain a plain and conspicuous statement that it is a replacement receipt/certificate issued in lieu of a lost or destroyed receipt/certificate.

(b) Before issuing such replacement receipt/certificate, the warehouseman/shipper may require the person requesting the receipt/certificate to make and file with the warehouseman/shipper: (1) an affidavit stating that the requestor is the lawful owner of the original receipt/certificate, that the requestor has not negotiated, sold, assigned or encumbered it, how the original receipt/certificate was lost or destroyed, and if lost, that diligent effort has been made to find the receipt/certificate without success, and (2) a bond in an amount double the value, at the time the bond is given, of the commodity represented by the lost or destroyed receipt/certificate.

Such bond shall indemnify the warehouseman/shipper against any loss sustained by reason of the issuance of such replacement receipt/certificate. The bond shall have as surety thereon a surety company which is authorized to do business, and is subject to service of process in a suit on the bond, in the state in which the warehouse/shipping station, as named on the warehouse receipt/certificate, is located, or at least two individuals who are residents of such state, and each of whom owns real property in that state having a value, in excess of all exemptions and encumbrances, equal to the amount of the bond.

In the alternative, upon the approval of the U.S. Department of Agriculture where applicable, or otherwise upon the approval of the Exchange, a warehouseman/shipper may issue a replacement receipt/certificate upon the execution of an agreement by the requestor to indemnify the warehouseman/shipper against any loss sustained by reason of the issuance of such replacement receipt/certificate, in a form acceptable to the warehouseman/shipper. (04/01/00)

1046.00 Date of Delivery - Where any commodity is sold for delivery in a specified month, delivery of such commodity may be made by the seller upon such business day of the specified month as the seller may select and, if not previously delivered, delivery must be made upon the last business day of the specified month; provided, however, that the Exchange may, by Regulation pertaining to a particular commodity, prescribe specific days or dates within such specified month on which delivery of such commodity may or may not be made. 284 (09/01/94)

1046.00A Location for Buying or Selling Delivery Instruments - In order to facilitate liquidation of outstanding contracts during the final seven business days of a delivery month (Regulation 1009.03) floor brokers, locals and clearing or non-clearing members who need warehouse receipts or shipping certificates in order to make delivery or who anticipate receiving warehouse receipts or shipping certificates on delivery and wish to dispose of them may meet at 2:00 p.m. on the last day of trading in an expiring future at the cash grain table between the corn and soybean pits to make arrangements for the acquisition or disposition of such receipts or certificates.

All actual deliveries against outstanding futures positions must, in any event, be made by sellers through the Clearing House and will be received by buyers through the Clearing House. 34R (09/01/94)

1047.01 Delivery Notices - A seller obligated or desiring to make delivery of a commodity shall issue and deliver to the Clearing House a delivery notice containing the name and business address of the issuer; the date of issue; the date of delivery; the name of the commodity; the total contracted quantity in satisfaction of which the delivery is being tendered and such other information as the Regulatory Compliance Committee shall direct in regard to any particular commodity.

A delivery notice shall be furnished to the Clearing House in computer readable form. The Clearing House, acting as agent for the seller, shall provide the notice to the buyer.

The seller or its agent shall reduce the notice to written form and retain a copy of the notice for the period of time required by the Commodity Futures Commission.

Upon determining the buyers obligated to accept deliveries tendered by issuers of delivery notices, the Clearing House shall promptly furnish to each issuer the names of the buyers obligated to accept delivery from him for each commodity for which a notice was tendered and shall also inform the issuer of the number of contracts for which each buyer is obligated. Failure of the seller to object to such assignment by 7:00 a.m. on intention day shall establish an irrebuttable presumption that the issuance of the delivery notice was authorized by the person in whose name the notice was issued. (09/01/94)

1048.01 Method of Delivery - Delivery notices must be delivered to the Clearing House which shall assign the deliveries to clearing members (buyers) having contracts to take delivery of the same amounts of the same commodities. The Clearing House shall notify such clearing members of the deliveries which have been assigned to them and shall furnish to issuers of delivery notices the names of clearing members obligated to accept their deliveries. Clearing Members receiving delivery notices shall assign delivery to the oldest open contracts on their books at the close of business on the previous day (position day). 286 (09/01/94)

1049.00 Time of Delivery, Payment, Form of Delivery Notice - The requirements of the form of delivery notice, time of delivery, and payment shall be fixed by the Regulatory Compliance Committee. 287 (09/01/94)

1049.01 Time of Issuance of Delivery Notice - Unless a different time is prescribed by Regulation pertaining to a particular commodity, delivery notices must be delivered to the Clearing House by 4:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on position day except that, on the last notice day of the delivery month, delivery notices may be delivered to the Clearing House until 2:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on intention day. The Clearing House shall, on the same day, assign the deliveries to eligible buyers as provided in Regulation 1048.01 and shall issue to each such buyer a delivery assignment notice describing the delivery which has been assigned to him. (12/01/99)

1049.01B Interpretation: Sellers' Obligation for Storage Charges - The Directors have issued the following interpretation of Rule 1042.00, Rule 1041.00, and Regulation 1049.01 in connection with the time the responsibility for storage charges changes from seller to buyer.

The responsibility for storage charges shall remain the obligation of the seller until such time as the warehouse receipts or weight certificates are presented to the buyer and payment is made therefore in conformity with the Regulations concerning payment. (09/01/94)

1049.02 Buyers' Report of Eligibility to Receive Delivery - Prior to 8:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, of each day on which delivery notices may be delivered to the Clearing House, each clearing member shall report to the Clearing House, at such times and in such manner as shall be prescribed by the Clearing House, the amounts of its purchases of the various commodities then eligible for delivery which remain open on its books in accordance with law and with the Rules and Regulations of the Association. Such reports shall show the dates on which such purchases were made, and shall exclude purchases to which the clearing member has applied deliveries assigned to it but which remain open on its books pending receipt of delivery. With respect to omnibus accounts, the reports described above shall show the dates on which such purchases were made, as reflected on the ultimate customers' account statements. (12/01/99)

1049.03 Sellers' Invoices to Buyers - Upon receipt of the names of the buyers obligated to accept delivery from him and a description of each commodity tendered by him which was assigned by the Clearing House to each such buyer, the seller shall prepare invoices addressed to its assigned buyers describing the documents to be delivered to each such buyer and, in the case of deliveries under Rule 1041.00, the information required in said Rule. Such invoices shall show the amount which buyers must pay to sellers in settlement of the actual deliveries, based on the delivery prices established by the Clearing House for that purpose adjusted for applicable premiums, discounts, storage charges, premium charges, premium for FOB conveyance, quantity variations and other items for which provision is made in these Rules and Regulations relating to contracts, and shall be in the form set forth hereunder unless a different form is prescribed by Regulation pertaining to a particular commodity. Such invoices shall be delivered to the Clearing House by 10:00 a.m. for those commodities utilizing the electronic delivery system via the Clearing House's on-line system or 4:00 p.m. for other commodities, or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on the day of intention except on the last notice day in the delivery month when a skeleton notice has been delivered to the Clearing House, in which case invoices for said delivery may be delivered to the Clearing House until 10:00 a.m. on the last delivery day of the delivery month. Upon receipt of such invoices, the Clearing House shall promptly make them available to buyers to whom they are addressed, by placing them in buyers' mail boxes provided for that purpose in the Clearing House, except that invoices for all commodities utilizing the electronic delivery system shall be made available to buyers via the Clearing House's on-line system.

Financial instruments futures contracts will follow the invoicing procedure that is prescribed in the respective contract's invoicing regulation. Delivery invoicing forms for financial instruments futures contracts shall be restricted to that form which the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation specifically provides.

1049.04 Transfer Obligations - Payment is to be made in same day funds 1) by a check drawn on and certified by a Chicago bank or 2) by a Cashier's check issued by a Chicago bank. The long clearing member may effect payment by wire transfer only if this method of payment is acceptable to the short clearing member. Unless a different time is prescribed by Regulation pertaining to a particular commodity, buyers obligated to accept delivery must take delivery and make payment and sellers obligated to make delivery must make delivery before 1:00 p.m. of the day of delivery, except on banking holidays when delivery must be taken or made and payment made before 9:30 a.m. the next banking business day. Adjustments for differences between contract prices and delivery prices established by the Clearing House shall be made with the Clearing House in according with its By-Laws and Resolutions. 1639 (05/01/97)

1050.00 Duties of Members - Members shall deliver warehouse receipts, bills of lading, shipping certificates or demand certificates tendered for delivery pursuant to the Rules and Regulations of the Association and in accordance with the assignment thereof to eligible buyers by the Clearing House, and shall make no other disposition thereof. A member who alters or makes a false endorsement on a notice of assignment of delivery issued by the Clearing House under Rule 1048.00, for the purpose of avoiding acceptance of the delivery specified, therein, should be deemed guilty of an act detrimental to the Welfare of the Association. 288 (09/01/94)

1051.01 Office Deliveries Prohibited - No office deliveries of warehouse receipts or shipping certificates may be made by members of the Clearing Corporation. Where a commission house as a member of the Clearing Corporation has an interest both long and short for customers on its own books, it must tender to the Clearing Corporation such notices of intention to deliver as it receives from its customers who are short. 1870 (03/01/00)

1052.00 Delivery of Grain in Cars (Chicago only) - Regular deliveries of contract grades of grain on contracts for future delivery may be made in cars on track during the last three business days in the delivery month subject to the following:

(a) Cars must be within the Chicago District, in a railroad yard where samples are taken by an official grain inspection agency approved by the U.S.D.A.

(b) Cars must be consigned or ordered to a regular warehouse.

(c) Delivery shall not be complete until the grain is unloaded and warehouse receipts or weight certificates are issued therefor unless the buyer elects otherwise. During this time, title to the grain remains in the seller, the purchase price is not payable, and the seller remains liable for any change in grade. The buyer, however, may elect and order the cars unloaded at any other place where they will be weighed provided the buyer makes payment in advance. In making such election and paying in advance the buyer assumes title and all responsibility for any change in grade occuring after the original inspection as provided in subsection (d) of this Rule and for any and all charges occasioned by such election of the buyer.

(d) Grain delivered in cars on track in settlement of futures contracts must be inspected during the last four delivery days of the delivery month by an official grain inspection agency approved by the U.S.D.A. In the event another grade determination is made subsequent to date of tender and the original grade is changed, the delivery will not be disqualified as a result thereof. Price adjustment will be made between the buyer and the seller at the prevailing fair market difference based on the cost of replacement. In the event of a dispute, the Chairman of the Regulatory Compliance Committee will appoint an impartial committee of three to fix a fair and proper differential.

(e) Deliveries of grain in cars shall be made by the tender of delivery notices based on the shippers' certificates of weight (if attached thereto) or railroad weights, or, in the absence of such weights, the marked capacity of the cars.

(f) Where there is an excess or deficit upon delivery, such excess or deficit shall be settled for on the basis of the market price at the time when such excess or deficit becomes known to both parties; provided that the buyer, if he so elects, may cancel the contract as to any deficit.

(g) On all grain tendered under this Rule, the party making the original tender shall keep on file and deliver on request, at tenderer's option, the samples of the official grain inspection agency.

(h) Delivery of wheat, corn, oats or soybeans in cars shall be for quantities of 5,000 bushels or multiples thereof. 283 (03/01/00)

1052.00A Track Deliveries -

1. Under subparagraph (d) of Rule 1052.00 when notices of intention to deliver are issued on the day prior to the three days during which regular deliveries may be made in carlots, the requirement that the delivery notice be accompanied by certificate showing approval by the Illinois State Grain Inspection Department for storage must be attached to the delivery notice will be satisfied if that certificate is furnished the next day.

2. During the last three delivery days of the month split notices of delivery may be tendered, that is to say, part of the notice may cover grain in store and part of the notice may cover grain in cars on track. 14R (03/01/00)

1052.00B Track Deliveries - The matter of the origin of grain which may be delivered in satisfaction of futures contracts under Rule 1052.00 (Delivery of Grain in Cars), was brought before the Directors. After a discussion upon motion duly made, seconded, and unanimously carried, it was

Resolved, only grain arriving in cars from points outside of the Chicago Switching District and which has not previously been unloaded at a warehouse in the Chicago Switching District may be delivered in satisfaction of futures contracts under Rule 1052.00; and

Further Resolved, that grain loaded in cars from warehouses in the Chicago Switching District shall not be deliverable in satisfaction of futures contracts under said Rule 1052.00. 23R (09/01/94)

1052.00C Track Deliveries -

1. The question was submitted to the Directors as to whether or not under Rule 1052.00 (Delivery of Grain in Cars) out-of-town weights can be used on carlot deliveries provided there is an agreement between the buyer and seller. It was the ruling of the Directors and the Rules Committee that under the provisions of this Rule out-of-town weights may not be used even where mutual agreement might exist.

2. The question was submitted to the Directors as to whether deliveries of grain in cars might be settled on the aggregate or on the basis of individual contracts under Rule 1052.00.

   The Directors and the Rules Committee held that the settlement must be made on the individual contracts of 5,000, 2,000, 1,000 bushels or multiples thereof, and may not be settled on the aggregate.

3. The Directors and the Rules Committee have made the following interpretation of Regulation 1047.01 (Delivery Notice). A person issuing a skeleton notice on the last notice day in a delivery month must by 10:00 a.m. on the next day furnish all information which is required on the usual delivery notice. A person re-issuing a skeleton notice on the first position day of a successive delivery month (i.e. -the next calendar month) must furnish all information which is required on the usual delivery notice by 1:00 p.m. on first notice day. 23R (05/01/95)

1054.00 Failure to Accept Delivery - Where a buyer to whom a delivery has been assigned by the Clearing House under Regulation 1048.01 fails to take such delivery and make payment when payment is due, the seller tendering such delivery shall promptly sell the commodity on the open market for the account of the delinquent. He shall then immediately notify the Clearing House of the default, the contract price, and the re-sale price, and the Clearing House shall immediately serve a like notice upon the delinquent. Thereupon the delinquent shall be obligated to pay to the seller, through the Clearing House, the difference between the contract price and the re-sale price. 289 (05/01/95)

1054.00A Failure to Accept Delivery - Rule 1054.00 provides that when a buyer fails to take delivery and make payment at the prescribed time, the issuer of the delivery 'shall promptly sell the commodity on the open market for the account of the delinquent'.

Does this mean that the seller is to sell the warehouse receipts in the cash market or sell futures in the pit and make a new tender? Also, what is the meaning of the term 'promptly'? If the deliverer, thinking to accommodate the delinquent, waits until 1:10, at which time the market is 5 lower than at 1:00 has he assumed any liability because of the delay? If it is the warehouse receipts which are to be sold out, what determines the market price? Frequently an elevator operator will pay more for his own receipts than for another's; or a processor may pay a higher basis for one grade than another, grade differential to the contrary. If futures are to be sold in the pit, who then is responsible for the mechanics of tender and the assumption of interest?

The Board approved the opinion of the Rules Committee that the seller must have the right to act in either the cash or futures market at his discretion without recourse on the part of the defaulting buyer so long as action is taken prior to 9:45 A.M. the next business day. 38R (09/01/94)

1056.01 Storage Rates for Wheat and Oats and Premium Charges for Corn and Soybeans - To be valid for delivery on futures contracts, all warehouse receipts and shipping certificates covering wheat and oats in regular store or under obligation for shipment must indicate the applicable storage rate or premium charge. No warehouse receipts or shipping certificates shall be valid for delivery on futures contracts unless the storage rates or premium charges on such grain shall have been paid up to and including the 18th calendar day of the preceding month, and such payment endorsed on the warehouse receipt or shipping certificate. Unpaid accumulated storage rates and premium charges at the posted rate applicable to the warehouse or shipping station where the grain is stored or under obligation for shipment shall be allowed and credited to the buyer by the seller to and including date of delivery. Further, no wheat or oats warehouse receipt shall be valid for delivery if the receipt has expired prior to delivery or has an expiration date in the month in which delivered. 1641

If storage rates or premium charges are not paid on-time up to and including the 18th calendar day preceding the delivery months of March, July and September and by the first calendar day of each of these delivery months, a late charge will apply. The late charge will be an amount equal to the total unpaid accumulated storage rates multiplied by the "prime interest rate" in effect on the day that the accrued storage rates are paid plus a penalty of 5 percentage points, all multiplied by the number of calendar days that storage is overdue, divided by 360 days. The term "prime interest rate" shall mean the lowest of the rates announced by each of the following four banks at Chicago, Illinois, as its "prime rate": Bank of America-Illinois, Bank One Harris Trust & Savings Bank, and the Northern Trust Company.

The storage rates on Wheat and premium charges on corn and Soybeans for delivery shall not exceed 15/100 of one cent per bushel per day.

The storage rates on Oats for delivery shall not exceed 13/100 of one cent per bushel per day. (11/01/01)

1081.01 Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates - Persons operating grain warehouses or shippers who desire to have such warehouses or shipping stations made regular for the delivery of grain under the Rules and Regulations shall make application for an initial Declaration of Regularity on a form prescribed by the Exchange prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for a two-year term beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and at any time during a current term for the balance of that term. Regular grain warehouses or shippers who desire to increase their regular capacity during a current term shall make application for the desired amount of total regular capacity on the same form. Initial regularity for the current term and increases in regularity shall be effective either thirty days after a notice that a bona fide application has been received is posted on the floor of the exchange, or the day after the application is approved by the Exchange, whichever is later. Applications for a renewal of regularity shall be made prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for the respective years beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and shall be on the same form.

The following shall constitute the requirements and conditions for regularity:

(1) The warehouse or shipping station making application shall be inspected by the Registrar or the United States Department of Agriculture. Where application is made to list as regular a warehouse which is not regular at the time of such application, the applicant may be required to remove all grain from the warehouse and to permit the warehouse to be inspected and the grain graded, after which such grain may be returned to the warehouse and receipts issued therefor.

See Regulation 10C81.01(1)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Corn futures contracts.

See Regulation 10S81.01(1)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Soybean futures contracts.

(2) Such warehouse shall be connected by railroad tracks with one or more railway lines.

See Regulation 10C81.01(2)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Corn futures contracts.

See Regulation 10S81.01(2)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Soybean futures contracts.

(3) The proprietor or manager of such warehouse or shipping station shall be in good financial standing and credit, and shall meet the minimum financial requirements and financial reporting requirements set forth in Appendix 4E. No warehouse or shipping station shall be declared regular until the person operating the same files a bond and/or designated letter of credit with sufficient sureties in such sum and subject to such conditions as the Exchange may require.

(4) Such warehouse or shipping station shall be provided with modern improvements and appliances for the convenient and expeditious receiving, handling and shipping of grain in bulk.

(5) The proprietor or manager of such warehouse or shipping station shall honestly and cordially cooperate with the system of registration of warehouse receipts or shipping certificates as established by law, and furnish to the Registrar all needed information to enable him to keep a correct record and account of all grain, together with the grades thereof, received and delivered by them daily and of that remaining in store at close of each week.

(6) Safeguarding Condition of Grain in Warehouses.

(a) The Board of Trade shall designate an agency for registration of public warehouse receipts, and only public warehouse receipts registered with such agency shall be within the provisions of paragraph (b) following.

(b) Whenever in the opinion of the operator of the warehouse any grain stored in a public warehouse under his jurisdiction should be loaded out in order to protect the best interests of the parties concerned, such operator shall notify the agency giving the location and grades of such grain. The agency shall immediately notify an appropriate grain inspection service who shall at once proceed to the warehouse in which the grain is stored and examine it in conjunction with the Superintendent of such warehouse. If the grain inspection service agrees with the Superintendent that the grain should be moved, it shall so notify the Registrar of the Chicago Board of Trade. If the grain inspection service does not agree with the Superintendent that the grain should be moved, the operator of the warehouse shall have a right to appeal to the Business Conduct Committee of the Board of Trade. If on such appeal the Business Conduct Committee shall agree with the Superintendent that the grain should be moved, the Business Conduct Committee shall so notify the Registrar of the Board of Trade, and the warehouse receipts covering the above specified lot or lots of grain shall no longer be regular for delivery on Board of Trade future contracts. Upon receiving such notice, either from the grain inspection service, or from the Business Conduct Committee, the Registrar shall notify the holder, or holders, or their agents, together with the Chairman of the Business Conduct Committee, of the total quantity of the grade of grain in question (selecting the oldest registered warehouse receipt for such grain first, then such additional registered warehouse receipts in the order of their issuance as may be necessary to equal such total quantity of grain). When this information reaches the Chairman of the Business Conduct Committee he shall appoint a Committee consisting of five disinterested handlers of cash grain, which Committee shall meet at once and after taking into consideration various factors that establish the value of the grade of the receipts held by such owner or owners, shall determine the fair value of the grain, which price shall be that to be paid by the operator. If the price offered is not satisfactory, a Committee appointed by the Chairman of the Business Conduct Committee (at the request of such owner), shall procure other offers for such grain, and such offers shall be immediately reported to the owner or his agent. If the owner refuses to accept any such offers, he shall have the two following business days to order and furnish facilities for loading such grain out of store, and during this period the warehouseman shall be obliged to deliver the grain called for by the warehouse receipts, but not more than three (3) days may elapse after notification by the Registrar to the holder of the receipt before satisfactory disposition shall have been made of the grain, either by sale to the operator or by the ordering out and furnishing facilities to load the same, provided the amount of such grain does not exceed 100,000 bushels in any one elevator. If the amount of grain in question exceeds 100,000 bushels, the owner, or owners, of the warehouse receipts shall be allowed forty-eight hours of grace over and above the before mentioned three days for each 100,000 bushels in excess of the first 100,000 bushels.

(c) In the event that the holder of the warehouse receipt, or his agent, fails to move the grain or make other satisfactory disposition of same within the prescribed time, it shall be held for his account, and any loss in grade sustained shall likewise be for his account.

(d) Nothing in the foregoing provisions shall be construed as prohibiting the warehouseman from fulfilling contracts from other stocks under his control.

(7) The proprietor or manager of such warehouse shall promptly, by the proper publication, advise the trade and the public of any damage to grain held in store by it, whenever such damage shall occur to an extent that will render it unwilling to purchase and withdraw from store, at its own cost, all such damaged grain.

(8) The Board shall be assured that the operator or manager of the warehouse or shipping station will agree to conform to Regulation 1049.03.

(9) The proprietor or manager of such warehouse shall accord every facility to any duly authorized committee, for the examination of its books and records, for the purpose of ascertaining the stocks of all kinds of grain which may be on hand at any time. Such examination and verification may be made at any time by the Business Conduct Committee or its approved inspection agents or, any other duly authorized committee to be appointed by the Chairman of the Board, which committee shall have the authority to employ experts to determine the quantity of grain in the elevators and to compare the books and records of the said regular warehouses with the records of the State or Federal Grain Warehouse Registrar.

(10) The proprietor or manager of a regular warehouse or shipping station shall give assurance that all grain received in and shipped out of such warehouse shall be weighed under the supervision of an agency approved by the Exchange.

(11) No warehouse or shipping station shall be deemed suitable to be declared regular if its location, accessibility, tariffs, insurance rates, or other qualifications shall depart from uniformity to the extent that its receipts or shipping certificates, if tendered in satisfaction of futures contracts, will unduly depress the values of futures contracts or impair the efficacy of futures trading in this market, or if the warehouseman or shipper operating such warehouses or shipping stations engaged in unethical or inequitable practices, or if, being a federally licensed warehouse, fails to comply with the federal statute, rules or regulations, or, being a state licensed Warehouse, fails to comply with the state statutes, rules and regulations.

All warehousemen and shippers are and shall be and remain subject to the Rules, Regulations and Rulings of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago on all subjects and in all areas with respect to which the U.S. Department of Agriculture does not assert jurisdiction pursuant to the U.S. Warehouse Act, as amended.

A regular warehouseman or an owner of warehouse receipts can make delivery in a strike bound elevator. The taker of delivery is liable for all storage charges. However, where the owner of warehouse receipts in a strike bound elevator delivered against futures contracts has a bona fide bid for like receipts in a strike free elevator and decides to load the grain out or sell his receipts, the strike bound warehouseman has the option:

(a) to provide that same quantity and like quality of grain in store in another regular warehouse, not on strike, in the same delivery market, or

(b) to provide that same quantity and like quality of grain in store at another location on mutually acceptable terms, or

(c) if no initial agreement can be reached as provided above, the strike bound warehouseman must buy his warehouse receipts back at the bid price in store for that same quantity and like quality of grain in a strike free elevator in the same delivery market or he has the alternative of proceeding as in (a) above. The bid (which must be a basis bid versus futures) referred to in this paragraph must be good for a minimum period of one hour and must be tendered in writing to the strike bound warehouseman between 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on a business day and prior to 8:30 a.m., but not before 7:30 a.m., on the following business day.

The warehouseman must respond to the bid as outlined above within the time period during which the bid is alive.

Should the warehouseman question the validity of the bid, the question shall be referred to a Standing Committee which shall have been appointed on an annual basis by the Chairman of the Board, with the approval of the Board. The Committee shall consist of three members including one regular warehouseman with suitable alternates. In case the strike bound elevator involved is in a market other than that directly represented by the warehouseman appointed, the Chairman may designate a member in said alternate market who is familiar with cash grain values in that market. The sole duty of the Committee shall be to determine that the bid is bona fide. The Committee shall not express any opinion with respect to the economics of the bid.

Within the context of this Regulation, a strike bound elevator is defined as the facility itself being on strike.

The maximum load-out charge on wheat and oats which has been tendered in satisfaction of the Board of Trade futures contracts shall be 6 cents per bushel.

The maximum premium for FOB conveyance on Corn and Soybean Shipping Certificates which have been tendered in satisfaction of Board of Trade futures contracts shall be 4 cents per bushel.

All fees for stevedoring services to load Corn and Soybeans into barges are to be paid by the issuer of the Corn or Soybean Shipping Certificate.

The premium for FOB conveyance is payable at the time of invoice.

(12) Load-Out Procedures.

A. Load-Out Procedures Grains -

1. Corn and Soybeans; Wheat from Chicago, Burns Harbor and St. Louis; and Oats from Chicago and Burns Harbor. An operator of a regular facility has the obligation of loading grain represented by warehouse receipts or shipping certificates giving preference to takers of delivery. When an operator of a facility regular for the delivery of grain receives one or more written loading orders for loading of grain against canceled warehouse receipts or shipping certificates, the operator shall begin loading against them within 3 business days following their receipt. When loadings against written loading orders cannot be completed on the fourth business day following their receipt, the operator shall continue loading against such loading orders on each business day thereafter. All warehousemen and shippers shall outload grain against canceled delivery instruments consecutively without giving preference of the type of delivery instrument, kind of grain or mode of transportation. He shall outload all such products in the order in which suitable transportation, clean and ready to load is constructively placed at his facility by the holder of the warehouse receipt or shipping certificate, pursuant to bona fide loading orders previously received, and at the loading rates provided in part B of this Regulation.

2. Wheat from Toledo and Oats from Minneapolis-St. Paul - All warehousmen shall inload and outload all agricultural products consecutively without giving preference to the products owned by him over the products of others, and without giving preference to one depositor over another. He shall inload all such products consecutively in the order in which they arrive at his warehouse, pursuant to the inloading orders previously received so far as the warehouse capacity for grain and grade permits. He shall outload all such product s in the order in which suitable transportation, clean and ready to load is constructively placed at his warehouse by the holder of the warehouse receipt, pursuant to bona fide outloading orders previously received, except as provided in part B of this Regulation.

It shall be the responsibility of the warehouse receipt or shipping certificate holder to supply suitable transportation. Hopper cars shall be considered suitable transportation if they can be sampled by pelican in a manner approved by the appropriate grain sampling agency. Trucks and non-suitable hopper cars may be loaded only with the express agreement of the warehouseman.

Constructive placement at a warehouse or shipping station shall be defined as follows:

(1) Rail cars-as defined in the appropriate Railroad Freight Tariff on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission;

(2) Barges-Positioned at an appropriate fleeting service serving the designated delivery point;

(3) Vessels-In possession of the appropriate Federal Grain Inspection Service and/or National Cargo Bureau documents certifying readiness to accept load-out at the designated delivery point.

It shall be the responsibility of the warehouse receipt or shipping certificate holder to request the warehouseman to arrange for all necessary Federal Grain Inspection Service and stevedoring service. The warehouse receipt or shipping certificate holder may specify the stevedoring service to be called. The warehouseman shall not be held responsible for non-availability of these services.

B. Load-Out Rates for Grain - In the event a regular grain warehouse or shipping station receives written loading orders for load-out of grain against canceled warehouse receipts or shipping certificates, the warehouseman or shipper shall be required to load out grain beginning on the third business day following receipt of such loading orders or on the day after a conveyance of the type identified in the loading orders is constructively placed, whichever occurs later. The rate of load-out for warehouses in Toledo and Minneapolis-St. Paul shall be at the normal rate of load-out for the facility and the load-out rate for all grain warehouses and shipping stations shall depend on the conveyance and type of grain being loaded and shall not be less than the following per business day:

	Rail Conveyance or Water Conveyance
	(When receipt holder requests in writing individual weights and grades per car load)	(When receipt holder requests in writing batch weights and grades)/1/	Vessel or	Barge
Wheat, Corn, Soybeans	25 Hopper Cars	35 Hopper Cars	300,000 Bushels	3 Barges
Oats	15 Hopper Cars	20 Hopper Cars	180,000 Bushels	2 Barges

/1/ A batch weight and grade shall refer to a buyer's request in writing for 1 weight and 1 grade per 5 rail cars.

Barge load-out rates for corn and soybeans will be at the shipping station's registered daily rate of loading. When wheat and corn or soybeans or when oats and corn or soybeans are in the lineup for loading, the higher loading rate will apply for total barge loadings on that day. However, a warehouseman or shipper is not obligated to load barges of one type of grain that exceeds the daily barge loading rate for that type of grain. Corn and soybeans are considered one type of grain for this regulation pertaining to barge loading rates.

Regular grain warehouses and shipping stations shall not be required to meet these minimum load-out rates when transportation has not been actually placed at the warehouse, transportation equipment is not clean and load ready, inspection services are not available, a condition of force majeure exists, inclement weather prevents loading, or stevedoring services are not available in the case of water conveyance. However, the exceptions to load-out requirements shall not include grains or soybeans which have not made grade.

In addition, regular warehouses in Toledo and Minneapolis-St. Paul shall not be required to meet the minimum load-out rate for a conveyance when a "like" conveyance has been constructively placed for load-in prior to the "like" conveyance for load-out. However, when a conveyance for load-out is constructively placed after a "like" conveyance for load-in, the warehouse will load-in grain from the "like" conveyance at the normal rate of load-in for the facility. This rate of load-in shall depend on the conveyance(s) being unloaded and shall not be less than the following minimums per business day:

	Rail Conveyance or Water Conveyance
		Vessel or	Barge
Wheat, Corn, Soybeans	35 Hopper Cars	50,000 Bushels	1 Barge
Oats	20 Hopper Cars	50,000 Bushels	1 Barge

Regular warehouses shall not be required to meet these minimum load-in rates when a condition of force majeure exists, inspection services are not available, inclement weather prevents unloading, or stevedoring services are not available in the case of water conveyance.

Any increased overtime costs and charges for trimming and FGIS to meet minimum load-out requirements shall be borne by warehouseman.

Vessel loading shall require 3 days pre-advice to warehouseman prior to the date of arrival of the vessel. Failure to provide pre advice may delay loading by the same number of days pre-advice is delayed prior to date of arrival of the vessel.

Inability of a warehouse receipt holder to provide conveyance at an elevator in a timely manner will affect load-out of barges accordingly.

For purposes of this regulation, vessel and barge are "like" conveyances.

C. Notification to Warehouse - The warehouse operator or shipping station shall load-in and load-out grains in the order and manner provided in parts A and B of this Regulation, except that his obligation to load-out grain to a given party shall commence no sooner than three business days after he receives cancelled warehouse receipts and written loading orders from such party, even if such party may have a conveyance positioned to accept load-out of grain before that time. If the party taking delivery presents transportation equipment of a different type (rail, barge, or vessel) than that specified in the loading orders, he is required to provide the warehouse operator with new loading orders, and the warehouse operator shall be obligated to load-out grain to such party no sooner than three business days after he receives the new loading orders. Written loading orders received after 2:00 p.m. (Chicago time) on a given business day shall be deemed to be received on the following business day.

D. Storage and Premium Charges - Storage payments [and Premium Charges] on [grain] wheat and oats to be shipped pursuant to loading orders shall cease on the tenth business day after suitable transportation is constructively placed for load-out or loading is complete, whichever is earlier. Premium charges for corn and soybeans to be shipped pursuant to loading orders shall cease on the business day loading is complete.

E. Records - All warehousemen and shippers shall keep adequate permanent records showing compliance with the requirements of this Regulation. Such records shall at all times be open for inspection by the designated official or officials of the contract market.

F. Certification of Corn, Soybeans and Wheat - Effective September 1, 1992 and upon written request by a taker of delivery at the time loading orders are submitted for the delivery of corn, soybeans or wheat against canceled warehouse receipts, the delivery warehouseman shall certify in writing to the taker of delivery on the day that the transportation conveyance is loaded that the grain is of U.S. origin only. Warehouse receipts issued prior to September 1, 1992 will be deliverable against futures contracts beginning September 1992 only if the regular warehouseman provides certification on the warehouse receipt that the U.S. origin-only option is available to the taker of delivery of corn, soybeans and wheat.

G. Barge Load-Out Procedures for Corn and Soybeans - When corn or soybeans represented by shipping certificates are ordered out for shipment by water conveyance, the regular shipper has the obligation to load-out grain at his registered daily rate of loading. The shipper's obligation shall begin to a party no sooner than 3 business days after he receives canceled certificates and written loading orders from the party or 1 business day after the constructive placement of the water conveyance, whichever is later.

(1) All loading orders and shipping instructions received prior to 2:00 p.m. on a given business day shall be considered dated that day and shall be entitled to equal treatment. Orders received after 2:00 p.m. on a business day shall be considered dated the following business day. Loading against all loading orders dated on a given business day shall be completed before loading begins on any loading orders dated on a subsequent business day.

(2) When loading orders and shipping instructions are received by 2:00 p.m. of any given business day, the shipper will advise the owner by 10:00 a.m. the following business day of loading dates and tonnage due. Notification will be by telephone, telex or telefax.

(3) Official grades as loaded into the water conveyance shall govern for delivery purposes.

(4) Official weights as loaded into the barge shall govern for delivery purposes when available, otherwise, it is the responsibility of the taker to obtain official weights at the destination. Any other governing weights and methods of obtaining weights and any such other information on the weighing process must be mutually accepted by the maker and taker of delivery before the barge is loaded. When the official weight becomes known for a barge, overfills and underfills will be settled on the market value, expressed as a basis, for grain FOB barge at the barge loading station on the day that the grain is loaded. Before the barge is loaded, the taker and maker of delivery will agree on a basis over or under the nearby futures that overfills and underfills will be settled on. On the day that the weight tolerance becomes known to both parties, the flat price settlement will be established by applying the basis to the nearby futures month settlement price on the day of unloading or the day of loading if origin weights are used. If the day of unloading is the last trading day in the nearby futures month, the next following futures month will be used for settlement. If the day of unload is not a business day, the next following business day will be used to establish the flat price. In order to convert the agreed upon basis on the day that the grain was loaded to a basis relative to the current nearby futures month, the futures spread on the day of loading will be used, provided that, the nearby futures did not close outside of the price limits set for all other futures months. In this case, the spread on the first following business day that the nearby futures closed within the price limits applicable for all other futures months would be used.

(5) The shipper shall not be required to meet his minimum daily barge load-out rate when transportation has not been actually placed at the shipping station, transportation equipment is not clean and load ready, inspection services are not available, a condition of force majeure exists, or inclement weather prevents loading. However, the exceptions to load-out requirements shall not include corn or soybeans that have not made grade.

(6) For Illinois Waterway barge loading at Burns Harbor, Regulation 1081.01(13)(A.)(a) pertaining to the protection of the Chicago barge rate and inclement weather will apply.

(7) Any expense for making the grain available for loading on the Illinois Waterway will be borne by the party making delivery, provided that the taker of delivery presents barge equipment clean and ready to load within 10 calendar days following the scheduled loading date of the barge on the Illinois Waterway. If the taker's barges are not made available within 10 calendar days following the scheduled loading date of the barge on the Illinois Waterway or the taker cancels loading instructions and requests that cancelled shipping certificates be re-issued, the taker shall reimburse the shipper for any expenses for making the grain available. Taker and maker of delivery have three days to agree to these expenses.

(8) The shipper shall load water conveyance at the shipping station designated in the Shipping Certificate. If it becomes impossible to load at the designated shipping station because of an Act of God, fire, flood, wind, explosion, war, embargo, civil commotion, sabotage, law, act of government, labor difficulties or unavoidable mechanical breakdown, the shipper will arrange for water conveyance to be loaded at another regular shipping station in conformance with the Shipping Certificate and will compensate the owner for any transportation loss resulting from the change in the location of the shipping station. If the aforementioned condition of impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping stations, then shipment may be delayed for the number of days that such impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping stations.

(9) See Regulation 10C81.01(12)G(9)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Corn futures contracts.

See Regulation 10S81.01(12)G(9)-Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates for Soybean futures contracts.

(10) In the event less than eleven shipping certificates of a like grade/quality are outstanding at a shipping station the owner of all such outstanding shipping certificates may cancel the shipping certificates and obligate the shipper to provide a market value at which the shipper will either buy back all the canceled shipping certificates or sell the balance of Corn or Soybeans of a like grade/quality to complete a barge loading of at least 55,000 bushels, the choice being at the discretion of the taker of delivery.

(13) Location.

A. Corn. See Regulation 10C81.01(13)-Location for Corn futures contracts.

No such warehouse or shipping station within the Chicago Switching District shall be declared regular unless it is conveniently approachable by vessels of ordinary draft and has customary shipping facilities. Ordinary draft shall be defined as the lesser of (1) channel draft as recorded in the Lake Calumet Harbor Draft Gauge, as maintained by the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, minus one (1) foot, or (2) 20 feet.

Delivery in Burns Harbor must be made "in store" in regular elevators or by shipping certificate at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to normal seaway draft of 27 feet.

In addition, deliveries of grain may be made in regular elevators or shipping stations within the Burns Harbor Switching District PROVIDED that:

(a) When grain represented by warehouse receipts or shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by a barge, it will be the obligation of the party making delivery to protect the barge freight rate from the Chicago Switching District (i.e. the party making delivery and located in the Burns Harbor Switching District will pay the party taking delivery an amount equal to all expenses for the movement of the barge from the Chicago Switching District, to the Burns Harbor Switching District and the return movement back to the Chicago Switching District).

If inclement weather conditions make the warehouse or shipping station located in the Burns Harbor Switching District unavailable for barge loadings for a period of five or more calendar days, the party making delivery will make grain available on the day following this five calendar day period to load into a barge at one mutually agreeable water warehouse or shipping station located in the Chicago Switching District; PROVIDED that the party making delivery is notified on the first day of that five-day period of inclement weather that the barge is available for movement but cannot be moved from the Chicago Switching District to the Burns Harbor Switching District, and is requested on the last day of this five day calendar period in which the barge cannot be moved.

(b) When grain represented by warehouse receipts or shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by vessel, and the party taking delivery is a recipient of a split delivery of grain between a warehouse or shipping station located in Burns Harbor and a warehouse or shipping station in Chicago, and the grain in the Chicago warehouse or shipping station will be loaded onto this vessel; it will be the obligation of the party making delivery at the request of the party taking delivery to protect the holder of the warehouse receipts or shipping certificates against any additional charges resulting from loading at one berth in the Burns Harbor Switching District and at one berth in the Chicago Switching District as compared to a single berth loading at one location. The party making delivery, at his option, will either make the grain available at one water warehouse or shipping station operated by the party making delivery and located in the Chicago Switching District for loading onto the vessel, make grain available at the warehouse in Burns Harbor upon the surrender of warehouse receipts or shipping certificates issued by other regular elevators or shipping stations located in the Chicago Switching District at the time vessel loading orders are issued, or compensate the party taking delivery in an amount equal to all applicable expenses, including demurrage charges, if any, for the movement of the vessel between a berth in the other switching district. On the day that the grain is ordered out for shipment by vessel, the party making delivery will declare the regular warehouse or shipping station in which the grain will be available for loading.

See Regulation 10C81.01(13)-Location for Corn futures contracts.

B. Oats. For the delivery of oats, regular warehouses may be located within the Chicago Switching District or within the Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District (subject to the provisions of paragraph A above) or within the Minneapolis, Minnesota or St. Paul, Minnesota Switching Districts.

Delivery in the Minneapolis or St. Paul Switching District must be made "in store" in regular elevators providing barge-loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to the average draft of the current barge loadings in the Minneapolis and St. Paul barge-loading districts.

However, deliveries of oats may be made in interior off-water elevators within the Minneapolis or St. Paul Switching District, PROVIDED that the party making delivery makes the oats available upon call within seven calendar days to load into a barge at one river location in the Minneapolis or St. Paul barge-loading district. The party making delivery must declare, within one business day after receiving warehouse receipts and loading orders, the river location at which the oats will be made available. Any additional expense incurred to move delivery oats from an off-water elevator into barges shall be borne by the party making delivery; PROVIDED that the party taking delivery presents barge equipment clean and ready to load within fifteen calendar days from the time warehouse receipts and loading orders are tendered to the delivering party.

Official weights and official grades as loaded into the barge shall govern for delivery purposes.

C. Wheat. For the delivery of wheat, regular warehouses may be located within the Chicago Switching District or within the Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District (subject to the provisions of Paragraph A above), within the Toledo, Ohio Switching District, or with respect to only No. 1 Soft Red Winter and No. 2 Soft Red Winter Wheat, within the St. Louis-East St. Louis or Alton Switching Districts.

Delivery in Toldeo must be made "in store" in regular elevators providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to normal seaway draft of 27 feet.

However, deliveries of wheat may be made in off-water elevators within the Toledo, Ohio Switching District PROVIDED that the party making delivery makes the grain available upon call within five calendar days to load into water equipment at one water location within the Toledo, Ohio Switching District. The party making delivery must declare within one business day after receiving warehouse receipts and loading orders the water location at which wheat will be made available.

Any additional expense incurred to move delivery grain from an off-water elevator into water facilities shall be borne by the party making delivery; PROVIDED that the party taking delivery presents water equipment clean and ready to load within fifteen calendar days from the time the grain has been made available.

Official weights and official grades as loaded into the water equipment shall govern for delivery purposes.

Delivery in the St. Louis-East St. Louis or Alton Switching Districts must be "in store" in regular elevators providing barge loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to the average draft of the current barge loadings in the St. Louis-East St. Louis and Alton barge loading districts.

D. Soybeans. See Regulation 10S81.01(13)-Location for Soybean futures contracts.

(14) Billing

A. Wheat, Corn, Soybeans and Oats (Chicago delivery). The Chicago warehouseman is not required to furnish transit billing on grain represented by warehouse receipt deliveries in Chicago, Illinois. Delivery shall be flat.

B. Oats (Minneapolis, St. Paul delivery).

(1) When oats represented by warehouse receipts delivered in Minneapolis or St. Paul are ordered out for shipment by rail, it shall be the obligation of seller to furnish, no later than when cars are placed or constructively placed at the elevator, to the party taking delivery, inbound Freight Bills (rail tonnage or order equivalent truck or barge tonnage) protecting the applicable proportional rate applicable to Chicago from the warehouse in which the grain is located. The Freight Bills shall be for the kind and quantity of the commodity designated by the warehouse receipt and must permit such commodity to be shipped at the minimum proportional rate applicable to Chicago effective as of the date of shipment from point of origin shown by the Freight Bill.

(a) Delivery at Minneapolis. When delivery is made at an elevator within the Minneapolis Switching District, such Freight Bills must permit one further free transit stop at interior transit points or be accompanied by a check to cover one such transit stop.

(b) Delivery at St. Paul. When delivery is made at an elevator within the St. Paul Switching District, such Freight Bills must permit one further free transit stop at interior transit points, or be accompanied by a check to cover such transit stop, and in addition must also permit movement to industries within the switching limits of Minneapolis at no greater cost than the maximum switching charges between industries located with the switching limits of Minneapolis.

(2) In lieu of the Freight Bills or order equivalent tonnage specified above, seller may furnish to the party taking delivery "short-rate" Freight Bills or make compensation as specified in Section (b).

(a) "Short-rate" Freight Bills (which otherwise conform to the requirements of this Regulation). "Short-rate" Freight Bills shall be accompanied by a certified check, or other acceptable payment, in an amount equal to the difference between the freight charges which would be incurred in shipping the quantity of the commodity from Minneapolis to Chicago (based on the proportional rate applicable in connection with such "short-rate" Freight Bills) and the freight charges for such shipment based on the minimum proportional tariff rate applicable in connection with Freight Bills other than "short-rate" Freight Bills showing shipment from points of origin as of the same date as the "short-rate" Freight Bills furnished.

(b) Compensation in Lieu of Freight Bills or order equivalent tonnage. A certified check or other acceptable payment may be substituted for Freight Bills provided it is in an amount equal to the difference between the freight charges which would be incurred in shipping the commodity from Minneapolis to Chicago based on the flat tariff rate effective as of the date of loading for rail shipment and the charges for such shipment based on the minimum proportional tariff rate effective as of the same date.

(3) Due Bills issued by the Western Weighing and Inspection Bureau may be used when necessary in lieu of Freight Bills that conform to the provisions of this Regulation. Such Due Bills may be surrendered by the seller to the party loading out delivery grain by rail when such Freight Bills are not yet available because of the unloading of the commodity into an elevator during the last few days of the delivery month or on the delivery of "Track" grain. Such Due Bills shall specify the date, origin and rate of the Freight Bills in lieu of which they are issued and shall be completely filled out except for the signature.

(4) The term Freight Bills as used in this Regulation means the recorded inbound paid Freight Bills, authorized duplicates thereof, or tonnage credit slips, conforming to the rules and regulations of Western Trunk Line Tariff No. 331-Z, Fred Ofcky, Agent, ICC No. A-4774, amendments thereto or reissues thereof.

C. Wheat (Toledo and St. Louis delivery). The warehouseman is not required to furnish transit billing on wheat represented by warehouse receipts delivery in Toledo, Ohio, St. Louis, Missouri, East St. Louis, Illinois, or Alton, Illinois. Delivery shall be flat.

D. Corn See Regulation 10C81.01(14)-Billing for Corn futures contracts.

E. Soybeans See Regulation 10S81.01(14)-Billing for Soybean futures contracts.

F. Wheat, Corn, Soybeans and Oats (Burns Harbor Delivery). When grain represented by warehouse receipts delivered in Burns Harbor is ordered out for shipment by rail, it will be the obligation of the party making delivery to protect the Chicago rail rate, if lower, which would apply to the owner's destination had a like kind and quantity of grain designated on warehouse receipts been loaded out and shipped from a regular warehouse located in the Chicago Switching District. If grain is loaded out and shipped to an industry in the Chicago Switching District, the party making delivery will protect the minimum, crosstown switch charge in the Chicago Switching District.

When rail loading orders are submitted, the party taking delivery shall state in writing if he elects to receive the applicable rail rates from Burns Harbor or Chicago. If the party taking delivery specifies Burns Harbor, the party making delivery will load rail cars at the Burns Harbor warehouse and will not be required to protect the Chicago rates.

If the party taking delivery specifies Chicago rates, the party making delivery will declare on the day that the grain is ordered out for shipment by rail, the warehouse at which the grain will be made available, which is operated by the party making delivery and is located either in the Burns Harbor or the Chicago Switching Districts. If the declared warehouse is located in the Chicago Switching District, the party making delivery will provide only that billing specified in Regulation 1081.01(14)A.

However, if the declared warehouse is located in Burns Harbor and the rail rate from Chicago or the minimum Chicago crosstown switch charge requires protection, the party making delivery will compensate the party taking delivery. The compensation shall be in an amount equivalent to the difference of the freight charges from Burns Harbor and the freight charges which would be applicable had the grain been loaded at and shipped from a warehouse located in the Chicago Switching District to the owner's destination.

(15) All applications for a declaration of regularity or for renewal of regularity, in an amount in excess of previously approved regularity will be subject to a diligent and prudent analysis by the Exchange to insure that the warehouseman or shipper meets all rules and regulations prescribed by the Board of Trade and that the grant of regularity for the requested storage capacity or maximum number of certificates allowed to be issued, or any part thereof, will not unduly distort the values of grain futures contracts or impair the efficacy of futures trading in these markets.

(16) Persons operating regular warehouses or shipping stations shall be subject to the Association's Rules and Regulations pertaining to arbitration procedures, as set forth in Chapter 6, and, with respect to compliance with Rules and Regulations pertaining to a warehouse's or shipper's regularity, shall be subject to the Association's Rules and Regulations pertaining to disciplinary procedures, as set forth in Chapter 5.

(17) Persons operating regular warehouses or shipping stations shall consent to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Exchange for five years after such regularity lapses, for conduct pertaining to regularity which occurred while the warehouse or shipping station was regular. (06/01/02)

1081.01A Inspection - Chicago Elevators - Any Grain Warehouses in Chicago, regular for the delivery of grain under the Rules and Regulations of the Association, shall require inbound and outbound inspections as mandated by the U.S. Grain Standards Act and/or the U.S. Warehouse Act.

Nothing herein shall negate the rights of persons shipping grain into or out of such Warehouses to request and obtain on such grain official sample lot inspections as defined in the U.S. Grain Standards Act, and such inspections or any appeal therefrom, shall be the settlement grade.

When grain is delivered in satisfaction of warehouse or shipping certificate, receipts, the holder of the warehouse receipts or shipping certificates shall be entitled to an official sample lot inspection as defined in the U.S. Grain Standards Act unless otherwise agreed. 3R (03/01/00)

1081.01B Billing When Grain is Loaded Out - The Board makes the following interpretations:

1. Is it then the obligation of the operator of the elevator to have such billing on hand backing all deliveries -or only (as the Regulation seems to state) when such grain is loaded out?

   The Regulations are explicit in stating that billing need be available when such grain is loaded out. The warehouseman makes the decision and takes the risk at the time of delivery and any time until the grain is ordered loaded if he does not have billing.

2. What is meant by equities?

   Equities are defined in the Regulation and do not include values occasioned by changes in freight rates as they would apply to the outboard movement. 43R (09/01/94)

1081.01C Car of Specified Capacity - Where a seller of an 80,000 Ib. capacity car shows conclusively that an 80,000 Ib. capacity car was ordered, and the railroad for its own convenience provided a 100,000 Ib. capacity car, the basis for settlement should be the same as though an 80,000 Ib. capacity car had been supplied. 14R (09/01/94)

1082.00 Insurance - Grain covered by warehouse receipts tendered for delivery must be insured against the contingencies provided for in a standard "All Risks" policy (including earthquake) to such an extent and in such amounts as required by the Board of Directors. It shall be the duty of the operators of all regular warehouses to furnish the Exchange with either a copy of the current insurance policy or policies, or a written confirmation from the insurance company that such insurance has been effected. 292 (08/01/96)

1082.00A Insurance - The warehouseman shall insure grain and soybeans covered by warehouse receipts tendered for delivery against the contingencies provided for in the standard "All Risks" policy (including earthquakes). (09/01/94)

1083.00 Variation Allowed - Deliveries of grain in store may vary not more than one percent from the quantity contracted for: provided, however, that no lot in any one warehouse shall contain less than 5,000 bushels of any one grade. 291 (09/01/94)

1083.01 Excess or Deficiency in Quantity - In the load-out of grain from an elevator or warehouse, the quantity of gross grain covered by the warehouse receipt shall be loaded out, and any excess or deficiency between the quantity of net grain loaded out and the quantity of net grain covered by the warehouse receipt shall be paid for to or by (as the case may be) the elevator or warehouse proprietor or manager at the average market price on the day of load-out: the buyer to pay storage on the net weight covered by the warehouse receipt. In the event that in the final out-turn there is a shortage in the gross quantity called for in the receipt, the net quantity of grain required by the receipt shall be the factor in settlement, and any variation therefrom in the net amount of grain loaded out against the receipt shall be paid for by the elevator or warehouse proprietor or manager to the owner of the receipt at the average market price on the day of load-out. In the load-out of grain the gross quantity of grain, which includes dockage shall not exceed the net quantity by more than one percent.

Ch10C Regularity of Issuers of Shipping Certificates

C1081.01 Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates -Persons operating grain warehouses or shippers who desire to have such warehouses or shipping stations made regular for the delivery of grain under the Rules and Regulations shall make application for an initial Declaration of Regularity on a form prescribed by the Exchange prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for a two-year term beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and at any time during a current term for the balance of that term. Regular grain warehouses or shippers who desire to increase their regular capacity during a current term shall make application for the desired amount of total regular capacity on the same form. Initial regularity for the current term and increases in regularity shall be effective either thirty days after a notice that a bona fide application has been received is posted on the floor or the exchange, or the day after the application is approved by the Exchange, whichever is later. Applications for a renewal of regularity shall be made prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for the respective years beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and shall be on the same form.

The following shall constitute the requirements and conditions for regularity:

(1) The warehouse or shipping station making application shall be inspected by the Registrar or the United States Department of Agriculture. Where application is made to list as regular a warehouse which is not regular at the time of such application, the applicant may be required to remove all grain from the warehouse and to permit the warehouse to be inspected and the grain graded, after which such grain may be returned to the warehouse and receipts issued therefor.

The operator of a shipping station issuing Corn Shipping Certificates shall limit the number of Shipping Certificates issued to an amount not to exceed:

(a) 20 times his registered total daily rate of loading barges, or in the case of Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching Districts, his registered storage capacity,

(b) and a value greater than 25 percent of the operator's net worth.

The shipper issuing Corn Shipping Certificates shall register his total daily rate of loading barges at his maximum 8 hour loadout capacity in amount not less than:

(a) one barge per day at each shipping station within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District, within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District, within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District, within the Havana-Grafton Shipping District, and within the St. Louis-East St. Louis and Alton Switching Districts, and

(b) three barges per day at each shipping station in the Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District.

(2) Shippers located in the Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District shall be connected by railroad tracks with one or more railway lines.

10C81.01(3) through 10C81.01(12)G(8) - (see 1081.01(3) through 1081.01(12)G(8))

10C81.01(12)G(9) In the event that it has been announced that river traffic will be obstructed for a period of fifteen days or longer as a result of one of the conditions of impossibility listed in regulation 1081.01(12)(G)(8) and in the event that the obstruction will affect a majority of regular shipping stations, then the following barge load-out procedures for Corn shall apply to shipping stations upriver from the obstruction:

(a) The maker and taker of delivery may negotiate mutually agreeable terms of performance.

(b) If the maker and/or the taker elect not to negotiate mutually agreeable terms of performance, then the maker is obligated to provide the same quantity and like quality of grain pursuant to the terms of the shipping certificate(s) with the following exceptions and additional requirements:

(i) The maker must provide loaded barge(s) to the taker on the Illinois River between the lowest closed lock and St. Louis, inclusive, or on the Mid-Mississippi River between Lock 11 at Dubuque, Iowa and St. Louis, inclusive.

(ii) The loaded barge(s) provided to the taker must have a value equivalent to C.I.F. NOLA, with the maker of delivery responsible for the equivalent cost, insurance and freight.

(iii) The taker of delivery shall pay the maker 18 cents per bushel for Chicago and Burns Harbor Switching District shipping certificates, 16 cents per bushel for Lockport-Seneca District shipping certificates, 15 1/2 cents per bushel for Ottawa-Chillicothe District shipping certificates, and 15 cents per bushel for Peoria-Pekin District shipping certificates, as a reimbursement for the cost of barge freight.

(c) In the event that the obstruction or condition of impossibility listed in regulation 1081.01(12)(G)(8) will affect a majority of regular shipping stations, but no announcement of the anticipated period of obstruction is made, then shipment may be delayed for the number of days that such impossibility prevails.

10C81.01(13) Location - For the delivery of Corn, regular warehouses or shipping stations may be located within the Chicago Switching District or within the Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District or within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District or within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District or within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District.

No such warehouse or shipping station within the Chicago Switching District shall be declared regular unless it is conveniently approachable by vessels of ordinary draft and has customary shipping facilities. Ordinary draft shall be defined as the lesser of (1) channel draft as recorded in the Lake Calumet Harbor Draft Gauge, as maintained by the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, minus one (1) foot, or (2) 20 feet.

Delivery in Burns Harbor must be made "in store" in regular elevators or by shipping certificate at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to normal seaway draft of 27 feet.

In addition, deliveries of grain may be made in regular elevators or shipping stations within the Burns Harbor Switching District PROVIDED that:

(a) When grain represented by shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by a barge, it will be the obligation of the party making delivery to protect the barge freight rate from the Chicago Switching District (i.e. the party making delivery and located in the Burns Harbor Switching District will pay the party taking delivery an amount equal to all expenses for the movement of the barge from the Chicago Switching District, to the Burns Harbor Switching District and the return movement back to the Chicago Switching District).

If inclement weather conditions make the warehouse or shipping station located in the Burns Harbor Switching District unavailable for barge loadings for a period of five or more calendar days, the party making delivery will make grain available on the day following this five calendar day period to load into a barge at one mutually agreeable water warehouse or shipping station located in the Chicago Switching District; PROVIDED that the party making delivery is notified on the first day of that five-day period of inclement weather that the barge is available for movement but cannot be moved from the Chicago Switching District to the Burns Harbor Switching District, and is requested on the last day of this five day calendar period in which the barge cannot be moved.

(b) When grain represented by shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by vessel, and the party taking delivery is a recipient of a split delivery of grain between a warehouse or shipping station located in Burns Harbor and a warehouse or shipping station in Chicago, and the grain in the Chicago warehouse or shipping station will be loaded onto this vessel; it will be the obligation of the party making delivery at the request of the party taking delivery to protect the holder of the shipping certificates against any additional charges resulting from loading at one berth in the Burns Harbor Switching District and at one berth in the Chicago Switching District as compared to a single berth loading at one location. The party making delivery, at his option, will either make the grain available at one water warehouse or shipping station operated by the party making delivery and located in the Chicago Switching District for loading onto the vessel, make grain available at the warehouse or shipping station in Burns Harbor upon the surrender of shipping certificates issued by other regular elevators or shipping stations located in the Chicago Switching District at the time vessel loading orders are issued, or compensate the party taking delivery in an amount equal to all applicable expenses, including demurrage charges, if any, for the movement of the vessel between a berth in the other switching district. On the day that the grain is ordered out for shipment by vessel, the party making delivery will declare the regular warehouse or shipping station in which the grain will be available for loading.

Delivery within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District or within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District or within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District or within the Havana-Grafton Shipping District must be made at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to the draft of the Illinois River maintained by the Corps of Engineers.

Ch10S Regularity of Issuers of Shipping

S1081.01 Regularity of Warehouses and Issuers of Shipping Certificates - Persons operating grain warehouses or shippers who desire to have such warehouses or shipping stations made regular for the delivery of grain under the Rules and Regulations shall make application for an initial Declaration of Regularity on a form prescribed by the Exchange prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for a two-year term beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and at any time during a current term for the balance of that term. Regular grain warehouses or shippers who desire to increase their regular capacity during a current term shall make application for the desired amount of total regular capacity on the same form. Initial regularity for the current term and increases in regularity shall be effective either thirty days after a notice that a bona fide application has been received is posted on the floor or the exchange, or the day after the application is approved by the Exchange, whichever is later. Applications for a renewal of regularity shall be made prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for the respective years beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and shall be on the same form.

The following shall constitute the requirements and conditions for regularity:

(1) The warehouse or shipping station making application shall be inspected by the Registrar or the United States Department of Agriculture. Where application is made to list as regular a warehouse which is not regular at the time of such application, the applicant may be required to remove all grain from the warehouse and to permit the warehouse to be inspected and the grain graded, after which such grain may be returned to the warehouse and receipts issued therefor.

The operator of a shipping station issuing Soybean Shipping Certificates shall limit the number of Shipping Certificates issued to an amount not to exceed:

(a) 20 times his registered total daily rate of loading barges, or in the case of Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching Districts, his registered storage capacity,

(b) and a value greater than 25 percent of the operator's net worth.

The shipper issuing Soybean Shipping Certificates shall register his total daily rate of loading barges at his maximum 8 hour loadout capacity in amount not less than:

(a) one barge per day at each shipping station within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District, within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District, within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District, within the Havana-Grafton Shipping District, and within the St. Louis-East St. Louis and Alton Switching Districts, and

(b) three barges per day at each shipping station in the Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District.

(2) Shippers located in the Chicago, Illinois and Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District shall be connected by railroad tracks with one or more railway lines.

10S81.01(3) through 10S81.01(12)G(8) - (see 1081.01(3) through 1081.01(12)G(8))

10S81.01(12)G(9) In the event that it has been announced that river traffic will be obstructed for a period of fifteen days or longer as a result of one of the conditions of impossibility listed in regulation 1081.01(12)(G)(8) and in the event that the obstruction will affect a majority of regular shipping stations, then the following barge load-out procedures for soybeans shall apply to shipping stations upriver from the obstruction:

(a) The maker and taker of delivery may negotiate mutually agreeable terms of performance.

(b) If the maker and/or the taker elect not to negotiate mutually agreeable terms of performance, then the maker is obligated to provide the same quantity and like quality of grain pursuant to the terms of the shipping certificate(s) with the following exceptions and additional requirements:

(i) The maker must provide loaded barge(s) to the taker on the Illinois River between the lowest closed lock and St. Louis, inclusive, or on the Mid-Mississippi River between Lock 11 at Dubuque, Iowa and St. Louis, inclusive.

(ii) The loaded barge(s) provided to the taker must have a value equivalent to C.I.F. NOLA, with the maker of delivery responsible for the equivalent cost, insurance and freight.

(iii) The taker of delivery shall pay the maker 18 cents per bushel for Chicago and Burns Harbor Switching District shipping certificates, 16 cents per bushel for Lockport-Seneca District shipping certificates, 15 1/2 cents per bushel for Ottawa-Chillicothe District shipping certificates, 15 cents per bushel for Peoria-Pekin District shipping certificates, and 14 1/2 cents per bushel for Havana-Grafton District shipping certificates as a reimbursement for the cost of barge freight.

(c) In the event that the obstruction or condition of impossibility listed in regulation 1081.01(12)(G)(8) will affect a majority of regular shipping stations, but no announcement of the anticipated period of obstruction is made, then shipment may be delayed for the number of days that such impossibility prevails.

10S81.01(13) Location - For the delivery of Soybeans, regular warehouses or shipping stations may be located within the Chicago Switching District or within the Burns Harbor, Indiana Switching District or within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District or within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District or within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District or within the Havana-Grafton Shipping District or in the St. Louis-East St. Louis and Alton Switching Districts.

No such warehouse or shipping station within the Chicago Switching District shall be declared regular unless it is conveniently approachable by vessels of ordinary draft and has customary shipping facilities. Ordinary draft shall be defined as the lesser of (1) channel draft as recorded in the Lake Calumet Harbor Draft Gauge, as maintained by the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, minus one (1) foot, or (2) 20 feet.

Delivery in Burns Harbor must be made "in store" in regular elevators or by shipping certificate at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to normal seaway draft of 27 feet.

In addition, deliveries of grain may be made in regular elevators or shipping stations within the Burns Harbor Switching District PROVIDED that:

(a) When grain represented by shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by a barge, it will be the obligation of the party making delivery to protect the barge freight rate from the Chicago Switching District (i.e. the party making delivery and located in the Burns Harbor Switching District will pay the party taking delivery an amount equal to all expenses for the movement of the barge from the Chicago Switching District, to the Burns Harbor Switching District and the return movement back to the Chicago Shipping District).

If inclement weather conditions make the warehouse or shipping station located in the Burns Harbor Switching District unavailable for barge loadings for a period of five or more calendar days, the party making delivery will make grain available on the day following this five calendar day period to load into a barge at one mutually agreeable water warehouse or shipping station located in the Chicago Switching District; PROVIDED that the party making delivery is notified on the first day of that five-day period of inclement weather that the barge is available for movement but cannot be moved from the Chicago Switching District to the Burns Harbor Switching District, and is requested on the last day of this five day calendar period in which the barge cannot be moved.

(b) When grain represented by shipping certificates is ordered out for shipment by vessel, and the party taking delivery is a recipient of a split delivery of grain between a warehouse or shipping station located in Burns Harbor and a warehouse or shipping station in Chicago, and the grain in the Chicago warehouse or shipping station will be loaded onto this vessel; it will be the obligation of the party making delivery at the request of the party taking delivery to protect the holder of the shipping certificates against any additional charges resulting from loading at one berth in the Burns Harbor Switching District and at one berth in the Chicago Switching District as compared to a single berth loading at one location. The party making delivery, at his option, will either make the grain available at one water warehouse or shipping station operated by the party making delivery and located in the Chicago Switching District for loading onto the vessel, make grain available at the warehouse or shipping station in Burns Harbor upon the surrender of shipping certificates issued by other regular elevators or shipping stations located in the Chicago Switching District at the time vessel loading orders are issued, or compensate the party taking delivery in an amount equal to all applicable expenses, including demurrage charges, if any, for the movement of the vessel between a berth in the other switching district. On the day that the grain is ordered out for shipment by vessel, the party making delivery will declare the regular warehouse or shipping station in which the grain will be available for loading.

Delivery within the Lockport-Seneca Shipping District or within the Ottawa-Chillicothe Shipping District or within the Peoria-Pekin Shipping District or within the Havana-Grafton Shipping District must be made at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to the draft of the Illinois River maintained by the Corps of Engineers.

Delivery in the St. Louis-East St. Louis and Alton Switching District must be made at regular shipping stations providing water loading facilities and maintaining water depth equal to the draft of the Mississippi River maintained by the Corps of Engineers. (12/01/00)

1243.01 Registration of Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates - Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates in order to be eligible for delivery must be registered with the Official Registrar and in accordance with the requirements issued by the Registrar. (b) No notice of intention to deliver a certificate shall be tendered to the Clearing House unless said certificate is registered and in the possession of the Clearing House member tendering the notice or unless a shipping certificate is registered and outstanding.

(c) When a notice of intention to deliver a certificate has been tendered to the Clearing House, said certificate shall be considered to be "outstanding" until its registration is cancelled. The member issuing such notice shall transmit to the Registrar, at the same time the notice is tendered to the Clearing House, the certificate number and the name of the registered shipper. Said certificate shall remain outstanding until either the registration is cancelled or the issuing shipper declares the certificate is not outstanding. Ch12 Regularity of Issuers of Shipping Certificates
1290.01 Loading and Shipment of Meal Against Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates -

(a) The operator of a shipping plant issuing Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates shall limit the number of Shipping Certificates issued to an amount not in excess of 15 times its registered total daily rate of loading plus the amount of meal or flakes in store (not limited to meal meeting minimum contract standards). All such meal or flakes in store must be stored in facilities for which the capacity has been registered with the Board of Trade and which have been inspected by the Registrar. The shipper shall register his total daily rate of loading covered hopper cars at not less than 40% nor more than 100% of his maximum 24 hour soybean meal production capacity. Each plant must be regular for a minimum total daily rate of loading of 200 tons per day.

(b) Each regular plant must also register a daily rate of loading for truck. The daily rate of loading for truck must be registered at not less than 40% of the registered total daily rate of loading for the plant.

(c) Each regular plant shall be required to load-out soybean meal against cancelled Shipping Certificates at a daily rate equivalent to the greater of either its registered total daily rate of loading, or 1/21st of the total amount of soybean meal represented by Shipping Certificates issued by the plant but not yet loaded.

(d) Each regular plant shall be required to load covered hopper cars against Shipping Certificates at a rate not greater than that established in paragraph (c), and trucks at a rate not greater than that determined by multiplying the rate established in paragraph (c) by the share of the registered total daily rate of loading registered by the plant as its daily rate of loading for truck. However, on days when rail and truck loading against Shipping Certificates takes place concurrently, the required daily rate of loading into each conveyance shall be determined by prorating the rate established in paragraph (c).

(e) The shipper shall assess a premium charge of 7 cents per ton per calendar day for each day a Soybean Meal Shipping Certificate is outstanding starting the day after the date of registration by the Registrar. When rail loading orders specify shipment within four business days the premium charge shall continue through the business day following the receipt of loading orders. Otherwise, the premium charge shall continue through the day of rail loading. "Business days" are those on which the Exchange is open for trading Soybean Meal. In the case of shipment by truck, the premium charge shall continue through the day of loading.

(f) The shipper shall maintain, in the immediate vicinity of the Exchange, either an office, or a duly authorized representative or agent approved by the Exchange, where owners of Shipping Certificates may pay premium charges, surrender properly endorsed Shipping Certificates for cancellation and file loading orders and shipping instructions.

(g) Rail Loading Procedures

(1) The owner requesting rail load-out will furnish written rail loading orders and shipping instructions to the shipper by the close of business on the first business day following the date of cancellation of the Shipping Certificates in the Registrar's office. The loading orders shall specify if rail equipment will be the owner's (including leased cars) or shall specify the owner's election as to the type and size of covered hopper car to be ordered by the shipper. The shipper will load covered hopper cars with a capacity of 75 tons or larger. Loadings will be in bulk, and shipments will be subject to the existing freight tariff Rules and Regulations of the railroads on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission at the time of loading. The shipper is responsible for loading suitable railroad owned or leased cars or owner's cars (including leased cars) which are available for loading at the facility. Owner and shipper will cooperate to ensure timely placement and loading of rail equipment or alternate shipping modes.

(2) All loading orders and shipping instructions received prior to 2:00 p.m. on a given business day shall be considered dated that day and shall be entitled to equal treatment. Orders received after 2:00 p.m. on a business day shall be considered dated the following business day. Loading against all rail loading orders dated on a given business day shall be completed before loading begins on any rail loading orders dated on a subsequent business day subject to the provisions of subparagraph 4 of this paragraph.

(3) When rail loading orders and shipping instructions are received by 2:00 p.m. of any given business day, the shipper will advise the owner by 10:00 a.m. the following business day of loading dates and tonnage due. Notification will be by telephone, telex or telefax.

(4) When a shipper has received one or more rail loading orders and shipping instructions, he shall begin loading against them within 4 business days following their receipt, unless the owner requests a deferred loading date in his loading orders. When loadings against rail loading orders cannot be completed on the fourth following business day of their receipt, the shipper shall continue loading against such loading orders on each calendar day thereafter. Shipping instructions are to be provided to the Shipper by the owner 2 business days before loading is to begin. The shipper shall load at the rate specified in paragraph (d) of this Regulation.

(5) When loading against rail loading orders and shipping instructions received by a shipper prior to 2:00 p.m. on a given business day cannot be completed by the fourth following business day, the shipper shall allocate daily loadings against such loading orders as equitably as possible on a pro-rata basis. Starting of loading against small orders may be delayed until the first day when pro-ration entitles such an order to an allocation of a full car, but in such a case loading of the last car against the order shall be accelerated by the same number of days as loading of the first car was delayed.

(6) The shipper shall load cars at the shipping plant designated in the Shipping Certificate. If it becomes impossible to load at the designated shipping plant because of an Act of God, fire, flood, wind, explosion, war, embargo, civil commotion, sabotage, law, act of government, labor difficulties or unavoidable mechanical breakdown, the shipper will arrange for covered hopper cars to be loaded at another regular shipping plant in conformance with the Shipping Certificate and will compensate the owner for any transportation loss resulting from the change in the location of the shipping plant. If the aforementioned condition of impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping plants, then shipment may be delayed for the number of days that such impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping plants.

(7) Rail loading orders involving one or more Shipping Certificates shall be considered as one lot. The minimum amount shipped against each loading order shall be the number of Shipping Certificates specified therein times 100 tons. A tolerance of 5 tons over the total may be shipped to be settled at the market price at the time of shipment of the last car of the order.

(8) Rail cars must be loaded to "full visible capacity" unless tonnage on cancelled shipping certificates does not cover rail car capacity.

(9) The owner will be responsible for whatever demurrage costs that are involved in loading multiple car or trainload shipments. All demurrage charges must be substantiated with a citation of car numbers loaded against cancelled Shipping Certificates either by proper notations on the shipper's average demurrage agreement with the carrier or actual demurrage bills rendered against cars shipped. 2078

(h) Truck Loading Procedures

(1) The owner requesting truck load-out shall furnish written loading orders and shipping instructions to the shipper by the close of business on the first business day following the date of cancellation of Shipping Certificates in the Registrar's Office. The owner shall supply the trucks. Open-top trucks with a minimum capacity of 20 tons must be provided. No vans or trucks with porthole loading shall be acceptable. Owner and shipper shall cooperate to ensure timely placement and loading of truck equipment.

(2) All truck loading orders and shipping instructions received prior to 2:00 p.m on any given business day shall be considered dated that day and shall be entitled to equal treatment. Orders received after 2:00 p.m. on a business day shall be considered dated the following business day.

(3) When truck loading orders and shipping instructions are received by 2:00 p.m. on any given business day, the shipper will advise the owner of loading dates and tonnage due by 10:00 a.m. the next business day. Notification will be by telephone, telex or telefax.

(4) The shipper shall begin loading against truck loading orders and shipping instructions on the fourth business day after their receipt. The shipper shall load at the rate specified in paragraph (d) of this Regulation.

(5) Truck loading shall occur during normal truck loading hours, as declared in the plant's application for regularity, and on normal business days. "Normal business days" shall be those on which the Exchange is open for trading Soybean Meal futures.

(6) A premium of $3.50/ton shall be applied to all shipments of meal loaded out by truck and shall be payable when shipping orders are filed.

(7) The owner shall present his trucks for loading at the shipping plant designated in the Shipping Certificate by 12:00 noon on the scheduled loading day. If trucks arrive by 12:00 noon, the shipper shall load the same day or be subject to the penalties and procedures specified in subparagraphs (10) and (11) of this paragraph (Truck Loading Procedures). If trucks arrive after 12:00 noon, the shipper shall be under no obligation to load and the owner shall be subject to the penalties and procedures specified in subparagraphs (8) and (9) of this paragraph.

(8) If the owner fails to present his trucks on time on the scheduled loading day, he shall be subject to a grace period until 12:00 noon the next business day and shall not be liable for a penalty up to that time. If the owner fails to present his trucks by 12:00 noon of the business day following the scheduled loading day, he shall be liable for a penalty of $4/ton/day for all meal not loaded out as scheduled.

(9) If, for any reason, the owner is unable to present his trucks for three consecutive normal business days, beginning with the originally scheduled loading day, the shipper may at his election:

i) Load the meal into rail cars for the owner and inform him of rail car numbers, or

ii) Reissue a Shipping Certificate to the owner. If a Shipping Certificate is reissued, the premium charge specified in paragraph (e) of this Regulation shall be assessed retroactively, beginning the day after the business day following the receipt of loading orders.

In these cases the owner is liable for the penalty specified in subparagraph (8) of this paragraph, if any, for two business days. The truck loading premium specified in subparagraph (6) of this paragraph shall be credited against any penalties due or refunded in full if there are no penalties due. If shipper elects either of these options he must promptly notify the owner.

(10) If the shipper fails to load the owner's trucks by 12:00 midnight on the scheduled loading day he shall be subject to a grace period until the next business day and shall not be subject to a penalty up to that time. If the shipper fails to load the owner's truck by 12:00 midnight of the business day following the scheduled loading day, he shall be liable for a penalty of $4/ton/day for all meal not loaded out as scheduled.

(11) If, for any reason, the shipper is unable to load the owner's trucks for three consecutive normal business days, beginning with the originally scheduled loading day, the shipper shall, with the owner's consent, make the meal available for truck load-out on the third day at another regular plant, in conformance with the Shipping Certificate, and will compensate the owner for any transportation loss resulting from the change in the location of the shipping plant.

(12) A tolerance of five tons over the total truck shipment may be loaded and settled at the market price at the time the last truck is loaded.

(i) Change of Election for Mode of Load-Out Due to Unavailability of Rail Cars

The owner may elect to amend rail loading orders to load-out by truck in the event of rail car unavailability. Rail loading orders amended in this manner shall be entitled to equal treatment. A premium of $3.50/ton shall be applied to all shipments of meal loaded-out by truck and shall be payable on the day loading orders were amended to specify the owner's election for load-out by truck.

(j) Certification of Soybean Meal - Effective September 1, 1992 and upon written request by a taker of delivery at the time loading orders are submitted for the delivery of soybean meal against canceled shipping certificates, the shipper shall certify in writing to the taker of delivery on the day that the transportation conveyance is loaded that the soybean meal is produced from soybeans of U.S. origin only. Shipping certificates issued prior to September 1, 1992 will be deliverable against futures contracts beginning September 1992 only if the regular shipper provides certification on the shipping certificate that the U.S. origin-only option is available to the taker of delivery of soybean meal. (05/01/95)

1291.01 Conditions of Regularity - Persons operating Soybean Meal Shipping Plants who desire to have such plants made regular for delivery of Soybean Meal under the Rules and Regulations shall make application for an initial Declaration of Regularity on a form prescribed by the Board prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for a two year term beginning the following July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, and at any time during a current term for the balance of that term. Regular Soybean Meal Shipping Plants who desire to increase their regular capacity during a current term shall make application for the desired amount of total regular capacity on the same form. Initial regularity for the current term and increases in regularity shall be effective either thirty days after a notice that a bona fide application has been received is posted on the floor of the exchange, or the day after the application is approved by the Exchange, whichever is later. Applications for renewal of regularity must be made prior to May 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter, for the respective years beginning July 1, 1994, and every even year thereafter and shall be on the same form.

The following shall constitute the requirements and conditions of regularity:

1. The plant of the shipper making application shall be inspected by the Exchange.

3. The operator or manager of such shipping plant shall be in good financial standing and credit, and shall meet the minimum financial requirements and financial reporting requirements set forth in Appendix 4E. No shipping plant shall be declared regular until the person operating the same files a bond with sufficient sureties in such sum and subject to such conditions as the Exchange may require.

4. Such shipping plant shall be provided with standard equipment and appliances for the convenient and expeditious shipping of Soybean Meal in bulk in the conveyances for which the plant is registered with the Exchange according to Regulation 1290.01 (a) and (b).

5. The operator or manager of such shipping plant shall honestly and cordially cooperate with the system of registration of Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates for Soybean Meal to be shipped in satisfaction of deliveries on futures contracts.

6. No shipper shall engage in any unethical or inequitable practice or fail to comply with any law, Federal or State, or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder.

7. The shipper shall make such reports, keep such records, and permit such processing plant visitations as the Secretary of Agriculture may prescribe, and shall comply with all applicable Rules and Regulations and orders promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture or the government agency administering the Commodity Exchange Act, and shall comply with all requirements made by the Exchange because of such Rules and Regulations or orders.

8. The plant must not have been continuously out of operation for the two consecutive years prior to application for regularity or renewal thereof.

The shipper shall furnish the Exchange with either a copy of the current insurance policy or policies, or a written confirmation from the insurance company that such insurance has been effected.

12. The operator or manager of such shipping plant shall consent to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Exchange for five years after such regularity lapses, for conduct pertaining to regularity which occurred while the shipping plant was regular. (09/01/94)

1294.01 Revocation, Expiration or Withdrawal of Regularity - Any regular shipper may be declared irregular at any time if he fails to carry out the duties of delivery by Soybean Meal Shipping Certificate as prescribed by these Regulations or violate any conditions of regularity. If designation of a shipper as regular shall be revoked, the Exchange shall announce such revocation on the bulletin board of the Exchange and also the period of time, if any, during which the Soybean Meal Shipping Certificates issued by such shipper shall thereafter be deliverable in satisfaction of futures contracts in Soybean Meal under the Rules and Regulations.

In the event of revocation, expiration or withdrawal of regularity, or in the event of sale or abandonment of the properties where regularity is not reissued, holders of outstanding shipping certificates shall be given thirty days to take load-out of the commodity from the facility. If a holder of an outstanding shipping certificate chooses not to take load-out during this period, the facility must provide him with another shipping certificate at another, mutually acceptable regular shipping plant, with adjustments for differences in contract differentials. Alternatively, if such shipping certificate is unavailable, the facility must provide the holder with an equivalent quantity and quality of the soybean meal designated in the shipping certificate at a mutually acceptable location. 2079 (09/01/94)

1304.01 Striking Prices - Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices (the "strikes") in integral multiples of five (5) cents per oat futures contract (i.e., 2.50, 2.55, 2.60, etc.) in integral multiples of ten (10) cents per bushel per Oat futures contract (i.e., 2.50, 2.60, 2.70, etc.) and in integral multiples of twenty (20) cents per bushel per Oat futures contract (i.e., 2.80, 3.00, 3.20, etc.) as follows:

1. a. In integral multiples of ten cents, at the commencement of trading for an option contract, the following strikes shall be listed: one with a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Oat futures contract, the next five consecutive higher and the next five consecutive lower strikes (the "initial band"). If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the closest price shall be the larger of the two.

   b. In integral multiples of twenty cents, at the commencement of trading for an option contract, the following strikes shall be listed: the next four consecutive strikes above the initial band.

   c. In integral multiples of ten cents, over time, strikes shall be added as necessary to insure that all strikes within 55 cents of the previous day's trading range of the underlying futures contract are listed (the "minimum band").

   d. In integral multiples of twenty cents, over time, strikes shall be added as necessary to insure that the next four consecutive strikes above the minimum band are listed.

   e. No new strikes may be added by these procedures in the month in which an option expires.

2 a. In integral multiples of five cents, at the commencement of trading for options that are traded in months in which Oat futures are not traded, and for standard option months, the business day they become the second deferred month, the following strike prices shall be listed: one with a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Oat futures contract and the next five consecutive higher and the next five consecutive lower strikes. For examples, five-cent strike price intervals for the September 2001 contract would be added on June 25, which is the business day after the expiration of the July contract month.

   b Over time, new five-cent strike prices will be added to ensure that at least five strike prices exist above and below the previous day's trading range in the underlying futures.

3. a. In integral multiples of twenty cents, all strikes in which the previous day's delta factors (as determined by the Board of Trade) for both the put and call options are 0.10 or greater for two consecutive business days will be listed for trading. However, no new strikes may be added by this procedure to an option month unless open positions exist in that contract month.

   b. In integral multiples of ten cents, during the month in which an option expires, all strikes in which the previous day's delta factors (as determined by the Board of Trade) for both the put and call options are 0.10 or greater for two consecutive business days will be listed for trading.

4. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. (05/01/01)

1305.01 Payment of Option Premium - The option premium must be paid in full by each clearing member to the Clearing House and by each option customer to his commission merchant at the time that the option is purchased, or within a reasonable time after the option is purchased. (09/01/94)

1306.01 Option Premium Basis - The premium for Oats futures options shall be in multiples of one-eighth (1-8) of one cent per bushel of a 5,000 bushel Oats futures contract which shall equal $6.25 per contract.

1307.01 Exercise of Option - The buyer of an Oats futures option may exercise the option on any business day prior to expiration by giving notice of exercise to the Clearing Corporation by 6:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on such day. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the buyer may exercise the option prior to 10:00 a.m. on the expiration date:

ii) to take appropriate action as the result of unreconciled Exchange option transactions;

iii) in exceptional cases involving a customer's inability to communicate to the member firm exercise instructions or the member firm's inability to receive such instructions prior to 6:00 p.m. on the last day of trading. (12/01/99)

1309.01 Months Traded In - Trading may be conducted in the nearby Oats futures options contract month plus any succeeding months, provided however, that the Board or a Committee authorized by the Board may determine not to list a contract month. For options that are traded in months in which Oats futures are not traded, the underlying futures contract is the next futures contract that is nearest to the expiration of the option. For example, the underlying futures contract for the February option contract is the March futures contract. (09/01/00)

1310.01 Trading Hours - The hours of trading of options on Oats futures contracts shall be determined by the Board. On the last day of trading in an expiring option, the closing time for such options shall be the same as the close of trading of the Regular Daytime open outcry trading session for the corresponding Oats futures contract, subject to the provisions of the second paragraph in Rule 1007.00. On the last day of trading in an expiring option, the expiring Oats futures options shall be closed with a public call, made strike price by strike price, conducted by such persons as the Regulatory Compliance Committee shall direct. 1314.01 Option Premium Fluctuation Limits - Trading is prohibited during any day except for the last day of trading in an Oats futures option at a premium of more than the trading limit for the Oats futures contract above and below the previous day's settlement premium for that option as determined by the Clearing Corporation. A1440.01 Brands or Markings of Silver Bars - Brands or markings may be listed with the Board of Trade to be deliverable in satisfaction of futures contracts upon application and approval by the Exchange. The Exchange may require such sureties as it deems necessary to accompany said applications. The Secretary's Office shall keep on file descriptions and/or replicas of the brands or markings of silver bars which are deliverable. Notice of such action shall be posted upon the bulletin board of the Association and the official list shall indicate the limitation upon deliveries of said brand or marking. 7074 (09/01/94)

A1440.03 Approved Brands - (See Appendix 14A) (09/01/94)

A1441.01 Delivery Points - Silver located at regular vaults at points approved by the Exchange may be delivered in satisfaction of futures contracts. 7064 (09/01/94)

A1442.01 Deliveries by Vault Receipts - Deliveries on Silver futures contracts shall be made by the delivery of depository vault receipts issued by vaults which have been approved and designated as regular vaults by the Exchange for the storage of Silver. Silver in bars must come to the regular vault directly from an approved refiner or from another regular vault either on the Chicago or New York contract by insured or bonded carrier. Vaults may issue receipts for silver based on receipts for one bar each issued by said vault when the five receipts originated from silver that was deliverable and registered on the Board of Trade contract and subsequently broken into small lots and that said silver bars were never removed from the vault in which it was originally deposited.

The vault receipts shall evidence that storage charges have been paid up to and including December 31st of the current calendar year. Prepaid storage charges shall be charged to the buyer by the seller from the date of the delivery to the expiration of the storage charge period. Penalty charges for late storage payments shall not be charged to the buyer by the seller. In order to effect a valid delivery, each vault receipt must be endorsed by the clearing member making delivery.

By the tender of a warehouse or vault receipt for silver duly endorsed for delivery of the lot on an Exchange contract, the endorser shall be deemed to warrant, to his transferee and each subsequent transferee of the receipt for delivery on Exchange contracts, and their respective immediate principals, the genuineness, validity, and worth of such receipt, the rightfulness and effectiveness of his transfer thereof, and the quantity and quality of the silver shown on the receipt.

In the event such Exchange member or principal shall claim a breach of such warranty, and such claim relates to the quantity or quality of the silver, the lot shall be immediately submitted for sampling and assaying to an assayer approved by the Exchange. The expense of sampling and assaying shall, in the first instance, be borne by the claimant. If a deficiency in quantity or quality shall be determined by the assayer, the claimant shall have the right to recover the difference in the market value and expenses incurred in connection with the sampling and assaying and any cost of replacement of the silver. The claimant may, at his option, proceed directly against the original endorser of the warehouse or vault receipt upon Exchange delivery, or against any endorser prior to claimant without seeking recovery from his immediate deliverer on the Exchange contract and if the claim is satisfied by the original endorser of the warehouse or vault receipt, or any other endorser, all the endorsers will be thereby discharged from liability to the claimant. If the claimant seeks recovery from any endorser prior to him and his claim is satisfied by such endorser, the party thus satisfying the claim will have a similar option to claim recovery directly from any endorser prior to him.

Such claims as are in dispute between members of the Exchange may in each case be submitted to arbitration under the Rules of the Exchange.

The liability of an endorser of a warehouse or vault receipt as provided herein shall not be deemed to limit the rights of such endorser against any person or party for whose account the endorser acted in making delivery on an Exchange contract. If it shall be determined in such arbitration proceeding that any endorser of a warehouse or vault receipt or the person or party for whom such endorser acted was aware of the breach of warranty or was involved in a plan or arrangement with the original endorser (or his principal) to place such inferior silver in licensed store for use in deliveries upon Exchange contracts, such endorsers shall not be entitled to recover from any prior endorser for the breach of warranty. 7061 (09/01/94)

(3) For silver converted from a receipt issued by another exchange:

All silver, if not continuously in the custody of an Exchange approved vault or carrier, must be recertified as to fineness and weight to be eligible for delivery.

The Exchange at its sole discretion shall have the authority at any time to have assayed any silver bars covered by vault receipts delivered against futures contracts. In such an event, costs are to be borne by the Exchange. (10/01/01) m1440.05 Refiners, Vaults, Weighmasters, and Assayers - Exchange approved refiners, vaults, assayers, and weighmasters may be listed with the Exchange upon approval by the Exchange. A holder of an Exchange approved vault receipt for silver may request recertification at his expense at any time while the unit represented by such receipt is in the Exchange approved vault. Such recertification shall be made by an Exchange approved certifying authority or assayer, selected by such holder. (10/01/01)

m1441.01 Delivery Points - Silver located at regular vaults at points approved by the Exchange may be delivered in satisfaction of futures contracts. (10/01/01)

m1442.01 Deliveries by Vault Receipts - In order to be valid for delivery against futures contracts, the vault receipt must be registered with the official Registrar of the Exchange and in accordance with the requirements issued by the Registrar. The vault receipt must be registered before 4:00 p.m. on notice day, the business day prior to the day of delivery; however, in the case of delivery on the last delivery day of the delivery month, the vault receipt must be registered before 1:00 p.m. Deliveries on silver futures contracts shall be made by the delivery of depository vault receipts issued by vaults which have been approved and designated as regular vaults by the Exchange for the storage of silver.

Silver in bars must come to the regular vault directly from an approved source or from another regular vault either on the Chicago Board of Trade or the Commodity Exchange, Inc., by insured or bonded carrier.

The vault receipts shall evidence that storage charges have been paid up to and including the business day following the day of delivery. If such charges are not so paid, registration may be canceled at the request of the issuing vault. Prepaid storage charges shall be charged to the buyer by the seller for a period extending beyond the business day following the day of delivery (but not in excess of thirty days) pro rata for the unexpired term and adjustments made upon the invoice thereof. In order to effect a valid delivery, each vault receipt must be endorsed by the clearing member making the delivery.

By the tender of a vault receipt for silver duly endorsed for delivery of the lot on an Exchange contract, the endorser shall be deemed to warrant, to his transferee and each subsequent transferee of the receipt for delivery on Exchange contracts, and their respective immediate principals, the genuineness, validity, and worth of such receipt, the rightfulness and effectiveness of his transfer thereof, and the quantity and quality of the silver shown on the receipt.

In the event such Exchange member or principal shall claim a breach of such warranty, and such claim relates to the quantity or quality of the silver, the lot shall be immediately submitted for sampling and assaying to an assayer approved by the Exchange; the silver must be shipped under bond, and at the owner's expense, to the assayer. The expense of sampling and assaying shall, in the first instance, be borne by the claimant. If a deficiency in quantity or quality shall be determined by the assayer, the claimant shall have the right to recover the difference in the market value and all expenses incurred in connection with the sampling and assaying and any cost of replacement of the silver. The claimant may, at his option, proceed directly against the original endorser of the vault receipt upon Exchange delivery, or against any endorser prior to claimant without seeking recovery from his immediate deliverer on the Exchange contract, and if the claim is satisfied by the original endorser of the vault receipt, or any other endorser, all the endorsers will be thereby discharged from liability to the claimant. If the claimant seeks recovery from any endorser and his claim is satisfied by such endorser, the party thus satisfying the claim will have a similar option to claim recovery directly from any endorser prior to him. Such claims as are in dispute between members of the Exchange may in each case be submitted to arbitration under the Rules of the Exchange.

The liability of an endorser of a vault receipt as provided herein shall not be deemed to limit the rights of such endorser against any person or party for whose account the endorser acted in making delivery on an Exchange contract. If it shall be determined in such arbitration proceeding that any endorser of a vault receipt or the person or party for whom such endorser acted was aware of the breach of warranty or was involved in a plan or arrangement with the original endorser (or his principal) to place such inferior silver in store in a regular vault for use in deliveries upon Exchange contracts, such endorsers shall not be entitled to recover from any prior endorser for the breach of warranty. (10/01/01)

m1443.01 Deposit of Silver with Vaults - Silver in bars shall be placed into a regular vault accompanied by the following information:

A. Brand or markings;

B. Identification (serial number) of each bar;

B. Identification (serial number) of each bar;

C. Weight of each bar;

D. Fineness.

Receipts shall be lettered or numbered consecutively by each vault. No two receipts shall bear the same letter or number. No receipt shall be issued for more or less than one contract unit.

Where a clearing member of the Exchange delivers silver in bars on an Exchange contract, but did not order such silver into a regular vault, the clearing member shall, for the purposes of Regulation m1442.01, be deemed the original endorser of the vault receipt, and shall warrant to his transferee and each subsequent transferee that such silver was delivered to the regular vault under the terms of Regulation m1442.01. (10/01/01)

m1542.01 Deliveries by Vault Receipts - In order to be valid for delivery against futures contracts, the vault receipt must be registered with the official Registrar of the Exchange and in accordance with the requirements issued by the Registrar. The vault receipt must be registered before 4:00 p.m. on notice day, the business day prior to the day of delivery; however, in the case of delivery on the last delivery day of the delivery month, the vault receipt must be registered before 1:00 p.m. Deliveries on Gold futures contracts shall be made by the delivery of depository vault receipts issued by vaults which have been approved and designated as regular vaults by the Exchange for the storage of Gold. Gold in bars must come to the regular vault directly from an approved source or from another regular vault either on the Chicago Board of Trade or the Commodity Exchange, Inc., by insured or bonded carrier.

The vault receipts shall evidence that storage charges have been paid up to and including the business day following the day of delivery. If such charges are not so paid, registration may be canceled at the request of the issuing vault. Prepaid storage charges shall be charged to the buyer by the seller for a period extending beyond the business day following the day of delivery (but not in excess of thirty days) pro rata for the unexpired term and adjustments made upon the invoice thereof. In order to effect a valid delivery, each vault receipt must be endorsed by the clearing member making the delivery.

By the tender of a vault receipt for Gold duly endorsed for delivery of the lot on an Exchange contract, the endorser shall be deemed to warrant, to his transferee and each subsequent transferee of the receipt for delivery on Exchange contracts, and their respective immediate principals, the genuineness, validity, and worth of such receipt, the rightfulness and effectiveness of his transfer thereof, and the quantity and quality of the Gold shown on the receipt.

In the event such Exchange member or principal shall claim a breach of such warranty, and such claim relates to the quantity or quality of the Gold, the lot shall be immediately submitted for sampling and assaying to an assayer approved by the Exchange; the Gold must be shipped under bond, and at the owner's expense, to the assayer. The expense of sampling and assaying shall, in the first instance, be borne by the claimant. If a deficiency in quantity or quality shall be determined by the assayer, the claimant shall have the right to recover the difference in the market value and all expenses incurred in connection with the sampling and assaying and any cost of replacement of the Gold. The claimant may, at his option, proceed directly against the original endorser of the vault receipt upon Exchange delivery, or against any endorser prior to claimant without seeking recovery from his immediate deliverer on the Exchange contract, and if the claim is satisfied by the original endorser of the vault receipt, or any other endorser, all the endorsers will be thereby discharged from liability to the claimant. If the claimant seeks recovery from any endorser and his claim is satisfied by such endorser, the party thus satisfying the claim will have a similar option to claim recovery directly from any endorser prior to him. Such claims as are in dispute between members of the Exchange may in each case be submitted to arbitration under the Rules of the Exchange.

The liability of an endorser of a vault receipt as provided herein shall not be deemed to limit the rights of such endorser against any person or party for whose account the endorser acted in making delivery on an Exchange contract. If it shall be determined in such arbitration proceeding that any endorser of a vault receipt or the person or party for whom such endorser acted was aware of the breach of warranty or was involved in a plan or arrangement with the original endorser (or his principal) to place such inferior Gold in store in a regular vault for use in deliveries upon Exchange contracts, such endorsers shall not be entitled to recover from any prior endorser for the breach of warranty. m1581.01 Conditions of Regularity - Gold may be delivered against a Gold contract from any vault designated by the Exchange specifically for the storage of Gold, and may not be delivered except from such vault. The following shall constitute the requirements for regularity, and by accepting a Declaration of Regularity the vault agrees to abide by these conditions:

(1) The vault must notify the Exchange promptly of any material change in ownership or condition of its premises.

(2) The vault is required to submit a certified financial statement within 90 days of the firm's year-end. A letter of attestation must accompany all financial statements signed by the Chief Financial Officer or if there is none, a general partner or executive officer.

(3) Such vault shall be provided with standard equipment and appliances for the convenient and safe storage of Gold and provide for proper security.

(4) The operator of such vault shall furnish to the Registrar all needed information to enable him to keep a correct record and account of all Gold received and delivered by the vault daily and of that remaining in store at the close of each week.

(5) The operator of such vault shall accord every facility to any duly authorized committee for the examination of its books or records for the purpose of ascertaining the stocks of Gold. The Exchange shall have the authority to employ experts to determine the quantity and quality of Gold in said vault.

(6) No vault shall be deemed suitable to be declared regular if its location, accessibility, tariffs, or other qualifications shall depart from uniformity to the extent that its receipts as tendered in satisfaction of futures contracts impair the efficacy of futures trading in this market, or if the operator of such vault engages in unethical or inequitable practices, or if the operator fails to comply with any laws, Federal or State, or Rules or Regulations promulgated under those laws.

(7) The operator shall make such reports, keep such records, and permit such vault visitation as the Board of Trade may prescribe, and shall comply with all applicable Rules and Regulations.

(8) The operator of such vault must give such bonds to the Exchange as may be required by the Exchange.

(9) The vault shall neither withdraw as a regular vault nor withdraw any regular capacity except after a sixty (60) day notice to the Exchange or having obtained the consent of the Exchange.

(10) The vault shall notify the Exchange at least sixty (60) days in advance of any changes in its maximum storage rates, penalty for late storage payment and handling charges. (10/01/01)

Ch18 Delivery Procedures

1836.01 Standards - The contract grade for delivery on futures contracts made under these regulations shall be long term U.S. Treasury bonds which if callable are not callable for at least 15 years or if not callable have a maturity of at least 15 years. All bonds delivered against a contract must be of the same issue. For settlement, the time to maturity (time to call if callable) of a given issue is calculated in complete three month increments (i.e. 15 years and 5 months = 15 years and 1 quarter) from the first day of the delivery month. The price at which a bond with this time to maturity (time to call if callable) and with the same coupon rate as this issue will yield 6% according to bond tables prepared by the Financial Publishing Co. of Boston, Mass., is multiplied times the settlement price to arrive at the amount which the short invoices the long.

U.S. Treasury Bonds deliverable against futures contracts under these regulations must have semi-annual coupon payments.

Interest accrued on the bonds shall be charged to the long by the short in accordance with Department of the Treasury Circular 300, Subpart P.

New issues of long term U.S. Treasury bonds which satisfy the standards in this regulation shall be added to the deliverable grade as they are issued. The Board shall have the right to exclude any new issue from deliverable status or to further limit outstanding issues from deliverable status. 3001 (03/01/00)

1842.01 Deliveries on Futures Contracts - Deliveries against long term U.S. Treasury bond futures contracts shall be by book-entry transfer between accounts of Clearing Members at qualified banks (Regulation 1880.01) in accordance with Department of the Treasury Circular 300, Subpart O: Book-Entry Procedure. Delivery must be made no later than the last business day of the month. Notice of intention to deliver shall be given to the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation by 8:00 p.m. (Chicago time), or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on the second business day preceding delivery day. In the event the long Clearing Member does not agree with the terms of the invoice received from the short Clearing Member, the long Clearing Member must notify the short Clearing Member, and the dispute must be settled by 9:30 a.m. (Chicago time) on delivery day. The short Clearing Member must have contract grade U.S. Treasury bonds in place at his bank in acceptable (to his bank) delivery form no later than 10:00 a.m. (Chicago time) on delivery day. The short Clearing Member must notify his bank (Regulation 1880.01) to transfer contract grade U.S. Treasury bonds by book-entry to the long Clearing Member's account at the long Clearing Member's bank on a delivery versus payment basis. That is, payment shall not be made until the bonds are delivered. On delivery day, the long Clearing Member must make funds available by 7:30 a.m. (Chicago time) and notify his bank (Regulation 1880.01) to accept contract grade U.S. Treasury bonds and to remit federal funds to the short Clearing Member's account at the short Clearing Member's bank (Regulation 1880.01) in payment for delivery of the bonds. Contract grade U.S. Treasury bonds must be transferred and payment must be made before 1:00 p.m. (Chicago time) on delivery day. All deliveries must be assigned by the Clearing Corporation. Where a commission house as a member of the Clearing Corporation has an interest both long and short for customers on its own books, it must tender to the Clearing Corporation such notices of intention to deliver as it received from its customers who are short. 3011 (12/01/99)

1842.02 Wire Failure - In the event that delivery cannot be accomplished because of a failure of the Federal Reserve wire or because of a failure of either the long Clearing Member's bank or the short Clearing Member's bank access to the Federal Reserve wire, delivery shall be made before 9:30 a.m. on the next business day on which the Federal Reserve wire or bank access to it is operable. Interest shall accrue to the long paid by the short beginning on the day on which the bonds were to be originally delivered.

In the event of such failure, both the long and short must provide documented evidence that the instructions were given to their respective banks in accordance with Regulations 1842.01 and 1849.04 and that all other provisions of Regulations 1842.01 and 1849.04 have been complied with. 3014 (10/01/94)

1846.01 Date of Delivery - Delivery of U.S. Treasury bonds may be made by the short upon any

1849.03 Seller's Invoice to Buyers - Upon determining the buyers obligated to accept deliveries tendered by issuers of delivery notices, the Clearing House shall promptly furnish each issuer the names of the buyers obligated to accept delivery from him and a description of each commodity tendered by him which was assigned by the Clearing House to each such buyer. Thereupon, sellers (issuers of delivery notices) shall prepare invoices addressed to their assigned buyers, describing the documents to be delivered to each such buyer. Such invoices shall show the amount which buyers must pay to sellers in settlement of the actual deliveries, based on the delivery prices established by the Clearing House, and adjusted for applicable interest payments. Such invoices shall be delivered to the Clearing House by 2:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors, on the day of intention except on the last intention day of the month, where such invoices shall be delivered to the Clearing House by 3:00 p.m., or by such other time designated by the Board of Directors. Upon receipt of such invoices, the Clearing House shall promptly make them available to buyers to whom they are addressed, by placing them in buyer's mail boxes provided for that purpose in the Clearing House. (12/01/99)
